BRITAIN WILL RESUME TRADE WITH RUSSIA

REFRAMED ANGLO-RUSSIAN AGREEMENT SIGNED—REDS MUST CEASE PROPAGANDA.

BRITAIN TO BE NEUTRAL

LONDON, March 16.—(Canadian Press).—The trade agreement under which commercial relations will be resumed by Great Britain and Russia was signed here this morning by representatives of the Governments of the two countries.

It was reported the Board of Trade after having carried on negotiations with Leonid Krassin, representative of the Bolshevik Government, had re-written several clauses which had presented considerable difficulty in the past. The principle that Russia will cease all propaganda outside of that country and that Great Britain will observe neutrality regarding Russian internal affairs was given due recognition in the clauses which were altered.

The fact that the trade agreement was about to be signed revived in this morning's newspapers the controversy regarding the expediency of such a move. The Morning Post, in an editorial captioned, "The Unclean thing," vehemently inveighed against the agreement and argued that its signature would inevitably involve the recognition of the Soviet regime which is blackened by every crime and agents of which are plotting the destruction of every civilized State.

REFERENDUM COMMITTEE WEST WARD

A meeting will be held Thursday evening, March 17th at eight o'clock in the basement of Trinity church, for the West Ward. All interested in the success of the Referendum vote are urged to be present, especially committees, and workers for polling divisions number 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14.

A similar meeting will be held in the Mark street church next Tuesday eve for the East Ward.

ST. LUKE'S Y. P. A. HELD A DEBATE.

Resolved: "That there is more pleasure to be derived from an automobile than from a summer cottage," was the subject of a very interesting debate by members of St. Luke's Y.P.A. in the Parish Hall of East City last evening. Excellent arguments were advanced by both sides, and, after some consideration, the decision was awarded to the negative, upheld by Mr. Stanley Curtis and Miss Flossie Pammett, while the affirmative was taken by Mr. L. Maniece and Miss Alice Ebbs, the judges being Messrs. Frank Adams, Hugh McWha and Cochrane.

A pleasing feature of the programme was a piano solo by Miss Florence Adams, vocal offerings by Miss Doris Pilling and Mr. Sam. Whitehouse, and readings by Miss McTier, Miss Clara Adams and Miss H. Lipsett. About 60 people attended, and a nice sum was realized from the silver collection.

AT THE THEATRES

ALLEN—Otis Skinner, America's greatest romance character actor, in "Kismet."

EMPIRE—Elaine Hammerstein in "The Daughter Pays."

COL. HARVEY U.S. ENVOY TO BRITAIN

LONDON, March 16.—(Canadian Press.)—The British government to-day gave its formal approval to the appointment of Col. George Harvey as United States' Ambassador to Great Britain to succeed J. A. Davis, who resigned.

REBEL FORCES ARE GATHERING

50,000 MEN IN KRONSTADT AND THIS NUMBER BEING INCREASED DAILY, IT IS SAID.

NEGOTIATE WITH REDS

COPENHAGEN, March 16.—(Canadian Press).—Fifty thousand men have been gathered at Kronstadt fortress and this number is increasing daily says a Helingfor depatch quoting a Red Cross Worker who has just arrived here from Kronstadt. The organization of the Russian emigrants in this city has been informed that Kronstadt is receiving necessary provisions and has sufficient ammunition for three years.

Victor M. Tchernoff, member of the Kerensky Cabinet, was organizer of the counter revolution, it is declared in the politiken. He is reported negotiating with the right wing of the Bolsheviki with a view to making the methods of the Soviet government more Democratic.

Rebels Determined

VIBORG, March 16.—"We have made up our minds either to win or to die," declared one of the leaders of the Kronstadt rebellion who have arisen on a mission to arrange with the Red Cross for the feeding of the revolutionists population

"We have plenty of arms and war munitions, but the present need is for food for the Kronstadt population, which is in danger of dying from hunger unless it is fed by some neutral organization like the Red Cross.

"Our revolution is essentially popular. We are not connected with any party. We are simply determined to liberate Russia and re-establish a democratic government. We are neither monarchists nor revolutionary Socialists."

DR. THOMAS JOHNSTON WROTE EXAMINATION.

Dr. Thos. Johnston, the Chambers Street veterinary, has just returned home from Toronto, where, with about 100 other veterinary surgeons from all parts of Ontario, he was called to write on an examination to qualify as a Government tester of cattle for tuberculosis. Ten important questions were submitted for consideration in this examination, and Dr. Johnston is to be congratulated on being included with those who were called to qualify in such an important matter. It is just 31 years ago since the doctor wrote on his final examinations for veterinary surgery.

WOMEN LACK JUDGMENT.

CHICAGO, March 16. — (Canadian Press.) — Woomen ushers in theatres lack judgment in times of emergency and consequently are not conducive to public safety, according to 85 per cent. of the city fire marshals of the United States, who have replied to a questionaire sent out by a Chicago alderman. The other 15 per cent evaded the question with indirect answers.

MAKE OUTLINE OF THE RHINE CUSTOMS ZONE

PRINCIPLES ESTABLISHED

COBLENZ, March 16.—(Canadian Press).—The principles to be followed in collecting customs in the new tariff zone estabiished along the Rhine by the Entente forces have been outlined in a report sent to the Allies by the Rhineland Commission. The report also outlines the zone which would begin at Mulheim and run along the Rhine to the extreme outposts of the newly occupied territory and of the bridgeheads established by the Entente.

General Allen, commander of the United States forces here, has participated unofficially in the discussion of questions relative to the tariff and limits of the new zone.

OTTAWA POSSESSES A MUSICAL PRODIGY

Ottawa possesses a musical prodigy in the person of eight-year-old Beulah Duffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Duffey, 28 Sherbrooke Street, who commenced playing the piano at the age of four, and has already composed several pieces of her own. Her progress in the study of the piano was extraordinarily fast, and, at the present time, critics are unable to distinguish her touch from that of an accomplished adult musician. She has already performed at several concerts, and has a unique memory in the retention of music. She also dances and recites in a very pleasing manner. In appearance she is petite, blonde, with blue, unusually brilliant, eyes, a winsome smile, and generally attractive features. This little lady is a niece of Mrs. Michael Toomey, 281 Prince Street, and a cousin of Mrs. John Peel, 411 London Street, both of Peterborough.

DOWNIE STREET CREEK BEHAVING

SPRING FLOODS PASSED OFF HARMLESSLY.

Due to the exceedingly mild winter and to the activity of the Board of Works in cleaning up the Downie street creek last year, there has not been a repetition of the floods of former years this spring. Working in conjunction with the owners of the property through which the creek passes the works department last year cleaned out the creek and enlarged it so that there would be an uninterrupted course. Happily this year on account of the unusually temperate weather and light snow fall it was not called upon to carry the usual volume of water.

Houses in that section of the city have not known what a dry cellar was in the spring and some have yearly had the first floor flooded. The annual floods have continually resulted in deputations to the council. Threats of damage suits and committee squabbles. This year there will be none of these and none are more pleased than the long-suffering residents that the troubles of every spring are as it seems finally ended

The main stream sometimes known as the Hunter street creek has not behaved so well. No good conduct medal is awaiting it for it is dammed up in several inopportune places. Considerable blasting was necessary at William Hamilton's plant but between Hunter and Simcoe the greatest fight with the waters was stayed. Blasting was carried on here intermittently all one week before the course was cleared of ice and only after the furnace in Bell's Apartments had been several times extinguished and the tenants greatly discomfitted thereof.

In companion with the troubles and strife of other years, however City Engineer Parsons is feeling no small satisfaction at the smooth and gradual carrying off of the waters in both main and tributary stream and only hopes that other years the two waters will perform likewise.

ASPHXIATED BY COAL GAS

BELLEVILLE, March 16. — Canadian Press.) — Clement Hill the 9-months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Hill, of Point Anne, was found dead in bed last night having been asphyxiated by the fumes of coal gas which escaped from the stove in which a large fire had been started before the family retired. Mr. and Mrs. Hill felt the effects of the fumes when they awakened, and Mrs. Hill needed the attention of a doctor. The other children sleeping in the same room escaped.

Trappers Excluded

"NO TRESPASSING"

Owners of marsh lands throughout the Trent district have broadly interpreted Chief Justice Meredith's judgment given at Cobourg last November, in which he decided that John Thompson, who lives near the mouth of the Otonabee River, had no right to trap for muskrats on the propetry of William Pammett, a nearby farmer. Early reports from the lower Otonabee and the Pigeon Creek trapping ground show that the farmers have placarded their riparian properties with "No trespassing" signs, and the veteran trappers are practically excluded from grounds which they have hitherto regarded as public property.

Recalling the Pammett vs. Thompson case which was tried at Cobourg during the assizes in November ,it will be remembered that the plaintiff sought to prevent Thompson and other trappers from setting their traps in "Steamboat Creek," an arm of the Otonabee River, about a mile above Rice Lake. The defendant contended that he was not trespassing on private property but was working through a marsh which was part of the river, and therefore open to the general public.

In other words Thompson maintained that any person had the right to trap in the marsh that edged Pammett's property along the river. He argued that the inlet or creek was public property to the high bank where the farm actually began, and also that the submerged marsh strip was not included in the Crown grant to Pammett's predecessors.

Marsh Included in Patent.

Chief Justice Meredith decided in favor of Pammett to the effect that he owned the marshy fringe in "Steamobat Creek." This judgment created wide interest at the time and the fruits of it are now blooming in the placards on the marshy waterfronts throughout the entire Trent District.

Formerly the farmers paid little or no attention to the trappers, who were regarded as having some unwritten title to any marshes that appealed to their fancy. But when the muskrat pelts soared to $5 the farmers awoke to the fact that their waterfornts were valuable. The decision at Cobourg, although it applied to only one case, has been interpreted as prohibiting trappers from entering upon the marshes that extent between the farm lands and the deeper water.

Many "Keep off" Signs.

The Examiner has been informed that practically all the desirable muskrat grounds have been preempted by farmers whose signs threaten trespassing trappers with the full effects of the law. Men who have followed trapping for a score of years are forced to seek out new grounds, and it is understood that the Indians at Rice Lake have only the water frontage of their preserves and any other marshes that have not been claimed by the owners of the bordering land.

Applies to Only One Site.

It has been pointed out that the Meredith decision applies to only the Pammett marsh in "Steamboat Creek." The conditions that obtained there might not exist in many of the other localities from which farmers are now debarring trappers. Hence, it is the opinion of one lawyer that this was not a test case, and that it does not establish a precedent for the owners of all other riparian farms and marshes in the Trent district. Whether the trappers will challenge the broad interpretation of the Meredith judgment is not known, but from present reports the trappers in some sections at least will bring home few pelts.

The catch is expected to be a large one and prices are quoted all the way from $1.50 to $2.00. Some trappers are asking as high as $2.50.

A LARGE EGG.

Mr. A. O'Reilley, of Ennismore, is the proud possessor of the product of a busy little Plymouth Rock hen, the circumference of which is 8¼ by 7 inches. This egg is claimed to excel a recent exhibit of the same character by a fancier in Peterborough.

GERMANY MUST MAKE BILLION PAYMENT WEEK

20,000,000,000 MORE

PARIS, March 16. — (Canadian Press.) — The Allied Reparations Commission in its note to Germany demanding fulfillment of Article 235 of the Versailles Treaty, notified the German government that it must pay one billion gold marks before March 23, it was announced to-day. This must be deposited in the chief banks of France, England or the United States.

Germany must pay 20,000,000,000 gold marks, or the equivalent of this sum before May 1 in accordance with the provisions of the Versailles Treaty. The German government was notified of this in the Allied note.

FAMOUS CASE IS DISCUSSED

AMERICAN MEDICAL JOURNAL REFERS TO MIRIAM RUBIN AND HER ALLEGED CURE.

Several references have appeared in the Examiner to the case of Miriam Rubin, the Illinois child reported to have been almost miraculously cured. In this connection the following from the American Medical Association Journal may be of interest:

"The case of Miriam Rubin, of Waukegan, Ill., has been so widely advertised in the newspapers, has been the subject of such sensational misrepresentation and has been commercialized by certain drugless healing cults to such an extent that the Journal determined to get the actual facts, and on March 1st sent a representative to Waukegan."

His report goes into the history of the case and then declares: "Dr. Nesbitt says that improvement has been gradual and that it is his belief that the condition was not in any way changed by the chiropractic treatment except that the child became so sore and tender over the spine that she dreaded the treatment "and now dreads having anyone touch her." It should be noted that according to the case record and the statement of Dr. Nesbitt at no time were opiates administered.

The report concludes: "In conclusion the case appears to be one of epidemic encephalitis which is following. As is now generally well known some of the cases are of the lethargic type (lethargic encephalitis) — newspaper "sleeping sickness"—while others show extreme excitation and musical twitching — newspaper "t alking sickness." The case of Miriam Rubin is obviously of the latter type.

PROBE COBOURG FERRY MISHAP

WRECK COMMISSIONER TO OPEN INQUIRY INTO CAUSE TO-MORROW.

COBOURG, March 16.—Inquiry into the standing of car ferry No. 2 near the entrance to the harbor here in January last will open to-morrow under the direction of Captain L. A. Demar, Dominion Wreck Commissioner, Ottawa, who will fix responsibility for the stranding of the vessel. The ferry was heavily loaded with coal when she ran aground and it was not until after much of her load of fuel had been dumped overboard that the vessel was again floated. The Ferry navigated practically the same course every day, which has prompted the Marine Department to investigate the cause of her mishap

HUN LEVY AT END OF MONTH

LONDON, March 16.—The House of Commons, with the consent of the government, to-day decided that the German reparations bill providing for a levy of fifty per cent. on the purchase of imported German goods, shall not come into effect until March 31. The measure passed a second reading in the Commons on Monday.

Representatives of William Davies Company, Harris Abatoir, Canadian Packing Company, Swift Canada Company, and Gunns Limited will attend the court.

DECORATORS WORK ON COUNTY COUNCIL ROOM

LONG DEFERRED HOUSECLEANING MAKES BIG IMPROVEMENT IN THE NORTH WING OF THE COURT HOUSE.

When the County Council holds its regular summer session in June they will find the chamber bright and shining from the work of paperhangers and painters who have been recently employed under the supervision of Reeve McIntosh, chairman of the Property Committee. After the Court House was partly destroyed by fire it was restored in every wing except the Council chamber the walls of which were streaked with water marks and otherwise needed renovation. The painters have painted and varnished this whole section from the stairway up to the chamber itselt Mr. Archie Morton and Wm. Carter were engaged in the redecorations which give the Council background in keeping with the dignity of their assembly.

WILL INSPECT LOCAL FORCES

Fowlkes District Paymaster and an orderly officer to inspect the three local military units to-night in the Armouries. Commencing at eight o'clock inspection will take place of the Peterboro Rangers, the 4th Machine Gun Company and the 4th Field Battery Col. E. B. Clegg is Officer Commanding the Rangers and Major L. Fraser commands the Machine Gun Co., while Major A. P. Miller is second in command of the of the Machine Gun Brigade which includes units at Peterboro, Kingston and Ottawa. It is understood that Capt. Douglas Lawrie will command the Field Battery in the absence of Capt. Douglas Huycke, O.C

The Field Battery will be inspected at eight o'clock, the Machine Gunners at eight-thirty and the Rangers at Nine.

VICTORY FOR RETAILERS.

Not Obliged to Take Out a Manufacturers' License.

OTTAWA, March 16.— Pending decision in a test case, tinsmiths making cups, eavetroughs, stove pipes, etc., will not be required to take out a manufacturers' license and collect a two per cent. sales tax. The same applies to all retailers who manufacture anything.

This is only a feature of many important developments soon expected in regard to taxation. The question of a form of taxation to be substituted for the luxury tax is now being considered by the minister of finance, and it is rumored that the excess profits will be eliminated.

THE HASTINGS INQUIRY ENDS UNEXPECTEDLY

DEFENCE DISCONTINUES ITS CASE AND WILL LEAVE INTERPRETATION OF RANEY CHARGES TO COURTS.

OR TO THE LEGISLATURE

HASTINGS, March 16. — (Canadian Press.) — The Hastings inquiry came to an unexpected conclusion here this morning soon after the Commissioner opened the court. John Counsell, acting for Magistrate Hastings, stated that in view of the ruling made by Commisioner Patterson that no charge in the statement of complaint reflected on the honor and integrity of the Police Magistrate, no good purpose could be served by continuing the defence.

Commissioner Patterson reiterated that there was no charge of personal dishonesty, while Mr. Counsell declared that he could see no distinction between personal and judicial dishonesty. The commissioner then stated there was a difference between personal dishonesty and judicial inefficiency. Resuming the discussion, Mr. Counsell said, "We will leave it to the members of the legislature or the courts to decide what the charges made by the Attorney General mean in plain English."

FALLS TO HER DEATH IN SHALLOW CISTERN

MISS SUSIE FLYNN MADE MISSTEP WHICH COST HER LIFE.

MARMORA, March 16.— (Canadian Press.) — Miss Susie Flynn, while hanging out a washing at her mother's home on a farm five miles north of here, made a misstep, fell into a cistern and lost her life. Her mother and brothers were away at the time. There was only four feet of water in the cistern, but apparently the young woman was unable to extricate herself.

MUNICIPALITIES SHOULD OWN POWER PLANTS

LINDSAY, March 16.—In discussing the coming meeting of the Central Ontario Power Association in Peterborough on Monday March 21st the general feeling seemed to be that municipalities would be benefitted by owning Hydro-Electric power generating plants, as the revenue would go to the municipalities. These plants can be secured from Hydro on forty years debentures, carrying interest at 5 per cent.

MR. DANIEL O'CONNELL CHOICE OF ASSOCIATION.

Mr. Daniel O'Connell, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, has been the unanimous nominee of the Peterborough Bar Association in the coming election for the honoured position of Bencher of the Society. This election takes place every five years. Ten Benchers are elected, the endeavour being to represent the entire province as equitably as possible. Each barrister may nominate a candidate or may do so collectively through the associations. This Peterborough has done, and the local members of the Bar are now actively working for Mr. O'Connell's election. The campaign is being led by Mr. Joseph Wearing, and when the vote is counted after the election, in which each member has a vote, which takes place the end of this month, local members of the Bar are confident that Mr. O'Connell will be elected one of the ten Benchers that govern the Law Society, one of the highest tributes that can be paid to a barrister's ability and standing in the legal profession in Ontario.

THE CURE FOR EUROPE'S ILLS.

Europe Suffering From Artificial Impediments, Says Publisher.

VIENNA, March 16.—(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service).—S. S. McClure, the former publisher of McClure's Magazine, recently in Vienna, discusses Austrian conditions which he has been studying. He says:—

"Europe is suffering from the effects of the most artifically created impediments ever conceived by human minds. Europe looks towards America, but it has to learn one lesson which accounts for America's prosperity and success: In the Utilization of it natural resources. America thinks in Continents, and if Europe refuses to scrap her antiquated ideas and theories, if she persists in considering political barriers and 'Communism', an unparalleled catastrophe is inevitable

"There are 'Communists' in the United States, but there number is too small to influence our social and economic organization. The bulk of our people belngs to a race characterized by self-confidence; they do not ask for favors or help. The minority which lacks this quality we style 'the whining breed'. It is well that the people of Austria have nothing in common with the 'whining breed'..'

Mr. McClure stated that he was well aware of Austria's precarious conditions, the accidental distribution of natural resources having starved Austria. Other nations suffered too, though in a lesser degree.

"There is one remedy," he said, "establish relations between the European countries which will reduce these obstacles to a minimum. There must be no restrictions; trade transport and distribution of material mus be unfettered."

IN DOUBT AS TO NEW FIREMEN'S ACT

LINDSAY, March 16.—The civic authorities are in doubt whether or not the new at allowing a day off every week for each and every fireman on a permanent force will apply to Lindsay's Chief Beadle. The clerk will write the Attorney-General for his interpretation of the act in this regard. Ald. Wilson remarked that the chief is a slave to duty being tied down to the extent that he cannot leave the hall at any time This act, he says was introduced to remedy such situations.

LINDSAY COUNCIL SHELVES POSTER BY-LAW.

LINDSAY, March 16. — In view of the fact that the Provincial Legislature has under consideration the question of censoring moving pictures, theatrical posters, etc., the city council has shelved their proposal to regulate the posting of bills. Among other provisions this measure fixed a license fee for bill posters, bulletin board painters, sign posters and bill distributors .

APPEAL IN WESTWOOD DITCH CASE

AWARD MADE BY F. W. WILKINS AUTHORIZING ADDITIONAL OUTLET FROM MILL-POND CARRIED TO COUNTY JUDGE.

W. MORRIS COMPLAINANT

A dispute over a proposed ditch to drain the mill pond on the Breckenridge estate, near Westwood, in Asphodel township for the purpose of preventing the flooding of adjoining roperty, will be heard by Judge Huycke on Thursday. The Township Council was petitioned on October 1, 1920, by William Morris, who applied for relief from flooding which, it is stated, he claimed was caused by the damming of a small stream for power purposes, in the Breckenridge saw and grist mills.

Fred W. Wilkins, a surveyor, living at Norwood, was appointed by the Council under the Ditches and Water Courses Act, to investigate the conditions complained of by Mr. Morris. He made an award authorizing that a ditch be built to carry off some of the water and it is against this decision that an appeal has been entered by Matthew and David Breckenridge, and the executors of the Breckenridge estate.

The Township Withdraws.

The Asphodel Council, represented by Gordon and OBrien, appeared before Judge Huycke on March 7th, and announced that they did not desire to contest the appeal. An application was then made by Mr. Morris, through his solicitors, Hall and Hall, for permission to intervene and to uphold the Wilkins' award. This was assented to on the condition that Mr. Morris undertake to indemnify the township for any costs that might be ordered to be paid against the township.

Say it is Unnecessary.

The appellants contend that the proposed ditch is unnecessary and that it would not serve the purposes for which it is intended. A sketch of the locality shows that this stream which flows through Westwood, is held up by a dam which supplies power for a saw mill and grist mill, owned by the Messrs Breckenridge.

It is likely that when the hearing of the apepal is begun on Thursday, Judge Huycke may order an adjournment to permit a visit to Westwood to examine the mill pond and the effect of the ditch porposed by Mr. Wilkins in his award.

IMPERIAL INQUIRY INTO THE EMBARGO

LONDON, March 16. — (Canadian Press.) — The embargo against the exportation of Canadian cattle to Great Britain will be the subject of an enquiry by an imperial committee, Premier Lloyd George intimated to the Department of Agricultural members of Parliament last night.

Brown Was Committed For Trial

DETECTIVE CRONIN FILES SIGNED STATEMENT OF ACCUSED REGARDING SHORTAGE.

TORONTO, March 16. — Edgar Morton Brown, charged with the theft of over $21,000 from the Bank of Montreal, came up before Col. Denison in the police court yesterday, and after electing to be tried by a jury was committed for trial.

Brown appeared to be in good health, and was not as nervous as when he stood in the dock a week ago. He wore his overcoat and faced the bench squarely while evidence was being taken.

Detective Bart Cronin filed a written statement, which he said was signed by Brown. This was read out by Crown Attorney Frank Hughes, and was an admission of the theft of "one $5,000 note and loose cash to cover shortage in my cash."

The statement averred that Brown had destroyed one $5,000 note, and continued: "The shortage may be made up in a couple of months' time by the proceeds of 16,600 shares of Davidson Consolidated Gold Mine, which is being sold in England at about $1.15 per share, and by getting a refund from Otawa for the $5,000 note destroyed."

There was also a declaration that Brown had paid $6,800 to F. C. Sutherland and Co. on account of the Davidson shares.

Fletcher Kerr asked Detective Cronin if there was any definite knowledge of the amount of the shortage now existing. Mr. Cronin said he was not sure, but the understood it was over $20,000.

Quoting from a letter written by the bank's auditors, Mr. Kerr stated that on Jan. 25 the alleged shortage was $12,918.54.

KEEP DOGS OUT.

JERSEY CITY, N.J., March 16.—(Canadian Press.)—An order by the City Commission prohibits the taking of dogs into any candy, confection, or soda water shop. It was issued following a complaint filed by the New Jersey Retail Candy and Ice Cream Manufacturers' Association, that dogs were served from the same dishes used by human beings.

KING LEADS ASSAULT ON THE SUPPLY

AGRICULTURE UNDER FIRE

OTTAWA, Ont., March 16.—(Canadian Press.)—The Department of Agriculture was under fire in the House yesterday. It was the first occasion this session of the House being in supply. Nor was the supply motion carried without some lively preliminaries.

At the last session the leader of the Opposition declared that in the future he would be unwilling to let interim supply bills pass. To-day he opposed voting of the supply on the ground that the full report of the Auditor-General, which contains details of the year's expenditures, was not before the House. "The delay," Mr. King heatedly declared, "is a deliberate device by the government to prevent parliament from having information to which it is entitled," and Mr. King charged that the cabinet ministers were away last summer in Spain, England, Belgium, anywhere except in Ottawa attending to business.

The Prime Minister sharply retorted that there was nothing in the situation to warrant either the "heat or tone" of Mr. King's remarks. Nothing had been done by the government to defer the presentation of the Audtior-General's report. It was merely a question of the physical labor of presentation and three volumes of the report had been tabled.

The criticism in the supply on agriculture estimates, lay largely against the exenditure on the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa. Donald Sutherland of South Oxford, called it a show place for visitors. Would not money be better spent on demonstration farms distributed throughout the province?

Hon. Dr. Tolmie, Minister of Agriculture, emphasized the value of the work done on the Central Experimental Farm. Necessary experiments could not be conducted without considerable outlay. Were the farmers to take advantage of the work done on the Experimental Farms, agriculture throughout the Dominion would benefit.

SAYS CHILDREN ARE WITHOUT TEXT BOOKS

A complaint against the Ontario Department of Education for changing Public School text books, and calling in the old ones, before the new publications were ready for distribution, was made to-day by a farmer who might be presumed to find nothing but perfection in the U. F. O. government. "First, there is the economic side of it," he said. "But granting that the Department decided new books were needed, why did not they wait until they had them ready for the schools before withdrawing the old ones from use? One of my children has been going for months without certain books, and it puzzles me how they can be expected to learn if they are not provided with text books. I don't think it is good business and management any way you look at it. Why were new books needed in the first place? It seems to me they are always changing them. But it would not look so bad if the new books were ready to be handed out to the children when the old ones were recalled."

RUSSIAN JEW CUT OWN THROAT.

Was Wanted on Charge of Jumping Bail.

KINGSTON, March 16.—Alleged to be implicated in a liquor deal in Detroit, and out on a $2,000 bail, which it is said he jumped, Nathan Yanofsky, a Russian Jew, cut his throat with a safety razor blade at the home of his cousin, Mr. Rosen, Bagot street, this city. The fact that Yanofsky failed to sever his juglar vein alone saved his life, though he is now in the Hotel Dieu and is quite weak through his tremendous loss of blood.

To a detective Yanofsky had denied all knowledge of the liquor transaction and declared he did not live in Detroit. It was when he went to his room for his coat, while the police waited below stairs to take hid to the station on the charge of "jumping bail," that accused attempted to take his own life.

Yanofsky is about fifty years of age and of a strong constitution. He is in the hospital and likely to recover.

Th average man puts in so much time preaching that he has none left for practice.

CHARGED WITH CHICKEN THEFT IN BELLEVILLE.

BELLEVILLE, March 16.—Arne McLeod will face a charge, in the Police Court on Friday, of having stolen four fowl claimed by Maria Mishkov as her property, and valued at over $10.00.

Accused expressed a wish for trial by jury.

Would Tax War Bonds In Canada

CANADIAN BUDGET WILL CONTAIN PAINFUL SURPRISES FOR THE GENERAL PUBLIC.

In the ordinary affairs of life there are few clouds which have not a silver lining at some point. But honesty and frankness compels the admission that in the financial or economic outlook in Dominion public affairs, it is difficult to discover indications of a return to normal conditions. The public revenue is declining daily. The public expenditure goes merrily on as if the public exchequer is an inexhaustible fountain, whereas in point of fact it is as empty as the proverbial Mother Hubbard's Cupboard. The exact situation of Dominion Government finances will not be known until the Finance Minister brings his budget down. Financial authorities predict a deficit of $100,000,000. But this most surely is inaccurate. It is inconceivable that this estimate is well founded in view of the fact that the Meighen Cabinet is calculating upon expending $625,000,000 during the ensuing financial year. At any rate there is no denying the fact that there is a remarkably wide gulf between present needs and present supplies.

Estimated Expenditure.

The Meighen Cabinet has settled the estimated expenditure. It must therefore be accepted as the sum of public necessities. This amount must, therefore, be provided. There are only two sources of revenue—taxation or borrowing. The latter contingency may be eliminated. $500,000,000 Federal debt will be due shortly, a great part of which will have to be renewed upon unfavorable terms, so additional borrowing is out of the question. Business taxation also cannot be seriously considered. Increasing the tariff is unlikely to solve the problem. Such a course is certain to restrict importations, thus reducing to a greater extent the revenue from customs. Reducing the tariff might increase the public revenue, but it would also increase importations and lessen the general average of protection to the manufacturers of the great staple products of the country. It may be taken for granted that this policy will not find favor at Ottawa.

Public Service.

But the money necessary to carry on the public service must be provided. There is no escape. Where is it to come from? The issue of public notes or promises to pay is impossible. Our currency is sufficiently depreciated already, therefore, that door is closed. The only source left is direct taxation. This might be done, as in New Zealand lately, by a forced loan from all bank deposits at a low rate of interest, or a percentage taxation on all deposits and certain securities, or a direct land tax. The business taxes have failed. These in any form are so self-evident that the public with one accord ceased buying only when it became unavoidable. The tax for War and Victory bonds would yield $90,000,000 revenue by repudiating the foolish terms upon which they were placed on the market, but we are not yet ready for this form of repudiation. This may come in the not distant future in view of the fact that enormous wealth is taken shelter in this investment so as to escape its fair share of taxation. The public may take it for granted that the Finance Minister's budget will contain painful surprises in the form of taxation. We are soon going to feel the weight of these burdens. The country would stand it with much greater equanimity if Ottawa gave any evidence whatever of a spirit of economy. Instead of that, however, every department of the Public Service is going the pace. From the Militia Department, with its useless waste of millions with not even a permanent Minister in charge, to Hon. J. D. Reid's sink hole of hundreds of millions in the public ownership of railways, we are facing national disaster. After Arthur Meighen, the deluge.—Port Hope Guide.

COST OF RECRUITS.

WASHINGTON, March 16. — (Canadian Press.)—The high price of recruits for the United States army went down in common with other falling markets in 1920. It cost an average of $86.75 each to get 138,040 men to the colors that year, as compared with $127 in 1913. In February, 1920, the cost was $192.36 against $42.79 in December of the same year.

CHANGE IN GAME LAWS OF ONTARIO

LEGISLATURE REFUSES TO ELIMINATE DOGS IN DEER HUNTING.

DUCK HUNTING

TORONTO, March 16. — When Mr. Campbell, fur dealer of Toronto, was requested by the Hon. Henry Mills in the fish and game committee yesterday to explain how coupons on beaver skins are handled illegally to defraud the province of the royalty and come back to be used again, a hubbub arose. Challenges bombarded R. R. Hall, M.P.P. for Parry Sound, the champion of the stamping system to replace the coupon. The whole question was left in the hands of the committee to investigate and make a recommendation.

One step further, on the motion of Mr. Hall and G. W. Ecclestone, of Muskoka, allows the Indians below the French River to hunt beaver now.

That the Hudson Bay Company is conducting a contraband trade was emphatically denied by Frank McCarthy of Toronto, who appeared for the company, who asked that all the members of the Indian's family be granted certificates.

Following the request of Mr. Anderson, of Prince Edward Island, the law was changed to permit two duck hunters to place their 50 decoys each together, elminating the 100 yard distance required now.

An attempt to prevent the use of dogs in the hunting of deer and the shooting of the animals in the water was defeated.

AN IRISH SONG

In the new March Victrola records Werrenrath gives us an Irish song, "Colleen o' my Heart." It is not so Irish however as to present any difficulties to those who do not speak the tongue, for it is sung in English and every word of it is clear and distinct. It is among the $1.25 records obtainable in the Victrola Parlours of Ye Olde Firme Heintzman and Co., Limited, George and Hunter streets, Peterboro.

TWO ARE CLAIMING REMAINS OF YOUTH

WARSAW, Ind., March 16.—The local police authorities are perplexed by the discovery on Saturday night of the body of a youth about 20 years old, for which there have been two claimants. The lad had been beaten to death, it was disclosed.

Fred Decker, a farmer, identified the body as that of his brother, Virgil Decker, aged 20; John Lovett of Elkhart, identified the body as that of his son, Leroy, aged 19.

It was brought out that Virgil Decker was last seen in the company of Leroy Lovett. The young men are said to be "doubles" resembling each other to such an extent that it is almost impossible to tell them apart. Neither has been seen since the tragedy.

Insane Man Shot Three In a Fight

POLICE AND FIRE DEPARTMENTS UNITED FAIL TO DISLODGE AGED HUNTER OF KEARNY MEADOWS.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Thirty years ago Anthony M. Peczuilis, a Lithuanian, built himself a frame house in the No Man's Land on the edge of the Kearny (N. J.) meadows. He had been in this country ten years, leaving his wife behind him. When his handiwork was done Peczuilis found the dwelling too lonely for him and chose Andrew Verbitsky, a countryman who worked in a factory, to be the companion.

The household never altered. Peczuilis never sent for his wife. Verbitsky never married and for half a life-time the two lived in peace. The streets of Kearny gradually reached out toward the waste places and the one-story house became 234 Dover Terrace.

Verbitsky kept on working in factories, slowly accumulating a modest horde of gold that one day was to take him back home that he might rest out his old age.

Peczuilis never went into a factory. The printed cards he carried announced him as carpenter and hunter. Mostly he hunted. He began to shoot when a child's rifle was

FIGHT OVER THE TIMBER INQUIRY ON

M'CRAE, RANEY AND DEWART ENTER PRELIMINARIES OF BITTER BATTLE WHICH MAY BE LENGTHY.

TEST IS QUESTIONED

TORONTO, March 15.— (Canadian Press.)—After one or two preliminary brushes the Ontario Legislature is well into a bitter fight over the timber inquiry, a fight that may continue for some time yet.

It was started in the House yesterday by the introduction of a motion by Charles McCrae, of Sudbury, calling for the returns upon which Hon. Beniah Bowman based his announcement in the House last week that the average overrun in twenty-six mills acording to a test conducted by the government was 100.1 per cent with a maximum of 171.9 and at eleven o'clock last night when J. A. Mathieu of Rainy River, moved adjournment of date, H. H. Dewart, K.C., and Hon. W. E. Raney had followed Mr. McCrae with lengthy contributions.

The debate ranged far afield over the whole timber inquiry, but information with important bearing upon the test conducted by G. C. Hurdman, of Ottawa on behalf of the Government was given to the House by Hon. Mr. Raney. The Attorney-General who conseated to the production of the figures, read to the House extracts from a letter by Mr. Hurdman in which the reliability of the conclusions reached under his direction were questioned. In some cases Mr. Hurdman admitted that the staff of men at his disposal was not sufficient to conduct a proper test and in at least one case he stated that his men reported that the company seemed to be running through smaller logs which, of course, under the operation of the Doyle rule show the company entitled to a much greater overrun than on small lumber. Generally, Mr. Raney's address was a defense of the Timber Commission and a criticism of Hon. G. H. Ferguson's attitude toward it, which he characterized as an attempt to make it appear that the basis of the inquiry was a personal attack against himself.

EFFICIENCY SHARPS.

The figures that have been given out as to the amounts paid by the Federal Government to Messrs. Arthur Young and Co. of Chicago, the firm of so-called experts who were retained to re-classify the civil service, will further convince the Canadian people, if any more evidence was needed, that the calling in of outsiders to look after this work was a serious mistake. The fees paid this Chicago firm run into six figures, and the worst feature of the whole matter is that apparently the re-classification has succeeded only in causing dissatisfaction among civil service employees and has pleased nobody. It will always be a mystery why the Government should have considered it necessary to import men from the United States, totally unfamiliar with Canadian conditions and with the civil service system in this country, to superintend this most important task. There must surely have been Canadians capable of carrying out this work, and why a more sincere effort was not made to locate them rather than engage these Chicago efficiency sharps who proved at least remarkably efficient in drawing enormous pay for what they did, is something that the Government should be called upon to explain in Parliament. The work has cost the people of Canada a very neat little sum and they are entitled to an explanation.

WHY A BONUS?

The members of the Ontario Legislature are preparing, according to Press reports, to vote themselves a neat bonus, a little matter of $300 extra for this session and a similar sum for last year. The added remuneration, it is explained, is to meet the increased cost of living, a somewhat dubious reason in view of the fact that prices are beginning to drop and an impression is prevalent that wages will have to show a similar decline. Last year an attempt, by means of a "round robin," to secure higher sessional indemnities for the members caused a warm debate in the House and finally ended in failure, the tone of the Press comment throughout the Province showing that public opinion was very strongly against what was rightly characterized as a salary grab. On this occasion, it is said, the matter will be worked out quietly and there will be little discussion in the House. But if the members think that there will be no discussion among the people, whose representatives they are, they are sadly out of touch with popular sentiment. If last year's effort was resented there is every reason to believe that there will be even stronger opposition on this occasion, for the public has an idea that the Legislators are well remunerated for the time they devote to the business of the Province and that an increase is neither necessary or justifiable. Premier Drury showed moral courage last year in resisting the raid upon the Treasury; he should be equally firm in dealing with the present attack.

SOLDIER PROBLEMS.

Although the question of further cash gratuities for Canada's returned soldiers will not be considered the Special Committee on Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment appointed from among the members of the House of Commons will have many important matters to deal with, and service on this particular committee is one of the most responsible tasks that fall to this lot of private members of the House. In connection with soldiers' insurance pensions and other matters of re-establishment there are numerous features that need altering and improving, and the committee will be in a position to render much service to the men who fought for Canada overseas. It is important, therefore, that the men who are at the head of the various organizations of returned soldiers should see that the matters that need amending are placed before the committee in a convincing manner. Attempting to force the question of cash gratuities would be a sheer waste of time, and the efforts of the organized veterans' bodies should be directed towards effecting reforms in the re-establishment scheme. It is manifest that nothing is to be gained by adopting an indifferent or unfriendly attitude towards the Special Committee, which, as pointed out, can do a great deal towards making the path of the veterans smoother if the returned man will co-operate with the members rather than antagonize them. Working together in an earnest effort to solve these important problems much should be accomplished during the present session.

A RELIEF MEASURE.

Except by those landlords who have taken advantage of the scarcity of houses to extort and exorbitant rent from their tenants, the Fair Rentals Bill introduced into the Legislature by Hon. Walter Rollo, Minister of Labour, will be welcomed as a measure of relief from a situation that is becoming intolerable. The bill does not become effective in any municipality until the Municipal Council passes a by-law declaring it to be in force, and does not apply to dwellings for which prior to January 1st, 1919, a rental of more than $100 a month in Toronto or $60 a month in other places was received. In all other cases, however, the measure provides that no landlords may increase his rent more than 10 per cent. above that charged on January 1st, 1919, with an additional 10 per cent. allowed if any structural improvements other than ordinary repairs have been made. The landlord must give in writing a four-weeks' notice of an increase in rent, and must further state the amount of the standard rent, or, in other words, the rent paid on January 1, 1919. Furthermore, the measure is retroactive so that tenants who have been charged more than they should have been are entitled to recover from the landlord the amount of the excess paid from October of last year. To illustrate, a house may have rented for $15 on January 1st, 1919. Sometime last year the landlord increased the rental to $20 a month. Under the Rollo bill not only would the rent have to be decreased to $16.50 a month, but the tenant could recover from the landlord $3.50 a month from October, 1920, until the coming into force of the new Act.

The measure, it should be understood, is a local option one. If it is passed by the Legislature it will have no effect in Peterborough, for example, until the local Council passes the necessary by-law.

One feature of the bill that is open to criticism, however, is the fact that the making of the rent paid on January 1st, 1919, the standard discriminates against the landlord, who was relentant to raise his rents and did not do so in some cases until after that date. He carried his tenants through while other less considerate property-owners were boosting the rent of their property every two or three months. The result of the Rollo bill would be that the landlord who was not profiteering would only be allowed 10 per cent. increase on his comparatively low charge of two years ago, while the others who increased their rentals all through the war years would be given the same rate of increase on their high rents—an arrangement that hits hardest the man who dealt most lightly with his tenants.

IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN—IT'S YOU.

If you want to live in the kind of a town.
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new,
It isn't your town—it's you.

Real towns are not made by men afraid,
Lest somebody else gets ahead.
When everyone works and nobody shirks
You can raise a town from the dead.
And if, while you make your personal stake,
Your neighbor can make one, too,
Your town will be what you want to see,
It isn't your town—it's you.

There is a great deal in the idea. Some people, it is thought, use the capital "I" too freely, and one would imagine from their conversation that they were the whole works in any community, and the mainspring of any undertaking. However, their talk is not always indicative of action, and the loudest ticking clock does not always keep the best time. In every town, in every locality, there is great opportunity for making things better and brighter if the task were undertaken with a will and by the right people. In Brockville prizes are given for the best kept lawns and many beautiful greens are inspected. These prizes are given in order to encourage the beautifying of the land around residences—which is a good idea. Suppose, however, that instead of a well-kept lawn here and there, every patch of green in the entire municipality were kept trimmed and growing—what a beautiful place this would be! As it is now, the poorly kept lawns are brought into unenviable prominence by the presence of the well-cared-for plots. If the people of the town were called together all would approve of the idea of keeping lawns in nice shape, and possibly those who are careless of their would make the most eloquent speeches. If each individual would take the sentiment of the few lines at the beginning of this article and apply it to himself in connection with the care of his property what a difference it would make in the appearance of the town!

This lawn talk is only an illustration. Communities are made up of individuals and no man or woman can shirk his or her share of work without reflecting on the town or neighborhood, as the case may be. We often hear grouchers berating the place in which they live—"things are not as they once were, and nobody can make a decent living anyway." Everything is wrong from pulpit to Police Court—everything, that is, but the groucher himself.

It is hard to convince the eternal kicker that his vision is narrowed, dimmed and blurred, probably by the state of his liver, or perhaps a kink in his stomach. When this becomes chronic it is very difficult to reclaim the victim, and he really seems to glory in his misery. The world about largely reflects the individual's mentality; if he be happy and contented, things around do not appear to him to be so bad after all. It is possible even in this swift age to find good in everything, but it is a mighty hard job for an individual to discover the best in others or in conditions surrounding him, if he be wrong himself. A cantankerous individual can ruin a reputation by a shrug of the shoulders, and sad to say, this kind of peevishness is often counted unto him for righteousness. It is nothing of the kind, it is pure cussedness.

It is difficult sometimes to get things going with a swing in the accomplishment of any object, and we are all inclined to lay the blame on this condition or that condition, or on some combination of circumstances, while as a matter of fact 90 per cent. of the obstacles find their lurking place in ourselves. Too often, in sizing up situations, we reverse the field glasses and instead of bringing our difficulties up close to us and overcoming them, we put them as far away as possible from our vision and then magnify them day by day as we get nearer. If every man and woman in Brockville would wake up some fine morning with a determination that in everything good for the community they were going to do their part no matter what others did, this town would shortly be a paradise, and instead of people dodging the duties that presented themselves, they would be out searching for hard jobs to do. It is not the town that is wrong it's you. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Whatever may be thought of those American "experts" who re-classified the civil service it must be at least recognized that they were experts in the charges they made for their work.

The report that the members of the Ontario Legislature are going to vote themselves a bonus of $300 for this session and a similar amount for last year will not enhance the popularity of the Legislators.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

The Minimum Wage Board's investigators find that a girl can live on $12 a week. Perhaps some do, but why tell the public when some poor man may be deluded into believing that a wife isn't so expensive after all?

"He asked me whether I loved him for himself or for his money."
"And what did you say?"

You seldom hear a man grouch about the "boss" when he passes the $25 per class and starts down the home stretch.

The eminently logical mind of woman is nowhere so well demonstrated as in her satisfaction with "because" as a reason.

There are vague and unconfirmed rumours from Ottawa that the government ma yety be run on a basis of sound common sense. But if the government continues to pay a horde of efficiency experts $100,000 for a few months' service there may be nothing but cents left to run the country's business on.

Boston bathtub statistics show that there is now one bathtub to every 4 1-2 persons in that city. Probably the fraction is necessitated by the size of the bathtubs that squeeze into the rooms of houses built since the housing shortage began.

THE BELLEVILLE POLICE RAID DISORDERLY HOUSE

BELLEVILLE, March 16.—As a result of a midnight raid staged by the police on No. 8 Campbell Street, Lena Barnhart was arrested for keeping a disorderly house. One woman and two men were held as frequenters of the place, while a girl at present under a physician's care will on recovery be charged with disorderly conduct.

In the Police Court Monday morning Lena Barnhart was allowed bail at $100, and those charged as frequenters at $50 each. The cases were enlarged until Friday, March 18th.

INCREASE IN OSHAWA'S ESTIMATES FOR SCHOOLS

OSHAWA, March 15. — The Board of Education's estimates to meet their requirements for 1921 a grand total of $85,000, being an increase of about $10,000 over last year. On the present taxable assessment of $6,684,000 for schools, the rate this year for school purposes will be in the neighborhood of 14.2 mills against 16 mills last year. Four new permanent teachers have been added this year.

SUSPICIONS

Chapter 3

Leonard concentrated the greater part of his time and energy on the Darwood separation case. Evening after evening I would spend alone after a telephone message from him to the effect that he had to see Mrs. Darwood on some development of great importance, or that he must remain at the office working up the litigation.

I had no solicitude for myself or my loneliness, only anxiety for Leonard's health and with this added strain and overwork.

I knew Darwood was a man of power and position, and the case was a big one in legal circles, if not to the general public, and I was quite as eager as Leonard was to have him win this case. Every success meant greater distinction for him. I was willing to spend my evenings alone or to listen to Leonard give long legal discourse on testimonies and evidences which entirely overreached my comprehension. I even feigned interest and understanding.

The plain facts of the case did excite my feminine curiosity. Developments were showing that Darwood had numerous experiences before he married. He was hardly the type a woman married blindly. Some of the information obtained for the plaintiff reacted suspiciously against her. I felt that a woman's intuition might find out things Leonard overlooked in his absolute faith in Mrs. Darwood's sincerity.

One evening, though Leonard had come home comparatively early, he had concentrated for three hours over his law books. I could see a tense expression in the contracted muscles of his face. I spoke to him and he closed the book with a sense of relief at the interruption.

"Haven't you something you can give me for a headache, Noreen?" he asked half irritably. "This thing has the best of me tonight."

"Nothing that would help very much, I am afraid," I said, going over to him. "You are working too hard. Stop for tonight, please!"

"But, dear—!"

"I'll slip on my coat," I went on ignoring his interruption, "We'll take a walk. The air will do you more good than medicine and you'll sleep better."

"When I came downstairs again he stood with a cap in his hand waiting for me. I felt the pleasurable satisfaction a woman gets at being able to influence a man justly even in the little things.

We walked some distance in silence. Then the conversation turned to the case and Mrs. Darwood.

"We are having a time with the co-respondent. She is creating some lies about Mrs. Darwood in connection with that Bermuda trip when Mr. and Mrs. Darwood first became acquainted."

"What are they?" I asked.

I rather shuddered that Leonard should champion this woman of whom I had formed my own deductions. I did not ask if she had denied the accusations, but I wondered Leonard was so positive—I wondered again how far this positiveness might carry him in the wrong direction. Such suppositions were cancerous and I forced them from my mind.

"How long does this sort of thing take?" I asked before I realized why I was asking it.

"Months—longer perhaps," he answered slowly, not knowing how very long that seemed to me.

"Oh, I was thinking of your vacation. You need one badly this year."

Leonard did not answer and I knew he would not even talk of play for some time to come. His depressed mood made me long to divert his mind.

"You are lots nicer than some of these loafers after all, Leonard," I laughed happily. "It would be a great deal worse to have to beg you to go out and work to support me."

"Are you sure?" he teased, catching the spirit of my foolishness.

We came back in better spirits.

"I won't be able to get home until late tomorrow night," Leonard told me as he said good-night. "I have to see Mrs. Darwood."

Perhaps something in the expression of my eyes reflected my feelings too strongly. Perhaps I should have made some answer instead of standing there speechless, numb with stifling misgivings. In the weeks that followed Leonard never directly referred to Mrs. Darwood again.

"Here Comes The Bride!"

Everybody wishes her well! Happy and radiant she starts out on life's adventure. She should have health to begin with. Good looks in woman do not depend upon age, but upon health. You never see a good-looking woman who is weak, run-down, irritable, out of sorts, fidgety and nervous. Headaches, backaches, and troubles of that sort are all destroyers of beauty. Men do not admire sickness. It is within the reach of every woman to be well, healthy and strong if she will take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

TORONTO, ONT.—"Less than a year ago I was in a very poor state of health; my back ached dreadfully and I could scarcely drag myself around to do my housework. I started to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I cannot praise it too highly for the great benefit I received. My backache and pains disappeared entirely and I soon was restored to perfect health. I know that Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best woman's medicine, for I have tried others that were recommended, and nothing has ever helped me so much as the Favorite Prescription."—MRS. PRESENTATION TO BEAVIS FAMILY OF HASTINGS

MUSIC CABINET AND ADDRESS FOR MR. AND MRS PERCY BEAVIS ON EVE OF DEPARTURE FOR APSLEY.

HASTINGS, March 16.—Just prior to their removal to their new home in Asphodel, friends and neighbors gathered together and presented Mr. and Mrs. Percy Beavis with a music cabinet, accompanied by the following address, as testimonies of the esteem and respect in which they are held by a large circle of acquaintances:

"Mr. and Mrs. Percy Beavis and Family:

"Dear Friends,—On the eve of your departure to your new home we, your friends and neighbors, meet to express to you how much we regret your removal from this community.

"Mrs. Beavis has been well known to us all from earliest childhood, and her going away is indeed very much regretted.

"Mr. Beavis has not been among us so long, but during the time he has lived here, he has won the respect of the neighborhood.

"Not only will Mr. and Mrs. Beavis be missed, but the going of their children, whom we have all watched with great interest and even pride, will be felt keenly.

"As a testimony of our appreciation, we would ask you to accept, as a small token of regard for you all, these gifts for your children and this music cabinet for yourselves feeling that you will appreciate our love for your children even more than gifts for yourselves.

"With these we extend our best wishes for your future health, happiness and prosperity in your new home, where, we feel sure, you will soon make many new friends.

Mr. Beavis replied on behalf of himself and Mrs. Beavis with a few well-chosen words, thanking the company for the splendid gifts and the kindly-worded address, and declaring that they would look back with pleasure on the many pleasant hours they had experienced together.

EGGS REDUCE COST OF LIVING

Many farmers are extraordinarily busy men, so busy in fact that they frequently scout the idea of poultry being a most payable side line, especially if properly conducted.

The days are gone when any old collection of "farm-yard hens" will pay their way. It has been proved they won't, so they are gradually disappearing from the farm-yards and poultry-runs of the up-to-date agriculturist, but they are not disappearing as fast as one would like from the farms of those men who, whilst being up to date in most things that pertain to farming, yet believe as their grandfathers did, that there is very little pay attached to the hen.

Mongrel bred poultry will certainly not pay for keeping, but there is no doubt that well-bred stuff is always sure of a market, especially if it be of a prize-winning strain.

New-laid eggs will always sell, and the taste for fowl (roast or boiled) has not yet vanished, and these commodities are not being produced on anything like the scale required in this country. We are far too fond of relying on sea-borne goods, which with a little more enthusiasm and a little better organization could be produced in this country.

Before prices can come down in this country, no doubt wages must fall, and before this can happen to any appreciable extent, the price of necessary foodstuffs must also fall, hence the great need of producing foodstuffs in bulk.

Eggs form a very necessary article of diet, and if good laying strains of poultry are kept, can be produced in large quantities. Here is a nourishing food when most required, and yet a source of supply neglected by many a farmer.

Incubation, natural and artificial, is already progressing in all parts, and the season promises to be good. Operations are mainly associated with high found utility poultry, of which I believe this country possesses some fine stocks.

Breeders whose aim is egg production, or birds for the table, need not be in too great a hurry to commence hatching early, as the mid-Winter hatching entails the greatest care and watchfulness. Spring is the ideal period to commence hatching and rearing chickens. Orders for sittings of eggs should be placed early as possible from the most reliable poultry farms, where strain and pedigree stock are specialized in being selected. Vigour and stamina always being considered. Fertile eggs, however, should be plentiful now if the occupants of the breeding pens are properly cared for, vigorous condition. The male bird vigorous condition. The mal bird should have a daily feed (preferably mid-day) given away from the hens of lean cooked meat-mash. This would keep him in good condition during the season.

SAYS BOARD HAS THE WHIP HAND.

In a dispute between Brantford's City Council and the Board of Education over the erection of a new school and purchase of a site, council has reached the conclusion that there ic practically no course open to them beyond letting the schaal board have their own way. Well board have their own way. Well, Peterborough's City Council discovered that fact long ago.

POLITICAL SCREWS ON TWO JUDGES.

Read Out of Swiss Communist Party.

GENEVA, March 15.—(Associated Press) Two Swiss judges of the Cantonal Tribunal at Zurich have just been read out of the Swiss Communist Party for having sentenced a Socialist workman to 10 days in jail for assulting an unsyndicated worker in a strike at Zurich.

The judges, Dr. Balsiger and Luchinger, were summoned to appear before the Socialist Communist Committee on a charge that the verdict was "incompatible with the Communist doctrin.e"

When the judges refused to appear, they were promptly ousted from the party.

Writing in the Volksrecht Journa, the judges declare that though they are socialists and demand liberty they judge according to their conscience and law without regard to outside political pressure.

Many papers commenting on the incident state that this should be an example to Swiss voters of what the result would be if communists who receiver their orders from Moscow were to come into power in Switzerland.

The Agarian parties of several cantons have made a proposal that all communist employees should be dismissed as a danger to the state.

DEATH BY GUILLOTINE REVIVED IN GERMANY.

BERLIN, March 15.—A grim reminder of the fact that the guillotine still is used in Germany for the infliction of the death penalty is given in the sentencing of Englebert Manns to die by that instrument, for the murder of Edward Golding, an American soldier. Manns killed the American in order to rob him, and was sentenced to death by the German court.

Executions, once carried out in the market places before the populace, are now attended by the prosecuting attorney, the judge before whom the case has been tried, sometimes the jury, and those invited by the judge.

The executioner is called the henker, and is appointed by the state and paid for each head he cuts off. He wears a gown of deep red during the operation, and is masked. The prisoner is gowned in black.

Women convicted of capital offence also are put to death by the axe. A young woman recently was guillotined for the murder of a female comapnion.

BURLEIGH TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

APSLEY, March 16. — The regular meeting of the Burleigh and Anstruther Municipal Council was held in the town hall, Apsley Saturday, March 12th. Reeve Brown and Councillors Tucker, Reid, Earnshaw, Matthews were present.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and signed.

On motion of Coun. Matthews and Reid, Roy Brown was given permission to put a gasoline tank on side of the street in the village.

The assessor was appointed to distribute dog tags, on motion of Councillors Earnshaw and Reid.

Joseph Laplante secured a rebate on dog tax on motion of Coun. Matthews and Reid.

It was also decided to extend the collector's roll for ten days.

The committee appointed at the public meeting some time ago to approach the council that they renovate the town hall and premises were present and on motion of Coun. Tucker and Reid they were allowed to state their case.

Mr. W. Hall was spokesman and pointed out that in its present condition and location the town hall was a blot on the scenery, and suggested it be taken off its present foundation and placed further back from the road on a lower foundation; also that a fence be erected around the grounds.

The council promised to consider the matter but left action until the next meeting. In the event of the fence being erected this year Councillor Tucker and Earnshaw each promised to contribute 50 cedar posts for the purpose.

Bylaw No. 224 appointing poundkeepers, fence viewers, pathmasters and sheep valuators for 1921, was passed after its several readings.

Poundkeepers appointed by the bylaw are George Hull, William Bolton, William McCauley, for South Burleigh, Everett Hales for Burleigh North, Herb Tucker and Russell Hales for Anstruther.

Sheep Valuators: Thomas Northey and Henry White.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid:

A. M. Booth, supplies	$6.30
A. M. Booth, reg. fees.	7.00
A. M. Booth, salary	22.50
Dr. Shepher, M.O.H., salary	25.00
E. L. Clegg, auditor	4.00
A. T. Staples, auditor	4.00
Printing auditors' report	2.32
Isaac Lean, salary, collector	85.00
Isaac Lean, N. R. Statute Labor	4.00
Isaac Lean, rebate on Laplante dog tax	1.00

The meeting then adjourned.

A FORMAL INTRODUCTION!

A minister, as an illustration of extreme embarrassment, tells of a strapping big fellow who brought his demure young bride to the church parsonage for matrimonial purposes.

"According to my usual custom," says the minister. "I turned to the bridegroom at a certain point of the ceremony, and said, 'John, this is your lawfully wedded wife.'

"In the excitement of the occasion John turned awkwardly in the direction of his newly acquired life-mate, and stammered, 'I'm pleased to meet you.'"—Everybody's.

NEGRO KILLED GIRL ORGANIST

CONVICTION AND DEATH SENTENCE EXPECTED IN AN HOUR —BAR THAT SOLD HIM GIN RAIDED.

PERTH AMBOY, N.J., March 16.—Mrs. Edith Wilson, the girl organist found dead here late on Saturday night, died of shock when a drunken negro assaulted her.

The negro, George Washington Knight, 22 years old, confessed after he was seized at his home in Cliffwood this afternoon. Feeling against Knight was so bitter after news of his capture and confession spread through the town that he was taken to the County Jail in New Brunswick. The streets teemed with open talk of lynching, and there are many here to-night who insist the case would have been taken out of the hands of the authorities had a leader arisen while Knight was still here.

There still is great excitement here but the negro is gone, and the police are not worried. Chief of Police Nels Tommesen has taken no particular precautions as there have been no attempts to collect a crowd. In New Brunswick Sheriff Wyckoff of Middlesex County felt confident that Warden Albert Puerschner and his two deputies on duty at night could take adequate care of their prisoner since Perth Amboy was twelve miles from there, and the first wild heat of citizens had somewhat cooled.

Prosecutor Joseph Strickler took special measures to assure the public Knight would get justice without undue delay. The negro was held without bail by Acting Recorder Stephen F. Somoeyl, who, like the police, attested to his confession.

Grand Jury Called for Friday.

Mr. Strickler immediately called a special session of the Grand Jury for next Friday. He said Knight would be indicted then for first degree murder and would be put on trial on Monday. The trial should not take more than an hour, and the negro, it was said, should be on his way to the death chair by noon of that day.

The local police to-night raided the saloon kept by Mrs. Mary Sturm at Thomas and State Streets, where Knight said he bought the gin which inflamed his brutal imagination. A quantity of liquor was seized it, was said, and Isador Klotz, brother of the proprietor, and William Vroncka the bartender, were arrested on the charges of selling liquor in violation of the State law. They were held in $500.00 bail each. Mrs. Sturm has not been arrested.

Knight was found by detectives, who followed a broad trail opened up by Charles Hauser, a trolley car motorman. When Hauser read of the killing he told the police a young negro whom he knew to be a resident of Cliffwood had boarded his car early on Sunday in Perth Amboy. His clothing was streaked with mud and blood and he was restless and excited. He tipped the motorman 25 cents to speed up his car, and alighted hurriedly when the vehicle reached Cliffwood.

Stolen Jewellery Recovered.

In the home of Mrs. Joe Harris, a negress with whom he boarded, Knight was found. He confessed at once and freely. Mrs. Harris was wearing the dead woman's diamond engagement ring and gold wedding ring, which Knight had presented to her. A wrist watch which Knight had stolen from his victim was recovered from Beniamin Crenshaw, a negro, to whom Knight sold it for $2.50 on Sunday after Knight lost all his own money in a craps game.

Knight, Crenshaw, Joe Harris, Robert Bates and Roher Faulkes, all negroes, were labourers in the Creighton brick yard. Knight said Bates, Faulkes, and Harris, who is the husband of, his boarding-house keeper, all three of whom have been arrested as material witnesses, were with him on Saturday night when they drank four pints of gin, which they bought for $2.00 each, he said, at the Sturm place.

After they had drunk that, Knight left his companions, determined to seize the first white woman he found alone. He prowled along until he came upon the 26-year-old organist, and attacked her.

Examination by County Physician Suydam showed that the attack was fiendish rather than degenerate, and that Mrs. Wilsons skull was not fractured as had been supposed. Knight himself said the young woman, whose heart was weak, became unconscious the instant his fingers closed about her throat and never came to.

Husband Hears Confession.

Knight's cold-blooded confession was made in Perth Amboy police headquarters in the presence of Harvey Wilson, a chemist for the Roessler & Hasslacher Chemical Company of Manhattan and Perth Amboy, from whom Mrs. Wilson was separated. The police here had announced that they wanted to question Wilson, and had asked the police in several places to look for him. Wilson hurried meantime from New York, explained that he was in a Manhattan club when the crime was committed, and was about to leave when the detectives brought in Knight. It was Wilson who telephoned to his wife's widowed mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Marshall, that her daughter's slayer had been found.

Four detectives hurried Knight to the jail from Perth Amboy as soon as his confession was completed. They gave him no opportunity to escape from the automobile. They removed his shoes and stockings before starting, and securely shackled his feet and handcuffed his hands behind his back. The detectives had their pistols ready to repel any attack by indignant citizens, but no one molested them.

DUMMER TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

The third meeting of the Municipal Council of Dummer for 1921 was held in the Town Hall at Warsaw on Friday, March 11th, commencing at 11 o'clock in the forenoon. All the members of the Council were present and the minutes of former meeting were read and signed.

On motion a by-law was passed to authorize the Reeve and Treasurer to advance through the Union Bank of Canada at Warsaw the sum of one thousand dollars to the Commissioners of the Dummer Municipal Telephone System, to be applied in payment for material furnished for construction of said system.

Councillor Hamblin, as Commissioner, paid over to the Treasurer the sum of four dollars for timber sold to Paul Payne on the fourth line, opposite lot number 20.

Council adjourned, to meet on Friday, the 15th day of April, at 10.30 o'clock a.m.

R. DEEN, Clerk.

INSANE MAN SHOT THREE IN FIGHT

taller than he. Rifle, pistol, shotgun were all one to him. He became a dead shot with anything that had a trigger. His carpenter's tools fell into disuse and he subsisted by trapping muskrats and shooting wild birds.

Long before Pecziulis became, recently, 65 years old—just a year younger than his housemate—he had come to look much like all men of the open. Six feet, four; gaunt, wiry, grizzled, with a weather-burnt, graying beard and wide-set, piercing eyes, he was an inoffensive man who got his way in a crowd. His neighbors found him slow and taciturn, law abiding and much given to minding his own business.

A few weeks ago, while they were dismantling Camp Merritt, Pecziulis decided he would like to extend his quarters. He picked out a wooden shack on the reservation and discovered that it would cost him a $1,000 more than he possessed. He brooded a good deal about that.

A Tense Moment.

Just before midnight, Saturday night, Pecziulis and Verbitsky sat chatting monsylabically in that house where they had been at peace for thirty years. Pecziulis knocked out his pipe, wandered out into the kitchen, came back with cat-like tread, shoved the muzzle of a shotgun at Verbitsky's abdomen and said:

"You must give me a thousand dollars."

Verbitsky took one glance at the set face, with one wildly lighted eye sighting steadily down the barrel then shrank away, wriggled to the floor and raised his arms in supplication as he poured forth a plea for his life.

The barrel never wavered in the other man's unshaking hands, except when now and then it shifted from one vital spot to another, and at last Verbitsky promised to produce every penny of his life's savings if he might get up. Still covered over every inch of his way, Verbitsky ripped up a loose board in a corner of the room and counted out $755, which he stacked on the table.

Then he looked into the face he had known so long and that had changed so suddenly. Hope died as that unyielding glare confronted him, and once more the shotgun muzzle lifted toward his breast.

"Two hundred and sixty-five dollars or you die," said Pecziulis.

The two were as alone as if they had been in some wilderness. There was no telephone, no neighbor within call. If only he could get to the outer darkness he might disappear in the unlighted waste and be safe.

"I loaned a man $500. I will get it for you if I may leave," Verbitsky said.

The other man wavered, then "Go," he said.

Verbitsky opened the door, sprang down the stoop and was running for the gate when a glance behind just as he was blotted out in the darkness showed him the hunter silhouetted in the lighted doorway, the shotgun raised again.

"Take this that you may know I'll kill you if you come not back," said Pecziulis, and let drive into the shadows with both barrels.

Verbitsky was unscathed. He ran into town, but remembering the threat and the look of the man who made it, he did not go near the police.

No one knows exactly what happened next. Perhaps Pecziulis heard a board creak, perhaps a dog barked. Early yesterday morning, neighbors, already made uneasy by the two unplaced shots, heard the roar of volley after volley from a shotgun, and saw flash after flash stab into the blackness from the stoop of the Lithuanians' home.

Before they could telephone to police headquarters Motorcycle Patrolman William Partridge was bounding into the yard and up the pathway. The front door slammed in his face. The policeman demanded admission, and Pecziulis inquired the identity of his visitor. "Show me," he said, when Partridge told him.

The policeman crouched under the wooden door, holding his cap to the glass panel above and illuminating the metal device on it with his flash lamp.

"I believe," said Peeziulis in that same wooden voice, and fired twice, shattering the glass and raining shot all about the policeman.

Policeman Summons Aid.

Partridge leaped off the stoop. He wriggled through the yard, climbed the fence and telephoned headquarters to send fire engines and the riot squads. While he was gone Pecziulis volleyed again and again into the pitch blackness of the moonless night. He had retreated indoors once more by the time Partridge returned with Robert Patterson, another motorcycle man, and two other patrolmen, who had run from nearby posts.

Those two crept to the rear of the house, while Partridge and Patterson, their weapons drawn, manoeuvred vainly for a sight of their quarry from the front. Pecziulis must have been crouching on the floor, for they caught no glimpse of him until suddenly the front door swung open and he was upon them, this time with a repeating shotgun, from which he pumped shell after shell at the two policemen.

Partridge sprawled on the scraggly lawn with some twenty-five shot buried in his head, face, neck and left arm, his body seared where other shots ripped through his clothing and the badge over his heart pitted in a dozen places. Most of the shot that struck Patterson lodged under his right eye. He dropped near his comapnion.

All Kearney, alarmed by the staccato thunder, came tumbling out. Trailing the two fire engines that went rumbling through Devon Terrace was a crowd of men and boys, some half-clad, many armed with pistols, rifles, shotguns and knives.

The police ordered them back as the two engines deployed before the house, set their motors going and flooded the scese with their searchlights. Every man in the Police Department had been mobilized and the best shots on the force stalked from door to windows and back as searchlights pierced the interior where Pecziulis had "doused" the lights. Each time they aimed they discovered that the object of their imminent fire was not a man and desisted.

Arrived With Riot Guns.

Chief Oliver Welter sent one of his men to a call box to summon ambulances to take Partridge and Patterson to the West Hudson Hospital. Then he ordered eight of the fifteen men he had armed with .48 calibre Winchester repeating riot guns to mount one engine and seven to take places in the other. One engine stayed in front of the house, the other was run around to the rear, where a hose was hooked up to the fire hydrant. The fifteen men knelt in the shelter of the apparatus, the remainder of the force, with drawn pistols, flung themselves prone at points of vantage and all eld their fire by order of the Chief, who feared the possibility of his divided force firing into each other.

Walter went into the front yard and demanded that Pecziulis surrender. He was answered with another burst of fire through the broken panel. While he was debating whether to rake the house with a cross-fire of bullets or to rush in an attacking party under cover of a stream from a fire hose, Frank Witter, a nearby storekeeper, said he had known Pecziulis for twenty years and felt sure he could calm the man.

"This is your friend, Witter; can I come in?"

The shotgun belched again and Witter fell, his chin, neck and arms pierced in a dozen places.

For a time after that things were at a standstill. The Chief wanted to take his man alive; he was reluctant to sacrifice any of his men, and the advisability of a long siege was under debate when Mrs. Mary Lulus, a neighbor, volunteered to repeat Witter's attempt to quiet the Lithuanian. The men feared she would be killed and begged her not to try. She insisted.

Walking calmly into the yard, she called:

"This is Mrs. Lulus. Will you shoot me if I come to you?"

"Come in," said the even voice inside.

A Woman's Nerve.

With every policeman's finger taut on the trigger, and the crowd watching breathlessly, Mrs. Lulus walked on up the path, mounted the stoop in the full glare of the fire engine's searchlight, swung open the door and crossed the threshold. Three policemen had wriggled across the yard and stood huddled together on the edge of the stoop, out of view from within. As Mrs. Lulus entered they burst in after her and seized Pecziulis. He offered no resistance.

Two men had robbed him of $371 and his gold watch and he feared they were returning, he said, when they asked him to explain his little reign of terror. Long after they had lodged him in the Kearny police station, the police believed, him. At last they found Verbitsky and heard another story. Even then Verbitsky said it would mean death for him to file a complaint against his companion. So the police made the complaint on which a Recorder held Pecziulis in $500 bail on the charge of assault with intent to kill, and Verbitsky will only be a witness against him.

Pecziulis was taken to the County Jail in Jersey City last night, and there doctors will examine him.

A police party went to the isolated cottage yesterday afternoon. They found three or four $20 gold pieces scattered about the yard and will search to-day for more which they believe Pecziulis buried, perhaps in a dozen places, after Verbitsky left.

Inside the house they found a huge safe belonging to Pecziulis. It was crammed full of papers, all seemingly valueless. Hidden among them were two $1 bills.

MECHANICAL WARFARE IS NEW METHOD

SIR LAMING WORTHINGTON-EVANS, BRINGING DOWN ARMY ESTIMATES, SAYS THIS MUST BE DEVELOPED.

LONDON, March 16. — (Canadian Press.) — Sir Laming Worthington Evans, Secretary for War, in introducing the army estimates in the House of Commons yesterday, said the ultimate aim of the government was to re-create an expeditionary force of six divisions. At present, however, the army was very far from being as complete as before the war, he declared.

Provision had been made for the development of the light tank to co-operate with the infantry, he continued, and with the fast powerful tank which would be more useful with cavalry. The general view, the Secretary said, was that mechanical fighting must be developed because it was more economical in peace times and saved many in time of war.

Replying to the criticism that the army was too large Sir Laming asserted it could not be reduced while the country's commitments were what they were. In Ireland he said there were 51 battalions of infantry, 7 cavalry regiments, 32 batteries of artillery, four engineer field divisoins and three signal units.

ANGLO-RUSSIAN PACT AGREEABLE

EXPECTED THAT TRADE AGREEMENT WILL BE SIGNED TO-DAY.

LONDON, March 16. — (Canadian Press.) — The Anglo-Russian trade agreement will be signed to-day, according to the present expectations. The negotiations between Leonid Krassin, the Russian representative, and the Board of Trade, have resulted in the reframing of the clauses in a manner acceptable to the British government.

The main principle is said to be that Russia undertakes to cease all propaganda outside of Russia, while Britain undertakes to observe neutrality in Russian internal affairs.

HASTINGS IS WELL SPOKEN OF BY MANY PROMINENT CITIZENS DENY ALLEGATIONS AGAINST DUNNVILLE MAGISTRATE.

CAYUGA, March 16.— (Canadian Press.)— The judicial inquiry into law and order conditions in Dunnville, is rapidly drawing to a close. Yesterday seven witnesses were on the stand, making a total of 43 to date. Six of the witnesses, prominent citizens and officials of the town, spoke highly of David Hastings, both as man and magistrate and denied allegations in the statement of complaint as to the existence of a dominating ring in the town.

Frank Lalor, M.P., and W. A. Fry, proprietor of the Dunnville Chroncile, were the principal witnesses. The former gave a most emphatic denial to the general charges in the staement and also to charges read out by Hon. W. E. Raney when the deputation waited on the Attorney-General asking for the re-instatement of Hastings or an investigation. He also gave denials to the specific charge in the statement that he was a member of a ring which exercised an improper influence in the town.

Of the Marshall Mattresses

During the remainder of this week there will be an expert demonstrator here to explain the special features of this new Ventilated Marshall Mattress which we have added to our wonderful Bedding Department.

The Unique Feature of "Marshaldown"

The improvement that makes the "Marshaldown" the Best Felt Mattress made—that places it in a class by itself—that adds a long-needed want in Mattress Construction—is the utilization of a number of the same sensitive, highly- tempered Springs as used in the Marshall Celebrated Ventilated Mattress. This row of Springs is firmly embedded in the mass of Felt along the edge, each is in its individual pocket, and securely sewed in place. Then all edges containing a layer of Felt are stitched, making a firm, strong roll edge all around.

The action of this row of Springs keeps the whole Mattress taut and working, as it does, in union with the roll edge feature, and prevents the Mattress from sagging or spreading.

You may sit on the edge of the "Marshaldown" all you want—it immediately assumes its original position as soon as the pressure is removed.

This Spring idea and roll edge feature is an improvement that has been needed in Mattresses ever since they were first made. It remained for the Marshall Ventilated Mattress Company to maintain their supremacy as Canada's Best Mattress Makers, and to conceive and use this feature.

EVILS CANADIAN CATTLE EMBARGO.

Theo. Feilden, Editor of "Empire Mail," Discusses Them.

LONDON, March 16.—Employment will be found for 100.000 men within twelve months if the embargo on Canadian cattle were removed.

This striking statement was made by Theo. Feilden, editor of the Empire Mail, in a speech at the annual meeting of the Union of London Retail Meat Traders' Incorporated.

"There is no subject that has made me more angry," said Mr. Feilden. "My anger is shared by the great mass of the Canadian people. They are making this embargo more or less a national question. Not only the breeder, but every one, is taking the matter up energetically. This country should be grateful to Lord Beaverbrook. who is rendering splendid national service."

Mr. Feilden sketched the origin of the embargo, which was first imposed in 1893, ostensibly because Canadian cattle were infected. A single case of pneumonia had been certified by a veterinary surgeon, but the certificate had afterwards been proved false. The Bill ecame law in 1896, and since then the most stupid arguments had been put forward to keep the embargo going.

"The implication," said Mr. Feilden, "was that Canadian cattle were diseased. This made the Canadian people angry, for there had not been a case of diseased cattle for the last thirty years. Successive Ministers of Agriculture have admitted this. and in 1917, at the Imperial Conference, an understanding or a pledge was given by the British Government that the embargo would be removed after the war.

The Canadian price for store cattle averages 25 shillings (roughly $6.00) to 38 shillings and 3 pence per hundredweight for the best. The average price in Britain recently has been from 86 shillings 40 106 shillings. The cost of conveying the Canadian cattle to the coast is about 6 shillings per beast. After shipping the cattle and feeding them over here, retail traders could sell meat at 5 pence to 10 pence a pound cheaper than at present, and still make a good profit."

Colonel Grant-Morden, M.P., was short but trenchant in his comments.

"What makes us so angry," he said, "is to see Canadian cattle going over the line into the United States and coming here in tins."

Sir William Bull, M.P., told the meeting that Lord Ernle, Mr. Walter Long, and Lord Lee had been converted to the necessity of removing the embargo, and he believed the Government would remove it at an early date.

"If this embargo is removed," said a speaker, "we traders will be able to sell good quality meat 7 pence (about 14 cents) per pound."

A resolution in favour of the removal of the embargo was passed unanimously.

OUCH! MY BACK! RUB LUMBAGO PAIN AWAY

Rub Backache away with small trial bottle of old St. Jacob's Oil.

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints.

ROCKEFELLER TELLS HOW TO PICK A WIFE.

RISKY TO MARRY A WOMAN OF DIFFERENT NATIONALITY OR RELIGION, SAYS J. D., JR.

NEW YORK, March 16. — It is risky for a man to marry a woman of a different nationality or of a different religion, according to John D. Rockefeller, Jr. No man, he said, should let his heart alone guide him when he decides to choose a wife, but he should also be guided by his head. These sentiments were expressed yesterday morning by Mr. Rockefeller before the Young Men's Bible Class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, of which he is honorary president.

The Sunday School lesson was on the life of Samson, and Mr. Rockefeller blamed Samson's marriage with a woman of the Philistines for his failure in life.

"We might well pause here to discuss the importance to any man of the selection of his wife," said Mr. Rockefeller. Regarding the failure of many men to exerise enough care in the selection of their wives, he said: "We may well assume that is the reason why the divorce courts of the land are so shamefully full."

"There are few things so important as the selection of a wife," continued Mr. Rockefeller. "How many of us have seen the lives of our friends wrecked because they have not selected the right woman.

"It is a pretty dangerous thing in selecting your wife to choose one from a foreign nation, though there are cases where it has not proved a failure. It is a risky thing, too, to yoke oneself for life with a woman of another religion. Once in a while this goes all right, but often it does not.

"It seems to me that in the selection of a life partner the heart and head should be used. I am saying that any man is foolish who lets his heart run away with his head in selecting a wife. A man should sit down and prayerfully consider how that woman and he will agree.

'Who can but look with scorn upon any choice of a wife for anything but happiness and love? There is nothing more disastrous than a marriage for money or social position. It seems to me the more points of interest between husband and wife, the surer there will be happiness."

SHACKLETON'S NEXT VOYAGE TO ARCTIC.

COPENHAGEN, March 16.—(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service). — Sir Ernest Shackleton has purchased the "Foca I.," a 204-ton wooden ship, specially for Arctic service. The "Foca I.", which is fitted with a 185 h.p. motor, will be used for Sir Ernest's expedition to the area north of Canada, which will start on June 1.

A "WARM TOWN."

WASHINGTON, March 16. — (Canadian Press.) — Geographers suspect the ancients knew what they were doing when they named the capital of the old Georgian Kingdom Tiflis. The word comes, according to the National Geographic Society, from a phrase meaning "Warm Town" and the review adds that the town produces seventy kinds of language, "the handsomest branch of the white race," particularly the women; is a great wine centre and much given to singing and dancing. Guides are useless in Tiflis, it says, unless they can "wheedle and swear in at least a dozen languages."

FREEZONE
Corns Lift Off with Fingers

Drop a little 'Freezone' on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. It doesn't hurt a bit.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without a particle of pain.

A BASKET SOCIAL AT COLDSPRINGS

GOOD ATTENDANCE IN SPITE OF THE INCLEMENT WEATHER.

The young men's basket social last night was a decided success. Though the night was wet and the roads almost impassible the hall was fairly well filled and all had an excellent time.

The following programme was rendered.

Opening chorus, "The Maple Leaf."

Chairman's remarks.

Recitation, Harold Kitney, "Only a Boy."

Instrumental by Mr. Carter and his boys.

Recitation, Jesie Tully, "When Pa Gets Sick."

Solo and chorus, by the young men and maids.

Instrumental, Mr. Carter and his Boys.

A Small Beginning.

The chairman, Mr. Frank Kitney in his remarks spoke of the Sunday school when it was held in the day school. Its possessions then were less than $100. Fourteen years ago the young men held an oyster supper at Mr. Hustons home and realized the large sum of $10. With a bank account of only $31 they decided to build the hall now occupied by the school and so heartily did the neighborhood respond that in less than 5 years the hall and sheds were completed and paid for.

The school under the leadership of Miss L. Bennett, who has been Superintendent for the past 21 years, finds itself in the same position as it was 14 years ago—too large for its present home. The school decided at its annual meeting to erect an addition to the hall, and last night was the first move to further the same. He then thanked the girls for their hearty cooperation and all those who took part in the programme.

The young men of the 40 class said that it felt like old times when the competition for the girls was so keen.

Mr. Alex. Huston made an excellent auctioneer, and showed his ability in that line when Miss Jessie Tully carried off the prie, her basket selling for $6.50. The night's proceeeds amountd to a nice round sum.

After singing the National Anthem all went home deligted with such a pleasant evening.

OVERHEAD BRIDGE ALMOST IMPASSABLE

SEVERAL WEEKS SINCE LIGHTS WERE PROMISED FOR NEW STRUCTURE.

Last evening several near tragedies were recorded on the new Hunter Street Bridge, which has become almost impassable due to the defective condition of the roadway and temporary sidewalk. Several weeks ago lights were promised for the structure, but so far they are conspicuous by their absence. As a result, citizens who essayed to cross the structure last evening found themselves floundering in the mud and water. There is a long section of wooden sidewalk running from Burnham Street to the site of the temporary bridge that could well be utilized on the new structure until the permanent sidewalk is constructed. It would only take a short time to transfer this sidewalk, and the results would be beneficial to hundreds who daily cross the new bridge. It would save a lot of profanity and enhance the Bridge Committee's reputation in the eyes of East City residents.

WARNING IS GIVEN NOT TO EMIGRATE.

Ex-Service Men of Old Country Advised to Stay at Home.

LONDON, March 16.—(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service). — "Whatever you do, don't emigrate," is the advice given to ex-service men in the Old Country by some who have tried it. One man, named Masters, with his wife and two young children, claims he was sent to Canada by the Overseas Settlement Committee of the Colonial Office last June, found that there was no work for him in that country, and had to spend his service gratuity on sending his wife and family back to England. He hopes to work his passage home by way of Australia.

Mrs. Masters, who is now living with her mother at Walworth, London, has had to apply to the Southwark Guardians for relief, which has been granted. She stated that an official of the Overseas Settlement Committee told her husband that there was plenty of work in Canada. They landed at Quebec, but her husband found no work there, and a number of men unemployed.

"Then he went to Toronto," she said, "but there was no work there. We got to Winnipeg, but again there was no work and thousands were looking for it. With struggles, we made our way to Vancouver. Not only was there no work in that city, but there were at least 5,000 men unemployed. My husband had £160 when we landed, but by then it had all been spent. Why did the committee send us over there when there was no work for my husband or any other emigrant?"

WILLIAM SAYS HE TRIED TO FORM PEACE LEAGUE.

Proposed It to Czar in 1905 — To Start With Triple and Dual Alliances.

THE HAGUE, March 15.—In the book he has written for private distribution in an attempt to show that Great Britain was responsible for the World War, the former Emperor William of Germany throughout always speaks of himself as the third person. He paints William II. as a man who tried for thirty years to maintain peace in Europe, but says he was foiled by the perfidious machinations of Great Britain, France and Russia.

As long ago as 1905, the ex-Kaiser says, he tried to found a League of Nations.

Although no full copy of the book is yet available, and both the ex-Kaiser's entourage and the Dutch and German Governments are worried because of the publication of brief extracts from it, enough of the contents of the volume has leaked out to indicate the general trend of the entire work. The leak was principally due to the Berlin correspondent of the Rotterdam Maasbode.

The correspondent says the book begins with notes as far back as 1884 (William succeeded his father as King and Emperor in 1888.)

"In some places," says The Maasbode's correspondent, "the document is very interesting, especially notes of Aug. 18, 1891, where he treats of the visit of William to Czar Alexander III at Narvik, when the Czar said he hated the French Republic and wanted to restore a monarchy in France. But already, says the Kaiser, a Russian-French military agreement had been negotiated, saying that in the event of the mobilization of any member of the Triple Alliance (Dreibund) a mobilization of French and Russian forces would be ordered immediately and these armies thrown into action at once."

Under date of April 18, 1898, the former Emperor wrote.

"An English proposal for an alliance of Germany against Russia is declined in order not to endanger the world's peace.

"At the same time Declasse (then French Minister of Foreign Affairs) proposed to the German Ambassador in Paris a German-French agreement in order to prevent the Portuguese colonies falling under the British influence. This proposal was not answered."

The former Emperor also asserts that he drafted a project for a League of Nations under date of March 24, 1905.

"A proposal,' says the book, "was made by the former Kaiser to the Czar and to Witte (then Russian Foreign Minister to found a League of Nations consisting of the Triple Alliance and the French and Russian alliance, with the understanding also that other groups or separate countries might become members of the League. The proposal was accepted by the Czar and Witte. There was no question as to Presidential power over this League."

Regarding the mission to Germany in February, 1912, of Viscount Haldane, then British Lord High Chancellor, the book says,

"German efforts to conclude neutrality with England failed in consefluence of the absurd demand for a cessation of development of the German fleet through the curtailment of the building of new ships."

THE DOMINIONS IN LONDON CONFERENCE

Number of Conferences Scheduled, Among Them Imperial in June.

LONDON, March 16.—(Special to the Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service).—Official visits of statesmen and other publicists from the Dominion promise to be an outstanding feature of the political and social life of London for this year. It is stated that a conference will be held next month to discuss the incidence of Customs duties in all parts of the Empire. To this conference, which concerns inter-Imperial trade, delegates are promised by the Dominions and by the Government of India.

There will also be an important conference of delegates from the Universities of the Empire held in London in July next. About sixty Universities will then be represented, some of them being new seminaries of learning established in remote young cities in Western Canada. Part of the sittings of that conference will be held in Oxford.

In June next, also, the Prime Minister will entertain as the guests of the nation the respective Premiers of the Dominions. It is a mistake, however, to describe this prospective meeting as the Imperial Conference, which has been deferred until the summer of 1922.

GOT PRINCELY PAY FROM GOVERNMENT

CIVIL SERVICE CLASSIFICATION EXPERTS SHARED $100,000

OTTAWA, March 14.—In three bulky volumes the Auditor-General details all the expenditures of Government during the year which ended March 31, 1920, except the expenditures on demoblization and on sundry boards and commissions.

To Government officials and members of Parliament the most interesting portion of the first volume is the page which details the sums of money paid to Arthur Young & Co. for its expert services in classifying the Civil Service. Nearly $100,000 was paid to this company in the year in question, and this sum was divided among 27 men. All of them charged from $25 to $40 a day. and in addition they collected at the rate of $3 an hour for all the overtime they put in, $5 a day for living allowance, and whatever travelling expenses they had.

Counting in all these expenses, one man, W. G. Bailey, obtained for 275 days' work $11,476; another man, P. H Myers for 293 1-4 days' work got $12,513, and others amounts varying from $25 for one day's work to nearly $10,000 for longer periods.

HAMON'S WIDOW TESTIFIES AT TRIAL

RELATES VISIT TO OKLAHOMA AND MEETING HER HUSBAND WITH CLARA SMITH HAMON.

ARDMORE, Okla., March 16.—Mrs. Jake L. Hamon testified briefly yesterday as the concluding witness for the State in the case of Clara Smith Hamon, charged with the murder of Jake L. Hamon, former Republican National Committeeman for Oklahoma. Nearly a score of witnesses for the defense were examined, and it was announced that the defendant herself will take the stand to-morrow.

Mrs. Jake L. Hamon has been under a physician's care since Friday when she was unnerved by the presentation in evidence of the blood-stained under garments her husband had worn on the night he was shot and court also took an unusually long recess at noon to-day to enable her to regain her composure. Her testimony was brief and related to one or two occasions on which she visited Oklahoma, and the meetings with her husband and Clara Smith Hamon here.

Frank L. Ketch, business manager for Hamon and now administrator of the estate, testified at length at the morning session of court, relating conversations he had with Hamon after the shooting, and of steps taken to induce Clara Smith Hamon to leave Oklahoma.

"Give Clara some money and have her get away," Ketch quoted Hamon as saying. He added that he gave the woman his personal check for $5,000, later regaining that amount from the Hamon estate.

Ketch said that Mr. Hamon at first told him that he had shot himself accidentally, and in a moment changed that statement to one that Clara Hamon had fired the bullet and that the matter should be hushed up and Clara gotten away, as Mrs. Hamon and the children would come to Ardmore as soon as they heard of the affair

"Jake, where is she," Ketch said his first words to Hamon when he arrived at the hospital to which Haman had walked after he was shot.

"I did it myself," Ketch said Haman replied.

"Don't tell me that, Ketch said he replied to Hamon.

He then charged that Clara Hamon shot him in the darkness of his room as he lay on his bed, Ketch continued, adding that Mr. Hamon said:

"I want it given out that I did it myself, and give Clara some money and have her get away. My wife will be here as soon as she hears of this, and I want Clara to go. Tell the world any kind of a story; that I dropped the gun; anything."

She said that Dr. Irwin, who on Saturday gave a dying statement of Hamon came once, and that Mr. Hamon asked him to come back again, and they did not talk much. She said Hamon did not tell her the defendant shot him. She said Clara's face and hands showed no bruises.

Only three or four witnesses remain to be called by the defense.

Rosa Cannon, also a nurse who attended Hamon, said she worked from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. and that she attended Clara Hamon about 8:15 on Monday and that Clara soon came to the hospital.

KEENE NEWS HAPPENINGS

KEENE, March 16. — Rev. Dr. Buchanan, of Toronto, addressed large congregations morning and evening. His sermons were very much enjoyed.

The ladies of the church held a "fruit shower" on Monday for Evangel Hall, Toronto. Through the kindness of Mr. Stanley Taylor about 300 lbs. were packed and shiped to Toronto on Tuesday.

Rev. R. McEachern has returned from Montreal and will occupy his own pulpit on Sunday. His subject will be "The Humiliation of oOur Lord."

The young people will hold their evening service on Sunday at 7.30. The social half hour at the close of the Vesper services have been greatly enjoyed. Everybody is cordially welcomed at this service.

ENCOURAGE MOTHER NATURE TO REBUILD

THIS WILL SOLVE TIMBER PROBLEM IN THE MAIN, SAYS MR. ROBSON BLACK.

"Canada's timber problem will be settled, in the main, not by plantations in Southern Ontario, but by encouraging Mother Nature to rebuild on her natural habitat in the North-west a stock of timber trees sufficient for our future needs."

This was the assertion of Mr. Robson Black. Secretary of the Canadian Forestry Association, in an address before the Belleville Rotary Club. The theme of his address was "Paying the War Debt from Timber Crops," in the course of which he commended the proposed effort to commence re-planting trees on the waste areas north of Belleville. A thousand young trees are annually destroyed by fire, he said, to every ten that may be planted on the waste lands of Old Ontario, and as things stand to-day, the rapid exhaustion of Eastern Canada's timber land will force us to import British Columbia products at greatly increased lumber prices.

BEWARE OF BRONCHITIS

Bronchitis is generally caused by neglecting a cold, or exposure to wet and inclement weather. It begins with a tightness across the chest, difficulty in breathing, and a wheezing sound comes from the lungs. There is a raising of phlegm especially the first thing in the morning. This is at first white, but later becomes of a greenish or yellowish color and is occasionally streaked with blood.

On the first sign of bronchitis you should check it immediately by using Dr Wood's Norway Pine Syrup thereby prevent it becoming chronic and perhaps developing into some more serious lung trouble.

Mrs. Brice Culham, Sheffield, Ont., writes:—"In December, 1919, I was very sick with bronchitis, and had to stay in the house all winter. One day I saw Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup advertised, so I got a small bottle which helped me very much; I then got a 60c. size, and it completely relieved me. I cannot praise "Dr. Wood's" enough for what it did. Two of my neighbours are now using it for colds."

Don't accept a substitute for Dr Wood's Norway Pine Syrup; the genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark, price 35c and 60c., manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A SHOWER FOR MISS V. ZEALAND

A Mock Marriage Was Enacted During the Evening.

The Whatsoever Class of Trinity Sunday School gave a miscellaneous shower to Miss Verna Zealand on Friday evening last, at the home of Mrs Pardee B. Wright, 466 Weller street, at which about 35 members of the class were present, with Mrs. Zealand, Mrs. Pethick, Mrs. McComb, and Miss Timmis, of Midland. The bride-to-be was the recipient of many beautiful presents of linen and useful household accessories, and three girls of the class enacted a mock marriage during the evening, which called forth peals of merriment. The decorations were prettily carried out in pink festoons to the different articles which were located in various corners of the room, garnished with the little "bluebird of happiness" which appeared on every side.

HE PAID UP.

LINDSAY, March 15. — The Montreal man accused by Pulver and Co., of having submitted a questionable cheque to them in payment of goods has paid the amounts in dispute and thus the matter has been settled. The defendant paid all costs.

Father Believes It Saved Child's Life

"Our little eight-year-old daughter, Edna, had been in very delicate health all her life, but she is as well and strong since taking Tanlac as any youngster in the neighbourhood," was the statement made by Walter Bailey, of 15 Wyatt Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

"I really believe Tanlac saved my little girl's life," continued Mr. Bailey, "for before she began taking the medicine, many times she had such awful spells that it looked like she wouldn't be with us much longer. She had no appetite whatever, and her growth was very much retarded by her sickness. Everything she ate disagreed with her, and she was in misery all the time. She had terrible spells of nausea and sick headaches, and was very thin and weak. She wasn't able to go to school, and we could find nothing to help her.

"We saw Tanlac so highly recommended by those who had used it that we decided to try it as a sort of last resort. Well, Edna hadn't finished the first bottle before she began to eat and gain in weight and strength. Three bottles of the medicine have actually built her up fifteen pounds in weight, and she is now a picture of perfect health. She eats fine and sleeps fine, and never misses a day from school. Yes, we certainly do believe Tanlac saved her life, and words can't express the gratitude we feel toward the medicine."

PROPHECIES OF MODERN HISTORY

By THE VERY REV. WM. R. INGE, D.D., C.V.O., Dean St. Paul's.

(Written for Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

It might be supposed that as the chances of a coin coming down with heads or tails uppermost are exactly even, about 50 per cent. of the prophecies which are made must come true. And if we allow some slight value to human intelligence, we might suppose that a majority of political and other predictions would be verified by the course of events. But further reflection reminds us that there are many ways of missing the mark, and only one of hitting it, so that the prophet is likely to lose in this way the slight advantage which his wits may give him in foreseeing the future. Recorded prophecies in political matters have been, I think, more often wrong than right.

There is, indeed, one class of political prophets who are never right, even by accident. These are the Revolutionaries, whose historical function is to provide the Conservative party with the only long innings which it ever gets. The Revolutionary always assumes the prophet's mantle and reiterates "It is coming" with the fervor and conviction of a John the Baptist. Confident prediction is an easy substitute for argument; it cannot be refuted, and it is very annoying to the other side. But history always brings to nought the prophecies of the enrage. If he succeeds in upsetting the coach for a little while, a long period of what he calls reaction follows. As a rule, however, he does not succeed in upsetting the coach, but only the nerves of timid citizens.

What has become of the Bolshevist menace? Mr. Bertrand Russell, himself a political rebel, has told us what he found in Russia. Starvation wages, long hours, industrial conscription, prohibition of strikes, stoppage of rations for a poor day's work, an army of spies, imprisonment for the slightest expression of discontent! This is, of course, the logical result of State Socialism, and Herbert Spencer, who, it is the custom to deride, described it accurately as "The Coming Slavery." But we are not very likely to see it in this country.

The Hebrew prophets, as we now know, were partly moral reformers and partly political advisers. Prophecy in our sense as a small part of their office. They were generally political pessimists, and their anticipations of woe generally came true. They say on the Stock Exchange that the bears generally have the best of it in the long run. But they also prophesied a final recovery and a great future for their country; and this also has come true, though not quite as their hearers hoped or expected.

The Greek oracle at Delphi was sometimes bribed, as an ancient historian tells us, and was always very cautious. Croesus was told that if he crossed the River Halys, he would "destroy a great empire," and so he did—his own. It is more interesting to observe that the republican Athenians were quite convinced that Europe had seen the last of emperors when the King of Persia (whose successor, by the way, had already begun to call himself "Shahin-Shah," like our recent Guildhall visitor, when he fought the Romans at Diabekr a few centuries later) was forced to beat an ignominious retreat from Greece. They thought they had made the world "safe for democracy," and was disgusted when, as Demosthenes said, "A cursed Macedonian, the native of a country where you can't even buy a decent slave," put his foot on their necks.

In the middle ages there were occasional scares that the world was coming to and end, and prayers were offered that the catastrophe might be delayed. But there are different ways of believing a thing of this kind. Our Socialists say they believe that the collectivist state is coming the day after to-morrow, but they behave as if they thought that its coming depended on their own exertions, and invest their money as if they knew that it is not coming at all.

Modern political predictions are more interesting to most of us than those of antiquity. In the eighteenth century Kant and others predicted the downfall of nationalism and an era of universal peace. They had no visions of 1789, nor of Napoleonic wars. Two or three men have gained great credit for having foreseen the French Revolution. Lord Chesterfield, the author of the famous Letters, and a very shrewd observer, wrote that "all symptoms which I have met with in history previous to great changes and revolutions now exist and daily increase in France." Oliver Goldsmith was equally clear-sighted. The politicians, as usual, saw nothing. When the disturbances broke out, and the continental powers intervened, Burke thought that there was a great danger of France being partitioned, like Poland. This was 1793. On the other hand, the fanatics of the revolution exulted in the final disappearance of monarchs and priests from the earth. They are doing the same now.

The rebellion of the American colonies produced a few good prophecies, and more bad ones. Choiseul, when the French flag was finally hauled down in Canada, exclaimed: "We have caught them at last." He foresaw, as our statesmen did not, that the loyalty of the American colonies would not survive the removal of the French danger. The loss of America naturally plunged our own patriots in the depths of despair. If we had to give up these colonies, exclaimed Lord Shelburne during the war, "the sun of England would set and her glories be eclipsed for ever." Horace Walpole is quite convinced of the decadence of his country. Rather later Wellington declared: "Few would be so rash as to suppose that we shall ever again be as prosperous as we have been." As a matter of fact, the wealth of the country was multiplied ten times between the two great wars. After the battle of Austerlitz Pitt, dying of a broken heart, thought that the time was come to "roll up the map of Europe."

Napoleon's own predictions were shrewd, but not infallible. It was only in a moment of spleen that he said that "England is intended by nature to be an appanage of France, like Corsica," but his prophecy that before the end of the nineteenth century "Europe will be either republican or Cossack" was serious, and had a great effect. Russia lived on the credit of that prophecy, and of the retreat from Moscow, for a hundred years. It was left to Japan to prick the bubble, but the prestige of the Czars and their Empire was not much impaired in 1914. Another unfortunate prophecy was Canning's grandiloquent phrase about the independence of South America—that "a new world had been called into existence to redress the balance of the old." The operations of the South American republics upon the "balances" of their European creditors have not always been agreeable to the old world.

Our practical politicians were ridiculously blind to the German menace. Sir Charles Dilké, who had a high reputation for sagacity on such matters, sums up his "Problems of Greater Britain" by predicting that "the world's future belongs to the Anglo-Saxon, the Russian, and the Chinese races." Perhaps it does, but he had no right to think so in 1890. Mr. Chamberlain three years earlier told the Canadians that "the Anglo-Saxon stock is infallibly destined to be the predominant force in the history and civilization of the world." Among other objections to this boast, the Americans are no longer to be called Anglo-Saxon without qualification, and are becoming less so every year.

One may search the utterances of politicians at this period and not find a single honest or timely warning about Germany. Yet there were men who saw more clearly. First and foremost, Professor Lord Acton, the learned Roman Catholic historian, lecturing at Cambridge, gave a brilliant account of the German system of government as a new thing in history. He described its deadly efficiency, its scientific methods, its encouragement of science and technical education, the industry, honesty, and capacity of its officials—the whole wonderful machine directed to a single aim—the aggrandisement of Germany.

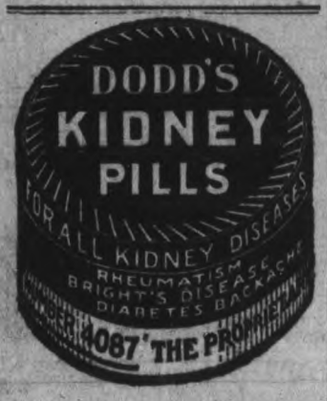
"It is," he ended ominously, "the greatest danger which remains to be encountered by the Anglo-Saxon race." But we in England do not listen to professors. Two poets, Matthew Arnold and George Meredith, also saw the truth very clearly. Meredith watched how "England her distended middle Thumps with pride, as Mammon's wife"; while across the sea—

Power, the hard man knit for action,
Reads each nation on the brow;
Cribple, fool, and petrifaction
Fall to him, are falling now.

Matthew Arnold's "Friendship's Garland," written soon after 1870, places him in the front rank of political prophets. All should read it.

I suppose we all occasionally indulge in prophecies about the political future. For myself, when the war was about to break out, I was so convinced that it would end in the ruin of the upper and middle classes, and in the loss of our naval supremacy, and ultimately of our trade, not to Germany, but to the United States, that I hoped we should keep out of it, even with an uneasy conscience. Later on, I once even went to a pacifist meeting in support of Lord Lansdowne's overtures, where, to my horror, I found myself in a nest of anti-patriots.

If this prophecy of mine is remembered in the future as a striking example of political ineptitude on the part of a fairly intelligent man, no one will be better pleased than myself.



WHY NOT A USABLE HOME? IS THERE A WAR ON BETWEEN INDOOR BEAUTY AND SANITATION?

With the wave of interior decorating sweeping the country, are we not in danger of making our homes too beautiful to be livable? We are making a fetish of beauty, and as an active worker against dirt I question the worth of it.

Dirt Designs on a Background of Simplicity.

I succumbed to the lure of white woodwork as being more cheerful than the usual dark stained finish for my living room, as well as for the rest of the house. Now I go around continually after my young son bearing a heavy, damp rag. The number and perfection of fingerprints about my house would delight a Bertillon expert. My beautiful paneled doors, made to order, are a snare and a delusion when I consider the time required to dust them. My dark finished floors and plain colored rugs, true to the artistic dictum that the floor should be the darkest note in the room and that figured floor coverings are too assertive, show every footstep and bit of dust, so that I fear these impromptu patterns made by human activities will cause me more acute pain thon those stable designs in the rugs now out of favor.

It does seem that art and good housekeeping must be forever at odds. When art says a thing is fitting and altogether desirable, the good housekeeper counters with "Yes, but it's so hard to keep clean"—and we must remember that that is her part of the business, to keep things clean and sanitary.

"Why Is a House?"

The whole matter hinges upon the question, "Why is a house?" We forget that it is primarily a place of shelter, a convenient spot for the family activities, and not a museum or a place to exhibit things. We forget that it is intended to serve mankind when we make it so dainty and lovely that it demands we serve it instead.

We are becoming a clan of people who would rather look right than be right. A cabinet kitchen, with everything concealed, may look neat, but the horrors that sometimes lurk behind those nice-looking doors! The beautiful white enamel sinks are good to look upon—if that was all one had to do, just look at them—but when they require so much time and energy to keep them in their pristine whiteness—why is a white sink, I ask? If its beauty must be covered with a rubber mat or other device to protect it, why have it at all? Why can't we have a sink that will stand all manner of abuse, that will help us to get our work done in the quickest and easiest manner without a thought unto itself? The scratches, stains and black marks that inevitably happen have nothing to do with sanitation, but all with appearance.

The Price of Indoor Beauty.

No one need feel beauty-starved if our homes were made more serviceable. Beauty bought with the sacrifice of health and strength and valuable time is too expensive. One can get it cheaper from nature, and if we didn't spend so much time on our homes we would have more to cultivate the real, not artificial, beauty. It is far better to take a long walk than stay indoors and scrub woodwork.

What we need to beautify our homes more, in the real sense, is more light, for one thing. Instead of hanging pictures on our walls, let us cut in more windows. A window is better than a picture any day, even though it opens only upon a court. The more we live in glass houses the better off will we be.

It is the fashion to belittle the mission or craftsman furniture that had such a vogue several years ago, but the fact remains that there never was a more serviceable type. My waxed oak things that my young husband made painstakingly by hand when we started housekeeping, with no budget for furniture, is still as good looking as ever, in spite of raising three active youngsters in the midst of it—and on top of and under it! And it certainly has not fallen apart nor developed rickets, as have some more expensive pieces we bought later from the shops. Like the little "tin" auto, the despised stuff has merits, and it is the only kind I should recommend for growing family.

We mustn't make our furnishings too lovely for the children to grow up in. We may not be educating their taste, but at least we are not offending it with over-ornateness. The primitive, straight lines will not distort their own primitive tastes. Mission furniture has a negative rather than a positive value. I shudder to think what my pieces would look like to-day had they been fine mahogany instead of solid, hard-to-mar waxed oak.

Enamel Paint and Wax Doors.

Flat paint for walls, say those who are supposed to know. Shiny surfaces are taboo. It's washable, they add. If by that is meant that it is not harmed by water, they are in the right—but washable! With a lot of scrubbing that almost removes the paint! I will put the lovely soft, flat tones in bedroom and living room, and when soiled give them another coat; but in kitchen and bathroom, where frequent cleaning is necessary, I shall have the most offensively shiny enamel I can get, artist or no artist—so there!

Open bookshelves, says the decorator. They are so much more friendly looking than glass doors. I certainly agree, and have never yet put mine behind inhospitable doors—but, oh, the dust they do collect! I positively refuse to go over them every day, so have fallen into the lazy custom of keeping a soft cloth in a beautiful jar on the bookcase and dust the books as we use them. This confession, no doubt, offends good housewifery—but the alternative of closed doors would offend the artist, with whom I feel I have just as much in common.

A Usable Home.

And so the compromise between art and cleanliness goes on. In order to keep the modern house in good standing somebody must go around continually with a broom and a wet rag. And I rebel against the tyranny of a mere shelter. It is cheating us out of our heritage. There is too much natural beauty going to waste for lack of an audience that stays under a roof and tries to imitate it. "Make the home attractive" is the popular cry, but sometimes I fear we make it too attractive. Four walls do not comprise the universe. I should substitute the slogan, "Make it more usable"—be no respecter of the mere things that go into it. I have long maintained that the ideal place of abode will not be achieved until we devise something upon which the hose may be turned.

It is astonishing how many women lose their own beauty trying to preserve that of their homes. And which is more to be desired, a beautiful woman or a beautiful home?

I may go back, by reversal to type, to dark stained woodwork, instead of virgin paint (sometimes I've a notion to do all my woodwork in black—I have done the kitchen baseboard), to scrolly-patterned carpets that make dirt indistinguishable, to soapstone sinks, but I am not yet quite broken on the wheel of sanitation sufficiently to renounce the small paned windows or the open shelves. I want most earnestly to cling to these two, but, with the servant shortage and with old age ahead of me, with not half the things done that I set out to do, I make no promises. My contention is not that I abhor that, but that it is "cruelty to women" to insist that they be both artists and good housekeepers. The standards of one or the other will have to be lowered if we are to consider the human equation as well.—May Belle Brooks, in Philadelphia Ledger.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

The greatest factor in the economical grain feeding of the dairy cow, other than the ability of the cow to use her grain ration economically, is the supply of home-grown roughages and grain feeds available on the farm. The roughages are of importance, for the richer, more succulent and more abundant they are the less grain feeding is necessary to secure the maximum milk flow from the cows. The home grown grain seeds are of equal importance, for they can be grown much more cheaply than they can be purchased, the quality is known, and the greater the supply grown, the smaller the capital outlay in commercial feeds.

In growing grains on the farm to feed to dairy cattle, the farmer must of necessity stick to the class of grains that will work in best with his rotation of crops. For this purpose oats can hardly be excelled and they are, as well, one of the best of the grains for dairy cattle feeding. Another grain that works into a rotation very well, particularly as a nurse crop when seeding down a field, is barley. Greater use could be made of this grain in combination with oats in the dairy cow's ration. Where it is not desired to keep the various classes of grain separate, a very good yielding mixture, and a very good feeding mixture, is found in peas, oats and barley, provided the selection of varieties is made so that they will ripen as near the same time as possible.

Clover Hay and Silage.

The farmer who has an abundance of good roughages, such as clover hay and silage or roots (preferably both), together with a supply of the above-mentioned grains, will be in a position to feed his dairy cows both well and economically. He will, however, require some purchased grain feeds so to balance the ration for his cows that they will have a sufficient quantity of protein. If the feeder had the choice of but one grain food (luckily he has many to choose from) he would be well advised to choose wheat bran to balance the ration. It is so largely sold that it almost forms a standard of values for other feeds and is consequently practically always economical to buy. When we add to this its many qualities as a feed, such as high protein content; low fibre content; laxative and tonic qualities; palatability; and its bulkiness, it will readily be appreciated why it always is given a prominent place in the dairy cow's ration. Other standard grain feeds which are most useful in balancing a home-grown grain ration, are oilcake and cottonseed meals. To many these grains seem extremely high-priced, but when we consider the purpose for which they are bought namely to supply protein, they are the cheapest feeds that can be got unless that the price is relatively very high indeed. If their residual value as manure is considered and it is no mean consideration—then they take first place as cheap protein feeds. Furthermore the grades of these commodities showing the highest protein content, even though somewhat higher in price than the others, are the most economical to buy.

The Proportion of Grains.

Another factor in economical feeding is the proportion in which the various grains mentioned should be included in the ration. This will depend to a certain extent on conditions. If there is a superabundance of home grown grains, the proportion of the purchased grains could be cut down accordingly without materially affecting the balance of the ration. If alfalfa and clover hays are abundant in the ration the rich protein grains may also be reduced and the desired balance retained. If, on the other hand, there is a lack of these protein roughages and they are substituted by others such as timothy hay or straw, then more of the protein-rich grains are required to retain the protein balance which, it may be well to state, will under these conditions, be retained at a loss. The following grain mixture, with the above variations, will be found economical: bran, 3 parts; oats, 4 parts; barley, 1 to 2 parts; oilcake or cottonseed meal, 2 parts, or 1 part each.

The rate at which this mixture is fed is another factor in economical feeding. It has been found from experiments involving close calculation, that a safe rule to follow is to feed 1 pound of the grain mixture to every 3 pounds of milk produced in the case of fresh and especially productive cows; one pound to every 4 pounds of milk produced for cows well on in their lactation periods, together with those naturally less productive; and 1 pound to every 5 pounds of milk produced with the cows that are winding up their lactation periods. In other words the amount fed must be arrived at by the joint action of the milk scales, the milk tester, the feed scales, and the judgment of the feeder.—George W. Muir, animal husbandman.

REPRISAL AGAINST BEETLE.

WASHINGTON, March 16. — The Mexican beetle is the only bad little girl of the "lady bug" family, U. S. government farm experts have decreed in announcing reprisal warfare against the new crop destroyer, active particularly in Alabama, Colorado and New Mexico. All other "lady bugs" are classed as "beneficial insects," but the bean bettle from Mexico feeds on plant fertilizers and the government has $100,000 to spend in running it out of the United States.

HEARTBURN LIVER TROUBLE

When the liver becomes torpid and inflamed, it cannot furnish sufficient bile to the bowels, thus causing them to become constipated.

The stomach is also affected. In the case of heartburn there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach, attended by disturbed appetite, caused by great acidity. Whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment, and become extremely sour, vomiting often occurs; and what is thrown up, is sour and sometimes bitter.

Other liver troubles symptoms are pain under the right shoulder, yellowness of the skin and eyes, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, bad taste in the morning, foul breath, water brash, jaundice, constipation, etc.

Keep your liver active by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles. Being purely vegetable they do not gripe, weaken or sicken like the old-fashioned purgatives generally do.

Mrs. Mary Strome, Glasnevin, Sask., writes: —"I have used Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and they have cleared me of heartburn and liver trouble. I don't think they can be beaten by any other medicine, and I can highly recommend them."

WILL THE "BIG FIGHT" DEVELOP INTO WHAT LONDON FORMERLY CALLED THE "WORLD'S BIGGEST JOKE?"

The failure of the Frenchman to get their forfeit over here to rest alongside of Tex Rickard's and Jack Dempsey's "good faith money" is taken by some to mean that the pedal extremities of the European champion are beginning to cool.

Again it is said that Carpentier was willing to be maimed for $200.000, but his wife will not consent to have him ruined for a cent less, it being reported that Rickard asked him to lessen his fees.

Rickard has quit talking but he seems perfectly satisfied with developments. From outward appearances, he isn't worrying. There do not seem to be good excuses for expecting hitches. Just a week ago, Descamps, the Frenchman's manager, said he would comply with Rickard's suggestion that their forfeit money be posted on this side. The skeptics should not be alarmed because the money has not arrived in seven days. The Frenchmen are on a tour of Europe and they cannot attend to business with the celerity possible if they were at home in Paris. Besides Frenchmen never see the need of a rush and the date of the meeting is months away.

In regard to the reduction of the purse, Rickard said recently that he had not suggested a price-cut to Carpentier or had not asked to have him work on a percentage basis.

He intimated that he might ask him to work for a "cut of the gate" when they came to this country, feeling that much more could be acromplished by conversation than by cable.

Gus Wilson, Carpentier's trainer, who is waiting over in Jersey for his employers to return, laughs at the fears that Carpentier will slip out of the noose.

"Carpentier has been working all his life for this bout. He never will consent to having it called off, let alone trying to get out of it himself," he said.

"Descamps thinks that Dempsey is trying to get away from the agreement and he writes me that he will start legal proceedings to collect the forfeits just as soon as any part of the agreement is violated."

Rickard said to-day he might be ready to announce the site for the bout to-morrow.

CARPENTIER TO BE IN U.S. BY MAY 1

FRENCH BOXER WILL START TRAINING FOR DEMPSEY BOUT IMMEDIATELY AFTER ARRIVAL.

NEW YORK, March 16.—Georges Carpentier, France's war hero and European boxing idol, will come to this country by May 1, to prepare for his world's heavyweight championship battle against Jack Dempsey, the title-holder, which will be held July 2, at a place yet to be selected. Tex Rickard, who has assumed responsibility for promoting the battle, made this declaration following receipt of word from a close personal friend of Carpentier that the French boxer had arranged his plans to this end. Carpentier's friend acquainted Promoter Rickard with the contents of a letter in which the European heavyweight champion divulged a complete itinerary of his engagements up to the date he is scheduled to leave for America.

Rickard was emphatic in his denial of the rumors that there was a hitch in the bout. The promoter was at a loss to account for the reports which were based on the probability of Carpentier refusing to agree to box Dempsey unless his original guarantee of $200,000 was forthcoming. It was said Rickard was contemplating a trip abroad and was preparing to leave within a few days. In denying his reported sailing, Rickard also declared that he was prepared to go through with the original arrangement as concerned Carpentier's guarantee, in the event the Frenchman refused to agree to a percentage proposition for his end.

"Carpentier will be here by May 1 to begin training for the bout, as is provided in his contract," said Rickard. "The original contract stipulated that the boxers must be on the ground training for the contest at least two months prior to the date of entering the ring. This contract still is binding so far as I am concerned, for, while I intend to try to induce Carpentier to box on a percentage basis, I am, nevertheless, ready to produce his $200,000 guarantee if he demands the conditions of the original contract."

Rickard would not disclose his plans for the location of the bout. He is still working on this phase of the contest and his plans are not in a condition which would permit disclosure. It is possible, however, that Rickard will within a few days announce the complete details. Rickard spent part of yesterday afternoon in a discussion of the bout with Bob Edgren of California, who has been selected as referee for the battle. Edgren arrived here from the Coast late in the afternoon. At the conclusion of the conference Rickard declared he had simply discussed informally the general aspects of the match and that "there was absolutely nothing new."

THE GIANTS ARE IN GOOD SHAPE.

The Rookies Performing in Approved Fashion.

NEW YORK, March 15.— Now that the Giants and Yankees have settled down to the serious business of preparing for the championship season in their respective leagues, now that the kinks have been worked out of the players' muscles and the managers are able to get a real line on the ability of the men they have assembled at the spring training camps, the work of the next few days should not only be highly interesting, but it should be very enlightening. It should give a definite line on the calibre of material that John McGraw and Miller Huggins are working with at San Antonio and Shreveport.

The work thus far has been satisfactory. It appears that both the Giants and the Yankees are well fortified and the clubs should return North with teams that will be capable of representing this city in acceptable fashion. The acquisition of Goldie Rapp appears to have solved one of McGraw's most troublesome problems. The rookie has been performing in approved fashion at third base, and his presence seems to assure the Giants of having a capable custodian of the near corner during the coming campaign. Reports from the southland indicate that he is another find such as Frank Frisch proved to be last year. Not only is he full of pepper and ambition, but it seems that he possesses a wealth of natural ability, and that is more to the point. It seems that he is very proficient in handling ground balls—hard hit grounders—that he has a good throwing arm and that he can hit. He also seems to possess sufficient speed to add to the general attacking power of the club as regards base running.

Of the three clubs Brooklyn alone appears at present a somewhat shabby front. It is shaky in the sense that there is admitted dissatisfaction among several of the veterans of the club. The fact that Hy Meyers, Zack Wheat and Burleigh Grimes are holdouts is not the kind of nourishment the fans relish at this season of the year. There is little doubt that Wheat is one of the best outfielders in the National League, although it must be admitted that he is far from being a youngster. Grimes is one of the best right handers in the business. His loss would be a severe blow to the aspirations of the Robins.

HARD-THROWN BALL FRACTURES ONE OF HUGH JENNING'S RIBS.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 16.—Hughey Jennings, assistant manager of the Giants, is the unhappy possessor of a slight fracture of a rib on his left side, as revealed by the scientific magic of an X-ray photograph. Jennings was hit in the side by a hard thrown ball in practice on Saturday, but had attributed the resulting discomfort to nothing more important than a bruise. The pain increased and a sleepless period last night induced him to submit to expert examination this morning. His activity will be curtailed but not absolutely elminated for some days to come.

OSHAWA WILL ENTER TWO LACROSSE TEAMS

OSHAWA, March 16. — An enthusiastic gathering of lacrosse fans here definitely decided that Oshawa shall have two teams, both Intermediate and Junior, in the O. A. L. A., for the 1921 season. A good representation of last year's players and officials featured the meeting, which was presided over by Mr. Fred Ellis. The club is in a sound financial position.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

AT THE GRAND.

"PASSERS BY."

C. Hadden Chambers, when he wrote "Passers By," the J. Stuart Blackton Pathe production which is shown at the Grand for the last time this evening, evidently had in mind the poem whose refrain runs: "Let me live in my house by the side of the road, while the race of men go by," for the possibilities that exist in this well-known poem of philanthropic non-interference, are exploited in the quaint photo-play, which deals with the adventures of Peter Waverton, a rich bachelor who entertained the passers by with whimsical understanding of human nature. It is a down-to-the-ground narration of the loves, hopes and fears of a number of every-day people, and the actors in this unique picture are the humanest people it has been our good fortune to meet in some time. The kindly "Jehu," the dignified valet and the care-free vagabond are well portrayed, the feminine characters are very good, and the tiny son of the producer made a most enticing little boy actor.

AT THE ALLEN.

MUSIC INSPIRED ACTORS WHO APPEAR IN "KISMET."

Otis Skinner, Who Has Leading Role, Finds It Admirable Aid.

"This," laughed Otis Skinner, waving a hand over the group of musicians who were playing for a scene in "Kismet," "is what I call the coddling of temperament"; this remark was made during the making of this Robertson-Cole super-special, which will be seen at the Allen Theatre for the last time to-day.

"But, indeed, very necessary," added Mr. Skinner, "for it supplies that bit of inspiration essential to every actor when he is losing himself in the personality and character of a visionary being.

"On the speaking stage, of course, it is vastly different. There the actor receives his inspiration from the audience. In fact, he really does nothing at all, his audience plays his role for him. It weeps and laughs with him, it fires his imagination and emotion."

AT THE ALLEN

The Allen Theatre will have as its feature attraction beginning Thursday, Constance Talmadge, in "Dangerous Business", adapted by John Emerson and Anita Loos from Madelaine Sharp Buchanan's story "The Chessboard." It is directed by William Neill.

According to advance reports this drama is different than the usual run. It does not follow the conventional lines of the persecuted heroine, the villian and the rescuing hero. Nancy Flavell, the madcap society girl who is always falling in and out of love is about to marry one man when at the very altar in order to escape a distasteful marriage she declares she is already married woman and the wedding is off.

But out of the frying pan into the fire of rueful trouble The alleged "bridgeroom" turns up and the pair are conducted to the bridal chamber by his mother. Here he orders Nancy to undress and get into bed. She is afraid to tell her family of her predicament and complies. The "bridegroom" sits on the side of the bed and begins to disrobe. Now always here tofore, someone has arrived on the scene and rescued the girl. But the night passes. The actgin of Miss Talmadge portraying the terrible mental torture Nancy Flavell undergoes in this unique situation is declared to be unequalled for its sincerity

Another trying situation which is handled with rare tact is when Nancy pleads with the hero to marry her and to make her his wife before the law as she is supposed to be by all their friends. He demands a surety for her good behavior and she shows him a baby's shoe, promising him that motherhood will have a sobering influence on her penchant for flirting and fibbing.

AT THE EMPIRE.

"THE PURPLE CIPHER" IS UNUSUAL STORY

Mystery, Suspense and Thrills in Feature.

Threatened with death by a band of blackmailers using a Chinese character in purple ink, Leonard Staunton at first tries to run down the criminals. News of the death of one of his friends and the sight of another dying before his eyes after they had received "purple cipher" threats, followed by an explosion in the home of his sweetheart, Jeanne Baldwin, while he is calling upon her, causes him to alter his methods.

The story of "The Purple Cipher" originally written by Will F. Jenkins, has been visualized by Vitagraph and will be shown at the Empire theatre on Thursday.

Earle Williams, as Leonard Staunton, is given excellent opportunities to display his talent and ability to good effect in the many sensational situations which arise.

AT THE REGENT.

MISS NILSSON LEADS

Pretty Player in "The Fighting Chance' Was Model.

If you ever see a girl on a magazine cover who looks strikingly like Anna Q. Nilsson, the pretty screen player, do not marvel at the resemblence. For the girl will undoubtedly be Miss Nilsson herself. Several years ago, when she first arrived in this country from Sweden, Miss Nilsson caught the artistic eye of Penrhyn Stanlaws, the illustrator, and he engaged her as a model. At the time he was looking for a young woman "with a sympathetic face," as he expressed it. Miss Nilsson solved his problem.

That was before motion pictures had the attraction for feminine beauty that they have to-day. Even now, when Miss Nilsson has attained prominence in the screen world and plays such important roles as that of the attractive heroine of Robert W. Chambers' "The Fighting Chance," at the Regent Theatre, she still poses occasionally for the magazine artists.

Another of her hobbies is looking after strange kiddies. Out in Los Angeles she is the Princess Charming for a whole orphan asylum and living with her is a little girl whom she adopted in Sweden after the child had lost both of its parents in a fire.

Nor Have a Diameter of Less Than 1.62 Inches—Rule in Effect May Next

LONDON, Feb. 21 (by mail).—In the wake of recent newspaper disrussions by English golfers on the wisdom of players in the United States abolishing the stymie, the press now publishes contributed letters on the advisability of th ball favoured as "standard" by American devotees of the game.

Standardisation was decided upon at a meeting here last year of the Rules Committee of the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews, with delegates from the United States and Western golf associations. It was voted that, beginning 1st May. 1921, a ball used in a tournament play fust not weigh more than 1.62 ounces nor have a diameter of less than 1.62 inches.

The effect of th e ruling was to retain the size of the small, heavy ball popular in England, but to reduce the weight slightly. It rendered what is known in the United States as the "30" eligible to competition, but barred the 31-pennyweights ball used in England. English players had used nothing between the 29 and 31 pennyweights balls in their home play.

In a letter to the Times, George Duncan, of Hanger Hill. British open champion, records his satisfaction with the lighter ball and predicts better championship figures as a result:

"I am glad that the ball is to be lighter" writes Duncan "as the game will be easier to play for everyone, in that the 'all-air route'—the correct way to the green—will not be so difficult as with the heavy ball. I will risk a prophecy, and say that the championship figures of 1921 will be better than those of 1920, or of any previous year. Not because the ball will go farther than it did, but for the reason that the lighter ball will be much more easily controlled."

The title-holder commends the attitude held by the Americans at last year's rules conference, when his suggestion for standardisation of the present "29" was being considered.

"The Royal and Ancient Club took the matter up," he writes, "and decided not only to have a ball limited in size and weight for the championship, but to apply it to the game generally. A committee was appointed, and they decided upon a floater, a very useful ball for a player of more than mature age. Fortunately for the game, America had to be consulted on the matter, and her delegates rightly stood out for legislation for the coming generation of golfers. America won on a commonsense argument, which was that her then open champion and her amateur champion knew nothing about a floater, owing to the fact that America's best golfers had learned their golf since the advent of the modern ball."

Duncan expresses a conviction that the popular ball of the future will be as near as possible to that known in England as the "29," which is slightly lighter than the present standard.

Handicaps Uniform.

The Championship Committee of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club, St. Andrews, having decided that all handicaps in the United Kingdom should be put on a uniform basis, is now in communication with with clubs on the subject. The Royal and Ancient points out that, in order to arrive at uniformity,

1—All sympathetic handicapping should be discontinued.

2—A scratch score for all courses should be fixed by the Championship Committee.

3—The handicaps of all players should be arrived at from this scratch score.

By sympathetic handicapping is meant the custom of leaving a player at his old handicap, although his play has ceased to justify it, rather than hurt his feelings. This, though a natural thing to do, makes any reliable system impossible.

As regards the second and third proposals, the Championship Committee considers (a) that the scratch score of the course is the only sound basis of handicapping; (b) that this scratch score should be founded on the par score of the course; (c) that in order to obtain uniformity the par and scratch scores should be fixed in each case by a member or representative of the Championship Committee. Any such representative would, of course, rely to a considerable extent on the advice of local players.

M'GILL OUTCLASSED BY 'VARSITY TEAM

SHAUGHNESSY'S PROTEGES PUT UP SORRY EXHIBITION AGAINST LOCALS.

TORONTO, March 16.—Varsity made another attempt last night in the Allan Cup elimination series to to defeat the Blue and White, and the result was an even worse beating than in the former two instances, the score being 11 to 0, with Varsity only half trying. The rink was packed to see Varsity play.

Immediately after the game the rooters' club paraded to the station and gave the Blue and White a grand send-off, they lining up on the platform and singing the McGill and Brandon doxology, and ending up with a Varsity yell. Each player was cheered in turn, and every one was carried into the car by their friends. It sure was a big night for Varsity over their ancient rival rival, McGill, and those believing in hunches will point out that the lucky eleven sent Varsity on their way to Winnipeg. They beat McGill 11 to 0, and their train, which was scheduled to pull out at 11 o'clock, was only held eleven minutes to enable the players to catch the train.

WINNIPEG, March 16.—(Canadian Press.)— Definite information that a team of professional football players from Scotland will tour Canada during the coming summer, was received here to-day by local officials of the Dominion Football Association, in a cable message from R, M. Connell ("Bedouin"), of the Glasgow Evening News.

A permission for the tour has been granted by the Scottish Football Association, and the team will sail May 11th, on the Steamship Saturnia. The message stated the itinerary will be arranged at once, and published at the earliest possible moment. The visitors will number twenty.

LAKE O'HARA, SUMMER CAMP OF THE ALPINE CLUB OF CANADA

CLIMBING MOUNT AGGINIBOINE

LAKE O'HARA SUMMER CAMP 1921

ON THE SUMMIT

Lake O'Hara, which is to be the summer camp of the Alpine Club of Canada this year, so fascinated John Singer Sargent, Royal Academician and world famous painter, that he spent an entire week in transforming to canvas its beautiful scenes. Walter D. Wilcox, an authority on the Canadian Rockies, declares that in all the mountain wilderness the most complete picture of natural beauty is realized in Lake O'Hara, green as its Irish name. One of the numerous mountain trails from Lake Louise connects with the route to Abbot Pass, a deep canyon between Mt. Victoria, 11,335 feet high, and Mt. Lefroy, 11,220 feet, to the rear of which peaks lies Lake O'Hara. It is reached more easily from Hector on the Canadian Pacific by means of an excellent pony trail. Both Victoria and Lefrey are stiff climbs, particularly for those who are ambitious to qualify for membership in the Alpine Club of Canada by ascending a mountain of 10,000 feet in altitude.

This club was founded in 1906, has a beautiful clubhouse on the shoulder of Sulphur Mountain at Banff, is visited by the world's leading alpinists and has a large and constantly increasing membership. Each year it establishes a camp at some beautiful spot in the Canadian Rockies from which its members ascend a "heaven kissing hill or two, or in which they enjoy life in the great outdoors. Last year the club tackled Mt. Assiniboine, the Matterhorn of the Canadian Pacific Rockies, and 35 of its members succeeded in ascending to the very summit of this great peak which towers nearly 12,000 feet above the sea. Among the 35 were four women who showed no signs of being backward about going forward and upward even in competition with alpinists of the sterner sex.

GOSPEL HALL MEETINGS.

(Contributed.)

Though the weather was so wet and uncomfortable, a good number of people gathered again last night. It was warm and bright inside, and the hearty singing was most inspiring. After opening the meeting Mr. Bentley preached on the text "Without Christ," Ephs. 2:12. A more pitiable condition than described in those words cannot be imagined, yet such is the state of every unsoved person. To understand what being without Christ means, we must know what Christ is. To begin with, Christ is "the beginning." Col. 1: 18. He is the Creator of the universe, "Without Him was not anything made that was made." In the same way, He is the beginning of every real Christian life and experience. Take the first six letters from the word Christian and you have nothing left but a meaningless termination. If some people lost their church association they would have nothing left. A profession of Christianity without the possession of Christ as a personal Saviour, is absolutely useless. Let God knock every false prop from under you and let Christ be your only hope. Christ is also "the way to God.' John 14:6. That is "Christ crucified." "He has consecrated a new and living way through His flesh." Morality, generosity, honesty, kindliness of spirit, though good things in themselves, will never bring you to God. "We who sometimes were afar off are made night by the blood of Christ." Ephes. 2 13. Christ is the power of God. I Cor:24. If you say you have sinful habits that you cannot break—sins that you cannot conquer—you speak the truth, and you will never do it because sin is stronger than you are, but if you accept as a free gift the Saviour, Christ, you have in Christ the power of God, and the new life that comes when He comes will loosen sin's hold and displace them. The new sap in trees in spring will displace any old dead leaves that have stayed on through the winter. It is the operation of Christ within that sets us free from sin. There will be a meeting again to-night.

REVIVAL — CHURCH OF GOD MISSION

Taking On the Pilot" was the subject of Evangelist Campbell's discourse at the Mission last night the gist of the speakers remarks being to the effect that Christ must be taken into the heart— must be actually received and if received he will pilot us through dangers seen and unseen to the world above, providing we continue to abide in Him.

Meetings at the Mission are to continue every night this week, Saturday excepted, and will be in charge of Mr. Campbell.

To-night the evangelist will speak on the subject.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, March 16.—(Canadian Press).—To-day's stock market opened with a firm to strong tone, yesterday's belated rally making further substantial progress. Gains of one to two points attended early dealings in Crucible Steel, Westinghouse Electric, Harvester, Pullman, Mexican Petroleum, Sumatra Tobacco, Corn Products, Chandler Motors and Sears Roebuck. Local tractions also strengthened on favorable legislation, Third Avenue rising 2¼ points and Manhattan Elevated four. Atlantic Gulf was under further pressure, however, soon declining 2½, and European Oils were inclined to re-act. New Haven was the heaviest of irregular rails.

Excepting New Haven and several other issues which experienced further pressure for more or less specific reasons, stocks continued to advance during the active forenoon. Steels, Equipments, Motors and their subsidiaries as well as Oils, Coppers, Leathers, Textiles and Tobaccos shared in the irregular rise to which shorts contributed extensively. Dividend paying rails, particularly Norfolk and Western, Canadian Pacific and Northern Pacific, rose one to two points and minor rails of the class represented by Rock Island, Texas and Pacific and Colorado Southern, Second Preferred also improved. Call money was again plentiful at seven per cent.

Atlantic Gulf and other early weak features rallied at mid-day, following the further upward trend of the general list. Oils, Rails and Equipments continued to dominate the movement. Mexican Petroleum, Houston Oil, Reading, Union Pacific, Illinois Central and Baldwin showing especial strength.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, March 16.—(Canadian Press.) —Sterling Exchange steady; Demand 3.90. Canadian Dollars 12 3-4 per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 16.—(Canadian Press.) —Fresh strength developed in the wheat market to-day, chiefly as a result of buying on the part of a house with seaboard connections. Scantiness of the visible supply, together with gossip that Greece and France were asking for offers, tended further to give bulls the advantage. Trading, however, lacked volume. Opening quotations which varied from unchanged figures to one cent higher were followed by moderate upturns all around. Corn hardened with wheat. After opening unchanged to 3-4 cents higher, the market scored something of a general upturn. Oats were firmer, owing to the action of other cereals, starting 1-4 to 5-8 cents and later holding about the initial range. Set backs in nthe value of hogs weakened provisions.

Subsequently talk of some new export business and of green bugs led to additional advance. Close was strong with March 159 to 159 1-4, and May 151 1-2 to 151 3-4.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, March 16 (Canadian Press).—Substantial advances were made by a number of issues, particularly tractions and papers, in the brighter trading on the Toronto stock exchange this morning. The optimistic sentiment in New York was in a large measure responsible for the stronger tone manifested here. C. P. R. gained 1 3-8 points at 129 7-8, dealings being steady at the figure throughout the session. Brazilian was traded in to the extent of nearly 50 shares, and augmented yesterday's gain by 3-4, closing at 33 3-4. Winnipeg Railway was up 1 at 41. Abitibi made a good recovery, selling up as high as 44, and closing at noon half a point down from the high mark. Brompton was one point up at 36. Consumers' Gas suffered a relapse, selling down to 136 1-2.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, March 16 (Canadian Press). — The stock market closed for the morning without any startling developments. Abitibj was strong at 43 3-4, while Atlantic Sugar closed at 30 3-4. Brazilian strengthened a quarter point from its opening figure, and closed at 33 1-2. Brompton was fractionally weaker at the close, its last sale being at 36. Laurentide went up another quarter point to 86 1-4, as did also National Breweries to 40 1-4. Riordon sagged still lower, and closed at 121 1-2. Spanish River was the strongest issue, making a substantial rise to 73, at which figure it closed.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, March 16.—(Canadian Press).—Cattle receipts heavy; trade fairly active. Heavy beef steers $10 to $11; choice butcher steers $9 to $10; butcher cows, medium, $5 to $7.50; calves $14 to $16; lambs $12.50 to $13.75; hogs, fed and watered, selects, $15.25.

SEVERE ELECTRIC STORM PASSES OVER LAKEFIELD

WORST AT THIS SEASON FOR MANY YEARS— NAVIGATION OPENED WITH CANOE TRIP—REMOVAL OF FACTORY.

LAKEFIELD, March 16. — The first canoe of the season was seen on the river last week. Some enthusiast, tempted by the wonderful weather, made the first trip. It is many years, if ever, since the river was open for navigation the second week in March.

Boat Factory Removed.

With the removal of the old boat factory from the west corner of Mr. McMillan's property, the public can see from Queen Street some of the prettiest parts of Hague's Point. This beautiful spot is a great asset to Lakefield, and will be more so as years pass and Lakefield grows more prosperous.

Reminder of Others.

The electric storm of Monday night was one of the most severe we have ever known so early in the season. It could be compared with the two very severe storms which caused several fires in March, 1910. The Dunford house in Douro, just past The Grove, was destroyed through the first. and Mr. John Richardson's barn on Prospect Street was burned during the second storm.

Unfounded Rumour.

The rumour that the Blewett Bros. have purchased the garage of White & Webster is a mistake. Mr. Webster states that they are going to continue in their present stand. Messrs. Blewett's garage will be elsewhere.

THE WEAK LINK

will cause the stoutest chain to snap, and a chain is no stronger than its weakest link. Chiropractic shows that if the Vertebrae or Backbone is weak, the entire body is likely to snap and give way.

A NORMAL SPINE

indicates a strong body and good health; but a crooked, twisted spine means ill-health, ragged nerves, low vitality, and oftentimes terrible and long suffering.

Modern science has proven that in a crooked spine every displacement or subluxation of the Vertebrae means a pressure upon the nerve emitting from the spinal column at that point, and that every such pressure upon the Nerves means a cutting off of the vital force or mental impulses which give life to the body and its parts.

Whenever, through Nerve pressure, the supply of vital force going from the brain to any organ or part of the body is cut off or diminished, that organ or part becomes affected. It no longer has the power of resistance, and the effects of disease will likely be manifest in the course of time.

Treating disease and the effect will do no permanent good. To remove the CAUSE of disease by adjusting the Subluxated Vertebrae until your Spine is normal is the only way to attain a strong body and good Health. Have your Chiropractor adjust your Spine, and give Nature a chance to build up your Health.

VOL. XLIX. NO 64 PETERBOROUGH, THURSDAY, MARCH 17, 1921 PRICE THREE CENTS

G. N. GORDON SCORES THE GOVERNMENT

ATTACKS WHAT HE CONSIDERS ITS FAILURE TO DEAL WITH PRESSING INDUSTRIAL PROBLEMS.

CRITICIZES THE C.M.A.

OTTAWA, March 16.— (Special to The Examiner).—G. N. Gordon, member for West Peterborough, addressed the Ottawa Reform Club on the growth of Liberalism here last night. Lieut. Leary, V.C., was on the platform and also gave an address. A. Lemieux, a prominent member of the Club, moved a vote of thanks.

Mr. Gordon attacked the government for the failure to deal with pressing industrial problems and criticized the Barry Scott speech of last night suggesting a reduction of railroad men's wages. Mr. Gordon claimed the sudden cutting of wages meant disturbance and a lower standard of living.

The hall was crowded and the audience enthusiastically endorsed the speaker's prophesy that the government was so badly shaken that it was on the verge of dissolution. He claimed that President McKinnon of the C.M.A. was forcing the Association into politics and making it a donkey engine of the Meighen government. The reaction would hurt the manufacturers if they went into politics supporting a moribund government, he declared.

INSPECTED LOCAL MILITARY UNITS

BRIGADIER-GENERAL W. B. M. KING WELL SATISFIED WITH TURNOUT.

Inspection of the three local military units; the Rangers the 4th Battery and the 3rd Machine Gun Company of the 4th Machine Gun Brigade took place last night by Brigadier General W. B. M. King, C.M.G., D. S. O. General Officer Commanding Military District No. 3 in the Armouries before a large number of spectators.

The battery under Capt. Douglas Lawrie was first inspected, then the Machine Gun Company commanded by Major L. Fraser and lastly the Peterboro Rangers under the command by Col E. B. Clegg.

The units were put through various drills. As Brigadier-General King entered the Armouries the bands of the Machine Gun Co., and Rangers played the stirring "General Salute". Both bands were inspected by Brigadier-General King and commended for their good organization.

After the units had acquitted themselves concluding the drills with a march past General King spoke to each in turn urging for greater interest on the part of every man in his respective units. He particularly commended the Machine Gunners for having the largest company in the district and for attaining such smartness in their drills in its short existence.

DIFFERENCE IS NOW NOTICEABLE

The difference between "mine and thine" is exemplified at this season of the year very clearly in the treatment accorded other people's lawn by the passers-by. Those who would not tread on their own carefully tended grass-plots have no hesitation whatever in "cutting across" corners on a neighbor's or stranger's ground. In dry weather, it is not so bad, and the damage done is practically negligible, but at this season of the year, when the earth is damp and sticky, heavy boot-heels and the French variety also, make sad-looking dents, and the coming grass-carpet is not going to be improved to any great extent by these casual visitations.

LOCAL MAN IS ELECTED

J. J. DUFFUS PRESIDENT OF RETAIL AUTOMOTIVE DEALERS, WHO CONCLUDED CONVENTION LAST NIGHT.

PRESIDENT OPTIMISTIC

TORONTO, March 17.—J. J. Duffus, of Peterborough, was elected president of the Retail Automobile Dealers' Association here yesterday.

The new president stated that at the banquet last night that, with a spirit of determination and a goodly amount of optimism, difficulties facing the retail trade would soon be overcome and the dealers would be able to report an increase in business and prosperity at the next convention.

The new officers elected were, President, Mr. J. J. Duffus, Peterborough; First Vice-President, Mr. E. J. Pink, Ottawa; Second Vice-President, Mr. T. Copeland, Windsor; Third Vice-President, Mr. J. Macdonald, Stratford; Treasurer, Mr. Frank McLaughlin, London; Secretary, Mr. W. C. Miller, Toronto. The retiring President, Mr. Sam Rowed, and the Secretary, Mr. W. C. Miller, were both recipients of suitable tokens of appreciation on behalf of the organization.

"The period of readjustment has started," said Mr. T. M. Humble, who spoke on "Automobile Advertising.' He urged the retailers to increase their advertising, as it penetrated everywhere.

Mr. T. W. Leary spoke on taxation. He favored a turnover tax and stated that the difficulties which some predicted for this form of taxation would be easily overcome.

SHOWING OF SPRING STYLES AT BLACK'S

PRICES SPEAK INVITINGLY—THE EASTER MILLINERY QUITE TAKING.

P. Black's busy store at the corner of George and King streets, is blossoming out in its new spring dress. The pretty styles in dresses, suits, coats, blouses, millinery and hosiery, and other spring apparel, are reflected in this stock.

The new hats and other millinery novelties are well chosen, being varied in shapes and shades, so that selecting is made easy. The ladies will find Mr. Black's millinery room well worthy of an early visit.

New suits, dresses and coats, in all their spring-like beauty are ready for Easter. The styles are beautiful, varied and smart, and afford wide choice for individual tastes. The selling prices are, as usual, very moderate, and a visit to the store to inspect these new models will repay those who are looking for the best values.

There are refreshing styles in skirts, blouses, raincoats and other wraps, and many other articles to be worn with springtime suits or coats. The tailor made hats in choice tints and hues for Easter and for every occasion, should find ready buyers, each model being different, to suit individual choice, and very moderately priced.

RED CANON POUND FORT INSURGENTS

PREPARE OFFENSIVE

COPENHAGEN, March 17. —(Canadian Press.) —Bolshevik batteries on Karelian headland opened a strong fire against Kronstadt yesterday, says a Helsingfors despatch. The bombardment from Kronstadt caused four extenisve fires along the coast towards Petrograd, warships at Kronstadt participating in the bombardment, the despatch adds.

Finnish refuges from Systerbak report the Bolsheviki are making extensive preparations for a new attack on Kronstadt, four artillery divisions with forty-eight four inch and six inch guns being concentrated between Systerbak and Petrograd.

Uprisings in Kuban.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 17. —(Canadian Press.)— The French and Turkish forces in Cicilia have been engaged in renewed fighting there, it is said in advices received in this city. Further uprisings against the Bolshevik in Kuban, Terek and Daghestan are reported.

MEMBERSHIP IS ON THE INCREASE

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY OPTIONS WELL TAKEN UP.

The President of the Horticultural Society, Dr. J. E. Middleton, reports that the membership has started well. One hundred and fifty citizens have returned option lists. He believes the objective of one thousand should be reached this year if all citizens interested in beautifying the city get behind the movement.

The members of the Board of directors report most favorably on the cooperation of all citizens on being requested to become members and from time to time requests are made for additional option lists.

Naturally it is wondered how it is possible for members to obtain by their options the full value in seeds and bulbs of the dollar subscribed for membership; it is only explained by the fact that a Provincial Government grant is made to the Society according to the numbers of members. All citizens should therefore take advantage of the membership in the Society.

The president states that deliveries on options will commence in the near future and is therefore desirous of having all option lists in by the end of the month.

Any person desirous of receiving seeeds, plants or bulbs may obtain option lists from th Secretary, 358 George street, or by phoning the Society's office, No. 1360.

All citizens should get behind the work of the Society in making Peterborough "The City Beautiful."

REVISING LISTS FOR REFERENDUM

REVISION WILL COMMENCE ON MARCH 28 — THE LOCAL OFFICERS.

Mr. J. F. Strickland and Mr. C. R. Widdifield have been appointed deputy revision officers in the coming referendum, and plans have been made for the revision of the voters' lists. The lists used in the Dominion by-election here on February 7 will be used for the referendum. A person who has been a resident of the district in which he wishes to vote for two months may vote. This will allow many persons to vote who could not vote on the recent ballot. The lists will be revised, commencing March 28 to April 2, in the respective offices of the deputy revising officers, the lists having been divided in such a manner that Mr. Strickland will revise those from A to M inclusive, and Mr. Widdifield N to Z inclusive. The revising officers will sit at ten o'clock and two o'clock in the afternoon.

THE SALVATION ARMY APPEAL OBJECTIVE IS $3,000.00

Collections for the Salvation Army Self-Denial Fund on Wednesday afternoon reached the sum of $1,800. This sum includes the team canvass, and a number of contributions of stores and factories. There are still a number of factories who have not returned their lists of contributions.

The commitee is most anxious to receive outstanding lists and subscriptions as early as convenient in order to determine if they are near the objective of $3,000.

A. BONAR LAW HAS RESIGNED

BOTH FROM THE CABINET AND GOVERNMENT LEADERSHIP IN BRITISH COMMONS.

LONDON, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—Andrew Bonar Law, Lord of the Privy Seal, to-day resigned from the Cabinet. Ill-health was given as the reason for his resignation. He also retiredr from the Government leadership in the House of Commons.

The announcement of Bonar Law's retirement was made in the House by Lloyd George, who was so deeply affected that he could hardly finish his statement. The Premier said he had received a letter from Bonar Law this morning, stating he had been warned by his physicians that if he continued he would run the danger of a complete breakdown. The Government leader had been absent from the House the whole of this week, but he was reported to be improving in health, and his resignation came as a complete surprise. Bonar Law was born in New Brunswick, Canada, in 1858.

BRITISH-RUSSIAN TRADE PACT WILL NOT APPLY HERE

BUT RUSSIAN ORDERS MAY POSSIBLY BE PLACED IN CANADA.

OTTAWA, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—The signature of the trade agreement between Great Britain and Russia does not, it is stated, affect the position of the Dominion Government so far as commercial relations with the Soviet Republic are concerned. The stand taken by the Dominion Government is that any Canadian who wishes to trade with Russia may do so at his own risk. It is felt, however, that with the resumption of trade between Great Britain and Russia, there is a likelihood of Russian orders being placed in Canada.

FLAVELLE IS TO GO OUT JUNE 1ST

POSITIVELY WILL NOT STAY IN POSITION AFTER THAT, HE STATES.

TORONTO, March 17.—(Special to The Examiner.))—"I am ready to leave at any moment, but I positively will not stay on after the first of June," said J. D. Flavelle, chairman of the Ontario License Board, this morning, with reference to Mr. Raney's intimation in the Legislature yesterday that Mr. Flavelle desired to give up that position. "I have been treated with the utmost consideration, both by the Hearst government and the present government, but there is not the slightest ground for saying that there has been friction or unpleatsantness. I have held the position for six years which is long enough at my age. My home is in Lindsay and it was my selfish interests if you care to put it that way, that led me to determine to retire. I have stayed on this long so as not to embarrass the government, but I will not do so beyond the end of May."

AUSTRIA TO GET ALLIED ASSISTANCE

WILL POSTPONE PAYMENT OF INTEREST AND CAPITAL ON INDEMNITY AND RECENT LOANS.

TO AVERT STARVATION

LONDON, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—The reply of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan to the appeal of Austria for assistance has been prepared. The four countries agree to postpone the payment of sums to which they are entitled under the St. Germain Treaty, and also the payment of the capital and interest on advances made to Austria since the armistice in order to avert starvation in that country.

UNCERTAIN METHOD OF MEASURING WOOD

TRADES COUNCIL SO REGARDS THE SALE BY LOADS.

One of the lightest sessions of the Trades Council in a long time was held last night. President T. H. Lane was absent, and Vice-President Fred Mesley found a minimum of business on the slate. New municipal representatives were appointed for April and were instructed to urge upon the city council their consideration of the sale of wood by "loads"—an alleged uncertain method that has developed during the last few years, and is now generally practiced Regret was expressed by several of the delegates at the failure of the municipal authorities to start the work that has been planned which, if begun now, would help those who are at present out of employment.

The defeat of Mr. Tooms' bill to reduce the speeed limit of automobills was briefly commented upon by a delegate, who woudered why the proposed rate was recommended at ten miles an hour. "This council," he said, "supported Magistrate Dumble in his agitation that the speed be reduced from twenty to fifteen miles an hour, but when the bill was brought in for ten miles it invited defeat. I would have voted against it myself."

ONT. ORANGEMEN MEET IN LINDSAY

GIVEN FREEDOM OF THE TOWN—ENTHUSIASM AND PATRIOTISM RUNS HIGH.

LINDSAY, March 17.—The importance of having a strong Legislative Committe in Ontario was realized by Grand Master W. E. Tummin, of Cookstown, in a stirring address delivered at the Annual Convention of the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, which opened here yesterday. He urged the brethren to support the True Blue and Orange Home. Referring to the marked progress the Order is making, he said: "Our society to-day is receiving a larger degree of respect and esteem than ever before and Orangeism is developing, not merely a financial forward movement, but developing all along the line."

This convention is the largest in years, over 400 delegates are in attendance, enthusiasm is general, and patriotism and goodwill prevails.

Mayor J. O'Reilly and the aldermen of Lindsay attended in a body and handed over the keys of the city to the visiting Orangemen, bidding them welcome as long as they care to remain.

During the afternoon excellent addresses of an inspiring type were delivered by Rev. Charles Reid, Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of Quebec, and by Major J. I. Hartt, of Orillia, Past Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario West.

THE WELFARE WORK OF THE AGES.

Friday evening at 8 o'clock in the Park street Baptist Church an illustrated lecture will be given by Mr. E. WET TRAIL TO POLICE COURT

THREE TOWNSHIP MEN CHARGED WITH VARIOUS BREACHES OF THE O.T.A.

MANY RAMIFICATIONS

Several cases were heard to-day in the County Police Court with Magistrate O. A. Langley, presiding. It is a rare occurrence in the County Police Court to have more than two or three railbirds but to-day the spectators' gallery was filled with interested spectators from Otonabee township and Keene.

The cases involved J. J. Barraclough, John Edwards and his brother George. The latter was formerly a member of the local police force.

The liquor charges were laid by License Inspector, J. Stewart, who was represented by Mr. Jos. Wearing, and J. O'Brien defended the accused.

"Having and Giving."

J. J. Barraclough was charged with "having and giving" liquor in an unlawful place. He pleaded guilty and was taxed $200 and costs of $19.55. Settlement was effected without delay.

The Edwards brothers were charged with having liquor in an unlawful place, to wit, their garage, in Keene. It is alleged that on March 7, Charles Ellis, the village blacksmith, was invited by Barraclough to have a drink at the garage managed by him and Edwards. He admitted he became dead to the world in the garage. To put the finishing touches on an episode undoubtedly painful to many of the staid villagers, Ellis charges theft of $54 against the trio. The money, he said, was in bills. The theft charge was heard after the charges against the Edwards brothers. At noon Ellis was testifying how he found himself in a car in the garage with a faint recollection of a fracas with Barraclough and with an empty purse. Crown Attorney Hatton was prosecuting for the Crown.

Charge Dismissed.

The liquor charges against the Edwards boys were dismissed, with costs, by Magistrate Langley, after unsatisfactory evidence had been given by Charles Ellis, evidence on which Mr. Joseph Wearing said they could not secure a conviction. They had none other but corroborative evidence to Ellis to offer, he said. The lawyer for the accused protested vigorously Edwards having to pay the costs, but Magistrate Langley was adamant. Ellis's evidence was that in the late afternoon of March 7 he went to the garage ostensibly to get paid for fixing a wrench, but really to get a drink. He got intoxicated and his mind became befogged, and his evidence was uncertain of the occurrences later in the evening. As he could not swear who had the liquor, the case could not be proved against the Edwards boys

The case is proceeding.

STATE DROPS CASE AGAINST BALL PLAYERS

WHITE SOX PLAYERS INDICTED FOR ALLEGED THROWING OF 1919 WORLD SERIES,

CHICAGO, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—The State to-day dropped the cases against all of the Chicago White Sox baseball players except Chick Gandil, indicted for alleged throwing of the 1919 world series. The action was taken after Judge Dover had refused to grant a continuance of more than sixty days in the case. The State wanted six months in order to gather evidence which would give the prosecution a chance of conviction. It was subsequently announced that an attempt would be made to gather new evidence and that new indictments would be sought against the players.

RUM RUNNING ACROSS U. S. LINE.

REGINA, March 17.— (Canadian Press.)—With a view to establishing an entente for the purpose of putting a stop to rum running across the international boundary between this province and the neighboring States, the United States Federal authorities intend to open negotiations with the Saskatchewan Liquor Commission, according to information here.

TENDER FOR FILTRATION PLANT HERE

TWENTY TENDERS HAVE BEEN RECEIVED FOR PLANT AND FOUR FOR THE RESERVOIRS.

SOME LOCAL TENDERERS

Twenty tenders for the construction of the filtration plant have been received by the Utilities Commission to date. Four tenders have been submitted by local contractors for the construction of the 2,000,000 gallon reservoir, and the commissioners are disappointed that more tenders have not been received for this work which, it is stated, wil not call for work beyond the ordinary contractor's ability or extraordinary facilities. No local contractors have tendered for the whole construction yet. Tenders close on April 2.

PRESENTATION TO GRAND SECRETARY OF ODDFELLOWS

OFFICERS CANADIAN ORDER ELECTED AT ANNUAL SESSION.

TORONTO, March 17.—Yesterday, Mr. Robert Fleming, in recognition of his 30 years as Grand Secretary of the Grand Lodge Canadian Order of Oddfellows, was presented with a fine memento by his brother members. The Grand Lodge has been in session here two days, and the next annual session will be held in Brantford on the third Tuesday in March, 1922.

DISORDERS IN CITY OF DUBLIN

DUBLIN, March 17.— (Canadian Press.)—Several serious shooting affrays occurred in this city last night and a number of persons were injured in encounters between the military forces and police and civilians. A number of soldiers riding in motor lorries had a bomb thrown at them in the north end of the city. The soldiers returned the fire and wounded two persons. Another lorry was bombed and fired on from the windows of houses on Camden street and three civilians were wounded when a bomb exploded in Aungier street. During the melee near the Ship street barracks three persons were wounded. For the first time since the disorders broke out in Ireland identification discs were given to the troops last night.

TARIFF CHANGES NOT DISCUSSED.

Cabinet Has Not Yet Taken This Matter Up.

OTTAWA, March 17.—Rumours in circulation to-day that the Government may defer until next session the revision of the tariff and confine the budget to the annual financial review and taxation proposals find no confirmation in official circles, but as a matter of fact the tariff end of the budget has not been seriously considered by the Cabinet as yet.

The Easter recess is likely to be devoted to that almost exclusively. While what is to be done will likely be done this session and without any postponement, there is little idea that the revision will be at all extensive and little more controversial than the ordinary budget.

Matters of contention promising to be fully as lively as the budget are the estimates, especially those relating to the railway situation

Discontinue Work On the Hudson Bay Railroad-No Money

DEBATE IS ADJOURNED

OTTAWA, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—There is to be no further work on the Hudson Bay Railway this year. On this, Dr. Reid was emphatic in the House yesterday afternoon. J. A. Campbell, Nelson, Man., had a resolution asking the Government to resume work on the railway. Hon. T. A. Crerar supported it, but said that the present time was not propitious for further heavy outlays.

Financial stringency, Dr. Reid replied, was the only reason for construction work on the road having been held up. It was only possibly postponed until conditions were more favorable. Dr. Reid reminded Mr. Campbell that when 310 miles of line were operated with a bi-weekly train service, the revenue was not sufficient to pay the train crews' wages. "If money were available this year," said Dr. Reid, "I would use it to extend some railways in the West to territories which have been suffering so long and give them relief instead of continuing the Hudson Bay Railway at the present time."

Thomas Hay, Selkirk, moved an amendment that the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway be carried out when condition permitted, and that the road be completed as soon as possible. This carried, and the debate on the resolution was adjourned.

Earlier in the afternoon the House took up Major C. G. Power's resolution asking that the upkeep and control of the ancient walls and fortifications of Quebec be vested in the National Battlefields Commission. The Minister of Militia said there was no objection to handing over part of the fortifications, but some must be retained by the Militia Department. Engineers were now making estimates of the cost of rebuilding and upkeep. Major Power withdrew his motion on receiving this assurance.

MORMON CASE IN LONDON COURTS

LONDON, Mar. 17.—(Cross-Atlantic.) — A wife who said her Mormon husband forced her at the point of a revolver to renounce all claims upon him, has obtained a decree of judicial separation in the courts here. About three years after her husband joined the Mormons, he became friendly with a girl named Bessie Draper, who was also a Mormon, and the head of the Mormon church in London was called to intervene. The case has attracted wide attention in England because of the prominenec it has given to a sect that is little known in London.

RUMANIA CAN'T REPAY US YET

RUMANIAN FINANCES IN EXTREMELY BAD STATE AND PAYMENT OF INTEREST IMPOSSIBLE.

NEEDS MACHINERY NOW

LONDON, March 17. — (Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)—There is little likelihood of Rumania being able to pay the interest on the money advanced to her by Canada for some time yet and Rumanian finaces are in a bad shape. It will be necessary to rebuild hundreds of bridges, barges, pontoons and factories. Efforts are being made to resume work in the oil fields, but this will entail the expenditure of a large amount of capital.

"Rumania to-day urgently needs machinery, but unless she can put her finances into proper shape there is little prospect of her getting these in any quantities," said an official of the British treasury to-day. "The Rumanian buyer is accustomed to ask for long credits and European bankers are favorably disposed towards long credits these days. Yet it must not be forgotten that Rumania is on the road to Russia and the nation that captures the Rumanian trade to-day will also be in a splendid position to capture Russia trade when the propitious day arrives."

Moved by Mr. Chas. Holmes and seconded by Mr. J. Nesbitt, that Messrs. Jas. Caskey, A. J. Wood, Jno. Payne, Chas. Davidson and Patrick Kelly be the executive.

Moved by Mr. Wm. Sarginson and seconded by Mr. J. Nesbitt, that Mr. Patrick Kelly be Coach.

Contributions were called for, and the following gentlemen responded: Mr. Chas. Nadoo $10, Messrs. F. Keller, Chas. Davidson, Jas. Caskey, Jno. Payne, N. B. Dickson, J. Kelly, $5 each.

The chairman then called for discussion of baseball, and after some lengthy proceedings, it was decided to have a baseball team, to which the following were elected:

Moved by Mr. Jas. Caskey and seconded by Mr. Chas. Holmes, that Mr. Chas. Davidson be manager.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Chas. Holmes and seconded by Mr. Jack Nesbitt, that Mr. Jas. Caskey be secretary.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Chas. Davidson and seconded by Mr. Fred Keller that Mr. Leonard O'Brien be Treasurer.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. P. Kellyand seconded by Mr. Jas. Caskey, that the executive be composed of Messrs. J. Birmingham, Burger and Chas. Nadoo.—Carried.

Mr. Chas. Davidson and Mr. Jas. Caskey each contributed $5 to the treasury.

Trapping Season.

The trapping season has commenced and the muskrats are making their appearance in the swamps and along the river. The trappers report a few catches, but the market is not very brisk, the prices varyng from one dollar to one twenty-five.

Mill Closed.

The pulp mill at Campbellford closed down on Monday for an indefinite period, with a large amount of manufacturing pulp on hand, for which there is very little available market. Mr. E. Brunelle is now in Montreal on business for the company.

The paper mill is still working on day and night shifts.

Crops Wintered Well.

The farmers report that, as far they are able to ascertain, the fall wheat, clover, etc., has wintered very well and, if able to escape what is known as the "spring killing," will come on all right. This applies mainly to average rolling land, the land which is low and wet being much more doubtful.

A New Tank.

Mr. Chas. Davidson intends to install a new gasoline pump and tank at his garage on Lower Front street in the near future. The pump is one of the new makes which delivers 5 gallons at each stroke, and has a capacity of 1,000 gallons. It should prove a great advantage to consumers in the coming season, and will prevent a recurrence of the occasions last summer when a shortage of "gas" was a real calamity to some of the automobile users of this district.

Hogs Shipped.

The U.F.O. Association of Campbellford and surrounding district shipped a fine carload of hogs on Monday to the Canadian Packing Company of Peterborough. The shipment comprised 58 fine porkers, the price paid being 13 3-4c. per lb.

Is Improving.

Mrs. James Daly's condition is improving somewhat, as she is now able to take nourishment and is able to speak a little. We are sorry to say, however, that her right arm is still paralyzed.

Summer Operations.

Mr. Grant Anderson is removing to Seymour west cheese factory, where he will make cheese during the coming season. He expects to commence operations about the 20th of April.

Personals.

Mr. Harry Lowery entertained a number of friends on Tuesday evening at a bridge party.

Mrs. Dunsford has returned to Toronto after a pleasant visit with Mrs. Colville.

THE EX-KAISER TURNS TO VERSE

BERLIN, March 17. — (By Cross Atlantic Newspaper Service.)—Wilhelm Hohenzollern's epitaph on the late ex-Chancellor, Bethman-Hollweg, is a choice bit of verse which is being privately circulated in Berlin circles stll in touch with the ex-Kaiser. Freely translated, it reads:

To My Faithfully Devoted Bethman-Hollweg.

When Germany's fateful hour dawned
With tearful eyes you dared confess
My house, a house of cards, is tumbling down.
Thus you have passed judgment on yourself,
The world in flames, you steered the ship
You knew not whither, you lacked both energy and pluck.
There never was a greater catastrophe,
And never was a smaller Chancellor.
Alas! why did I ever summon you?
Why let you forge disaster's chains.
Whatever you conceived or touched,
Was a failure and bred only evil.
In terror I now see confusion reign.

THE WINDSOR VETERANS ARE AFTER SPENCE

"CZAR OF WINDSOR"

WINDSOR, March 17. — Walkerville and Ford Great War Veterans strongly uphold Colonel S. C. Robinson in his action in refusing the use of the Windsor armories for "Pussyfoot" Johnson to address a temperance meeting here on April 11th. At a meeting of the Executive of the association a resolution was passed and forwarded to the Minister of Militia "upholding the action taken by Colonel Robinson, whose knowledge of local conditions is undoubtedly for the peace of the community."

The meeting was presided over by Lieut. E. H. Raymond, president of the association, and the discussion of the question at times waxed warm Resentment was expressed at what was termed the intrusion of an outsider in the affairs of the Dominion. The remarks of the Rev. Ben.Spence of Toronto, as to whether Colonel Robinson was the "Czar of Windsor," were declared to be uncalled for and the veterans felt that they should rally to the standard of the Colonel in the attack which had been made upon him.

PRINCE'S VISIT COST $293,073.

OTTAWA, March 16.—The Prince of Wales' visit cost Canada $293,073. Nearly $100,000 was apid Arthur Young and Co. for "classifying the civil service." One man got $11,476 for 275 days' work, another $12,513 for 283 1-4 days. These figures appear in the auditor-general's port.

THE SABINE JURY RETURNS VERDICT

TORONTO, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—The element of mystery concerning the identity of the slayer of Cecil Sabine, Manning Avenue druggist, who was murdered on March 5, was partially cleared up last night when the jury at midnight last night rendered a verdict to the effect that by the evidence, Cecil Sabine came to his death in his place of business by a bullet wound received from the hands of either William McFadden or Roy Hotrun.

Coroner McCollum offered no comment on the evidence adducted except to inform the jurors that in a case such as this where the evidence showed that two men were concerned in the crime. They were held equally guilty in the eyes of the law.

The evidence produced was quite clear and he remarked it needed no elaboration. John Conley admits that McFadden said: "I had to plug him to get away."

EGGS AND POULTRY

Toronto easy and unchanged. One sale of current receipts is reported at 38. Montreal unsettled. Some sales reported at 33 to 35 f.o.b. country places. Current receipts jobbing 40 to 43. Chicago firmer; current firsts 31 to 31 1-2; April storage packed 33. New York unchanged.

PROPOSED RE-ORGANIZATION AND APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSIONER OPENED FLOOD GATES OF ORATORY.

O.T.A. STORM CENTRE

TORONTO, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—The proposed reorganization of the Provincial Police Force and the appointment of a Commissioner of Police opened the flood gates of oratory in the Legislature yesterday afternoon, and at midnight it was still being discussed.

The bill of the Attorney-General was up for consideration, and no single subject this session has occasioned such a lengthy debate. The measure provides for the placing of law enforcement, including the Ontario Temperance Act, on the shoulders of the Provincial Police, which is to have a head with wide powers of authority and discretion.

The principal objection raised by the Opposition to the measure seemed to be directed against the idea of the police force stooping to enforce such a measure as the O.T.A., which requires the adoption of methods regarded as being "low and mean," as it was frequently described. Another objection dwelt on was the Attorney-Genearl's refusal

THURSDAY MARCH 17TH, 1921.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

To-day is the anniversary of the birth of the patron saint of old Ireland—the day of all days for every Irishman no matter where on the face of the earth he may be located. That this particular St. Patrick's Day finds conditions at their worst in the Emerald Isle will tend to becloud the usual joyous celebration of the occasion, and all Canadians, whether of Irish decent or not, will unite in the hope that a speedy solution may be found for the great problem and that happier days for Ireland will soon bring peace and harmony to Old Erin's people. There is comfort in the thought that the present turmoil may be that darkest hour that comes before the dawn and that ere long the glorious sun of reconciliation will burst forth in all its splendor to shine over an Ireland united and harmonious. May next St. Patrick's Day find the Emerald Isle at peace.

TAKING THE CENSUS.

It is announced in connection with the taking of the census that as far as possible the services of returned soldiers are to be utilized, the enumerators to be selected from the men who fought overseas. With the adoption of this principle in the choosing of the officials there will be general agreement, for it is fitting that the unemployed veteran should have whatever benefit there is in these appointments. But it should be remembered that efficiency should also be a test in choosing the enumerators. The work will be useless if it is done carelessly or inaccurately, and care should be taken that returned men who have the necessary qualifications are assigned to the task. There are many such men in the ranks of the veterans and, if possible, they should receive the appointments rather than to have them distributed among the first ex-service men who apply regardless of their qualifications. Otherwise, there is the risk that the census will be a badly bungled as has been the enumeration work in connection with the voters' lists, especially the lists for the Provincial election in 1919. The taking of the census is a most important matter and must be carried out with painstaking accuracy if the information secured is to prove of any real value to the country.

THE CROCKETT BILL.

The Municipal Committee of the Ontario Legislature has thrown out the bill introduced by Mr. Crockett, M.P.P., which proposed to take away from municipalities the privilege of granting bonuses to manufacturers. The members of the committee undoubtedly felt that there was no quarrel with the principle advanced by Mr. Crockett, but considered that the passing of such a measure by Ontario without a similar policy in the other Provinces of the Dominion would handicap this Province so far as securing new industries was concerned. If this evil practice could be banished throughout Canada there would be reason for general rejoicing, but so long as other sections of Canada refuse to consider doing away with housing it would be an action of questionable wisdom on the part of Ontario to blaze the way. In killing the bill the Municipal Committee took this view of the matter, considering it impracticable and unwise under the prevailing conditions to place Ontario under a handicap.

SPEEDING UP.

A marked improvement is being shown in the Ontario Legislature during the last few days in the matter of expediting business and eliminating long speeches on subjects of little importance. The change, although belated, is none the less welcome, for it means that the really important business of the session is more likely to receive proper attention. Had the flow of oratory which characterized the debates on the Address and the Budget been allowed to continue there would have been little time left for the consideration of the many measures that have to come before the House and we would have had the usual spectacle of the important business being galloped through at the end of the session. It is claimed by some members, both of the Provincial and the Dominion House, that the long debate on the Address is a good feature, for it allows most of the members an opportunity to "let off steam," and having performed their little feat of filling a page or two of Hansard, they are satisfied, and as a result, there is not so much talking when real business is being considered. To most citizens, however, there is little justification for the time that is lost in profitless debate; they prefer to judge their public men by deeds rather than by words.

THE SITUATION.

People generally make what they wish out of what they see. The act of an individual or a certain trend of business may have a peculiar significance to the mind of one who already thinks that certain facts or conditions are or should be prevailing.

It is usually a simple matter to start people wishing for something, especially if it is something new or a change in conditions. The wish and movement for "thumbs down in prices" commenced and we, being a nation of extremists, carried it along with a rush, regardless of its effect on the attitude of the public mind, already warned in other ways of possible business restrictions and consequent loss of consumption. Those who planned the "Down with Extravagance" movement did not contemplate anything so drastic as the loss of confidence of the buying public, in which their movement resulted.

Commodity prices have had the most rapid decline ever recorded in any similar time in history. With this decline, naturally, came a falling off in consumption which, attended by a somewhat disorganized sales campaign, probably resulted in still less buying; for efforts to sell on a falling market have the effect of making the buyer shy. People buy less freely on a falling than on a rising market. No one wants to buy above the bottom of a falling market and the stronger the attempts to sell, the stronger will become the resistance of the public.

By our policies and actions and our straightforward and courageous method of facing conditions, we must now build back that which we have lost so quickly—confidence in the market sufficient to enable a good regular business being transacted. Industry must be brought into balance, for the economic law cannot long be deceived. Where there is a consensus of opinion that prices have fallen about as low as they will fall, conditions will be right for a forward movement. When this forward movement is started, a general advance is likely to take place as sentiment changes and demand in all lines improves. The great majority buy more freely on a rising than on a falling market and no one wants to wait for the top of a rising market. This is simple psychology.

There should now be a determined and constructive effort to bring about a change for the better by team work and co-operation.

A year has just elapsed which has been more harrowing to the average business man than any within the memory of most men now in business. There have never been such violent contrasts in trade conditions. The whole country has been in the grip of a pessimistic mood, following a surge of optimism heedless alike of prices and future demand.

During the boom time, the fact that prices had anything to do with consumption was ignored and rampant advances resulted. When the upward movement could no longer be followed, when it was found that more money had been spent than could be afforded, the strictest economy was enforced and demands shrank rapidly.

With this change in public attitude, came a change in the banks and financial institutions; and from free money lenders they became extremely conservative, just at the time that the cost of carrying merchandise had enormously increased. Without the few months' prosperity had by many businesses and without the re-organized banking system, we would have had the most fearful panic that America has ever known. As it is, there has come to us another of those periodical visitations known as a business depression or crisis; this time, world wide.

There are many indications that the bottom of the depression has been reached in many fundamental industries, although in many lines, unsettled conditions will continue indefinitely.

With the turn of the year, a much better feeling has prevailed and only the most obstinate of pessimists dispute the assertion that general business has "turned the corner."

Let us look ahead, get essential problems settled, and then move forward; let us not substitute theory for practicality or live in the shadow instead of the substance. We want a close analysis of our own business, with a practical close up study of various trades.

The best way to meet the present situation is to adjust business activities to prevailing conditions as far as possible. Customers should be kept properly advised. Confidence on the part of the merchant and manufacturer will find a reflection in public opinion.

Eternal vigilance is the price of freedom and safety. If we round out these changing periods, having transacted a good business and retained a good organization, we will be granted as having amazing qualities of mind and heart.—Reprinted from the January number of The Butlerite, the house organ of the Butler Paper Corporations.

Many people are glad that the census enumerators are not expected to find the quantity of liquor in the cellars of Canada. It would be interesting information nevertheless.

A DISASTROUS DINNER

Each day draggedon with little to look forward to in the morrow or make it different from the tediousness of the days just past. Leonard would be detained at the office five nights out of the week, or perhaps he was not always at the office. He did not speak now of Mrs. Darwood. Yet I knew he must see her.

I found myself almost thankful when he did not come home for dinner. His old good naturedness had given way to irritability. He was over-worked. My love for him was commiserate with longing to break through his reserve and beg him not to work so hard. I feared his health would suffer. Yet the fine sense of delicacy which had made our love so sensitive a thing, held me back.

This aloofness between us made the times when we were together most uncomfortably tense. Desperate with the thinking of the best thing to do, I rashly invited our neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Russell, in informally for dinner oue night. I had waited to invite them until Leonard had telephoned at 5 o'clock that he was coming home. I never could count on him ahead of time. The idea suddenly came to me and I was at the telephone without a second thought.

Mr. Russell had been an old college friend of Leonard's. They were closer than brothers. I needed someone to break the tension. Mrs. Russell and myself had always felt that friendliness given to the wives of college chums, but intimacy had been impossible. I often wondered why it was that men with such like feelings had picked out wives so unlike. I had never spoken this thought to Leonard for we four had had pleasant times together.

They came to dinner. Leonard was impossible. He was actually rude.

"Your soup's fine and salty!" he blurted out at me after the first spoonful.

No one spoke.

When the chicken came on I watched him carve it with dreaded anticipation. I knew by his expression what to expect and I was not disappointed.

"Tough all right," he said with complacency.

I felt the blood rush to my face and burn my cheeks. They continued getting hotter. I wondered if there would be enough to go around the absurdly bountiful way he was serving.

"Let Emma pass the vegetables, Leonard," I said in desperation, as I watched him place at least one third the contents of the potato dish on Mrs. Russell's plate.

We got through the meal somehow. I made a pretense of eating some of the large amount of chicken on my plate while Leonard made fruitless efforts at getting some meat from the wing and ribs which had been all that remained for his share.

In the library after dinner he was glum, tacticurn, and absent-minded. What would the Russells think? I talked on every conceivable subject and my voice was rapid and nervous.

When the coffee was brought in I had to sit mute with mortification while Leonard got up and helped himself to a cup, apparently oblivious to the fact that the Russells had not been served. Then I watched him indifferently flick the ashes from his cigar on to the floor and rug.

The part that all seemed so strange to me was this state was not like Leonard, not natural to him at all. What was wrong? Was he over-worked, I argued with myself. Then the memory came to me of other times when he had been equally worn and tired and how he had told me that our little home was more than compensation for his efforts.

No, these things were not like Leonard. Something had taken from him his old joy and pride in his home.

Mr. Russell acted restless and uneasy. He repeatedly suggested to his wife that they should be going home, but Mrs. Russell only seemed less inclined to go. She talked on until I felt I must ask them to go—anything to end my mortification. Then intuitively I felt that she sensed something unusual, something wrong, and was staying to get an inkling of what it was. I hated her for it. I knew it was just that trait in some women that makes one hide their sorrows to the point of suffocation.

A vast loneliness came over me. I had a feeling of estrangement from my husband, and now a fear of my own sex.

CANAL WORKERS WANT AN EIGHT HOUR DAY.

OTTAWA, March 16. — (Canadain Press.)—Shorter hours and an increase of wages to the standard scale were the two main requests made to Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways and Canals, by a delegation representing the workers on the Welland Canal. The men are now working a ten hour day and want to revert to the 8-hour shift. The delegation also asked for permission for the business agents of the unions to visit the men on the work. Tom Moore, president of the Dominion Trades and Labour Congress, introduced the delegates. Hon. Mr. Reid promised consideration.

HOW POLICE ARE COMBATTING CRIME IN NEW YORK CITY.

Claim They Have Got Thieves on the Run — What Happens After Dark.

HARSH MEASURES.

NEW YORK, March 15.—The police here are taking unusual means to combat the crime wave, and station houses present scenes of extraordinary hustle and bustle while officials discuss seriously the latest aspect of crime and the best mean of handling the situation.

Old-time visitors to precinct houses see sights that are new and strange to the eye. In the backroom of a station stand four or more clean-cut soldier-like policemen toying affectionately with rifle or shot gun. They are the sharp shooters of the department each is accounted a sure shot, and each has demonstrated his qualifications and fitness for the duty to which he has been assigned. They belong to the night auto cruising squad, and they make excursions into the avenues and darkened streets in the expectation of surprising some hold-up man at work. These men do not carry guns for mere bluff, but to use should occasion arise.

Then members of the force dress in plain clothes, looking very much like desperate characters themselves to patrol the streets for thieves of all types, who are making the city uncomfortable for law biding citizens. These ordinary policemen, recruited from the ranks, have been giving a good account of themselves. Nightly they are bringing in the lawless who have been terrorizing and pillering everywhere.

They have sometimes been fortunate in catching these lawbreakers red-handed, with the goods on 'em. They have brought in undesirables with guns of all makes and sizes, from midget revolvers to army automatics. Many of these policemen are young men who bring to their work a good deal of real boyish enthusiasm, and neither the hard nightly grind of hunting criminals nor the long hours of duty imposed upon them have dampened their spirits.

Getting Results

The police claim that they have got the thieves on the run and are gradually running them to earth. In an effort to make the streets safe the police have pressed into service motorcycles as well as automobiles. These motorcycles have been equipped with side seats in which ride police Sergeants. It is an unaccustomed sight to see such a vehicle coming down a city avenue with a Sergeant tucked snugly in the side seat The authorities here declare that criminals in New York responsible for hold-ups and other crimes are of a most vicious and desperate type, and must be treated with stern, harsh, repressive measures.

PROPHETESS CAUSES COMMOTION IN PARIS, DECLARING SHE HAS LIVED ON OTHER PLANETS

PARIS, March 17.—A woman who, according to her own statements, has lived on more planets than are known to astronomers, is holding conferences just now in Paris and startling some persons with her prophesies. She is Mlle. Marguerite Wolf.

Among the prophesies which she made yesterday at one of her meetings was that Christ was to be born again in a Jewish family in the district of Montmorency, just outside of Paris, on Dec. 25 of this year. For such statements the civil authorities cannot proceed against "prophets," but recently Catholic bishops have tried to restrain Mlle. Wolf. She now goes further, and is informing her audiences that in 1954, when He is 33 years old, the Christ who is to be born next Christmas day will be killed by a blow on the forehead from a stone thrown by a Catholic.

Until two years ago, Mlle. Wolf, then in her 35th year, had lived the life of a middle class woman except that perhaps it had been a lonelier life than is the lot of most. The revelation which then came to her, it is declared, was not what might be called a revelation of spirit but simply one of memory.

Suddenly at the Divine bidding, she says, she began to remember all her past, and it was not merely the matter of the thirty-five years she had spent on this planet. She remembers the world as it was before the Flood, she asserts, and also remembers all the lives she has lived on other planets before the earth was formed.

Mars and Venus, according to her accounts, are as well known to her as Montmarte and the Faubourg Saint Germain, where she lectures. In Mars, it is well to note in case of future interplanetary relations, the people are frank but warlike, her version sets forth, and in Venus they are stout republicans and have a strong dislike to the clergy. Some 800,000 years ago, Mlle. Wolf says, she began her existence, and in such length of time it is only natural that our little solar system should not suffice for her habitation.

At one time she says she lived in the planet diamond, about which she relates that the houses and theatres were very dark, for they did not seem to have invented artificial lighting there, but when the people sang the beauty of their voices moved one to tears. The houses were roofed with gold and the walls were of what in this poor world are called stones.

Of such and other remarkable things Mlle. Wolf tells her audiences, and, most remarkable, perhaps, of all is that here in Paris she still gets audiences to which to tell them.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION BETTER IN MONTREAL NOW

Jewellery Manufacturing, Sugar Refining, and Printing Trades Pick Up

MONTREAL, March 17. — The prospects of employment are reported as steadily brightening in various lines where the slackness has been somewhat pronuonced during the past few months, quite apart from those seasonal trades in which winter always brings unemployment with it.

In the jewellery trade, for instance —where short time has prevailed for a few months—the leading houses now report that trade is steadily brightening and there is every reason to hope that employment will have reached a normal condition by next spring.

The sugar refining companies also report that prospects for employployment are encouraging. They are only working to meet current demands, nothing been done in the way of making advance stock, but demand is steadily improving and consequently the amount of refining done is increasing, with increasing employment.

In the job printing trade the outlook is reported very bright. A certain number of firms felt a distinct sagging in trade during the first month or six weeks of the year but this is disappearing. Several firms declare that they have not experienced any slackness at all. Altogether the outlook for the workmen in the printing trades is estimated as very satisfactory for the coming Spring and Summer.

GRAY-DORT

Watchful Eyes Guard Its Quality

THERE is much more than mere routine to the elaborate system of inspection which guards the supreme quality of the Gray-Dort car.

Built into every car is the pride of an organization over sixty years experienced in the production of satisfactory transportation.

—each skilled craftsman looks upon the Gray-Dort as his personal product, by which he will be judged in the eyes of the world.

The final result is freedom from ordinary motor car troubles and the long life which comes only with perfect harmony in every working part.

Compared with other cars, the Gray-Dort is worth much more than its fair made-in-Canada price.

The difficulty in securing a Gray-Dort will increase as the season advances. See the Gray-Dort dealer now.

BEAUVAIS NOT TO INTERFERE

FOUND IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL, March 17. — Fred Beauvais, the French Canadian guide named in James A. Stillmans divorce suit at New York, was found here busily engaged in clipping the stories of the divorce case from the New York newspapers.

He made a sweeping denial of all the charges alleged to have been brought by the multi-millionaire financier, connecting his name with the case.

"This matter has been in court behind closed doors since last November," Beauvais said emphatically and speaking without a trace of anxiety. "It was made public at last so that Mr. Stillman's charges implicating me could be given the light and refuted."

Beauvais was very indignant at having been referred to in the newspapers as an Indian an a half-breed. He considers himself a French-Canadian. He does not look like an Indian. He has polished, smooth, courteous manners. He is well dressed and apparently has plenty of money. He seems to have been fully informed of all the details of the case.

"I don't want any publicity," he said. Then he added he was through acting as a guide.

Beauvais refused absolutely to mention Mrs. Stillman.

He declared that he would not cross the border again and that he would have nothing further to do with the case.

With regard to the reported raid on the Stillman lodge near Three Rivers during which shots were alleged to have been fired, Beauvais said:

"The first I heard of that was when I read it in the newspapers. The only shots I ever heard around the place were those fired by young James Stillman, who did a lot of shooting at targets every day."

WITTE EXPOSES KAISER'S 'LEAGUE.'

Count's Forthcoming Memoirs Reveal It as Russo-German War Alliance.

The former German Emperor's proposal for a League of Nations, described in his book written with the object of showing that Great Britain was responsible for the World War, excerpts from which have been cabled from The Hague, is definitely challenged and contradicted in the forthcoming memoirs of Count Witte, the noted Russian statesman, to be published. The former German Emperor asserts that he proposed a League of Nations, consisting of the Triple Alliance and the French and Russian Alliance, and that this proposal was accepted by the Russian Emperor and Count Witte.

After detailing in an earlier chapter a proposal of the German Emperor for an offensive economic alliance between Russia and Germany against the United States, Count Witte refers to his so-called League of Nations proposal.

"In 1905 Count Witte, on his way to Russia after having negotiated the treaty of Portsmouth, saw the Kaiser, and their talk assumed a serious aspect.

"Having referred briefly to my success at Portsmouth," says Witte, "he turned to the general political situation in Europe and reverted to our Peterhof conversation. I reiterated my profound belief in the desirability of a general rapprochement of the three main bodies politic of Europe, Russia, Germany and France, this rapprochement tending to become a close union, which, of course, would be joined by other European powers.

Delivered from the burden of military expenditures, Europe would be enabled to create a mighty naval force which would dominate the world. His Majesty assured me that he shared my views and then declared that my scheme had finally been carried into effect at his meeting with Emperor Nicholas at Biorkoe. Having imparted to me this extraordinary piece of news, His Majesty asked me whether I was satisfied with this development, and in my innocence I replied that his words had filled my heart with joy. We parted."

On his arrival in St. Petersburg (Petrograd) Count Witte had an interview with Emperor Nicholas. "His Majesty told me," writes the Count, "that he had received a letter from Emperor William in which the German Sovereign spoke of me in admiring terms. He was glad, he added, that I shared the views which were the foundation of his agreement with Germany, concluded at Bjorkoe. The text of the mysterious agreement, however, His Majesty did not show me.

"The next day I met Count Lamsdorff, our Minister of Foreign Affairs. After the customary greetings and congratulations he asked me, his voice vibrant with ill-controlled indignation:

"'Do you really approve of the Biorkoe Treaty?'"

"I confessed that I had not, whereupon he handed me the text of the document, saying that he had received it only on the previous day and bedding me read it. The Count looked profoundly excited and unset. As I read the document I understood the cause of his excitement. The substance of the agreement was that Germany and Russia obligated themselves to defend each other in case of war with any other European power, including France. Russia pledged itself to make every effort to gain France over to this union, but, whether this result was attained, the agreement between the two countries was nevertheless valid.

"'This is monstrous,' I exclaimed. 'The treaty dishonors us in the eyes of France. Is it possible that all this has been concoted without you, and that you knew nothing about it?'

"Count Lamsdorff repeated that until the preceding day he had been kept in complete ignorance of the matter.

"'Does not His Majesty know that we have a treaty with France?' I asked.

"'Of course His Majesty knows that,' he replied, 'but the fact must have slipped from his mind, or, what is more probable, his brain was befogged by William's verbiage, and he failed to grasp the substance of the matter.'

It was through the influence of Count Witte and Count Lamsdorff that the treaty was eventually abrogated.

BURTON DENOUNCES TARRING IN KANSAS.

Calls Treatment of Non-Partisan League Organizers an Attack on Free Speech.

SALINA, March 17.—Ex-Senator Burton, who was himself "escorted" from Great Bend, Kan., on Saturday, in a lengthy statement to-day denounced the tarring of the two Non-Partisan League organizers there the same day as "the blackest of all crimes on the calendar—the suppression of free speech by force." He charged that J. O. Stevic and C. A. Parsons, after being beaten and tarred, were "left on the prairie to die."

Burton also charged that the mob was led by members of the American Legion. In fact, he intimated that it was almost entirely an American Legion affair. He announced that he had appealed to the State officials at Topeka to bring the leaders of the mob to justice.

Parsons was confined to his bed to-day, but Stevic, the other victim, was able to be up. Stevic's injuries as given out are:

Hair and face and shoulders covered with tar; two black eyes; injured backbone; twisted thigh and bruises over the face and body.

Hair and face and shoulders covered with tar; one black eye; three broken ribs; probable internal injuries; cut cheek and face and bruises over the body.

"We underwent horrible treatment," Stevic declared, "Parsons and I had left Ellinwood and got to Chase when the mob overtook us. They took us to Great Bend and we were turned over to another mob.

"We were then taken to a lonely place. Two men held to each of our arms, holding them up, while we were fearfully beaten by others. Then a circle of motor cars ringed about us and tar pots appeared. We were stripped to the waist and tar applied.

"Half blind, we staggered away. Hearing another mob was after us, we sought shelter in a straw stack, but at 3 o'clock in the morning we went back to Great Bend to learn the hour. We walked twenty miles on the railroad and came to a farm house. The farmer said that he doubted if we were human beings, but he took us in, and two leaguers were found who brought us to Salina."

Governor Allen has requested Richard J. Hopkins, Attorney General, to investigate the tarring of the two organizers.

VICTORY COLUMN PLOT IS LAID TO JUNKERS.

Belief Grows That They Meant to Blame Outrage on German Radicals.

BERLIN, March 17.—There is a strong suspicion that the attempt to blow up the Sieges-Saule, or Column of Victory, was really only one of the many devices by which reactionary hotheads seek to throw suspicion upon the radical parties, hoping thereby to incite the Nationalist elements and hold them available for a monarchist uprising.

However, there is no doubt that the box really contained enough explosive matter to destroy the monument and kill many people. There was also a burning fuse attached. Now the discoverers of the infernal machine assert that they could not extinguish the fuse either in water or by stamping on it. They saw that after taking the box to the ground floor of the monument they ran to the nearest police station for help and advice. The lieutenant sent to investigate the incident merely took his pocketknife and cut the burning fuse, thus removing all danger. Every sensible man is asking why the discoverers did not act likewise, instead of exposing innocent visitors to the monument for ten minutes to the danger of an explosion. Every German carries a pocketknife, and if he does not use it at such a seemingly imperative moment there is reason to seek for an ulterior reason, which, it is believed, was that the discoverers were anxious that official witnesses should testify to the truth of their statement.

But the plan of the conspirators, whoever they were, seems to have failed in other ways; for, though Nationalist agents provocateurs yesterday sought to incite the masses against the radical parties, the Nationalist organs to-day wisely refrain from even mentioning those parties as suspects because it does not seem likely that radical conspirators would attempt such a deed on Sunday, when all the visitors to the monument, from the top of which one enjoys the best view of the German capital, are of the masses to which they themselves belong. The untenableness of such a theory struck even the Lokal Anzeiger and similar papers, which now seek the perpetrators among foreigners, hinting at Russians or Poles, without explaining what interest they could possibly have in such a dastardly crime. They also leave unexplained how foreigners could have become possessed of war material—for such were the explosives used.

It seems a much more plausible theory that the explosives were obtained by some person intimate with the former, or even the present, military officials. Had the scheme—always supposing it a Nationalist trick—succeeded, yesterday would have been the best occasion for turning it to immediate account. Although, so far as numbers were concerned, the Nationalist meetings of protest against the London Conference were a complete failure, their processions displayed agressiveness enough, had several encounters with Communist processions and finally tried to stage a demonstration before the Entente Commissioners' houses, demanding that they, like all other foreigners, leave Berlin immediately.

The police, however, dispersed the crowds, which on the Kurfurstendamm had increased enormously and for a time assumed a threatening attitude.

JAPANESE MASSES WANT DISARMAMENT

OSAKA, Japan, March 17. — At two mass meetings held here recently, attended by thousands of persons, resolutions were adopted declaring that the budget gives preponderating importance to armaments which places an unbearable burden on the nation, and is contrary to public opinion.

It was decided to send messages to the members of the House of Peers, asking their support in the disarmament movement.

Speeches favouring disarmament were made by prominent business leaders. Professor Suhiro, of Kyoto University, declared that Japan should take the lead in an international discussion on disarmament. If this were done, he said, all questions which have been the subject of discussion between Japan and the United States would rapidly be solved.

THOSE NASTY LITTLE PIMPLES

THAT COME ON THE FACE ARE CAUSED BY BAD BLOOD.

Many an otherwise beautiful and attractive face is sadly marred by the unsightly pimples and various other skin troubles, caused wholly by bad blood.

Many a cheek and brow cast in the mould of a beauty, have been sadly defaced, their attractiveness lost, and the possessor of the "pimply face" rendered unhappy for years.

Their presence is a source of embarrassment to those afflicted as well as pain and regret to their friends.

There is an effectual remedy for these facial defects and that is Burdock Bitters, the old reliable medicine that has been on the market for over 40 years.

It drives out all impurities from the blood and leaves the complexion clear and healthy.

Mrs. James Williams, Waterford, Ont., writes: "My face was covered with pimples for nearly a year. I used different kinds of remedies to get rid of them and finally thought there was no relief. A friend dropped in one day and told me I should try Burdock Blood Bitters. I did so and used three bottles and found the pimples were all disappearing from my face and now I have a clear complexion again."

ANGLICAN BISHOP FAVORS QUEBEC LIQUOR ACT

QUEBEC, March 16.— (Canadian Press.)—Dr. Farthing, the Anglican bishop of Montreal, has sent a letter to Hon. W. G. Mitchell, provincial treasurer, congratulating him upon the liquor legislation of which he had charge in the provincial legislature. Dr. Farthing styles the measure as a bold experiment well worthy of support. He says he is convinced the best system of liquor administration is government sale and control such as Mr. Mitchell has introduced.

21 Parties Seek Power

DEATH OF PREMIER OF SPAIN LEAVES PECULIAR POLITICAL SITUATION AS YET UNSOLVED.

MADRID, March 17. — (Special to the Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.) — Madrid has not yet recovered from the shock caused by the news of the assassination of Premier Dato and no successor has yet been appointed. As a matter of fact Sr. Dato was carrying on the government without a parliamentary majority when he was killed and there are no less than 21 different political parties represented in the Chamber, some of which consist of only one member.

Signor Maura has the largest number of seats and negotiations have already been begun between him and the king looking towards the formation of a coalition ministry. Meanwhile social unrest is as active as ever although this may be largely attributed to the food shortage. In Barcelona there are signs of a reaction against Syndicalism which is being resolutely fought by the authorities. The failure of the Bank of Barcelona last week has proved a heavy blow to industry.

FINAL PARTING OF GARFIELD BROTHERS

NORMAN, CONDEMNED TO DIE, REFUSES TO SAY GOOD-BYE TO DENTON, WHOSE EVIDENCE CONV.CTED HIM.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., March 17.—Norman Garfield, in jail here, condemned to die on June 2nd, for the murder of Ben. Johnston, passed up his last chance to bid his brother Denton good-bye. The latter was removed to Kingston to serve his twenty-year sentence for his part in the killing of Johnston.

Have Never Spoken.

The brothers have never spoken to each other since the day Denton made a confession implicating his brother as the one who fired the shot that killed Johnston. Turnkey Robley tried to effect a reconciliation and asked Denton if he would like to see his brother before he was taken away. Denton at first refused, but finally consented.

No Last Farewell.

However, when Norman was approached he turned a deaf ear to the turnkey's request. And so it was that the two brothers in blood and crime passed out of each other's life without a last farewell. Norman Garfield is in fair spirits, so the jail officials stated. He eats heartily and sleeps well. He is under continual surveillance by two guards, who describe him as a quiet and model prisoner.

Kitty Garfield's Week-End.

Constable Hill, who had charge of Denton on his trip to Kingston, states his prisoner showed not the lightest concern even after entering the prison gate. Kitty Garfield, wife of Norman Garfield, returned to the city after spending the week-end in Toronto. Here she intends to remain until after the execution of her husband.

The Shower of Rain the Other Evening Did Much to Brighten Things Up Generally

It rid us of the last vestige of winter.

Trees, lawns and streets all look better. The only person who has a bad word to say about it is he who was out of doors and unprepared.

The showers of new goods that descended on us, have brightened our stocks immensely. WE WERE PREPARED TO RECEIVE THEM and haven't a bad word to say about their lower prices.

Baby Carriages, Strollers and Push Carts

Mothers will be taking their little sons and daughters with them whenever they go out on these Spring days, and they will be going out often, for the walking is good and the weather congenial for the air is fresh and the sun warm.

Therefore, they will be glad to know we have just unpacked a shipment of baby vehicles in a variety of models to suit their taste and the age of the child.

A Stroller that is priced at $24.75 has an adjustable back, with brown leather upholstered seat and a brown leather top. The wheels have extra heavy rubber tires. It is of closely woven round reed and is enamelled white.

One slightly smaller is of split reed and its color is brown. The top is of brown leather and the seat is upholstered in the same; the back is adjustable. Priced at $18.75.

The same can be had in white without an adjustable back and is priced at $17.00.

You can have white or brown split reed ones without the adjustable back or top, and the price is $14.25.

BABY CARRIAGES

The most expensive one in our stock is $77.50 and is quite an elaborate affair, in cream color, and made of round reed with a roll edge. The half-circle top can be arranged at different angles and has little panelled windows at the sides. The upholstering is done in white corduroy, the wheels are rubber tired and have heavy spokes, the metal construction and springs underneath are the best and the body of the carriage can be turned completely around if desired so that the child can ride facing the opposite way if a storm is blowing.

Other Carriages much the same but more lightly constructed and less elaborate, but are well built good looking Carriages nevertheless, are priced at $75.00, $72.00, $70.00 and $56.50. The last has rubber-tired wire wheels and the body is not adjustable.

The Children's Feet Will Be Well Shod with Hurlbut or McFarlane Welts

THE cheapest boots are not those that cost the least. They are those that wear longest. Hurlbut and McFarlane welts are not cheap boots. They have the right kind of goods in them, and they need to have, for there never was a boy or girl that was not hard on shoes. Yet there never was a boy or girl that scuffed out a pair of McFarlane or Hurlbut welts in a hurry.

Pussy Foots for the wee tots commencing to walk come in patent leather with dull tops in button or lace style; also, all fine black kid in button and lace styles, and another style is black patent with white tops. The price is $2.50 pair. At $3.00 you can have white buckskin in button style. The sizes in all of these run up to size 5.

Boots for Girls, in Sizes from 5 to 7½, are $4.25 Pair

These are of black kid leather and come in button or lace style, and we have others in brown kid and also brown calfskin in button or lace. The same Boots in sizes 8 to 10½ are $5.25 pair.

Misses' Slippers that are really miniatures of those that ladies wear are in sizes from 11 to 2 and can be had in black patent and fine kid leathers. The heels are the low block style and the price is $4.50 a pair.

Boots for misses in sizes from 11 to 2 are priced from $5.50 to $6.50. They are a graceful last that the hard-to-please miss will approve of. All are lace styles with high tops and block heels. Choice of black kid or brown calfskin.

Substantial Boots for youths in sizes from 11 to 2 are made of elk and come in black or brown. They are strongly stitched and show every sign of good service. They are priced at $5.00.

Black or Brown Calfskin Boots are marked at $6.00 a pair and are so strongly made that it will take an unusual amount of kicking about to wear them out in a hurry.

EARLY HISTORY DUMMER REFERRED TO AT MEETING WOMAN'S INSTITUTE

INTERESTING REMINISCENCES OF DAYS GONE BY CONTRIBUTED TO AN INSTRUCTIVE OCCASION —HARDSHIPS OF ORIGINAL SETTLERS.

The subject taken up at the Woman's Institute on Thursday afternoon was "The History of Dummer." Extracts from two histories of Peterborough had been well studned by several ladies. Dummer, it appears, was surveyed in 1823, but not until 1831 did any regular settlers come. These settlers, most of whom were either commuted pensioners, or paid their own way out, were given grants of land, for which, by the end of eight years they would pay about $80 for each 100 acres. This $80 was not always fully demanded by the government, nor was the time limti strictly adhered to. The settlers were allowed between $1.50 and $400 to help build their log shacks. The roofs of these buildings were made of bass-wood logs split and hollowed so as to form troughs; a row of these troughs was laid side by side, trough up, and another row of inverted troughs laid over the edges. The front of the dwellings was a little higher than their back. This roof was aboslutely water proof.

Food Rations.

These people were not given implements, seed, nor cows, as were the 1825 settlers of Douro. Even their food ration was slightly smaller, each man being allowed half a pound of our and half a pound of pork a day, and each woman and child, over five years, one pound of our a day. But this was suddenly cut off for a time, causing great suffering.

Hard Labour.

Wheat had to be carried by the men (or women) to Peterborough or Norwood to be ground, though some did contrive a sort of mill, with a hallowed hardwood stump and a stone attacked to a sapling. This course our was simply mixed with water, kneaded and baked. However ith all the difficulties, these early settlers, as a whole, made good, and their descendants are now quite comfortable. Unfortunately some of the land was almost worthless when cleared, and the people, after toiling for a few years, found they never could wrest a living from bare stones, and they either deserted their holdings or sold them for a mere song. These lands are now used as cattle ranches.

First Minister.

The first regular minister was Rev. Archibald Colquhoun, who held services in Mr. J. MacDonnell's house, near what was then Colquehoun's Corners (now Cotessloe.) Later the Presbyterian church was built there. Two Methdist churches were built in the township in 1850 and 1852. Rev. Blackstock was the first Methodist minister, and in the village of Warsaw the first church built was the Anglican in 1853, the clergyman of which was Rev. John Hilton.

In 1855 the Presbyterian church was built; later the Methodist, and quite recently the Baptist.

Site of Warsaw.

History says there are no small lakes in Dummer; there are several. The present village of Warsaw was originally known as "Dummer Mills." It was situated on the Squaknegossippe (now known as Indian) river. This Indian name means "sweet water." The Rice Lake Indians used to come up the river in the spring, and make maple sugar. A Mr. Hartwell started building mills there, but he died, and Mr. Choate (father of Mr. A. F. Choate), carried on the work. In his time there were our and grist mills, lumber mills, furniture factory, and woollen mills here, but now none of them are left excepting the flour and grist mill. Indeed only grist is ground.

Selkirk's Lumber Mill.

Early Settlers.

Among the early settlers there were five distinct families of Paynes, and descendants of all of them are still in the township.

First Schoolhouse.

The first schoolhouse in the township was on John Kidd's farm, near where Cotessloe school now stands. The teacher was a Mr. Charles Murphy.

Mr. Wm. Darling, father of Reeve Darling, taught school for over 25 years, and holidays were rare days. He taught one six months in a little schoolhouse near the gate into Mr. Robert Payne's farm. The flat stone, which was the step, is still there. The other six months he taught at Hall's Glen.

One of the Oldest.

Mr. G. W. Reid, who, when a very young boy, came to Dummer from the States, is one of the oldest, if not the oldest, resident of Dummer. Mr. Reid has kept store in Warsaw 55 years. Mr. Matthews who died recently in Peterborough, was another old resident. His grand-daughter, Mrs. Wm. Grey, had a history of his life in Dummer, which was read. Messrs. Hugh McFee and Hugh Dodds came to the township together when about 17 years of age. Mr. McFee died a few years ago, and not many of his family are left. Mr. Dodds is living in Smith with a son. Before coming to this country he had quite a good education, and thus was able to do business for several of his neighbors.

Made the Canal.

In 1838 Mr. Choate made the canal which connects White and Stoney Lakes. As he had to use a lot of gun powder (there is just a ridge of rock diving the l[illegible], and the Mackenzie rebellion was not settled, Mr. Choate just escaped prison.

First Warden.

Capt. Hill, who lived north of Bethel church, was the first warden of Peterborough, and the first council was sworn in in Mr. Choate's house, recently burned down. Regulations required that the council be sworn in by a certain date. Council were in Peterborough but no warden. The men came out to Warsaw. Mr. Choate brought Catp. Hill and the official swearing in took place.

First Post Office.

The first post office in the township was opened in 1841, Mr. Choate being appointed postmaster. At the time of his death he was about the oldest postmaster in Ontario. It was he who suggested the name of "Warsaw."

Hon. Zaccheaus Burnham had a great deal to do with the early settling of Dummer, also Capt. Rubidge. In the history of Dummer there are many names that deserve mention.

The ladies present told many an incident, some sad, others gay, and they were reminded that these stories should be told to their children and kept as priceless heirlooms.

THIN, WATERY BLOOD MEANS ILL HEALTH

RICH, RED BLOOD BRINGS BRIGHT EYES AND ROSY CHEEKS.

The girl who returns home from school or from work thoroughly tired out will be fortunate if she escapes a physical break-down, because this getting tired so easily is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning blood that must not be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes pale. She not only tires out easily but often suffers from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and a loss of appetite.

In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found to have a beneficial action on the blood. Miss Delima Lafreniere, St. Ambrose, Man., has proved this in her own case, and advises others to use these Pills. She says: "Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I felt like a complete wreck of my former self. My blood was poor and thin. I suffered from faint and dizzy spells and had backaches and headaches almost every day. I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and by the time I had used three boxes I felt much better and I continued taking the Pills until I felt as well as I ever did. For what they did in my case I cannot recommend these Pills too highly."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THUNDER RECALLS INDIAN LEGEND

The thunder and lightning on Tuesday evening recalls to mind the old Indian legend to the effect that the first thunder of spring is the growling of the bear, roused from his long winter's sleep. If Bruin, drowsy from his warm slumbers, stretches his left paw outwards, and the thunder consequently sounds in the east, we are in for a spell of cold and raw weather, until the next new moon comes to make him change his mind.

INTEREST REVIVED IN PERRY MURDER.

Detective on Way From Halifax But No New Developments.

YARMOUTH, N.S., March 17.—Interest in the Perry murder case was revived yesterday when it was reported that Detective Kennedy was on his way here from Halifax, and that he would arrive last night.

Crowds of people were at the station when the train pulled in, but the detective was not in sight. It is known that the detective was along the D.A.R. line during the day, and there is a possibility that he may have left the train at one of the stations a short distance from Yarmouth so as to avoid the curious crowd. Some important developments are expected to follow the resumption of the officer's investigation of the crime.

Miss Florence Perry, eldest daughter of the late Captain Perry, who came to Yarmouth to attend the funeral of her murdered father, left for Toronto yesterday on the D.A.R.

Miss Perry was accompanied to the station by Mansfield Ross and by her uncle, L. A. Rogers, of Yarmouth. The trio went direct to the train and apparently took no notice of the number of people around the depot, who watched their movements with interest.

EMPLOYEES TO AID IN MANAGEMENT

CHICAGO, March 16.—Plans whereby employees of packing plants of the country are "to share with the management in the conducting of all conditions of mutual interest were announced here.

The announcement was made while a strike vote, because of the 12 1-2 per cent. cut in wages in effect to-day, was in progress.

As soon as the organization is effected in the various plants, the employes' representatives will "consider all matters of mutual interest, such as wages, hours of labor, working conditions, sanitary and safety measures," the announcement said.

DISARMAMENT IS WELCOMED SAYS FANHAM

DECLARES BRITAIN HAS SET THE PACE IN REDUCING ESTIMATES AND FAVORS HARDING'S HINT

LONDON, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—Baron Lee of Farham First Lord of the Admiralty, discussing naval matters at the meeting of naval architects here yesterday, referred to th quesion of disarmament. He said the only question was who would initiate discussion but on this point the British Government would not stand on ceremony. The Government, he declared, welcomed the hint thrown out by President Harding in his inaugural address and that it would meet with a cordial and helpful response here. Baron Lee said he had agreed with Mr. Denby, United States Secretary of the Navy, that Great Britain and the United States could control the seas.

"But", he added, question is whether we have the right of direction with regard to our navies when consulting each other. In that respect I think this government has a clear record In the estimates we have set an example of reduction and taken risks and are prepared to go far in mutual agreement."

Out of Quarantine.

Miss Payne, who has been quarantined for six weeks with scarlet fever, has now resumed her duties on the staff of the Public School. Mr. G. A. Payne, local magistrate, is now able to take up his residence at his home once more.

Wynn—Fox.

Yesterday, at high noon, a very pretty wedding was solemnised in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, when Miss Rita C. Fox, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fox, Grand Road, became the bride of Mr. Edison G. Wynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Wynn, Seymour West.

At twelve o'clock, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, rendered by Mr. Henning, organist and choirmaster of the church, the bride, leaning on the arm of her father, entered the church, and took her place at the altar. The bride was charmingly attired in a navy suit, with hat to match, black furs, and corsage bouquet of pink roses.

After the ceremony, which was performed by the pastor, Rev. C. F. McIntosh, and during the signing of the register, Miss Hazel Atkinson, cousin of the bride, rendered very sweetly "Because I Loved You Truly."

A reception for the immediate relatives was afterwards held at the bride's home, and amid showers of confetti the happy couple left on the afternoon train for Belleville, Toronto, and points West. Upon their return the young couple will reside on the groom's beautiful home west of the town.

The bride, who was one of the popular young ladies of the town, received many beautiful gifts, among which was a beautiful mantel clock presented by the choir of which the bride was a faithful member.

Personals.

Mr. Grant Anderson, who for two seasons made cheese in the Trent Valley Cheese Factory, Campbellford, has been engaged as cheesemaker in the Seymour West Cheese Factory, and he and his family are removing there in preparation for the season's activities.

Mr. Joseph Sloggett, who last fall sold his fine farm in Seymour West, is removing to town, and will occupy the house on Tice Street, recently purchased from P. Corkery.

Mr. R. Boyes, public school inspector, is making his official inspection of the Public School this week.

George Wallace, Burnbrae, son of Mr. George Wallace, of town, is seriously ill of scarlet fever and blood poisoning.

Married, in Campbellford, on 7th March, by Rev. H. B. Kenney, Emma Potts, of Seymour, to Alex. G. McLaughlin, of Blairton.

Rev. C. F. and Mrs. McIntosh and little son were in Toronto this week.

Mrs. A. W. Free, who has been confined to the house for the past week, is improving.

Treas.

Auditors: E. MacLachlan, N. Preston.

The Local Chapter of the I.O.D.E., and the band intend celebrating the 24th of May as usual and are anticipating as great a success as that of former years.

Property Changes.

Mrs. Marjorie Faux has sold the property which she purchased a few months ago from the Moore estate, Spring street, to Mr. James McConnell, of Percy.

Mrs. Wannaker has bought Mr. William Taylor's cottage on Spring street, for $1000. It will be occupied by Mr. William Ivey.

Thunder Storm.

Norwood had the first thunderstorm of the season on Tuesday evening.

The young lads are busy gathering sap, having nearly all the available maple trees of the village tapped — especially on Peterborough street, where pails and jars are quite in evidence.

Still Seeking Minister.

At the Congregational meeting in the Presbyterian church on Monday evening, it was considered advisable to hear more ministers preach before deciding on one. Rev. Skene of Havelock (moderator) was present.

Personals.

Mr. James Baskin was in Montreal last week.

Mrs. Shortridge, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. James Frost has returned home to Burketon.

Mr. and Mrs. Maitland Grover are visiting in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Dinner have moved in with Miss MacLachlan.

A Man's Pie

Fresh—Delicious—Try it now

Just phone to your grocer or bake shop and say, "Send a Sun-Maid Raisin Pie," or make one at home according to the recipe below. You'll get the pie that men like best because of its flavor and nourishment.

The Raisins are Sun-Maids, plump and tender. The pie is baked so the juice forms a luscious sauce.

It's a man's pie—and a woman's, too, because it is delicious and easy to prepare. Healthful, too, for raisins are nutritious. Rich in assimilable organic iron, which brings the tint of roses to women's and children's cheeks. Eat raisins daily in some delicious form and you'll get all the iron you need.

SUN-MAID RAISINS

DEFLATION IN PRICES FOR FARM PRODUCE

The following is a summary of reports made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:—

Hogs, though comparatively scarce, are keeping lower in price than for years, figures quoted running from $13.25 to $13.75 a cwt. Kent, however, says that indications point to a stronger demand for young pigs this spring.

Hogs coming on the market are still tending to overweight for best quality of bacon. Some representatives attribute this to the fact that feed is now reltively cheap, while others state that owners have been holding the animals back from selling, in the hope of recovering markets.

Leeds reports that brood sows at auction sales have been bringing from $56 to $80 each.

Cattle have been moving rather slowly, but a fair supply of fat animals are awaiting demand.

Welland says:

"The deflation in prices for farm produce has caused a general falling off in the value of livestock. This was demonstrated at the reent consignment sale, where good pure-bred heifers and cows sold at around $150 to $200, the same animals would sell for at least 50 per cent. more a year ago."

In some quarters milk is not commanding the prices paid early in the winter. Elgin reports a condensary paying only $2 a cwt. for 3.5 per cent butter-fat quality, and a milk powder factory giving $2.25 for the same standard of milk. Frontenac, however, puts prices as ranging around $3 a cwt.

The supply of hay has been holding out better than was expected. Most of the quotations range from $20 to $22 a ton in the barn, and $25 to $30 for town and city delivery, but Huron says that prices apear to have slumped as some pressers are offerfing as low as $15 a ton in that county.

Grey reports that red clover, mammoth clover and alsike seed is nearly all disposed of at from $10 to $11 a bushel, but that sweet clover can find practically no sale as most dealers are fully supplied.

Speaking of the tobacco crop, Essex states that considerable leaf is hanging in barns, but that very little so far has been purchased by tobacco companies; nor have the co-operative companies yet begun to receive shipments of Burley.

Kent, Essex, Huron and Waterloo report that as far as can be observed, fall wheat although the fields are bare, has so far remained in good condition where it entered the winter with a good top. So far there has been little heaving of either fall wheat or clover. Brent says that the top is looking rather brown but that the roots appear to be all right to say whether the present superintendent of police, J. E. Rogers, would receive the positon of head of the newly-organized force. The whole discussion was closely interwoven with the general enforcement of the O.T.A., and resulted finally in the bill passing the committee stage after the Attorney-General had agreed to withdraw his provisions for the establishment of a chief police officer for every county in the province, with absolute authority, subject to the Chief Commissioner. The discussion, while it lasted, was decidedly spirited.

OMEMEE U.F.O. HELD A DEBATE

CONSOLIDATED SCHOOLS WON OUT—THE PROGRAMME.

OMEMEE, March 17.—A debate followed by a basket social, was held here Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the local branch of the United Farmers of Ontario. In spite of the inclement weather and bad roads, a large number turned out and participated in the festivities of the evening. Mr. Isaac Fee occupied the chair. The meeting opened with the singing of "The Maple Leaf," followed by a solo by Mr. Kelly Mitchell. Little Miss Helen Brown then delighted the audience with a recitation.

The subject of the debate which followed was: Resolved that consolidated schools should be adopted in rural Ontario. The affirmative side was ably handled by Mrs. R. Johnston and Mrs. W. Brown, while Messrs. Wm. Windrum and P. Harrington had charge of the negative. Needless to say, the subject was thoroughly discussed, much to the credit of the debaters, and was enjoyed by a full house. The judges were Miss Murphy, Principal of the High School, and Messrs. W. Rea and Martin Carroll, and after summarizing the various points, decided in favor of the affirmative.

The Social.

Miss Genevieve Sandy then sang in a very pleasing manner, "Where Do All the Flies Go in the Winter-time?" Miss Alta Moncrief gave a recitation, followed by a solo by Mrs. Hume, which was much appreciated. Mr. F. G. Sandy, M.P.P., gave a short address, and the programme was brought to a close.

Mr. Kelly Mitchell auctioned the numerous baskets and received fairly high prices for them, and for those without baskets a most appetizing lunch was prepared by the ladies, and altogether the evening's entertainment was a splendid success. The proceeds amounted to about $38.

A NEED FOR THE MOTOR SHOW.

What is the matter with the Motor Show? Nothing definite has been announced as yet. It seems too bad that an affair of this sort should be allowed to lag on unregarded. An advrtiesement for the city, an exhibition not only of the motor dealers' wares, but of the products of every manufacturer or merchant in Peterborough who wishes to take part in it, a source of revenue to the town because of the visitors it brings in its wake, a diversion for all who attend it, either for the sake of taking part in the general gaiety of such an undertaking, or to choose a new design in cars, a use for the huge Armouries building, which is in commission far too seldom, and, above all, a means of adding to the coffers of one of the most charitable and far-reaching of the city's beneficent societies, the Peterborough Health Association. Anyone who has had any experience or has observed the workings of this organisation, that goes about its secret good works in a quiet, unobtrusive fashion, realises the excellent results arrived at. To minister to those who otherwise would go unregarded, and particularly to the victims of the Great White Plague that still afflicts the people of this, as well as every other country under the sun, is a great and noble work, but it is a work without any financial return, that depends for its continuance on the philanthropy and public-spirited feeling of those who were born under a luckier star, and who know nothing of thoughts and feelings of the poor, those whose lot is rendered still harder by the onslaughts of disease for which there is too often no remedy.

SOCIETY HELD TEA.

Mrs. A. W. Cressman was the hostess of the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity Church on Tuesday afternoon last, when the Easter meeting of this organisation was called at her house. After the regular business was attended to, an interesting talk on the Easter Thank-offering was given by Miss A. M. Lancaster, superintendent of the Protestant Home, and an address on "Early Easter Customs" by Mrs. N. D. Seaton, were very much enjoyed. Mrs. F. C. Neal took the Bible reading. Refreshments were served, and the ladies were entertained with violin and piano solos by Mrs. P. Hooper and Miss Agnes Logan.

FURNISH LIBRARY.

The Major Bennett Chapter of the I.O.D.E., which is an organisation of the younger girls of the city, who named their Chapter after a very gallant soldier familiar to all Peterborough people, and whose Regent is Miss Doris Cowan, of London Street, are interested just now in the furnishing of a library to one of the sparsely-settled districts in Western Canada, who are without advantages of this sort. A concert in aid of this work will be given under their auspices some time in May at the Conservatory of Music.

"SIX POINT GROUP."

"The Six Point Group" is the name adopted by a number of representative women who met in London recently to consider reforms needed in the interests of their sex. The meeting was convened by Viscountess Rhondda, and other influential women, some of them famous for war work, were present.

"The Six Point Group' will work for the following reforms:

1—Better protection of the child.
2—Betterment of the position of the unmarried mother.
3—Betterment of the position of the widow with children.
5—Equality of conditions for men and women in the civil service.
6—Equality of pay for men and women teachers under the Board of Education.

PLAIDS IN FASHION.

Plaid and striped skirtings and coatings are the newest thing for spring wear. They come in serges, cheviots, and velours, and in the new French fabric called bure, in a variety of combinations, in jade with fine stripes of tangerine and white, stone colour striped with blue and yellow, and fawn striped with rose and green.

Spring fabrics most in use include the following: Morocco and Canton crepe, crepe de chine, georgette crepe, taffeta, crepe back satin, and in cloth; piquet twill, piquetine, Poiret twill, and tricotine.

For summer, nothing is more popular or becoming than organdie, and it comes in many varieties and in all sorts of entrancing shades. In the plain, you may get all the sweet pea shades, pale pink, rose, old rose, orchid, mauve, lavender, canary, lemon and pale yellow, Neptune green, jade, four shades of blue, silver and pewter grey, the new tangerine, emerald, Belgique blue and tomato. In the cross-bar plaid, and the coin spot, there are saxe, apricot, mint green, and cornflower blue.

The dainty dotted Swiss muslins which, like the organdie, are revivals from the long ago fabrics, come in all these shades, and with coloured dots. Lace-barred voile, a voile with an open-work plaid effect, is something new and very attractive, and duro ratines, with their sunfast colours, and pebbled surfaces, have again arrived after a long absence.

Pussy willow satin for smart frocks is still a universal favourite, and more especially in the newest of shades, the Florence Harding blue, that misty, rich blue with the translucent effect which is said to be universally becoming, and not a bit trying to wear. Baronnette satins, so popular last year, are going to be just as good this season, the mixture having been improved by a twill that gives a shimmery effect, coming only in navy and black.

THE "ROSE GOWN."

The "Rose Gown," the amazing costume that figured in the Prelude to "The Salon of Spring Fashion," held in one of the big departmental stores in Toronto last week, is described as follows:

"This extraordinary gown was built up in New York, but it was inspired from one worn by Mistinguett, the Parisian dancer, at the Casino de Paris. It is quite 1830. The crinoline skirt is one vast heroic rose—a rose with a circumference of six and one-half yards. There is tier upon tier of chiffon petals shaded from faintest pink to glowing rose—a hundred yards of chilon went to the purpose.

The bodice is a flashing, concentrated mass of 1,200 brilliants—the sparkling dewdrops, you see. This tight, little, glittering cuirass bodice topping the immense swaying rose leaf-skirt makes up a really amazing costume. It is, besides, an achievement of skill and design, every rose petal, every brilliant has been riveted by hand. It is the living picture—the ambulant rose garden, to the obligato—"The Story of the Rose."

But it is a rose within a rose. Presently the model droops and bends, the rose balloon subsides on the floor. And, from it she arises as slim as a reed, in her Greek dancer's frock of rose chiffon—the surplice bodice, the skirt with its petal-shaped sections, light as a leaf in the wind. It is the "heart of the rose."

VETERANS HELP.

The shortage of domestic servants in Canada is pronounced as a national danger in a report of the Overseas Settlement Committee which has just been published in London. The committee thinks the servant situation in Canada quite as bad as in Australia and New Zealand.

In connection with this situation, and the rather serious one of male unemployment which exists in large cities of the Dominion at present, a number of ex-service men of various ranks are forming a bureau in Toronto to furnish help in the spring house-cleaning season, or to do odd jobs around shops and gardens at this season of the year, and until conditions improve. Rather than suffer the evils of unemployment, or accept charity, these men are going to pitch in and help where they can, in taking down storm windows, cleaning the all-the-year-round garden variety, sweeping, dusting, scrubbing, cleaning cellars and attics, taking out ashes—in fact, doing whatever they can to help with the various odd jobs which require a stronger arm than the average woman's.

STYLES FOR MIDDLE AGE

(By Margery Streete—Staff Correspondent Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service).

LONDON, March 17.—For middle-aged women the choice of style is more important than that of colors, and helpful new designs are welcome. The shawl corsage for the evening is an ideal innovation for the stout. It consists of nothing more than a deep fichu of rich brocade and is worn with a skirt of lace or net. It is cut into a sharp point at the back and is crossed in front; the point falls over the belt with the ends tucked underneath. The tiny sleeve of chiffon is so hidden under the shawl that there might be none.

Cloaks will be particularly graceful this spring. Middle-age has learnt the value of the cape-shaped garment without sleeves, which is more becoming than the coat to a figure no longer youthful. Consequently there will be many capes of satin, charmeuse, and velvet with bands of moleskin and chinchilla, or simply adorned with huge fur collars. The painted Oriental materials used for spring millinery will be used for the linings of the cloaks. The lining of a cape is more important as a decoration than that of a coat, as it is more visible, and richer fabrics are often chosen for lining than those which form the right side of the wrap. Nearly every frock has its cloak to match, but younger women often prefer a loose sac coat with low shoulder and bell sleeves. It has outside seams stitched at the edge and a wide stitched hem.

Should a gown have a high or low neck? The question always arouses interest, and is once again being asked. Certainly an open-throated gown is prettier and more becoming, and although a high collar hides the signs of age, the open throat keeps the neck firm and youthful-looking for a far longer time. Some women compromise by swathing the veil in soft folds round the face under the chin. Others wear a narrow black velvet ribbon with a diamond or pearl slide, but this is a dangerous practice, for it marks the neck and is almost impossible to abandon after a time. If a high collar is worn, as it will be by thousands of well-dressed women this spring, it must be sufficiently loose, and yet at the same time it can only look smart under the treatment of a really good dressmaker. The open-throated blouse or corsage, on the other hand, can be successfully managed by almost anyone.

High-necked jumpers are the latest spring development. The upstanding collar is buttoned at the side, there is a roll-over edge, and most knitted jumpers have a knitted skirt to match. The amount of wool to be worn this spring in different forms seems unlimited. As a trimming for cloth and even for silk or satin, brushed wool is almost more popular than anything else; a black charmeuse gown may have a collar and cuffs of black and white wool, and a copper-colored velvet may be likewise treated with copper-colored brushed wool striped with grey.

Rouge Out of Favor.

Make-up is no longer in fashion. Although this is the season when fashionable women were always inclined to accentuate their rouge and powder in order to counterbalance the darkness of winter furs and heavy veils, a stroll down Bond Street will show not one woman with an obviously made-up face.

Even in rooms brilliantly lighted by artificial light the same absence of rouge is noted, and it was remarked at a charity dance held during the week at the house of a distinguished dramatist that scarcely one of the dancers was wearing the kind of complexion which can be bought in a box.

Among the guests was a well-known actress, looking supremely beautiful with her face quite innocent of make-up. Actresses, indeed, were among the first to adopt the new fashion of eschewing rouge.

A Bond Street beauty specialist confirmed the observation. "I sell very little rouge nowadays. Women don't need it now that they take more care of their complexions by keeping the skin clean with cream and protecting it with a dusting powder. They have a face powder blended to match their natural complexion, so that when used it is undetectable.

"Sports and motoring week-ends give them a natural bloom, whereas the tight-laced beauties of the past suffered through indigestion and lack of exercise, so that rouge was necessary to hide their sallowness." Apparently the one tinge of color permitted by fashion nowadays is that given by lip salve.

GOSPEL MEETINGS.

(Contributed.)

After nearly three weeks of special meetings the interest still deepens, but the time is short. Mr. Bentley expects to leave Peterboro early next week. If you have not yet attended these meetings come without delay. Last night's subject created not only interest, but concern. "A three-fold view of Lazarus," was its title. John 11:14 shows Lazarus to be physically dead. As a dead man he was incapable of response to anything that might be said or done. That is God's picture of the unsaved. They are dead in trespasses and in sin. Eph. 2:1, and so are incapable of enjoying or even of understanding the things of God. They "are alienated from the life of God through the ignorance that is in them." Lazarus was raised from the dead by the Word and power of the Son of God. God's power comes upon dead sinners through His word to-day, and they that hear shall live. Lazarus after being raised from the dead was bound by grave clothes. John 11:44. Bound hands, bound feet, bound face—no liberty to work, or walk or talk; alive but bound, with the trappings of the dead. Are you a real Christian, and your usefulness for Christ crippled because something clings to you that really belongs to the old condition. The mighty Savoiur's word is: "Loose him, and let him go." The last view of Lazarus is in John 12:1 and 2. He is now seen as risen, liberated, and in fellowship with Christ. "He sat at the table with him." To be "with Him,' means conscious communion—enjoyed companionship.

In conscious salvation I sing of His grace,
Who lifted upon me the light of His face.

Praise For St. Paul's Choir and Organist

Laudatory References from Church Session and Other Reports.

The annual reports of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church of this city for the year 1920 have just been printed in official form. From among the church reports the following complimentary references to the excellent musical services rendered by the choir, under the leadership of Mr. Frank Tattersall, the organist, appears:

"The Session wishes to express its appreciation of the self-sacrificing service of the members of the choir. The musical service of the church has maintained a high standard under the able leadership of the organist, Mr. Frank Tattersall. The music chosen and the manner in which it has been rendered have contributed in no small part to the helpfulness of the worship of St. Paul's Church."

The president of the choir, Mr. W. F. Nelson, in his annual report, says:

"I think we ought to congratulate ourselves as a congregation that we have such outstanding soprano singers for leaders as Mrs. R. Davidson and Mrs. Wells. Both are a great help to our choir. We have added to our ranks several younger singers, and they with the more seasoned members will keep up the high standard of choir singing that has been the object of the choir.

"Our organist, Mr. Tattersall, does not spare himself in his duties as director, and it speaks volumes for him to know that one, at least, out-of-town organist secures his interpretation of his musical numbers from our own Mr. Tattersall.

"Mr. Tattersall is gradually getting a programme ready to be given in the Easter season, at which time he hopes to add further laurels to the choir's already good reputation as a high-class organisation. I would like to point out that the choir can boast of being the most regular attenders at the church services, the percentage being very high."

BEST THINGS

Guard within yourself that treasure, kindness. Know how to give without hesittaion, how to lose without regret, how to acquire without meanness.

Most of us, when young, took stock in the saying that "everything comes to him who waits." Later in life we learned the valuable truth that the best things come only to him who does not wait. This is an age of active voice, present tense, first person. He who sits passive, expecting things to drift his way, is invariably disappointed with what he gets; for little but wreckage drifts.

Act energetically, intelligently, persistently, with your eyes fixed on your goal. When you reach it, you may be battered, disillusioned, alone—but success soon draws a crowd.—Ambition.

"TEARS."

This will be Mr. Bentley's subject on Friday night at the Gospel Hall. This will be the last week night service. On Sunday night he will say farewell.

CARPET BALL TOURNAMENT

The carpet ball tournament held by Lansdowne Lodge, S. O. E., was brought to a successful conclusion last Thursday evening, two very interesting and exciting games being played — Bro. P. Webb (skip) vs. Bro. R. Starr (skip), and Bro. A. Follis (skip) vs. Bro. P. Webb (skip). The result of these games had a very important bearing on the final standing of the rinks in the tournament, so that the games were keenly contested at every one of the ten ends. The results show the closeness of the games. Bro. Starr won the first game by 14-13, Bro. Follis the second game by 12-10.

The final result of the tournament is as follows:

	Won	Lost
B. Lemmon (skip)	7	3
F. Rathbone (skip)	6	4
C. Wood (skip)	5	5
P. Webb (skip)	4	6
R. Starr (skip)	4	6
A. Follis (skip)	4	6

The prizes for the tournament will be presented on Friday evening of this week.

The interest in the tournament has been maintained from the beginning and has proved a great drawing card for the Friday evening social gatherings, to which all Englishmen in the city are invited.

Another tournament will start this week, with the following teams as competing rinks:

G. Collis, R. Starr, W. Dowson, R. Suddards.

W. Gray, B. Lemmon, W. Swanger, G. Benton.

E. Gregson, P. Webb, H. Bromley, E. Pickford.

W. Shiner, F. Rathbone, J. Townsend, F. Vivash.

J. Smith, A. Follis, F. Eggleton, J. Bromley.

R. Stevens, C. Wood, F. Parsons, S. Ward.

It is expected that all the members in this tournament will be present on Friday night, if possible, it being understood that in the absence of any member of a team the skip may select another member to fill his place for that game.

The membership of the Lodge is steadily increasing. The financial position of the Lodge shows a marked improvement. The period of the war was a time of great strain upon the finances of all the Sons of England Lodges, the percentage of members enlisting being very great. In the majority of Lodges every eligible member enlisted; in some instances this took practically the entire membership of the Lodge, and in Lansdowne Lodge about 30 per cent. of the members enlisted. Now that the war is gradually passing into history, the society is once more resuming its steady growth, both in membership and funds. If you are an Englishman come and join us. We need you.

Last night, in the Business Men's Five-Pin League at the Water Street Alleys, the Lawn Bowlers took two out of the three games from the Post Office. For the Lawn Bowlers Curvin was high man with 681, Mayneord next with 541 and Freeman 540; for the Post Office Shaughnessy was high with 575, Fallon next with 494.

To-night the Grocers meet the Wm. Hamilton in the last game of the Business Men's League. After the game the draw for the two blind scores will take place, and the play-off will take place next week, when the names will be seen in the Examiner.

ST. KITT'S TEAM IN O.A.B.A. FINALS

STIFF OPPOSITION FOR PETERBORO FIVE IF LOCALS WIN OVER TORONTO CENTRALS.

A win by four points for the local Y.M.C.A. basketball team over Toronto Centrals here on Saturday night will send them into the finals of the Intermediate series of the O.A.B.A. with the fast St. Catharines team as opposition for championship honors. After St. Kitt's and Hamilton had played two games to decide a winner of the Western Ontario Group, a protest made a third game necessary. It was played at Niagara Falls last Saturday, St. Catharines winning in the last few minutes of play. The score was 21 to 18.

The Peterborough five were three points behind in the first game with Toronto Centrals. Their supporters are confident of a different score here. Most of the reserved seats have been taken.

BRANDON QUALIFY TO MEET VARSITY

WHEAT CITY TEAM ELIMINATE PORT ARTHUR AFTER A SOMEWHAT RAGGED GAME.

WINNIPEG, March 17.—Despite the fact that they did not uncover anything like the form that characterized their brilliant performance on Monday, the Brandon Allan Cup defenders again took the measure of the Port Arthur hockey team here last night 11 to 7 in the second and final game of the elimination series and enter the final stage of the Allan Cup play-off with a total count of 23 to 11 to their chedit. Never at any time did the teams play up to cup standard, the play being somewhat ragged in comparison to the sparkling display of Monday. The Lake Town boys showed to better advantage in their share of the play, but could not stop the rushes of the Wheat City team.

Weak goal-tending cost the Thunder Bay champions several goals in the first period and Brandon did not deserve a 4 to 1 lead, but the cup-holders showed better form in the second session and put the game on ice with a lead of 10 to 5. The last session was rather indifferent hockey with both sides playing below form and the Ports secured the odd goal in three. Wilson and Gray were the outstanding players for Port Arthur, while Armstrong again did the heavy end of the scoring for the winners.

Teams:

Port Arthur—Goal, Fisher; defence, L'Heureux and Wilson; centre Gray; wings, Pudas and Wellington; subs., Cox and Gagnon.

Brandon—Goal, Stewart; defence, McNeil and Moran; centre, Armstrong; wings, Arbour and Hill; subs., Traer and Caldwell.

ALLAN CUP CHALLENGERS ARE ON THEIR WAY WESTWARD

WILL REACH WINNIPEG TO-MORROW— NUMBER THIRTEEN.

COCHRANE, March 17.—Billy Dafoe's Allan Cup challengers came out of Tuesday night's game with McGill and their subsequent manhandling at the station by a crowd of enthusiastic supporters in the best of shape and spirits, and are all ready for Brandon. Except for a snow-ball fight at Englehart, during which New Wright slammed a wild throw at Jack Langtry and broke two windows in the T. and N. O. station, and the fact that George Westman made a five-heart bid at auction, the day passed without incident.

The party—that is the regular hockey party—now numbers thirteen This is a good sign. Last year the Falcons on their Olympic trip were thirteen in number, and they won the world's championship. Billy Hewitt, who was in charge of that party and who is in command of this, carries a little gold fob on his watch chain with the number 13 engraved on it, so that, on the surface at least, the signs are in Varsity's favor.

Trustee Northey on Trip.

Owing to the referendum campaign, Sheriff Paxton was unable to make the trip. He had to remain at home to revise the voters' list in the company of an unsympathetic judge. Mr. W. Norhey of Montreal, one of the trustees of the Allan Cup joined the party at the station, together with President Copeland, of the O.H.A.

At Cobalt a visit was received from Angus Campbell, president of the N.O.H. A. and a former member of a champion Varsity hockey team He congratulated Varsity on their victory over the "Soo", and wished them success in their Western Games. He accompanied the party as far as Englehart. So far as his own league is concerned, he stated that the trouble there has been traced to the bottom and will be finally adjusted on Saturday, when a meeting of the league is to be held at North Bay He intimated that two players will be barred from amateur hockey for life at this meeting.

Noble Picks Varsity

Jack Hughes, of Winnipeg, will not be one of the referees, as was stated. Hughes, who played with the Winnipegs this season, accompanied that team on its recent tour of the States, and is now in New York, according to Bill Noble, manager of the Winnipegs, who is returning to the 'Peg on this train, Noble, whose team was put out of the Manitoba League running by Brandon this season, saw last Tuesday's game at the Arena, and he gives it as his opinion that Varsity will bring back the Allan Cup, and believes they will win from the defenders by a fair margin in the first game.

Everybody Interested.

Keen interest is apparently taken in the series even in the more isolated towns and villages along the line, as at every stop word of the coming of the team had been made known together with the score of Tuesday night's game. The weather up here is old, with enough snow for sleighing. Travellers returning from the West, when questioned at junction points, state that the weather in Winnipeg is hovering around the zero mark. The team is due to reach Winnipeg at 6 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. While there they will stay at the Fort Garry Hotel.

PROFESSIONAL PLAYERS COMING FROM SCOTLAND

WINNIPEG, March 17.—Definite word was reached here that a team of professional soccer players from Scotland, composed of the best available talent from the Scottish Football Association, will sail May 11 for an extensive tour of Canada and the United Staes. Many internationally known players will be included in the visiting line-up.

SCOTTISH SOCCER TEAM.

NEW YORK, March 17.—An extensive schedule is being arranged in the United States for the professional team of Scottish soccer players, who will start for Canada May 11, it was said here. Several prominent club teams in the United States are on the tentative schedule, which will be announced shortly by the American Football Association.

DUFRESNE GETS HIS AMATEUR CARD

Quebec Registration Committee Agrees and Court Proceedings Stopped.

MONTREAL, March 17. — The celebrated Dufresne case ended yesterday afternoon with the petitioner desisting from the mandamus proceedings he instituted last week seeking to compel the Registration Committee of the Quebec Branch of the Amateur Hockey Association to grant him an amateur card, and the petition was accordingly dismissed with costs.

The Registration Committee, after two hours' pourparlies with Dufresne and his Boston friends, agreed to grant Dufresne his amateur card on a promise that he will continue to guard his amateur status by a careful observance of the rules of amateur sport.

Dufresne stated that he was willing to recognize that the committee was within a fair decision in its refusal of his card, as the evidence appeared against him, on March 5, but he insisted that the further evidence he had now produced was convincing proof that he had not at any time sacrificed his amateur status.

The committee, after considerable argument, agreed to concede this.

AKRON BASEBALL CLUB TO TAKE OUT INJUNCTION

AKRON, O., March 17.— J. D. Thomas, president of the Akron Exhibition Company, last night announced he would file suit for an injunction restraining the International Baseball League from selling the Akron franchise.

Thomas' announcement followed Commissioner Landis' ruling that the controversy between Akron stockholders and the league regarding the sale of the franchise should be settled by the league.

COST OVER MILLION TO ADMINISTER TAX

OTTAWA, March 16.—The cost of administrating the Business Prof its Tax Act and the Income Tax Act durinug the fiscal year 1920, was $1,051,537. A total of 786 employees were engaged in the administration of these acts.

EXECUTIVE HELD BUSINESS MEETING

ANOTHER MEETING OF POLITICAL PARTY SCHEDULED IN JUNE.

A meeting of the Executive committee of the Liberal-Conservative Association of West Peterborough was held last evening, when the circumstances of the late by-election were discussed, and it was decided to call the old Liberal-Conservative party together at a general meeting to take place probably early in June, to enable the party to decide whether it intends to remain in the Liberal-Conservative party or intends to give up that name and throw in its lot with the National Liberal and Conservative party. It is felt that otherwise there is certain to be another clash at the next election and another defeat.

It was also decided at last night's meeting to write to the Prime Minister, stating the difficulty between the new and the old party here, and ask him to state what relation the new party, of which he is the leader, bears to the old Conservative party, in order that the meeting to be called in June may have full information to act upon. That meeting will have full power to transact any and all business brought before it on behalf of the Liberal-Conservative party.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

AT THE ALLEN.

CONSTANCE TALMADGE

There are few stars whose life story is as well known as is that of Constance Talmadge so great is the popular interest in this dainty commedienne, and yet, she never appears at the Allen. Theatre without the management being besieged for additional information on the part of new patrons. Therefore to satisfy this laudable interest in an authoritative way there is here presented some authentic facts.

Miss Talmadge has golden hair and brown eyes. Her height is 5 feet, 5 inches. Her weight is 120 pounds. She was born in Brooklyn N.Y., April 19th, 1900 and educated at Erasmus Hall. Her first engagement was with the Vitagraph where her adaptability for the screen was early recognized. Her first appearance in a great picture was with the Triangle in "Intolerance". Later she made a distinct hit in the Selznick production of "Scandal" and the "Honeymoon." Then followed engagements with Select in "Up the Road With Sally" "A Pair of Blue Stockings," "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots", "Sauce for the Goose", and "Romance and Arabella."

But her best work has been pronounced by the critics to have been done for the Associated First National Pictures, Inc., where her clever playing in "A Temperamental Wife," "The Love Expert", "The Virtuous Vamp", "Two Weeks," "The Perfect Woman," "Good References", and in her latest screen offering "Dangerous Business" has won her an assured place in the affections of the patrons of the silver sheet.

In many respects she occupies a unique position among the leading actresses of the screen and he practically stands in a class of her own. At the Allen commencing to-day.

AT THE EMPIRE.

UNUSUAL SCENES FOR EARLE WILLIAMS

"The Purple Cipher" Film of Suspense and Mystery.

It is rather trying to sit up with a friend who is to be murdered at midnight, according to a threatening letter received from a gang of blackmailing assassins, but the situation gives wonderful opportunities to an actor with unusual powers of expression when the scene occurs in motion picture play. Such is the case with "The Purple Cipher," a mystery story by Will F. Jenkins, put into pictures by Vitagraph. It will be shown at the Empire theatre to-day with Earle Williams as the star.

The appointed hour of death passed with no attempt upon Alan Fitzhugh's life. With sighs of relief, Fitzhugh and his friend, Leonard Staunton ,arose and made their separate ways homeward. But their watches had been a half hour fast. Staunton had not gone far when he was recalled to the club by the sound of a shot, and learned that Fitzhugh had been murdered.

Tense situations abound in "The Purple Cipher," throughout, until the sudden rising of a submarine to the dark surface of the sea outside of New York harbor brings a surprising solution of the mystery.

DENIES WAGES EMBARRASSING

OTTAWA, March 17.—(Canadian Press.)—"Untrue and absolutely absurd' are some of the emphatic terms used in a lengthy statement issued br A. R. Mosher, President of the Canadian Brotherhod of Railway Employees, in reply to assertions made recently that the embarrassing financial position of several railroads, notably of Canadian Government railways, is due to the increased wages paid railroad employees.

Mr. Mosher cited figures with a view to showing that the average wage paid railway employees in Canada is low. He further emphasized that for the years previous to the war the wages paid railroad employees was notoriously low. As one step towards the solution of the railway problem, Mr. Mosher reiterated the Brotherhood's request that employees be given a directing voice in the conduct of railway operation.

STORY OF THE WILLOW PATTERN.

A wealthy mandarin, a widower with one lovely daughter, lived in the house on the right side of the picture. This mandarin engaged a poor, but educated young man to audit his acounts, but by the time the work was done, the latter had of course fallen in love with the daughter. With the assistance of an old servant, the lovers met secretly, but the father discovered the meetings. He threatened the boy with death, building a high wall around them at the water's edge to prevent access to his home. He built a suite of apartments jutting over the river, which flowed past his house and there imprisoned his daughter with an old crone instead of the faithful servant. At the same time, he bethrothed her to a wealthy titled old man and announced to her that the wedding would take place when the peach tree bloomed.

But one day, a little boat made from a cocoanut shell floated down the river under her window. She found a message from her banished lover in it, but no more news had come when weeks after she received a box of rare jewels, the betrothal gift of the duke. But as she feasted with her father and the duke next day, a poor man asking for alms came to them, and unnoticed slipped into her apartments and when she came begged her to fly with him. She reached the bridge in their flight before the mandarin discovered them and started in pursuit with a whip. They found refuge in the gardener's cottage with the faithful servant and while soldiers searched the place, escaped down the river to a beautiful island, where they lived happily and Chang write a book on agriculture, which, although it brought him fame, revealed his hiding place to the duke, who was still hunting for his jewels. Soldiers came to arrest Chang and killed him, seeing which, his beautiful wife rushed into the house, set it on fire and perished in the flames.

The gods cursed the duke, says the story, and caused him to die a horrible death, but the lovers, they turned into immortal doves, emblems of the constancy, which kept them through life.

ENDORSES ACTION OF THE EXECUTIVE

MR. BURNHAM'S VIEWS OF THE EXECUTIVE MEETING.

In reply to The Examiner, Mr. J. H. Burnham ex-M.P. said, that without wishing to speak for anybody else, he could say that, in his opinion, the action of the Executive Committee last night was absolutely the proper one.

"We will now do here what ought to have been done on a Dominion-wide scale at a General Convention at Ottawa. It might as well be recognized first as last that Conservatives are not a lot of sheep, to be driven without their consent. The wiping-out of the great Conservative party by a few Liberals at Ottawa, with no backing in the country, is a bit thick If it were not disastrous in its consequences, the whole thing would be a very comic proceding. Some day Hon. J. A. Calder may take it into his head to hand the whole Government party over to the party of the West, whose principles he still advocates. The National Policy at present is like an aged patient in the hands of friends with expectations."

ONE HUNDRED PER CENT. VALUE FOR MEN

PRIMEAU'S CLOTHING AND HABERDASHERY FOR EASTER OFFER STYLE, DISTINCTION AND QUALITY UNEXCELLED.

Jack Primeau's store on Hunter Street, the local home of Fashion Craft's last word in gent's modish super-quality clothing and furnishings, now presents to the visitor a refreshing atmosphere in its interior's new decoration scheme and modern haberdashery cabinets. Today, by the expenditure of considerable money, a system of display for shirts, gloves, ties, collars, hats, caps, and all smallwear affected by the up-to-date man, has been here introduced, which conserves floor space and permits of that carrying of larger stock rendered imperative by Fashion Craft's ever-growing business. Everything is protected from dust—for dust there will be, no matter how scrupulously clean a store is kept—and, enclosed in air-tight, oak-finished, glass-faced drawers and receptacles, stylish haberdashery in all its pristine, unsoiled goodness arrests and holds even the most wandering eye. By this means the forgetful man is reminded at a glance of exactly what he wants, and with Easter close at hand, these days the well-dressed gent will want at least a selection from one or two lines of Fashion Craft's dependable merchandise he sees so readily and invitingly displayed by Jack Primeau.

Prompt and efficient service is enhanced by the many changes effected recently in this modern exclusively man's clothing emporium, a veritable replica of a Fifth Avenue, New York, retail home of grade number one spring suits, coats, headwear and furnishings, both as to convenience, correct style, unexcelled material and skilled workmanship, while the prices offer one hundred per cent. value now as always. The particular man who wishes to dress up for spring can do so distinctively by selecting his needs from the latest seasonable garment creations now on display at Jack Primeau's, 140 Hunter Street, west of the new bridge.

Hairs Will Vanish After This Treatment

(Toilet Helps.)

You can keep your arms, neck or face free from hair or fuzz by the occasional use of plain delatone and in using it you need have no fear of marring or injuring the skin. A thick paste is made by mixing some of the powdered delatone with water. Then spread on the hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and all traces of hair have vanished. Be careful, however, to get real delatone.

COUNCIL SHOULD OBTAIN TENDERS

JOHN EDGAR SAYS RESOLUTION WAS PASSED IN 1918 ADOPTING THIS PLAN.

A resolution in the Finance Committee's report passed at the regular meeting of the City Council in March, 1918, explicitly subscribed to the principle of the purchase by tender of all supplies required by the civic departmentes. This is ex-Alderman John Edgar's recollection, and in conversation with the Examiner he stated that the Council, in buying the $5,200 motor oil and flushing truck, apparently forgot the regulation adopted only a few years ago. The motion was made by Mr. Edgar in committee and seconded by ex-Alderman Joseph Saunders, instructing the department chairman to obtain tenders upon goods to be bought by the city and to report to the Council. One of the first economies resulting from this rule was reported by ex-Alderman Dobbin, then chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, Mr. Edgar related. Chemicals for the alarm system's batteries were needed, and the first price quoted was $5 a gallon; the next was about half that figure, and finally a quantity was bought at approximately a dollar. On that occasion Mr. Dobbin informed Mr. Edgar of the saving that had been made by getting tenders. The former chairman of the Railway Committee suggested that the decision of the Council of 1918 should be good enough for the incumbents whose procedure in the $5,200 truck purchase has been criticized.

BISHOP FALLON ATTAGKS THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT

LONDON, Ont., March 17.—(Special to The Examiner.)—"The age of justice is dead. The world is going mad through its sufferings. The sins of crime and brutality of the so-called government in Ireland have caused Britain to lose her self-respect throughout the world," declared Bishop M. F. Fallon to the parishioners of St. Peter's Cathedral at a special St. Patrick's Day mass this morning.

Continuing, the Bishop, who not long ago returned from a visit to Ireland, said that British rule in the Emerald Isle could not be surpassed for blackguardism. He classed the sufferings of the Irish with the persecutions endured in the reign of Marie Antoinette of France. Ireland, he said, was the Christ among the nations. She had never done wrong to any people, yet she seemed to be "destined to be nailed to the wall." There is not a single nation, said the Bishop, which has a well founded grievance against Ireland.

"The murder under the name of law and the crime under the protection of so-called order that is going on in Ireland to-day is something that every decent man in the world ought to resist," said the Bishop. "I declare to you that any known brutality and degradation of the people I know of none that will surpass the brutality and blackguardism of British rule in Ireland to-day. I say to you that the age of justice is dead in spite of all the talk during the last six or seven years about the fight for liberty."

WOULD REDUCE LABORERS' WAGES

OTTAWA ALDERMAN GIVES NOTICE OF PROPOSED CUT FROM 58 TO 40 CENTS AN HOUR.

OTTAWA, March 16.—That the wages of common laborers in the waterworks department of Ottawa shall be set at 40 cents an hour, starting May first, is a notice of motion introduced by Ald. White in Council for subsequent notification of such reduction to the Commissioner of Works. Present wages in this department are 58 cents per hour.

Controller Cameron strongly opposes any such reduction and declares that no general downward movement in salaries is apparent.

REVIVAL — CHURCH OF GOD MISSION.

From the text: "Seek ye the Lord while he may be found," Isa. 55:6, Evangelist Campbell addressed his audience at the mission last night; splendid interest prevailed and three persons professed conversion to Christ.

"To find Christ," said Mr. Campbell, "is the important thing, and here is where many fail. They may have heard of Him; they may be friendly to His cause; they may get under conviction, but this is not enough. No person should be satisfied until he knows in his heart that he has really found Him—and he may be found—the very language used by Isaiah implies this."

Mr. Campbell also called attention to the inference in the text that there may come a time to the man who refuses to listen to the wooings of God's spirit, when it will not be possible to find God. He cited several cases in proof of this.

"A shell without a kernel," is to be the subject of to-night's discourse at the corner of Hunter and George Streets, over the Royal Bank. Time of meeting 7:45. Everybody welcome.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, March 17.—(Canadian Press.)—A mixture of buying and clearing orders created considerable confusion at the opening of to-day's stock market. Oils were strong, particularly General Asphalt and California Petroleum which soon rose 1 1-2 points. Equipment, Food, Textile and Motor Specialties also were inclined to improve, but the list reacted abruptly when Atlantic Gulf displayed fresh unsettlement. That stock opened at a large fractional advance but extensive offerings soon caused a reaction of almost four points to a new low of 30 3-4. United Fruit and Investment and Secondary Rails also eased, but Local Utilities continued to strengthen.

The weakness of Atlantic Gulf, which extended its decline to 30 1-8, occasioned an outburst of selling in all directions. Losses of one to five points were sustained during the reaction by other shippings as well as by steels, equipments, oils, motors, tobaccos and obscure specialties. Foremost among weaker issues were United Fruit, Republic and Vanadium Steels, Mexican Petroleum, Baldwin Locomotive, American Tobacco, Retail Stores, Goodrich and Columbia Graphaphone Preferred. Investment Rails forfeited 1 to 1½ points, and New Haven led a similar break among the cheaper transportations. Before noon there was a moderate rally on the buying of General Asphalt and Studebaker. Call money opened at 7 per cent.

Aside from Atlantic Gulf Preferred which reflected the acute weakness of Common, stocks extended their rally after midday. General Asphalt was the chief feature, rising 3½ points. Crucible and Lackawanna Steels and Chandler, Studebaker and Pierce Arrow Motors rose one to two points.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange firm, demand 3.90. Canadian dollars 12 3-4 per cent. discount.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, March 17.— Cattle receipts light, trade brisk. Heavy beef steers, $10 to $11. Butcher steers, choice, $9 to $10. Butcher cows, medium, $5 to $7.50. Calves, $15 to $16.50. Lambs, $13 to $14. Hogs, fed and watered, selects, $15.25.

TORONTO

TORONTO, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—Only slight changes in the prices of active stocks took place in the dull trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, fractional gains and losses being equally distributed. Trades in for the first time in some weeks one share of Ford Motor changed hands at 230, this representing a gain of about twenty dollars, a share since the last sale was made on the Toronto Exchnge. F. N. Burt opened at 105, falling one point before the noon close while Brazilian was also slightly weaker. Fractional gains were made by Abitibi and Dominion Steel Corporation.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—Wheat traders quite generally assumed a waiting attitude to-day pending on the development of fresh export business or of definite advices of crop damage. Misgivings in regard to the industrial outlook tended to check bullish sentiment. On the other hand, fair buying power showed itself on any set back in prices. Opening quotations which varied from unchanged figures to 3-4 cents lower were followed by upturns that in some cases went well above opening 1-8 cent off to a shade advance, the market sagged a trifle and then scored slight gains.

Oats hardened a little in the absence of any selling pressure starting a shade to 1-4 to 3-8 of a cent higher and keeping a about the initial range.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—The stock market closed as it opened without anything important occurring. Atlantic Sugar did not put in an appearance until late in the morning and then remained unchanged at 30 3-4. Brazilian closed fractionally weaker at 33 and Brompton closed at 36 3-8 Dominion Steel and Laurentide were quiet at 40 and 86 respectively. Several of the regular leaders did not appear all morning.

WEDDING BELLS

FOWLIE—MULDREW.

The marriage took place yesterday at 2.30 at Knox Church Manse, Rev. J. A. McKenzie officiating, of Miss Hannah Muldrew and Mr. Henry Drummond Fowlie, both of Peterborough. The happy couple left on the 3.20 train for Toronto, and on their return, will reside in Peterborough.

MARTIN—THOMPSON.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Andrew's manse by Rev. Jas. Rollins on March 14th, when Frances, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thompson, 165 Stewart street, became the bride of Mr. L. Martin, of Toronto. The bride was attended by Miss Edith Holden, city, while Mr. James Cromer of Toronto, supported the the groom. After a reception at the home of the bride's parents, the happy couple left amid showers of rice and confetti on the 3.20 C.P.R. train for their home in Toronto.

NORTHEY—BULMER.

A very pretty double wedding took place last evening, March 16th, at 7 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bulmer, of Smith Township, parents of the brides, when the marriage of Miss Ade Euphemia Bulmer to Mr. Wm. Graydon Northey, and of Miss Theressa Victoria Bulmer to Mr. Elmer Whitfield Northey, took place. The grooms are brothers, and are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. John Northey, of Smith Township, where the young people will reside. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Jas. Rollins, and two little sisters of the brides acted as flower-girls. After the ceremony, a dainty repast was served. The young couples have the best wishes of a host of friends and relatives.

LIBBY—ZEALAND.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Zealand, 300 Maitland avenue, was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday afternoon at 2.30, when their daughter, Verna Elfleda, was united in marriage to Mr. Martin Libby, of Oshawa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Libby, 477 Parnell street. Rev. F. E. Malott, of Trinity church, performed the ceremony, and the bride was given away by her father. The bride, beautifully gowned in navy charmeuse satin, with gold brocade, with bouquet of pink sweetheart roses, was attended by Miss Willa Pethick, in amethyst satin draped with black, the groomsman being Mr. Clarence M. Zealand, the bride's brother. Miss Verna Zealand, of Port Hope, a cousin, played Mendelssohn's wedding march. The house was charmingly decorated with yellow daffodils and ferns, and, at the close of the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served to the numerous guests, after which the happy couple left on the afternoon train for a short honeymoon. They will reside in Oshawa, where the groom is in business. The bride's travelling costume was of navy English serge with hat to match and beaver furs. The groom's gift to the bride was a pendant with diamond setting, to the bridesmaid a pendant set with rubies and pearls and to the pianiste a handsome silk hand-bag. Numerous costly gifts from relatives, the choir of Trinity church and the different societies of which Miss Zealand was a member, testify to the popularity of the young couple.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. H. Zealand, Miss Verna Zealand and Mr. Stanley Zealand, of Port Hope, Mr. J. H. Zealand of Campbellcroft, Mr .and Mrs. Mitchell Zealand of Newtonville, Mrs. Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Brown Zealand of Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Millerand Miss Lena Armstrong, of Oshawa, Mr. Elmer Armstrong of Janetville, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell of Victoria Harbor, and Miss Myrtle McLaren, of Norwood.

GERMAN-MADE AIRPLANE IS SENT CANADA

ARE LAID DOWN HERE WHILE BRITISH FACTORIES FORCED TO CLOSE, SAYS COL. STEDMAN.

ESTABLISH OWN INDUSTRY

OTTAWA, March 18.—(Canadian Press.)— That German-made mercantile airplanes are being laid down in Canada, while British manufacturers are being forced to close their factories owing to lack of support, was the amazing statement made last night in Victoria Museum by Col. E. W. Stedman, chief technical airboard officer, in a lecture under the auspices of the Canadian Engineering Institute. He showed several pictures of machines, stating that Canada was specially adapted for such a machine.

Urging the establishment of the aircraft industry here, Col. Stedman said very little experimental work along these lines is being carried out in England, while in Germany they are spending money on research work and producing goods.

EASTER STYLES SHOWN AT M. FINE'S

The display of new Spring merchandise at M. Fine's Ladies' and Gentlemen's Furnishing Store, 427 George Street, is refreshing to the eye. The selections of Spring and Summer costumes show various new models in Suits, Coats, Silk Dresses and Skirts and present a fascinating attraction to the ladies.

Lovely new Blouses, very smart and pleasing, and in shades and materials that are pretty harbingers of Spring.

Shoppers will find many of these modish styles the very thing they may need for Easter. Prices are surprisingly low, judging the swell designs and creations, samples of which are displayed in the south window. See them.

Well-dressed men wishing to be fashionably attired for the Easter parade with not very much expense should see Mr. Fine's Spring styles of Suits and natty Furnishings.

WOUNDED BY BOMB BURGLAR CAUGHT.

Ha Shot a Policeman and was Later Besieged in Irish House.

BELFAST, March 18. — Considerable excitement occurred yesterday when Constable Boyd was shot by a burglar named Gordon at Newtownards, County Downs. The constable at the time of the shooting was endeavoring to arrest Gordon.

Gordon barricaded himself in a room and used two revolvers he had in his possession to ward off a besieging force of constables and special officers who surrounded the house where he had taken refuge.

The town meanwhile was in an uproar. Finally a bomb was thrown by the besiegers but no damage was done. Later another bomb was then thrown and Gordon was injured in the explosion and surrendered.

ORANGE LODGE SESSION ENDS

PETERBORO MADE BID FOR NEXT ANNUAL MEETING BUT DECISION WENT TO SMITH'S FALLS.

OFFICERS ELECTED

LINDSAY, March 18.—(Canadian Press).—Grand Orange Lodge of Eastern Ontario concluded its session last night following the election of officers, namely, Grand Master, J. W. Edwards, M.P., Cataraqui; Deputy Grand Master, C. A. Lounton, Aultville; Junior Deputy Grand Master, H. A. Graham, Kingston; Grand Chaplain, Rev. J. Puttenham, Foxboro; Grand Treasurer, W. C. Reid, Belleville; Grand Secretary, F .M. Clark, Belleville; Grand Auditors, W. H. Birtch, Richmond; E. Armstrong, Ottawa.

Smith's Falls, Peterborough, Napanee, Picton and Belleville made a strong bid for the next annual meeting, the decision going to Smith's Falls.

350TH WOMEN'S ORANGE LODGE HAS BEEN OPENED

GRAND MISTRESSES OF ONTARIO URGE LINDSAY TO FOLLOW SUIT

LINDSAY, March 18.—The three hundred and fiftieth Women's Orange Lodge has recently been opened, declared Mrs. W. J. Kessock, Right Wor. Grand Mistress of Ontario West, at a crowded public meeting in the Academy under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of Ontario East in session here. "Lindsay should keep up to the times in this regard," she added. Sister Buress, Wor. Grand Mistress of Ontario West, also endorsed this sentiment.

DETROIT CHEF SAYS HE PUNISHED WIFE FOR POOR COOKING.

DETROIT, Mich., March 18.—Charles Snyder, a high salaried chef employed in a large down town hotel, when brought into court yesterday on a charge of beating his wife, admitted punishing the woman, but declared it was because she had served him meals unfit to eat. "I have been a chef for eighteen years, and have been married for seventeen years, and in all that time my wife has not learned how to prepare a meal," Synder told the court.

"After cooking all day, I have to come home and get the meals ready for our seven children, and I think she needed to be taught something even if it was not cooking." The court agreed that the chef might be right, and released him.

CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYEES ARE NOW FEDERATED

POSTAL EMPLOYEES' ORGANIZATIONS COMBINE AND COMPLETE THEIR ORGANIZATION.

ABOUT 4,000 MEMBERS

OTTAWA, March 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Official organization of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employees, now the Civil Service Association, took place yesterday. The Federation will have some four thousand members composed of letter carriers and postal clerks, and is a combination of the Dominion Postal Clerks' Association and the Federal Association of Letter Carriers. Neither, however, will lose its identity or autonomy. W. J. Cantwell, of the former body, is president, and J. E. Archer, Hamilton, of the Letter Carriers, was elected secretary-treasurer.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, March 18.—(Canadian Press.)—The trend of prices at the active opening of to-day's stock market was again downward. Rails, Oils and Tobaccos showed initial losses extending from large fractions to a point. Pennsylvania made a new low for a long period of years at 35. Tobaccos were the weakest of the Specialties, falliug one to 2 1-4 points. Studebaker, American Woolen and Beet Sugar also averaged a one point decline. The reaction assumed wider dimensions within the first half hour. Mexican Petroleum, Royal Dutch and high-class Rails, especially Trans-Continental, easing one to two points.

Oils, Tobaccos and Rails continued to lose ground during the morning. Motors and Coppers also sagging. The declines ranged from one to 3 1-2 points in Mexican Petroleum, General Asphalt, Crucible, Vanadium, Tobacco Products, American Tobacco and Retail Stores. A loss of 2 1-4 points by Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific, Reading, New York Central, St. Paul Common and Preferred, Chesapeake, and Ohio and Baltimore and Ohio forfeited one to 1 1-2 points. The new features of comparative strength comprised Atlantic Gulf, Hide and Leather Preferred, Endicott Johnson and Pierce Arrow.

Call money renewed into next week at seven per cent.

Substantial rallies occurred during mid-session under the lead of Atlantic Gulf which rose four points General Asphalt, American Sugar and some of the Motors and Steels alsosntr henteged,pdri Steels also strengthened, the latter however, making only fractional recoveries. The specialties displayed further weakness, Columbia Graphophone preferred adding seven points to yesterday's severe losses.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, March 18.—(Canadian Press.)— Sterling Exchange steady; Demand 3.90 7-8. Canadian Dollars 12 11-16 per cent. discount.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, March 18.—(Canadian Press.)— Nothing of interest developed during this morning's session on the local Exchange. Atlantic Sugar closed at 32. Brompton remained unchanged throughout the morning at 36 as did also Laurentide and Riordon at 86 1-2 and 118 respectively. National Breweries closed considerably below its opening quotations at 36 1-4.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, March 18.— (Canadian Press.)—Transactions on the Toronto Exchange this morning were down to the smallest proportions for many weeks, traders again showing a tendency to "mark time" in view of the irregularity prevailing on the larger markets. Price changes this morning were insignificant and were mainly uward. Atlantic Suagr gained a point at 31 1-2 while Abitibi and Brazilian were fracionally higher at 44 and 33 1-4 respectively. C.P.R. met with a bad reversal, declining 1 3-4 points to 129 1-2 after a weak opening. Slight declines were also made by Steel Corporation and General Electric.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 18.—(Canadian Press.)—Reported crop damage by green bugs in Kansas had a noticeable, though transient, bullish influence to-day on the wheat market there.

by New York interests were said have to led the buying. Commission houses became active sellers on the advance, however, and the market underwent a decided re-action. Opening prices, which ranged from ¼ cent off to ½ cent advance, were followed by a slight general sag and then by a rise to well above yesterday's finish, with a subsequent decline lower than before.

Corn reflected the changes in wheat. After opening 3-8 cents lower to a shade advance, the market held within a narrow range. Oats were governed by the action of other cereals starting unchanged to ¼ cent higher and later, weakening somewhat. Export demand for lard strengthened provisions, and so too did the upturn in the price of hogs.

Roman Catholic, Toronto, who declared to-day that the Separate school should share in the school taxes paid by the Canadian National Railways.

Pussyfoot Might Yet Not Speak

MAY HAVE A DRILL

WINDSOR, March 18.—(Canadian Press).—Following a brief but heated interview between Hughson Johnston, of the local Referendum Committee, and General Panet, commanding military district No. 1, plans in connection with the proposed "Pussyfoot" Johnson meeting in the Armouries may be changed.

The General stated that it might be necessary to hold a drill in the building on the date set, and the Armouries would not be available for the gathering. On learning that it was not probable that drills would be held on two succeeding evenings, Mr. Johnston stated that the committee could easily change the date of the meeting. Another point raised by the General was the possibility of trouble if the noted "dry" orator spoke, but Mr. Johnston stated that he did not think the committee should be intimidated by a lawless element. Meantime the Referendum Committee are going ahead with plans for the meeting.

MINISTER OF RAILWAYS DENIES RECENT RUMORS REGARDING SHAKE-UP.

TORONTO, March 18.—(Canadian Press).—Hon Dr. Reid, who is here to-day on private business declared emphatically that there has been no discussion of changes in the management of the Canadian National Railways as frequently rumored, here ws absolutely nothing in the report that such changes were contemplated, said the minister. Dr. Reid called on President Hanna of th eC.N.R. and merely "Shook hands", so the doctor said.

CARRIED BIG CARGO OF NOISE-MAKERS.

BOSTON, March 18. — With the biggest shipment of Chinese fireworks received at this port in many years aboard, the British steamship ship Romeo is berthed here under special fire protection until the rockets, crackers and star shells are all taken off. There are 5,000 packages of fireworks on board.

CATHOLICS ASK SHARE RAILWAY SCHOOL TAXES

FOR SEPARATE SCHOOLS

TORONTO, March 18.—(Special to The Examiner.)— "The National Railways of Canada are owned now by the people of Canada and it will create a national disturbance in Canada if Catholics do not get a share of the school taxes paid by these railways." His Grace, Archbishop McNeil, thus spoke to a reporter in the course of an interview at His Grace's residence, Wellesley Palace, this morning.

The reporter had asked the Archbishop if he was prepared to make an announcement as to the object of the recent conference between Hon. R. H. Grant, Minister of Education, and the Catholic Bishops of Ontario in reference to the Separate school situation in Ontario, in regard to which complaint was recently made by a lay deputation that appeared before the Minister. They had pointed out that Separate schools had to provide an education for many children of Protestants who were forced by the present law to pay Public school taxes and that there was no apportionment of corporation taxes as between the two systems of schools in this province.

His Grace would not discuss the subjects brought to the attention of the Minister by the Bishops, but added: "This is not a clerical movement. The Catholic people are solidly behind Separate schools. We go there expressing the wishes and views of the Catholic people."

BUGGY BROKE THROUGH ICE ON CAMERON LAKE

WILLIAM AUSTIN HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING.

FENELON FALLS, March 18. — Mr. William Austin had a narrow escape from drowning when the buggy in which he and Mr. Millen Quigg were driving across Cameron Lake broke through the ice. Quigg managed to struggle out of the water on to firm ice, but he experienced considerable difficulty in assisting to safety Austin, who was wearing a weighty overcoat. The horse was drowned, and the vehicle only extricated from the lake after much exertion by the two men.

MORE PRIVACY FOR WOMEN IN STATION CELLS.

Urged By Police Chief Kidd of Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, March 18. — Chief of Police A. Kidd is suggesting improvements to the cells at the police station in view of the many women against whom charges are preferred these days. The present cells are used for both sex and women prisoners are exposed to the view of all who enter the station, their doors being lattice design. Consequently Chief Kidd recommends that separate and more private quarters for female prisoners be provided.

British Coalition Faces a Political Crisis, Says Times

LONDON PAPERS ALL AGREE THAT COALITION HAS BEEN WEAKENED BY RETIREMENT OF BONAR LAW.

CHAMBERLAIN SUCCEED?

LONDON, March 18.—(Canadian Press).—A political crisis of the first magnitude has been created by the retirement of Andrew Bonar Law from the British Cabinet, it is declared by The London Times. Other newspapers, while less emphatic, agree in saying that Bonar Law's resignation is certain to have a considerable political effect and that it probably will materially weaken the Coalition Government. Austen Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Robert Horne, President of the Board of Trade, and Sir Edward Carson are given most prominent mention as being probable successors to Bonar Law.

Mr. Chamberlain, who is reported not to be in robust health, would presumably be appointed Government Leader in the House of Commons in addition to the position of Lord Privy Seal, and in that case, might find it impossible to continue to hold the chancellorship. People close to the Premier indicated that Sir Robert Horne might succeed Mr. Chamberlain as Chancellor. Sir Edward Carson is said to be disinclined to assume the Government leadership in the Commons. Suggestions have come from some quarters that Lloyd George himself take command of the Unionist Party which constitutes the bulk of his forces in Parliament. The London Times remarks regarding this feature of the situation that the Unionists as a whole, while willing to make every use of him, are most jealous of his power.

"PUSSYFOOT" JOHNSON
United States prohibitionist who lost an eye in England during a "dry" campaign recently, and whose proposed visit to Windsor in connection with the referendum campaign still is in doubt as the military have again raised obstacles to the use of the Armouries by the prohibitionists.

PAID FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS FOR MURDER

CHICAGO, March 18.—Five hundred dollars was the price paid for the killing of Paul Labriola and Harry Raymond, two victims of the 19th ward feud, police announced they had been told by persons who overheard a conversation held with two men arrested as suspects. The two men, Frank Gambino and Sam Amatima, were positively identified by eye-witnesses of the shooting of Labriola, police announced, one witness saying Gambino was the man who fired three more bullets into Labriola's body after the first shots had struck him down.

Amatima did not fire any shots, police said the witness told them, but he "stood passive at Gambino's side as the latter was making sure of the job."

OSHAWA MAN FINED $600 AND 30 DAYS JAIL

MARKED FIVE DOLLAR BILL LEADS TO FOREIGNER'S CONVICTION UNDER O.T.A.

OSHAWA, March 18. — A six hundred dollar fine and 30 days in jail, is the penalty imposed on Kyrylo Wozuk, a foreigner living here, for selling liquor. A marked five dollar bill tendered by one of the defendant's supposed 'customers proved Wozuk's undoing. In the police court Sergeant Paxton testified that he had been informed that a man would pay for liquor in the defendant's house with a marked bill, and on searching the premises he found the bottle of spirits produced in the court; also a five dollar Standard Bank note, the numbers of which coresponded with those sent him by his informant.

CHOIR GAVE A KITCHEN SHOWER

A very jolly kitchen shower was given by the choir of Trinity in the basement of the church last evening to Miss Amy Hewitt and Mr. Albert Lee, members of the choir, who are to be married shortly. A mock marriage was staged, with wedding march and enormous 4-tier imitation bride's cake, which, when dismantled, proved to contain a number of useful articles of kitchen ware. White streamers and shamrocks garnished this immense cake, and shamrocks appeared also in the service of the dainty refreshments. About 30 members of the choir took part in the jollification, and enjoyed a pleasant evening. The young couple were also recipients of a handsome silver casserole from the choir.

THE INFANT, MARCH.

Fond nature's amorous command
Has set the birds a-wing,
And Winter's eager, wanton hand
Toys with the charm of Spring.
The earth has wakened 'neath the kiss
Of sad, departing snows,
While vibrant symphonies of bliss
Tune every wind that blows.

Young March is born of chilling veins
And old December's ire,
The calm of February rains
And latent April fire.
The infant of the year is here
The mother breast to thrill—
And baby cries ring far and near
From lusty lungs and shrill.

The infant, bawling, has appeared
To bless the waiting earth,
And Summer's lagging soul is cheered
By this brave youngster's birth.
All love the Springtime babe, of course,
He fills love's brimming cup.
But ere he howls his voice all hoarse
We wish he would grow up!

LURE REALTY MEN INTO ROOM AND THERE FORCE THEM TO SIGN CHEQUE.

PAYMENT HELD UP

When George Carvantes, 22 years old, a Mexican, who said he lived at 452 West Forty-third street, and Kassim Hasim, 26 years old, a Hindoo, of 350 West Fifty-eighth street were held in $10,000 bail each yesterday by Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan in the West Side Court, Ralph J. F. Gersete, 38 years old, a real estate dealer with offices in the Woolworth Building, unfolded a remarkable story of a hold-up last Saturday in the rooming house at 173 West Seventy-third Street.

"Were it not for the fact that the Hindoo actually was caught in the rooming house Saturday morning while standing guard with a dagger over my business associate, Irvin S. Behrman, said Mr. Gerstle, "I should hesitate to tell the story, lest people would believe I was playing on my imagination."

Detectives Manning and Keenan of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station verified the sory in every particular. They had arrested the Mexican in Mr .Gerstle's office the day before, and had obtained from him and the Hindoo the details of a plot hatched by a man known as Stewart to rob the real estate man of $20,000. "Stewart" forced Gerstle to write a check for that amount while the Mexican, Hasim and two other Hindoos pointed pistols and daggers at Gerstle and Behrman, whom they gaged and bound to chairs.

While the robbers did not obtain the $20,000, it developed in the examination of the two prisoners that "Stewart" got $750 and $900 worth of jewelry.

Police Keep Robbery Secret.

The detectives kept the robbery secret until yesterday morning in the hope that they would be able to arrest "Stewart" and the other two Hindus before Cervantes and Hasim were arraigned.

Mr. Gerstle said that three months ago "Stewart" was introduced to him by a client as a man interested in several pieces of real estate near the proposed municipal docks at Rosebank, Staten Island. "Stewart" asked him, he said, to obtain an option on the property for him, as he did not wish to let the owners know he wanted to purchase.

"I saw "Stewart" several times after that," explained the real estate man, "but I was surprised when he came into my office last Thursday afternoon and told me that he had a prospective purchaser for the Staten Island property. 'His name is Flood,' the man said, and he is an invalid. I want you to call on him at his apartment at 173 West Seventy-third Street at 9.30 a.m. Saturday. The uniformed hallboy will lead you to his apartment, and I am certain you can come to terms with him.'

"Accompanied by Behrman I went to the house last Saturday morning When I rang the bell the door was opened by a swarthy-skinned youth, later identified as Cervantes. He was in the uniform of a hallboy, and smilingly led Behrman and myself to a room on the third floor.

"As we entered we saw a man who appeared to be a Hindu, but who, in answer to my question,

CHAUFFEUR SMASHES CAR AND THEN DROWNS HIMSELF IN RIVER

PARIS, March 18.—The history of the cook Vatel, who ran a sword through his heart because the fresh fish did not arrive in time for the King's dinner, has been repeated in the case of a French chauffeur which is told in the Paris press this morning.

So great was his sense of professional honour that he refused to survive the disgrace of having smashed up his master's automobile. The whole drama was played out on the road between Paris and Villers-Coterets two days ago. The owner of the car, Georges Menier, on arriving at the latter place on a business trip, decided that he would return by train, and so ordered his chauffeur to take the car back to Paris. By accident, M. Menier's brother the same afternoon was motoring along the road to Villers-Coterets, and found a wrecked car abandoned by the roadside. On examining it he found it was his brother's car, and, fearful that a tragedy had overtaken the occupants, he drove at once to the next village to make inquiries. There he was informed that the car, driven by the chuffeur, but with no other occupant, had passed early in the afternoon, and that the chauffeur had been seen later on foot in the village. He had stopped at a cafe and written a letter to his employer. This letter ran as follows:

"Monsieur: You entrusted your new car to me, and I have had the misfortune to damage it irreparably. I cannot survive such dishonour."

Enclosed with the letter was a will, in which the unfortunate man arranged for the disposal of his small savings of some 1,500 francs.

A search was organised at once in the district, in the hope that he would be found before he could carry out his intention, but after a few hours his body was dragged from the river.

To add to the irony of the history, because in his tragic letter the man had seemed to admit that the wreck of the car was his fault the insurance company with which the car was insured now refuses to pay compensation to the owner.

90 YEARS OLD HE CELEBRATES

GEORGE THORN, OF MILLBROOK, OBSERVES NINETIETH BIRTHDAY—A PIONEER SETTLER THERE.

A PIONEER FAMILY

MILLBROOK, March 18. — In splendid health and enjoying a remarkable vigour, one of Millbrook's oldest and best-known residents, Mr. George Thorn, celebrated his 90th birthday yesterday.

Mr. Thorn and his wife celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in December last, when all of their twelve children and most of their twenty-four grand-children were present. Up to the present the family circle has been unbroken by the death of any of its members.

Mr. Thorn is the only surviving child of Mr. John Thorn, who was a pioneer settler in this district. The latter came to this country from England, and at one time owned 1,200 acres in the vicinity of Millbrook, which he received from the Crown. He owned the first grist mill in the Township of Cavan, and built the first cart drawn over Toronto streets. He built the residence in Toronto occupied by the late Bishop Strachan, said to be the second brick house erected in that city, and also Little Trinity Church on King street East

TO TRIAL ON THEFT CHARGE

SEQUEL LIQUOR CASE

The case of theft preferred against George Barraclough, John Edwards and George Edwards was concluded in the County Police Court yesterday afternoon before Magistrate O. A. Langley. All three were committed for trial before a higher court and bail of $2,000 granted to each. The men reside in Keene. George Edwards was formerly a member of the local Police Department.

The charge was laid by Charles Ellis, the village blacksmith at Keene, and, according to his story, on March 7, in the afternoon, he did a small job for Barraclough. He was advised if he came around to the shop he would be paid the 15-cent charge and, also, if he would like "a drink," he could have one. When he went to the garage he did not refuse either offer and imbibed to such an extent that he was put in a car and left there to sleep off the "jag." As to the exact events of the evening he was doubtful, but believed he had a fracas with Barraclough. He alleges when he got his "head" about nine o'clock his money, amounting to $54, was gone.

Tendered a Cheque.

Next day the young men gave him a cheque for $54, but the machinery of the law was under way and could not be stopped.

Today's cases resulted:

J. J. Barraclough was charged with "having and giving" liquor in an unlawful place; John and George Edwards with "having." The unlawful place was the garage. J. Wearing represented License Inspector J. Stewart, while J. O'Brien defended accused.

Barraclough pleaded guilty and was taxed $200 and $10.55 costs. Payment was speedily effected.

The charges against the Edwards brothers were dismissed by His Worship with costs after J. Wearing had admitted the evidence was too weak to hope for a conviction.

Refused Summary Trial.

Against the three a charge of theft was laid by the blacksmith. The accused elected trial by jury and so a preliminary investigation followed, but their lawyer asked for summary trial. This Magistrate Langley refused and sent the case to the higher tribunal, granting bail of $2,000 to each of the accused.

The Evidence.

The money, he declared, was made up of one ten dollar bill, eight fives, one two and a one dollar bill and $1.15 in change.

Vernon Ellis, who works in his father's shop, gave evidence after the noon adjournment. He was working in the blacksmith shop when Barraclough came in to get some work done. He got a wrench fixed. When he left the shop Barraclough and his father were there. Witness said his father had $52 with him that afternoon. He said he didn't take any stock of the denominations of the bills. The night before he saw the money when he and his father were fixing up a business matter. He believed there was one ten dollar bill eight fives and two twos; $54 in all. The father counted the money before him.

Witness said he had never seen Barraclough in the shop before.

"When did you see your father

COUNCIL OF WOMEN CONSIDER-NUMBER OF IMPORTANT SOCIAL QUESTIONS AT MEETS ING.

KEEP THE STREET NAMES

The Local Council of Women held a well-attended meeting at the Y. W.C.A. yesterday afternoon, Mrs. A. Stevenson occupying the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and routine business transacted.

The followign motions were carried: To forward $25 to the Armenian Fund in the name of the Local Council of Women, this amount being sufficient to provide food for 5 children for one month, and to petition the City Council to preserve the names of our Peterborough streets, instead of going on with the numbering system as contemplated. There was also some discussion about the question of a petition to the Public Library Board to allow the reading room of this institution to remain open on Sunday afternoons for the convenience of many citizens who are boarders and would benefit by accommodation of this sort.

A motion was carried to the effect that the Council re-affirm the position taken by it on the occasion of the first Referendum, regarding the prohibition of the importation of liquor into the Province of Ontario.

Mrs. R. Harstone, the former president, read an interesting report of the spring meeting of the National Council of Women, held at Niagara on Feb. 24th and 25th, at which the speaker represented the Local Council of Women. The discussions at this meeting centred around some of the debatable topics of the day. The law with regard to support by children of needy parents which is in force in the Province of Quebec, but was left off the revised statutes of Ontario in 1897, was recommended for re-enactment, requests that wife-desertion be made an extraditable offences, and that the Naturalization Act of 1920 be amended, so that a woman of British birth married to an alien may be considered as a femme sole instead of being regarded as of the same nationality as her husband, were under discussion, and, in the Objectionable Literature reports, such publications as Breezy and Snappy Stories, La Parisienne and the Police Gazette, came under the ban of the gathering. The Cold Storage Act, the better censorship of motion pictures, more moderate styles in dress and the Equal Moral Standard were considered, and, altogether, the meeting got through a large amount of important business.

Kronstadt, Stronghold of Russian Insurgent Movement, Surrenders

REMNANTS HAVE FLED

HELSINGFORS, March 18. — (Canadian Press.)— Kronstadt has surrendered to the Soviet forces. This announcement is made by the Revolutionary committee of Kronstadt which has arrived in Finland, accompanied by 80 soldiers.

Before retreating from Kronstart, te Revolutionists blew up the warships Petropavlovsk and Sebastopol. General Koslovski, leader of the Revolutionists, has also arrived in Finland.

The Bolshevik launched a general attack against Kronstadt at five o'clock yesterday morning and despite the heavy fire of the Revolutionaries, succeeded in penetrating Kronstadt, according to refugees in Tericki, Finland, says a despatch from the later city timed at noon yesterday.

RETIREMENT OF BONAR LAW MAY END COALITION

PREDICTED IN LONDON THAT HIS RESIGNATION MEANS DISSOLUTION AND AN EARLY GENERAL ELECTION.

OLD GUARD NOW FREE

LONDON, March 18. — (Canadian Press.) — The prediction is freely made by the politicians that Bonar Law's resignation from the government means dissolution and a general election in the near future. This belief is based on the theory that Bonar Law is the only Conservative able to hold the party together under the leadership of Lloyd George. There has been much objection to some of Lloyd George's policies among the old guard Conservatives and many think that only Mr. Bonar Law's personality and diplomacy held them in line.

MANY MEN WOULD MARRY CLARA HAMON

ARDMORE, Okla., March 18.—Clara Smith Hamon, charged with murder, has fifty proposals of marriage, her attorneys said to-day. The cosmic urge for the chic and pretty defendant has caused fifty men over the country to swamp her with proposals of marriage.

"I don't care whether you are found guilty or innocent, I want to marry you anyway," said one ardent lover, who enclosed his picture.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

FRIDAY, MARCH 18TH, 1921.

THE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

It is pleasing to note that the campaign of the Peterborough Horticultural Society for a larger membership is meeting with a considerable measure of success and that the public interest in the organization is increasing. From the standpoint of self-interest alone, the options offered members of the society are more than ample return for the annual fee, while the opportunity of helping to make Peterborough a more beautiful and more attractive city should attract to the association all public-spirited citizens.

The men who have carried the association along from year to year have been actuated by motives that were as far as possible from selfishness—they have been inspired solely by the love of the beautiful and the desire to do something to improve the appearance of their home city—and they deserve not only the thanks, but the active support and co-operation of the community. The objective of one thousand members for the association is not too high and will be realized if the public will recognize that the beautifying of Peterborough is a work in which every citizen should be anxious to assist.

THE ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

The resignation of President Kenner and Secretary Fraser of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association is to be regretted, not only because the services of these two capable officials will be missed, but because of the misunderstandings which led to their severing their connection with the association. That there is need for a governing body for sport in this city will be admitted by those who are closest to the situation, and it is unfortunate that because of a failure to appreciate the motives and to understand the ideals of the men who were instrumental in launching the Athletic Association, there should be friction and lack of co-operation. The idea that the Board of Trade wants to control sports in Peterborough, caused, no doubt, by the fact that some of the association's officers are also officers of the board and because the meetings of the association have been held in the Board of Trade rooms, is wide of the mark. Members of the Board of Trade are interested, of course, in amateur sport as they are interested in other features of city life, but they have no desire to attempt to direct the sporting activities of Peterborough. The Athletic Association originated from a recognition on the part of a number of well-known citizens of the fact that, in order to place athletic games of all kinds in this city on a sound basis, an organization representative on all the different sports and working together for the common welfare was highly necessary. The time is rapidly approaching when the different amateur leagues will demand that the recommendation of such a responsible body in each centre must accompany applications for membership. The Ontario Hockey Association is moving in that direction now, and their example will be followed by other organizations. The days when a few men could get together and decide to operate a hockey team will soon be a thing of the past, so far as the O. H. A. is concerned, and doubtless a similar view will be taken by the lacrosse and amateur baseball authorities. From that reason the development of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association should be encouraged by every one who has the interest of true sport at heart and every possible effort to increase the membership and strengthen the enthusiasm of the organization should be adopted.

PROTECTING THE FISH.

The contention frequently advanced in these columns that the Provincial Government—not only the present administration, but all its predecessors—has not given the attention to the protection of the fish and game of Ontario that their importance demands, is borne out by the testimony given by Magistrate Moore, of Parry Sound, who informed the Legislature the other day that before long there will be no deer south of the French River and that in five years, unless there is a great change in the enforcement of the law, the black bass will disappear from the waters of the Georgian Bay district. And the Parry Sound man, if he had been as familiar with conditions in the Kawartha Lakes section as he is with his own district, he could have included the Kawartha chain in his statement. Thousands of visitors are attracted to Ontario's lakes each Summer, the majority in the hope of enjoying the thrill of a battle with the game fish for which this Province has been justly famous. But as Mr. Moore points out, there will soon be no fish to be found. The reason is not hard to find. The depletion of the lakes and rivers of Ontario has not been caused by the legal fishing that has been done; it has been brought about by the unscrupulous poachers who operate with net and spear in the spawning, seaso.. and the damage they do each Spring is almost impossible to estimate.

The newly formed Peterborough Fish and Game Association should make it one of their first duties to vigorously call the attention of the Government to the annual slaughter of fish and to urge for more effective protection and a more vigorous enforcement of the laws. As The Toronto Star points out, the Drury Government, if they will take hold of the fish and game laws and enforce them, not soley along lines that will produce revenue, but with the object of preserving and restoring the fish and game wealth of the Province for the benefit of this generation and others to follow, will be doing something that no other administration has ever seriously undertaken to do—except temporarily, or here and there. In that statement The Star is undoubtedly correct, as it is in the remark that the value of the speckled trout and the black bass to the Province has never been properly recognized.

THE HARVEST OF FALSEHOOD.

Germany would be in a position of relative strength to-day if her statesmen had dealt truthfully with her people from the outset. If, on the fall of the Hohenzollern dynasty, her republican leaders had adopted such a policy, she might now be well on the road to recovery, with friends outside looking for an opportunity to help her. But the reason for the failure of Simons in London and Ebert in Berlin is that they have not dared to tell their people the truth. They have minimized the extent of German defeat, or said it was no defeat at all, in the face of their signed acknowledgment of the contrary in the peace treaty.

Old falsehoods about the war—as, for instance, that it originated in a French airship invasion of Germany—are still current, at a better face value than the mark. It might be thought that the republicans would have profited at the expense of their predecessors, but the German psychology seems almost unbelievably stupid. As for its estimate of foreign opinion, from the absurd "Rhine horror" meeting at Madison Square Garden, or the reliance placed upon some favorable action from President Harding by the German newspapers, it is plain that nothing has been learned from similar mistakes during the war.

Two suggestions are now current which the President and the Senate will do well to consider carefully before taking action. An immediate independent peace with Germany must be so worded and negotiated that it would not be a slap in the face to the Allies and an encouragement for the present German recalcitrancy. Withdrawal of our troops from Coblenz would certainly be interpreted at Berlin as an American demonstration in favor of Germany. Here again there are considerations easily overlooked. Even as long ago as November, 1919, our special correspondent in Germany reported the American occupation point as the hole in the German customs wall. German bankers were indignant about it then; but they are likely to regard it with much more favor now, following the disciplinary action of the Allies.

No one need shed tears over the theatrical hari-kari on Lloyd George's doorstep threatened by German sentimentalists. They are multiplying their currency and interior bonds largely for stage purposes. If they scaled down both, as they no doubt propose to do when the minimum reparation agreement is reached, Germany would be in a strong position even with the reparation burden. As the French proved under the violent re-organization of Napoleon, the canceled assignats became merely a local tax, and German marks under not dissimilar drastic treatment would be little more.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

At least it must be admitted that Hon. W. E. Raney leads the Ontario Government by a wide margin in the matter of free publicity.

TO TRIAL ON THEFT CHARGE

again?" Mr. Hatton asked.

"About 8.30. When I came home he wasn't there and I went looking for him. I met him on the street in Keene."

"Who was with him?"

"Jack Edwards. They were coming towards home."

"What condition was your father in?"

"He was intoxicated."

"Badly so?"

"Well, he couldn't walk very straight."

Demanded Money.

Witness said his father was demanding his money before he went home. When they got at the gate Jack said: "Your father dropped 50 cents," and handed it to me.

"What condition was Jack in?"

"Sober."

"Was there any evidence he had been drinking?"

"I could smell it."

He put his father on the sofa and went down street, he said. He saw the three accused in a car in front of the Victoria House.

"Did you have any conversation with them?"

"I did."

"Were you alone?"

"I was. I asked all of them if they knew where the money was. Mr. Barraclough said they hadn't seen any money."

Witness told them it was funny where the money went to.

Vernon Ellis said he told them they had no right to take his father down and get him "full." Barraclough said it was his own business if he got "full." He told the others to keep quiet— he'd do the talking— when they interrupted.

Barraclough said when Ellis got "pickled" they put him in the car. When he took out his pocketbook they helped him put it back. Barraclough asked witness if he knew how much money he had. The three told him they were in a hurry to go to the dance and they would see him in the morning. About 7.30 next morning witness went to the garage but found it locked up. He later said he met Barraclough and went down to the blacksmith shop. He wanted to know what I thought about the money. I told him if he was going to give him a cheque, as was mentioned by Barraclough the night before, he'd better give it to him now. The night before Barraclough said: "He'd rather give him the cheque than have any trouble over it."

Signed Cheque.

Edwards came in the shop and he signed the cheque. "I saw the cheque but not closely," witness said.

Barraclough and he went to the Ellis home and the cheque was given to his father, who was still in bed. He asked dad if he was satisfied to take the cheque.

"What did your father say?"

"I don't remember. He took it."

About eight o'clock his father sent him up to see Constable McLaughlin and tell him to come to the house.

Cross-examined by Mr. O'Brien as to the characters of the accused, Vernon Ellis said they were "the best ever." He would trust any of them even now. He could not explain the disappearance of the money. He could not explain why they paid over the money unless it was to keep the liquor episode quiet.

"Do you think the money was paid to keep the liquor 'quiet'?" asked Mr. Hatton.

"I wouldn't say," replied Ellis.

Magistrate Langley did not take this foregoing statement as evidence.

Constable's Evidence.

Mr. Ellis, he said, laid a complaint against Barraclough on Tuesday morning. He saw accused and later notified Mr. Hatton and Mr. O'Brien that Ellis said he lost $54.

William Welland.

William Welland, garageman at Keene, said that on the morning of March 7th Charles Ellis paid him for a gallon of oil. He swore he had quite a little bit of money. In the afternoon he was in Welland's garage with the same money. He saw Ellis going into Edwards' and Barraclough's garage alone about five in the afternoon.

Mrs. Charles Ellis.

Mrs. Charles Ellis testified that Barraclough offered her the cheque, which he made out in the house. She refused to take it. Mr. Ellis said at noon on Monday she saw her husband count the money. He had it in a bill-fold. He had one ten dollar bill, eight fives and a two, she said replying to Mr. Hatton. That was the last she saw of the money, she said.

Edward H. Barnes.

Edward H. Barnes, manager of the Bank of Toronto branch at Keene, produced a cheque dated March 8th for $54 signed by J. J. Barraclough and George Edwards and payable to C. Ellis, endorsed by C. Ellis. The cheque was retained as exhibit by Magistrate Langley.

This concluded the preliminary investigation.

LOVE!

NOREEN QUESTIONS HERSELF

Chapter 5.

On the first of the month Leonard forgot to give me my allowance. I had started down town to do the marketing before I thought of it.

It had slipped my mind—he was working hard and had so much else to think of. Tomorrow would do, I reasoned.

In the butcher's I had a self-conscious feeling—surely all my imagination. Habit was a foolish thing when followed too stringently. I hated myself at the feeling of embarrassment which flushed my face as I carried my account into the second month. I had been so methodical about paying.

Tomorrow I would settle my bill. Perhaps they had not even noticed. How ridiculous to let it bother me, I thought.

The next morning Leonard had again forgotten. I had refrained from asking for it. Money matters had been the one obstacle to happiness I had dreaded in married life. My fears had been unfounded, however, for with Leonard—though he had not been lavish, and I knew he could not afford to be—I was always made to feel that it was my right, my share. Perhaps because, in my turn, I had been painstaking and frugal about buying, Leonard had never questioned my expenses—never complained of bills.

I would have to let my accounts go another day. It did not bother me greatly now for my thoughts were turned towards Leonard. He was overworking. Perhaps something had gone wrong about his business and he was short of money. But why had he not told me of it? We had always shared our troubles.

At the butcher's I had no compunctions. Other people were a great deal less conscientious than I. I had often heard of people letting their bills stand for just ages. Almost a fierce rebelliousness took hold of me. I found myself defending Leonard in my thoughts. It was as if part of me blamed him and the other part was pleading his cause against an unknown vastness. I felt antagonistic towards the whole world.

"I put the check for your allowance on your desk," Leonard told me casually on the morning of the fourth of the month. "Good-bye, Noreen," and he was gone.

Was his good-morning kiss a trifle perfunctory? I asked myself. Again I felt the sting of what habit might do for one.

Was the fault mine? Had I settled down into a dull complacency? The thought that cold indifference should ever enter into our union was repellent to me.

So often in married life the woman slumps back into personal neglect. It had not been so with me. Self-pride and perhaps a little vanity, together with my great love and respect for Leonard, had kept me observant of all feminine niceties. Was the fault a mental slackness on my part? I had been perhaps too sure of my husband? I determined to be especially thoughtful. Leonard was troubled and despondent and needed unusual indulgence.

As I paid my bills that morning and did the ordering for the day, I took particular pains to have the things of which Leonard was most fond. He was such a boy, and as I planned the dinner I became quite morbid musings were bad, and I forced them from me.

I dressed for dinner with great care. The anxiety and consciousness of my renewed efforts to please Leonard mounted the color to my cheeks. The effect rather pleased me. If I had not known it always, I would have been very sure then of the great love I bore my husband. These four years of married life had not brought the rust of satiety to me.

Just as I had finished dressing and all the distorted feelings had quite left me, the telephone bell rang.

"Mr. Allen is on the wire and wishes to speak to you," Emma told me coming to my door.

The color suddenly left my cheeks and as I passed the long mirror in the hall my face looked out at me blanched and drawn. I knew—knew without being told, that he was not coming home. I had so wanted him that night.

As I hung up the receiver all the pent-up emotions of my doubts and longings burst from me in exhausting sobs.

HEALTHY SPORT FOR LAKEFIELD ASSURED

BROTHERHOOD LIVE ORGANIZATION—CONFIRMATION AT ST. JOHN'S—PERSONAL NEWS.

LAKEFIELD, March 17. — The Lord Bishop of Toronto administered the Apostolic rite of Confirmation to a class of nineteen on Wednesday evening in St. John's Church. There was a large attendance at the impressive service. The Bishop addressed the candidates at some length on their duties and responsibilities, taking as a text part of the 5th verse of the 11th chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Hebrews, "He pleased God."

Live Organisation.

The Lakefield Brotherhood is a truly live organisation, with efficient and progressive officers and members. The appearance of the "Lakefield Booster" in the News office window is sufficient evidence of this. The "Booster" is the official organ of the Brotherhood, and is worth reading. They have an attractive programme for the spring and summer, and the spring can't be too early for these enthusiasts, who are going to chase dull care away with a season of clean, healthy sport, which will be healthy both for the mind and the body.

Narrow Escape.

Mr. Charles Lake's residence on Smith Street had a narrow escape from being destroyed by fire on Wednesday afternoon about three o'clock. The fire was caused from a chimney, and only prompt and efficient work saved the house.

Personal Mention.

Mrs. W. R. Morris, of Peterborough, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Jory.

Mrs. S. T. Leggott was in Peterborough for the week-end.

Mrs. Little, of Toronto, is the guest of Mrs. A. G. Fawett for a few days.

Rev. and Mrs. Hughes, of Young's Point, were in the village on Wednesday.

Mrs. M. A. MacKenzie, of Toronto, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Eric Grier.

Mrs. Andrew Allan, of Young's Point, who returned from New Jersey on Saturday last, was in the village on Wednesday.

The Lord Bishop of Toronto was the guest of Rev. F. and Mrs. Vipond at the rectory on Wednesday.

The Lakefield House will be open to the public on Saturday morning, 19th March, under standard license.

CANADIAN PACKING CO. LIMITED

UNITED FARMERS' TRUST COMPANY.

EDMONTON, Alta., March 17.—(Canadian Press.)—The introduction of a private bill to the legislature to incorporate the United Farmers' Trust Company with a capitalization of half a million dollars, is the beginning of what will eventually be an enormous financial enterprise undertaken by the farmers of Western Canada to serve their own interests in the matter of trust administration, loans, mortgages, etc. The object of the bill, which was introduced by Alex. Moore, U.F.A., member for Cochrane, is to enlarge the powers of the present administration of estates department of the United Farmers of Alberta, and to admit of the linking up of this department with those of Manitoba and Ontario.

A strong institutions, with the prospect of an important accumulation of savings deposits and eventually of an extensive loan business to farmers, will be created by the linking of the department of the United Farmers of the three provinces. With a series of good crops such a business may easily grow into proportions greater than any existing loan company in western Canada.

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mothers! Watch Your Daughters' Health

Health Is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established she needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mothers should teach their girls what danger comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking! Do not let her overstudy. If she complains of headache, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. She needs thoughtful care for a few years.

In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given as it is especially adapted for such conditions. It contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in perfect safety.

Read how Mrs. Eicher helped her daughter. She says:

"At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had pains across her back and in her sides. Every month her back would pain her so she could not do her work and would have to lie down. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read the books which were left at my door. She took it faithfully and is now regular and has no pain. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers."—Mrs. Katie Eicher, 4034 N. Fairhill St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Williams will profit by her own experience. She says:

"When I was thirteen years old I had sick spells each month and as I was very backward I would bear the pain and my mother knew nothing about it. I read in the daily paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took my own spending money and bought a bottle. It helped me so much that I took it regularly after that until I had taken two bottles and I did not have any more pain or backache and have been a healthy, strong woman. I am now 39 years old and have a little girl of my own, and when she gets old enough I shall give her none other than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. C. E. Williams, 2437 W. Toronto St., Philadelphia, Pa.

For almost fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been relieving women, young and old, of ailments peculiar to their sex. Ask your neighbor about it, for in every neighborhood there are women who know of its merits.

Thousands of letters similar to the above are in the files of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., and for years such letters have been published. Surely it is worth your while to make a fair trial of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

BIG ACHIEVEMENT FOR STOCK GROWER.

Alberta Lands Title of Sunflower Province.

CALGARY, Alta., March 17.—If the forecast of several dairymen and stock-growers is realized, Alberta, in the near future, will be known as the "Sunflower" province. Dairymen and stock-growers, who visited the Canadian Pacific Railway Experimental Farm at Strathmore, are of the unanimous opinion that after seeing the manner in which the cattle there have come through the winter on this particular feed, that an enormous impetus will be given to the cultivation of this plant.

In the opinion of those who have used this silage it only requires the publicity of facts already achieved to induce every stock-grower in the province, and indeed through the West, to make it his principal winter feed for cattle, more especially in those sections which are subject to drought.

"It will undoubtedly go a long way towards solving the feed problem of the West," stated E. S. McRory, manager of the Western Division of the United Grain Growers' Company, in commenting upon this matter. "It is certainly well worth the while of every farmer giving it his most earnest attention."

TENS OF THOUSANDS OF CHILDREN IN STATES HOUSED IN FIRE TRAPS

REPORT ON CHILDREN AND SCHOOL ATTENDANCE REVEALS DEPLORABLE HOME CONDITIONS DUE TO CONGESTION IN CITIES AND TOWNS.

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK.—Tens of thousands of school children housed in fire traps, and hundreds of thousands of them either on half-time or in makeshift buildings is the condition in 429 cities of the United States as disclosed in a report made public today.

The report was issued by the National Committee for Chamber of Commerce co-operation with the Public Schools on a survey conducted by the American City Bureau.

The committee was organized in February, 1920, to inquire into school conditions. Its executive committee is headed by George D. Strayer, of Teachers College, Columbia University, New York.

The evidence presented "shows clearly that there are tens of thousands of children now housed in old, insanitary, dangerous buildings," says Mr. Strayer in his introduction to the report. "Many of these structures are best classified as fire-traps."

Data From 429 Cities.

Data was received from 429 cities. The report says: "These facts, obtained from 75 percent. of all the cities reporting, show that in these cities even excluding those housed in annexes where conditions may be normal, there are more than 453,000 children who are either on half-time because of lack of building space or are housed in portables, rented buildings, attics, basements or corridors. It would require an average of two 30-room buildings in each of these cities to properly house these groups of children alone."

The report sets forth statistically the inadequacy of playground space. "It is clear that in many cities children are how housed in buildings in which there is less space on the playground than is supplied in the classrooms in which they are taught," says Mr. Strayer in the introduction.

No Playgrounds.

"Three million six hundred thousand children are represented in this report on playgrounds," it is stated, "and the study discloses that one-half of them—1,800,000 children—have each a playground less than six by six feet per pupil and many of them have no playground at all.

"These facts of limited playground space," says the report, "present one of the serious problems confronting those who are interested in the welfare of American school children. Whatever the cost, adequate playground space should be provided for those school buildings already erected in congested districts. Public sentiment must become so strong that it will be considered a breach of trust for school authorities to erect a school building on a site that will not afford adequate playground space for all the pupils housed in the building."

The Fire Hazard.

On the subject of fire hazard in schools, the report states: "Only five percent of the total number of buildings are of the types of construction usually called fireproof. Only a small number have fireproofing elements to lessen the fire hazard to the children. At least twenty-five percent of the two poorest types of buildings are of two or more stories and do not have a fire-escape. Thirty-nine percent of these two types are without fire extinguishers, and less than ten percent of them have automatic sprinkler equipment in any part of the buildings. Only 11 percent have automatic fire alarms. Such facts as these demonstrate the existence of a real menace to the children of these cities." One-half of present-day schools were built prior to 1897.

The report directs attention to "the large number of children between the ages of 13 and 16 years who leave the public schools." "There is probably no more serious problem or one more difficult to solve now facing the people of this country," it says.

Leave School Early.

According to the reports from 290 cities, 8% percent of the children have left school before their 13th year, 15 percent before 14, 38 percent before 19 and 64 percent before they are 16 years old.

"In the geographical groups," the report continues, "the highest percent of these children remain in the western cities. Next in order are the Great Plains cities, then the southern, the Great Lakes, and lowest of all are the eastern cities. In this last group only 29 percent of the children 16 years of age, and 56 percent of those from 14 to 16 years, inclusive, are in school."

Attention is directed to "a notable falling off in attendance" at evening schools during the last six years, a "period of unusually high wages."

EAGLE BOATS OF UNITED STATES RATED AS JUNK.

Naval Officers Declare Vessels of Tin-Pan Fleet Are Worthless.

By Herbert Corey.

CALLAO, Peru.—If you want to get the goat of an officer of the navy, say "Eagle boat" to him. And if he doesn't respond ask this simple question:

"What do you think of our sub-chasers?"

I don't know anything more about either than I do of the habits of the Great American Condor. Therefore, these statements are not colored by even a suspicion of personal prejudice. I am faithfully reporting every naval officer I have as yet talked with by these twin formulae:

"The Eagle boats are not worth a d——!"

"The sub-chasers are not, and never were any good!"

Whole Eagle Boat Fleet Idle.

There are 60 Eagle boats—the whole 60 of the Eagle boat fleet—tied up in the Portsmouth yard. Each has a force of boat tenders aboard. The sub-chasers are likewise tied up in various yards. Each has a force of boat tenders aboard. There are 36 destroyers actually in commission with the big fleet. The United States has a total of more than 300 destroyers. The other destroyers are for the most part held in reserve. That is to say they are kept tied up and with the nucleus of a crew aboard.

"So far as the destroyers are concerned, this is as it should be," the fleet's officers tell me. "They are valuable boats. Our destroyers stack up very well alongside the destroyers of other nations. They may not be quite as good as some of the newer destroyers, but they are good. We need not worry about them.

"But the Eagles, and the Subs, they are not good at all! No good at all!"

The Eagle boats, so these officers tell me, are flat-chested, slab-slided monstrosities. They cannot keep the sea, they are not fast enough to be of value as despatch boats, they are not big enough to carry guns of value against the giant submarines of the day, and the navy would be better off if they were all taken to sea and sunk. Not one of them was ever used in war. It would have been murder to send a crew against an enemy in one of these tin-pan devices.

Imitation of a Failure.

"Early in the war against the submarine the British used fast motor-boats," the officers say. "They patrolled in the neighborhood of the ports. It was soon recognized that they were of little value. They dared not go outside and there were better protections inside the port. After these boats had been discarded by the British the Eagle boats were built in emulation and imitation of them."

One officer told of a talk with a representative of the British naval construction department. The Eagle boat plans had been sent over to the Allies as a matter of courtesy. This Briton looked them over and came out holding his head.

"I say, old chap," said he, "what are these bally devices—what? And are you really going to build them?"

Briton, Frenchman, and Italian refused with a shouted unanimity to have anything to do with them. This made no difference, however, as none were really in commission until after the armistice.

The sub-chasers were better planned and executed, but they were no good. They dared not keep the sea during bad weather, and they did not carry enough metal to make them dangerous to the enemy. They cost approximately $80,000 each.

"Now the Navy Department is trying to dispose of them for about $4,000 each," I am told.

Cheaper to Sink Them.

After the armistice there were some of these boats at Brest. The navy officers there unanimously recommended to the Navy Department that they be disposed of for whatever they would bring.

"It will cost us at least $10,000 to take them home," was their report, "and they could not be disposed of for that price. If the Allies will not accept them, take them to sea and sink them. We will be money ahead."

Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt, then Assistant Secretary of the Navy, refused to accept this advice, however. One can get his point of view. These boats had cost $80,000 each, and were brand new. It must have seemed absurd to sink them In point of fact, however, the naval officers insist their advice was good. It cost more than $10,000 each to tow them home—for they all had to be towed—and now they are for sale for about $4,000 each. No one wants them. Four or five were disposed of to the Italian Government for $200,000 each, and the Greek Government finally declined to buy others at the same figure. A British firm offered $2,000 each for a limited number, and the one Dutch firm which made a bid offered $1,000 each for their junk value.

Amateurs At War Game.

"No one regrets or criticizes the monetary loss involved," is the final point of view. "We were a nation of amateurs at war. We did the best we could. If we made mistakes, we also won triumphs. But let us get rid of them now, for they sap the strength of the navy.

"No more than one man should be held ashore for each man at sea in any navy. But out of our total enlisted force of 130,000 men, we are only able to get 25,000 at sea. If we junk our Eagles and subs, and other useless vessels, we can reduce the personnel and make a better navy."

Tiny Dose and Baby Is Happy

THE medicine a mother takes for her own constipation is seldom the right medicine for her baby. Thousands of mothers for thirty years past have been giving babies Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of simple herbs with pepsin. The full formula is on the package. This remedy is mild and gentle and does not gripe. It contains no narcotics. Half a teaspoonful will relieve constipation, biliousness, feverishness, colds and many other symptoms that indicate baby's inactive bowels. Mother, a sixty-cent bottle will last you months, and if it doesn't do as claimed your money will be refunded.

If you would like to test Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin free of charge before buying it in the regular way of your druggist, send your name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 19 Front Street, Bridgeburg, Ont., and a free trial bottle will be sent to you promptly, postpaid.

TAKE CARE OF THAT COUGH

Some people get a nasty cough and don't pay much attention to it, saying, "Oh, it will wear away in a short time," but while it may wear off, serious injury may have been done to the lungs and respiratory organs by the prolonged, harsh, racking coughing.

On the first sign of a cough or cold get a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It will stop that nasty cough, ease the tightness across the chest, and loosen the phlegm.

Mrs. Wm. Enshaw, Apsley, Ont., writes:—"Last winter I caught a bad cold, had a sore throat and a terrible hacking cought that I could not get rid of. I could not sleep at night, I tried quite a few remedies, but they did not do me much good until I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. By the time I had taken two bottles, my cough was all gone. I feel that "Dr. Wood's" has no equal."

When you get Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, you are not experimenting with new and untried remedy, but one that has a reputation extending over thirty years.

Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 35c. and 60c. a bottle, manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

RECIPIES

Graham Muffins.

Mix a cup and a half of graham flour, a quarter of a cup of white flour, one egg, a teaspoon of baking powder, a cup of milk, a tablespoon of sugar and a little salt. Bake in a moderate oven.

Mexican Bean Soup.

Soak two cups of beans, Mexican or the black beans. Drain, cover with cold water and boil five minutes. Drain, pour over two quarts of water and one chopped onion. Boil until very tender and mash through a coarse sieve. Season and reheat. Add water if necessary.

Fruit Dressing.

Put in a glass jar a quarter of a cup of orange juice, two tablespoons of lemon juice, a quarter of a cup of salad oil, a tablespoon of powdered sugar, salt and paprika. Cover the jar and shake well. Chill and shake again before serving.

Apple Muffins.

Mix two cups of flour, two cups of pared and chopped apples, three-fourths of a cup of milk, one egg, two teaspoons of butter, six of sugar, a little salt and three teaspoons of baking powder. Bake in gem pans.

Graped Peaches.

Boil three minutes a cup of granulated sugar and half a cup of water. Add a cup of grape juice and boil two minutes. Have ready cooked dried peaches or the canned ones, place them in a the liquid and simmer, turning often so the peaches will be covered. Arrange in a dish, pour over the juice and dot with whipped cream.

Macaroni Rabbit.

Chop enough cold boiled macaroni to make two cups and beat in two tablespoons of butter. Add a cup and a half of grated cheese., salt and pepper. When the cheese is melted add two beaten eggs and half a cup of milk. Bring to a boil and serve on strips of buttered toast.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

"Dear Annie Laurie—I am a girl of twenty and have been going with a boy for more than over a year. I love him very much, and he is desperately in love with me. I know we would be very happy, only we are of different religion. Kindly advise me."

LOVESICK.

Dear Lovesick—This is a question which has puzzled many older and wiser heads than yours, my dear. If you are certain that you are so much in love with him that you can't possibly live without him, why marry him, but be quite sure to have some definite understanding about religion before, not after, the ceremony."

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a stenographer, and 17 years of age, and have been corresponding with a young man four years my senior for several months. I have met his parents, and he has met my mother only.

I care for this young man very much, as he has good ways and is very respectable. Now, would it be proper for me to invite him to my home, as I have been to his several times. N.H.C.

N. H. C.—Certainly, my dear, invite the young man to your home. You should really have had him at your home first.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of 21 years old, and I want you to help me, please. When I go with young men they always ask me to kiss them, and I do not believe in kissing, so they just come once or twice and don't ask to come again.

They don't like to go with me. I am invited to parties and picnics, but they don't talk to me. I always have to stay with the married ladies. I have a friend who comes to see me and stays just a few minutes, and he always wants to dance. Then he leaves, and in four or five days he comes back to dance. Can you tell me what makes him do that? I don't know what to think of him. Will you please tell me? LONELY GIRL.

LONELY GIRL:—You are right to refuse to kiss the men who presume to ask for this sort of thing from you.

I do not know why the young man goes frequently to dances with you. I think it likely you will in the course of time find the man who is congenial to you, and who in turn enjoys your society in the way you wish him to.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a very serious girl, and I am writing you for advice. I am 21 and once had a broken romance. I did really love a boy seven months ago, but I had some good reasons to quit him. I have almost forgotten him, and I seldom think about him, but I do not know what in the world is the trouble with me since I quit him. I simply cannot interest myself in anything or have real pleasure. I go everywhere with my girl friends.

I have many girl and boy friends. They are jolly, and seem to enjoy life so much, while it's the opposite with me. They tell me I am dead, and I've been awfully strange since I quit that boy. I loved him two years, and we were expected to marry in September, and go away.

All of a sudden I started to lose interest in him and my love faded away, because he deserted me. He wrote me four letters after I quit him, and begged of me to forgive and take him back, but I refused. Shortly after I felt sorry, because he said to me in his letter I had wrecked his whole life and he never could love another girl or be the same.

He went away to forget me, and I haven't heard from him since. Please tell me, dear Annie Laurie, what to do so I won't feel so blue and desperate at times.

Do you think I should try to win back his love, and find out where he has gone, or keep on going out with others? My folks did not approve of our friendship on account of his not being of my nationality.

I have been going out with a real nice boy steadily for two months, but I do not love him. Please tell me what you think about it all.

LOVELY DREAMY EYES.

LOVELY DREAMY EYES—I should say, my dear, that you are still very much in love with this boy, despite all your attempts to delude yourself about it. He is always in your heart, though you may think that he is not in your mind. I think that in such circumstances you would find happiness and regain your old spirits by looking him up and resuming the old relationship.

A Man is just as Young and Strong as his Blood

No man can fight the battles of life and hold his own if his blood is not pure, for rich, red blood is what strength is based upon. When you see a strong, vigorous man, who never knows when he is licked, you may wager that such a man has coursing through his veins rich, red blood. Many people have thin, pale blood. They are weak, tire easily, become discouraged quickly, and sometimes feel like giving up the struggle. Such folks need Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is sold by druggists in liquid or tablet form.

Send 10 cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package of the tablets.

NIAGARA FALLS, ONT.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery at times for the past three years with wonderful results, and I take great pleasure in saying a word to boost the cause of 'Freedom from Illness.' I am a pressman by occupation, which is quite fatiguing and injurious to the system, but since taking the 'Discovery' business has no drawback for me. Three cheers for Doctor Pierce's medicine!"—William H. Dempsey, Jr., 32 Bridge Street.

INDIANS LAY ASIDE TRAPS.

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., March 17.—The Indians of this district, unable to understand the stabilizing process which the fur trade is undergoing, have laid aside their traps and taken up lawmaking. The frisky marten—of which there is an abundant supply—is left strictly to his own devices, and it is expected that nature will soon have replaced the heavy kill of the high-price seasons.

MASONS CELEBRATE 15TH ANNIVERSARY IN CAMPBELLFORD

GRAND CHAPTER OFFICERS PRESENT—CAMPELLFORD NEWS.

SOCIAL EVENTS

CAMPBELLFOD, March 18.—The Ionic Chapter No. 168 R.A.C. of the Masonic order celebrated the 15th anniversary of their institution in the Masonic Hall here last evening. Rt Ex. Comp. J. F. Grierson of Oshawa, Grand Superintendent of Ontario District No. 10, paid his official visit on the occasion, and highly complimented the officers on the manner in which they conferred the R. A. degree. The ecremony was followed by a banquet, with songs and toasts.

The following Grand Chapter Officers were present: Rt. Ex Comp. C. F. Wait, Grand Superintendent of Prince Edward District No. 11, Rt. Ex. Comp .W M. Vanvalkenburg, Whitby, V. Ex. Comp. F. T. Erskine. Whitby, Rt. Ex. Comp. R. S. Colton, Ex. Comp. C. B Adair, and Ex Comp. J. D. Cameron, of Peterboro, and Ex Comp Jno. McIntosh and J. O. Herity of Belleville.

Service Council

The monthly meeting of the local Social Service Council was held Tuesday evening Mr. W. A. Wynn, vice-president occupied the chair. Mr J. A. Irwin, Rev. C. A. Clarke, and Mrs. W E Carnahan were appointed delegates to attend the convention in Peterboro in May. An invitation was extended to Dr. Hincks of Toronto, member of Canadian National Committee Mental Hygiene, to give a lecture here next month.

Child Welfare

The Health Committee which consists of Dr. Free, Mr. R. C West on and Dr. Watson are bringing a nurse here to conduct a Child Welfare Clinic in near future. Mr. G A. Kingston intends to bring up the subject of placing the Bible in public schools as a text book at the next meeting.

Must Have Permit

J. F. McGregor acting Municipal Clerk has issued notice that it is an offence punishable by a fine or both fine and imprisonment to possess a firearm other than those permitted by the Criminal Code without a permit The Chief of Police will issue these permits to those whom he considers justified in having them in their possession. These permits will be issued free of charge.

Annual Sale.

There will be a sale of forty choice Ayrshire cattle held at the Windsor Hotel stable here on March 30th. This is the fourth annual sale held by the Menie District Ayrshire Breeders, of which E. A. Cook is president and F. M. Rutherford, secretary. C. U. Clancy of Stirling, will be auctioneer.

Shipped Hogs

Scott and Kent shipped hogs today They also shipped a carload from Foxboro. They shipped 155 fine porkers for which they paid 14 cents per lb and are offering 14 cents for their shipment next Thursday. They paid $13.75 last week.

Mr. J. I. Adams was a visitor to Peterboro this week

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Abernethy are visiting the former's parents. Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Abernethy of town.

Instructive Address.

Mr. C. A. Morris, local manager of the Northumberland Paper and Electric Co.'s plant here, gave a most interesting and instructive address last evening in Parish Hall at the meeting of the men's club on "Prospecting in the North Country." The men's club are to be congratulated in having such talent and any men wishing to spend a profitable and enjoyable evening could not do better than went their way to the Parish Hall.

Mr. Chas. Black has removed to Rear street and is occupying the house formerly occupied by R. J. Chamberlain.

Housing Problem.

The housing problem is yet rather a serious one in Campbellford. This is due partly to the fact that practically no building is being done, and also to the number of retired farmers and others who are coming to town to reside. While there still exists some unemployment, there has been practically no relief work necessary, as the people are of the frugal type and have laid up for the rainy day.

Easter Music.

The choirs of the various churches are preparing special music for the services on Easter Sunday.

The many friends of Mr. Jarvis Boyle, Sebastapol street, will be pleased to learn he is able to be down town again after being laid up all winter as a result of a fractured thigh.

Maple Syrup.

Some of the local dealers have now on hand a supply of fresh maple syrup, which is selling readily at $3 per gallon. It is predicted the sugar making season will be short so consumers should lay in their supply early.

Mrs. Dinwoodie, who was spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. (Dr.) Armstrong, of Warkworth, has returned home.

Miss Thressa Rowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rowe, of Stanwood, has accepted a position as saleslady in Mr. W. I. Stillamn's store.

J. Lofchy, designer and tailor, of Toronto, has opened up a ladies ready-to-wear and tailor shop in the Wallace block.

The local officers, Major J. M. Bygott and Lieut. W. Davidson, have received invitations to a military staff ride in Kingston on March 28th and 29th.

Inspector Goodrich was in town yesterday.

DIGGING OWN GRAVE WHEN DEATH CAME

HAZLETON, Pa., March 18.—Death from a paralytic stroke yesterday prevented Frank Marterilli from completing the digging of his own grave, it became known to-day. Friends said he often expressed the fear he would not live much longer, and two days before he died he began digging his grave in the Precious Blood Cemetery. He was 74 years old, and came here 33 years ago from Buenos Ayres, Argentina.

SEIZES TWO IN $20,000 PLOT

said his name was Flood. He was seated in an arm chair at a table, around which had been drawn half a dozen chairs. He invited Behrman and I to be seated at the table in front of him, and then said, 'Are you ready to do business?'

Masked Men Enter Room

"I had hardly replied in the affirmative when I became aware that others were in the room beside the pseudo hall boy and 'Flood.' Behrman and I turned when we heard the doors of two closets open, and were confronted by three men holding pistols and daggers and whose faces were masked with red bandana handkerchiefs and towels.

" 'Throw up your hands!' commanded the tallest of the three men. Behrman and I began to laugh thinking that 'Stewart' had arranged a practical joke on us as a prelim inary to the business deal with 'Flood'.

"We soon changed our minds, however, when the tall fellow placed his pistol at my head and said:

"Now, this is real business; we want your money, and if you don't hand it to us right away or these pistols will be put to work.'

"The 'hallboy' in the meantime appeared with several lengths of sash cord which were lying on the floor.

"Then, without further talk, he and the three gunmen began to bind Behrman to the chair in which he at 'Flood' then took up the part of spokesman for the robbers, and, addressing me, said:

" 'Gerstle, take out your check book and write a check for $90,000.'

"Although there was no doubt in my mind by that time that I was in the hands of robbers, I couldn't help but laugh.

" 'Why, I haven't got that much money in the bank,' I replied. 'What would be the use of writing a check for that amount?'

" ' Well, write one for $20,000,' interjected the tall gunman, who by that time had deturned to my side and held a pistol at my head.

" ' I haven't a check book with me,' I told 'Flood,' who by that time had revealed he was anything but an invalid.

" ' We can accommodate you in that respect,' he said and, reaching into his pocket, drew out a blank check of the Columbia Bank.

"Then 'Flood' said to me: 'You bank in the Bank of America, Gertsle, and I want you to make out a check for $20,000 on that bank.'

"I demurred, whereupon the three gunmen pressed their pistols at my head and warned me they would shoot unless I began to write. Behrman was bound in a rocking chair near the window. I began to write and 'Flood' turned to the gunmen and said:

" ' Blindfold that fellow, so that he can't see what's going on.'

They wrapped towels around Behrman's head, and when he attempted to lift his hands to protest against their wrapping the towels around pressed the point of a dagger against his shoulder.

"I scratched out the name of the Columbia Bank and substituted that of my own bank and filled in the figures $20,000. Then 'Flood' arose, and taking the check, told the 'hallboy' and one of the Hindus to bind me and to keep me covered with their pistols until they returned from the Bank of America with the money.

"I know the check would not be cashed, for I had no such sum on deposit there, and I began to wonder how I could extricate Behrman, and myself from our predicament. As 'Flood' was leaving the room with the other Hindus he turned to the 'hallboy' and said:

" 'If we are not back by 1 o'clock give them the works.' I realized he meant 'kill them.'

"It was near 11 o'clock before the 'hallboy' and the other man guard would converse with us. Then I convinced them that the other three robbers had obtained the $20,000 on the check and were not coming back.

"The 'hallboy' and his conferate held a conference, after which the Hindu got a pitcher and two glasses from a closet. He poured what appeared to be water out of the pitcher, and he and the 'hallboy' insisted on our drinking the fluid. We protested we were not thirsty, and they laid the glasses on the table.

"A few minutes later 'Flood' and the other two Hindus returned, and 'Flood 'demanded that I write out another check on a blank check of the Bank of America. I did so, and he left again with the other two. Half an hour later the 'hallboy' and the second of our guards had a conference and decided to release me, so that I could accompany the 'hallboy" to another bank, where I had told them I had money The Hindu said he would remain behind to hold Behrman as a hostage.

"I was released. The Mexican took off his uniform and, placing a pistol in his coat pocket, started for the street with me. When we reached the sidewalk I knocked him down. He got up and ran toward Columbus Avenue and I ran to Broadway and Seventy-third Street, where I found Policeman Kelly of the West Sixty-eighth Street Station and a traffic policeman.

"I hastily outlined my story to them and they went back to the house with me. We crept up the stairs, and the policemen burst into the room to find Behrman still blindfolded and bound to the chair and the Hindu standing over him with a long dagger. The policemen knocked the dagger out of hand and released Behrman. Then the Hindu was taken to the station and locked up.

"It took a long time for the Lieutenant and detectives of the station to understand what had happened, and then Detectives Conkling and Kirn on to the house to hide in the closets in the room to await the possible return of the robbers who left with check. When they reacher the house they were informed by the housekeeper, who knew nothing about the hold-up, that the three men had returned a few minutes before and had hastily departed. The detectives went to the room and found the masks, pistols, daggers, sash cord and water, which they are going to have analyzed to see if it contains poison.

"Detectives Mnning and Keenan called on me at my office yesterday to obtain better descriptions of 'Flood' and he other three robbers, when in walked the Mexican. I had given him my business card when I was trying to induce him to release me, and he said he decided to call on me because he had not received any of the loot.

"Employes in my office had just told the detectives that 'Flood' and 'Stewart' had called at the office Saurday morning while Behrman and I were being held prisoners uptown, and that they sought to have one of them endorse the check I had given them. The detectves had cild up, the bank and learned that the men had presented the first check; the paying teller had become suspicious and had given them a blank check for my signature

"When I told the detectives the Mexican was one of the robbers, they grabbedl him.

" 'Well, I took a chance on you, Gerstle,' he said. "I kne w it would either be Sing Sing or that you would lend me enough money to get back to Mexico.' "

Behrman was present during the real estate man's recital of the hold-up and frequently interjected explanations of the details. He said that when Cervantes and Hasim were questioned by the detectives they declared they had been hired by "Stew art" to assist "Flood" in th hold-up, and added that all of the robbers were strangers to the city.

YAP ISLAND GIVES CONCERN.

Peace Conference Gave It to Japan, Now the United States is Objecting—Trouble Rumors Are Rife

Canadian Press.

NEW YORK, (By Mail)—To the myriad after-war problems must be added the new and complicated geography the great struggle has left in its wake. Points once of minor importance, some of them absolutely unknown to ninety-nine and one-half per cent. of the inhabitants of this planet, have suddenly assumed "places in the sun" and must be reckoned with. One of these is the Island of Yap.

Time was when people got along very nicely without ever having heard of the Island of Yap. Then the war came. Today Yap is a name that, if not on everybody's lips, is at least in everybody's newspaper. In brief form the story is that Yap once belonged to Germany. The Peace Conference gave it to Japan. Now the United States is objecting to Japanese control of the tight little island, the chief value of which is that it is a landing point for the former German trans-Pacific cable. Diplomats are scratching their heads and trouble rumors are rife over the ownership of this once-obscure Yap.

Mr. Hearst, who uses his newspapers to spread anti-British propaganda in the United States, has seized upon Yap as a species of sumbol of inter-Allied lack of harmony. There is a series of cartoons running in his organs from one coast of the United States to the other. In each cartoon the various Allies, from big John Bull down to the assorted "small nations," are shown deriding Uncle Sam and ironically wishing him success in collecting from the war debt they owe him. The libretto usually runs something like this:

"For Uncle Sam's feelings we don't care a rap

"So we'll all take a trip to the Island of Yap."

With all this publicity, with Japan asserting that she will hold on to the island, the United States demanding that the place be internationalized, and the other powers watchfully waiting for the issue, Yap has become well worth knowing about. Like Heligoland, it has taken on an importance out of all proportion to its size.

The island lies in the North Pacific, and is one of the Caroline group. During the Peace Conference in Paris, in May, 1919, at a meeting at which the Japanese representative was not present, it was decided that the mandate for the Pacific Islands north of the Equator, formerly belonging to Germany should be awarded to Japan, and the mandate for those south of the Equator to Australia and New Zealand. Later on, it was discovered at Washington that Yap was worth worrying about, and the United States government took the position that Japan had no right to it. The German cable line from Shanghai passing through Yap was taken over by Japan, and its oriental terminus moved to Tokio. Therein lies the reason for the United States' objection.

Guap or Wap—the name was originally spelled either way—was discovered by Spanish navigators in the 16th century, and like all the Caroline group, came under Spanish dominion. It isn't much of an island, and its population of 7,000 to 8,000 Malays live in indolent ease and bother not at all with international politics.

Yap is equally well situated for communication with Japan, China, the Philippines, the Dutch East Indies, and New Guinea. Moreover, it is a convenient station on the trans-Pacific route via Honolulu to San Francisco. So when Germany entered the colonial field she cast eyes on Yap, and in 1885 the gunboat Itis raised the German flag on the island. There was much excitement in Madrid, but the hope being appealed to decided in favor of Spanish sovereignty. However, some fourteen years later, in 1899, after the Spanish-American war, Spain sold the Carolines, together with the Pelow and Marianne (Ladrone) Islands, to Germany for $4,200,00—all except Guam Island in the Ladrones, which the United States had acquired in 1898. Guam is some 360 miles from Yap—a trifling distance in the Pacific—and has much the same geographical position.

Both Germany and the United States realized the importance of these two islands as cable bases. Today an all-American cable runs from San Francisco, via Honolulu, Guam and Manila, to Shanghai, while from Guam another cable, the southern part under U. S. control, the northern Japanese, goes direct to Yokohama. The Germans on their part, through the agency of the German Netherlands Company, laid cables direct from Yap to Shanghai, from Yap to Menado, in the Dutch East Indies, and from Yap to Guam. The Yap-Guam cable was of much service to people in the United States, as it gave them an alternative to the Guam-Manila cable for communication with China.

On the outbreak of the war Japanese naval forces occupied the Ladrone, Pelow, and Caroline Islands, including Yap, and on May 7, 1919, the Peace Conference gave the mandate for the islands to Japan. By the Treaty of Versailles, Germany, among other cables, renounced in favor of the principal Allied and Associated Powers the cables from Yap to Shanghai, to Guam, and to Menado. The allocation of these cables among the powers is the business of the Washington International Communications Conference, whose meetings will shortly be resumed.

RICKARD STILL WILL NOT NAME FIGHT LOCATION

NEW YORK, March 17. — Tex Rickard is not ready to announce where Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier will make their fortunes.

The proprietor of the big show said he probably would let the public in on his little secret within a week—or maybe not until April 1.

Failure to get a few minor ends together prevented him from announcing the scene of the battle as he intended, he said.

Rickard laughed at the stories that the fight has blown up.

"These tales that Carpentier hasn't his forfeit money posted, that his wife has forbidden him to go through with his agreement and that he's looking for a way to run out of it, are good advertising if they are not true," he said.

Carpentier is sailing from France for America on May 4 and will arrive here about May 15, according to Captain T. J. Mallett, close friend and American representattve of the Frenchman.

"In a letter just received, Carpentier says he will close his exhibition tour on April 15 and will rest until the day for sailing," Mallett said.

"It is not true that Descamps has not posted his forfeit. I was present in Paris when he deposited the money to the credit of the American bank named in the agreement. The money is just as safe as if it were deposited in this country."

Mallett, who returned recently from Paris, says he feels sure Carpentier will not agree to any change in the purse and will insist that every provision of the original agreement be carried out.

"They have no doubt, however, that it will be carried out," he said.

The Frenchmen are not particularly concerned about the scene of the encounter since it seems sure that it will be in America, according to Mallett.

ANOTHER VERSION.

NEW YORK, March 17. — The world's championship match between Georges Carpentier and Jack Dempsey will not be held in Europe, but on the American continent, Tex Rickard, promoter, announced here. Rickard was expected to give his answer some time this week to promoters interested in holding the bout in Montreal. He said he was not ready to make public his answer. He added he had received word that Carpentier would arrive in the United States May 1 to start training for the bout. The general impression among those who are in close touch with Rickard, seems to be that there is little likelihood of the fight being staged in Montreal.

"Common sense as well as experience should teach those who suffer from nervousness and weakness that the most logical thing to do is to put into their systems the substance that is lacking, and that is pure organic phosphate, Bitro-Phosphate," says Dr. Joseph Harrigan. SEE PERSONS, REGARDLESS OF THE DISTANCE.

Is Claim of A. T. Hawkins a Returned Soldier.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 17. — (Canadian Press.) — Through the use of telepathy and concentration A. T. Hawkins of this city, claims it is possible not only to speak to, but to see persons, objects and places, regardless of distance.

Mr. Hawkins is a returned soldier, and the strange influences which beset him, and by turns oppress, uplift or worry him, have been felt most strongly since his return from the war, where he served three years. The most definite manifestation of this development is the ability to hear, and Mr. Hawkins firmly believes, to transmit the human voice over interminable distances, even interplanetary distances, without mechanical aid.

"This is not a theory with me," Mr. Hawkins stated recently. "It is an actual experience. I have distinctly heard people talking together at a distance—a distance far beyond earshot. I mean as distinctly as if I had my ear to a telephone. I can receive voices, and I can transmit them, not in the manner of ordinary telepathic impressions which the recipient himself translates into words, but as definite sounds in the ear. I claim more—I can transmit the music of specific instruments so that the person or persons with whom I have made arrangements will be able not only to hear the tune, but to discern and to say what instrument is playing."

TORPID LIVER For Over 4 Months

The duty of the liver is to prepare and secrete bile and serve as a filter to the blood, cleansing it of all impurities and poisons.

When the liver becomes laxy, slow or torpid it is not working properly, and does not supply sufficient bile to thoroughly act on the bowels and carry off the waste products of the system, hence the bowels become clogged up, the bile gets into the blood, constipation sets in and liver troubles follow.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills quickly remove the secretions, clear away the waste and effete matter by acting directly on the liver, and making the bile pass through the bowels instead of allowing it to get into the blood, and cause so many troubles.

Mrs. Alice Mehill, Napanee, Ont., writes:—'I was very badly run down, and had a torpid liver for four months. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. One day my husband brought me home a vial of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and before I had used half of it I was much better. I only used two vials, and I am a different person to-day. I can safely recommend Laxa-Liver Pills to any one troubled wtih liver trouble."

WORKS 500 FEET BENEATH WATER.

In Aluminum Diving Suit Just Invented.

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 17.—(Canadan Press.)—That he can dive five hundred feet into the ocean and still work comfortably and easily is the contention of Frank Walters, diver and inventor of an aluminum diving suit. In a recent test he reached a depth of 396 feet, said to be a world's record.

The suit is built of 5-8 and 1-2 inch metal and weighs over 300 pounds. In making his recent descent Mr. Walker added fifty pounds of lead to the soles of his shoes. Owing to the rigidity of the suit the pressure at the great depth attained was but forty pounds to the square inch inside the suit while it was 170 pounds on the outside. The suit has ball-bearing joints and artificial hands and cost about $3,000 to build. Mr. Walters is a well known diver. He brought the safe out of the Princess Sophia.

RESULTS DISAPPOINTING.

Fitz Jones— Did you go to music hall last evening, Percy? De Brown —No; I attended a sleight-of-hand performance. Fitz Jones—Where? De Brown— I went to call on Miss Le Smythe, and offered her my hand, but she slighted it.

HOW LONDON MET HOUSE SHORTAGE

EXPERIMENTS TO SOLVE DEARTH OF FLATS IN WORLD METROPOLIS.

By Lydia Kingsmill Commander.

LONDON.—In order to meet the flat "famine" in London, which, West End agents state, is as acute as ever, a scheme that has been tried with great success in New York is to be introduced into London, and plans are now being prepared for the erection of fifty flats in a big site at Regent's Park.

The evolution of the old town-flat from a make-shift Bohemian abode of cramped conveniences to a comfortable permanent modern residence is being illustrated in the new Regent's Park scheme, now being launched.

The great obstacle to the provision of further flat accomodation has been the fact that, the cost of the building has risen three times as compared with 1914, while rents have only risen about double, therefore, speculators are deterred from investing money in building. For example, a block of fifty flats which before the war could have been put up for $150,000, would now cost $450,000. That is a very large sum for a builder to find especially when he would have to pay a very high rate of interest—at least eleven percent.

It is believed that the problem would be rendered much more simple if, in the case of a block of fifty flats worth $2,000 a year each, the tenants were charged $500 a year rent on a lease of forty years and allowed to commute the remaining $1,500 for a cash payment of $15,000. The advantage of such a scheme to the builder is that he would get the whole of his capital outlay at once, without borrowing, and the rents would give him a certain $25,000 a year free from all deductions, except the cost of lifts and the provision of porters. The tenants would be responsible for all repairs and for rates (taxes). Even if the $500 a year from each flat was swallowed up in expenses it has to be remembered that the builder gets rid of the capital cost at the outset, and at the end of forty years the building—a very valuable asset—reverts to him free of debt.

Thus the modern business man and his wife are considering buying and taking up their permanent residence in a modern spacious flat within easy reach of Central London.

The magnificent flats in a block known as North Gate, for instance, are familiar to many a Londoner, with their mahogany doors and parquet floors. They are centrally heated, and have a constant supply of hot water, and every possible household convenience. It is on the lines of these buildings, and with even further improvements, that the new block of flats will be erected. The architecture will do justice to their charming surroundings. The idea has already been popular in New York for some time, as a form of co-operative building, but the present scheme is a purely British undertaking, backed by British enterprise.

LAW HAS NO POWER AGAINST "BED HOG"

NEW YORK, March 16.—The law has no power to push a man over in bed to make room for his wife. So ruled the desk sergeant at the West 47th Police Station the other night when a woman weighing 300 pounds complained to him that her husband would not move over and let her into bed She requested a policeman or two to do the job, after her own efforts had proved abortive. She must have 40 winks, she said, as she had to go to work the following morning to keep the "bed hog" and herself.

DEFENSE FAILS TO WAIVE ARGUMENT

JUDGE RULES MOVE OUT IN THE HAMON MURDER TRIAL YESTERDAY.

ARDMORE, Okla., March 17.—(Associated Press.)—An effort of the defense to waive its right of argument and have the case of Clara Smith Hamon, on trial, charged with the murder of Jake L. Hamon, go immediately to the jury, was ruled out by Judge Thomas J. Champion yesterday, and defense counsel began its plea for acquittal of the defendant.

The defense surprised the State and the court by waiving its right of argument and asking immediate submission of the case to the jury after H. H. Brown, special prosecutor, had completed the opening argument for the prosecution.

The dramatic close followed a day of comparative inaction. A few hours in the morning sufficed for the examination of the half dozen witnesses in rebuttal for the State, and for argument on the admissibility of several letters written by Hamon to Clara Hamon. The court barred the communications.

During the reading of the charge to the jury, Mrs. Jake L. Hamon, who sat in her usual seat opposite Clara Hamon, cried silently. She kept her eyes closed tightly and choked back sobs. Tears ran down her cheeks.

Clara Hamon sat beside her uncle, Ben Harrison, and was unmoved as Judge Champion read through the long charge.

H. H. Brown, special prosecutor, in opening argument for the State, said he had no personal feeling in the matter and explained, turning to Clara Hamon and her relatives that in the heat of battle, lawyers said things they otherwise might not say.

This was interpreted as an apology to Mrs. Suith, the mother of Clara, to whom Mr. Brown referred yesterday as the "old woman."

As he refrrred to Hamon's alleged dying staement to the Rev. T. J. Irwin, quoting Hamon as having said: "Well preacher, she got the old man instead of the old woman," Mrs. Hamon, the widow, sobbed aloud.

Warning Letter.

Mr. Brown asserted that Clara Hamon's story of the shooting of Mr. Hamon, uncle of her former husband, and with whom she had lived eight or nine years, was told from the witness stand yesterday in a "schooled, tragic voice."

The prosecutor also made much of a contract between Mr. Hamon and Clara, introduced as evidence, and according to which she was to work for Mr. Hamon for $35 a week provided that should a child, boy or girl, be born of their relations such child should receive $35 a week, be recognized by the father and share in the Hamon estae.

Atorney Brown's references to her as a woman who had crept into the Hamon home and who had sold herself body and soul, brought from the young defendant no sign of emotion. Her uncle, who sat beside his niece in the court room, scowled at the attorney, and the faces of the other relatives grouped about showed signs of marked disapproval as he referred to the Smith family as having profited by the illicit relations of Clara Hamon with Mr. Hamon.

Earlier in the day, agreement had been reached that each side should have five hours for argument, and the motion by the defense at the close of Mr. Brown's argument came as a surprise.

There were reports about the county building to-day of threats made against State counsel and the jurors should a verdict of guilty be returned. Sheriff Buck Garrett said, however, that no such reports had reached him, with one exception, that of a letter written to a member of the defense counsel in which a warning was given of possible violence to the defendant should she be acquitted.

Special Prosecutor Brown said that dangerous threats had been made against him, but he would not go into details.

FRENCH MOTHER-IN-LAW PICTURED AS DIPLOMAT.

LONDON.—Why, asks Elizabeth Marc, in The London Daily Mail, is the mother-in-law a failure in England and a success in France?

"The English attitude toward her," she writes, "is aptly expressed in the hideous appellation 'mother-law!' Who could love a mother with the legal reminder tacked on? How much more gracious is the courtly French designation 'Belle Mere'!

"Of course, they have the mother-in-law joke in France,' but it is without malice, and in most cases without meaning, for Belle Mere is, far more often than not, an unmitigated success and a most welcome addition to the household. In France it is rare for the wife's mother to keep a separate establishment. Think of the expense—and how much better to share income and motor car! Thus the young menage can afford a larger house and indulge in luxuries that might otherwise be beyond their grasp.

"But Belle Mere's benevolences do not stop here. The housekeeping passes into her experienced hands and she sees to it that during the first critical months of married life the young wife shall be free to go out with her husband and join in his pleasures and amusements.

"Later, too, when babies arrive, Belle Mere establishes herself as nurse in chief. It is she who accompanies the children to the park or plays with them untiringly throughout a rainy day.

"'What would you?' she says. 'My daughter must occupy herself with her husband. Otherwise . . .'

"Yet there is nothing in all this that English mothers-in-law would not gladly do. Why, then, must English mothers and married daughters live rigidly apart? Even a visit from mother in-law to a young menage is too apt to result in tears.

"The reason is not far to seek. It lies in tact and tactics.

"From the moment her child is married the French mother disciplines herself to what she considers a sacred duty. It is to idolize her son- or daughter-in-law.

"The wife's mother and husband speedily become fast friends. He consults her in all his difficulties. She even advises him in his business affairs.

"Similarly if it is the husband's mother who shares the house, she sets a halo upon his wife. True, Belle Mere does the housekeeping, sees to the cooking, helps with the sewing. But the glory of it all she ascribes to the young wife.

"How different is the method of the British mother-in-law!

"'My darling,' she whispers, as soon as she enters her son-in-law's house, 'tell me, are you happy? Is he all you thought him? Is he kind to you?'

"And Belle Mere?

"'My little,' she exclaims, 'that young man is adorable and he worships you. But what have you got for his dinner?'

"In the quarrels of everyday life Belle Mere invariably supports her son-in-law. But, strange to say, both mother and husband are frequently won over to the daughter's viewpoint. Oh, how wise and how truly kind is Belle Mere!"

GRAB THE RATTLES IN THEIR INFANCY.

The more expensive a car is the longer you expect it to run without rattles. Yet it is possible with even the lowest priced cars to keep the rattles out if you but catch them as they appear. They will come one by one and if they are caught in the same manner they will not be nearly so hard to remove as they would be if they are allowed to accumulate in a troublesome chorus before they are stopped.

Rattles in the brake linkage and other parts under the car can be found by shutting off the engine and allowing the car to coast in neutral gear. If someone stands or sits on the running board while the driver does this, many sounds that have been difficult to locate will be readily found. These link rods are a typical example of noise that will often defy the efforts of the driver to find, while another person sitting on the running board or outside the car will have little or no difficulty in locating.

TUBE THROUGH THE EARTH.

Recently, at a meeting of some prominent men in England, the question of sinking a shaft into the earth to a depth of from 12 to 30 miles, as a possible new source of power was discussed. The cost of sinking such a shaft to 12 miles would be at least $20,000,000 and would take about 85 years to complete, this being about ten times the depth of any shaft in existence.

The greatest problem to be reckoned with would be that of heat, it being definitely known that the temperature rises one degree to every 70 feet of descent. Durin the first two or three miles the waste matter could be hoisted to the surface by means of a cable, but beyond this depth cables of the best steel would break under their own weight.

Although engineers could doubtless tackle this tremendous task, the problems involved would be of quite a novel and difficult nature.

9,211,295 AUTOS IN AMERICA.

New York Has More Than the Whole Country Had in 1910.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Motor cars registered in the United States last year numbered 9,211,295, an increase of 1,643,849 over the preceding year, or 22 per cent., the Bureau of Public Roads announced to-day. The registration and license fees amounted to $102,034,106.

In New York State alone the number of cars registered in 1920 exceeded the total registration for the United States in 1910, and the revenue derived in the Empire State from this source was about equal to the entire registration revenues of the United States in 1913. Ninety-six per cent. of the 1920 revenue was applied to road maintenance or construction.

POOR FATHER.

A little boy repeatedly arrived late at school. One day the headmaster said to him: "Next time you are late I'd like you to bring an excuse from your father."

"I don't want to bring an excuse from father," said the boy.

"Why not?"

"He's no good at them. Mother always finds him out."

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

RE-ESTABLISH THE MONARCHY

ATTEMPT TO BRING HAPSBURGS BACK TO POWER IN AUSTRIA LIKELY IN NEAR FUTURE.

(By Leon Schalit — Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service).

VIENNA, March 18.—Ex-Emperor Karl, from his Swiss exile, is watching closely, and with evident satisfaction, the trend of the political situation here. The party in power, the Christian Socialists, represent all the reactionary elements in Austria, and are supported by the Pan-Germans and the Clericals. The latter, who inspire all the utterances and policies of the Christian Socialists, cannot renounce their great love for the Hapsburg dynasty, under whose rule they waxed exceedingly fat and powerful.

Karl still considers himself regent of Austria, and "apostolic king" of the Magyars. He is a weak man, utterly under the thumb of his wife, and influenced by his mother-in-law, who is thirsting to return to power. The other day Karl addressed a letter to his "beloved loyal Hungarian subjects," in which he expressed the hope of returning soon, as he thought England and France would no longer object. As a matter of fact, it is quiet realized here that neither the Entente nor the new states would tolerate such an attempt, which would expose the whole of Central Europe to disastrous military adventures.

If Karl really loved "his nation" as passionately as he pretends, he might have behaved otherwise than he did in the affair of the Crown jewels which has just come to light. It is well-known that the Austrian Imperial family owned a tremendous quantity of art treasures and other valuable accumulated in the course of centuries. After the debacle in the autumn of 1918, when he had to flee to Switzerland, he was accompanied by most of the artistocrats and military leaders who preferred not to risk their necks. They took with them as many of their treasures as they possibly could, and it is said that by bribing the Customs officials and frontier guards, they succeeded in exporting whole trainloads of most valuable pictures, statuary, antique furniture, tapestries, jewellery, foreign coins and bank notes, gold, silver, etc. According to the new law, this was high treason, but they just risked it. Karl left the former Foreign Minister, Count Berchtold, here to look after his affairs, and it must be said that the Count looked after them very well. He got hold of the most important valuables of the Emperor, especially the Crown jewels, smuggled them across the frontier, and deposited them on his master's account at a Swiss bank, where they still are. Their value is estimated at some 2,000,000 francs, which is equivalent to such an amount in kronen as would save this unfortunate country from utter ruin.

The Social Democrats declare that these jewels belong to Austria and not to the ex-Emperor. Karl asserts that they belong to him by possession, by the law of heritage, and by "divine right." And the Treaty of Versailles declares the jewels to be the property of the Austrian State. Among them is an immensely valuable diamond known as "the Florentine," claimed by Italy, which has a right to it under the Peace Treaty. Hence international complications are quite likely to result.

Amid all the misery and starvation, dancing is more popular than ever, and palaces blazing with a thousand lights are crowded nightly with the new rich. Speculators and profiteers hold high revel, their womenfolk displaying the most gorgeous and costly toilettes. Tickets for masked balls during Carnival time cost 2,000 kronen (nominally $400), and ten times that amount for a box. Truly Vienna seems to be dancing on a volcano, and many people say that no other city would put up with such glaring injustice as is shown by such unbridled frivolity and such appalling misery.

Many, perhaps a majority, of the revellers are foreigners. The genuine Viennese are now so poor that they cannot afford luxurious pleasures; and it seems as if they will soon be a dying race. Despite regulations forbidding the use of white flour, all kinds of pastry and other delicacies are obtainable at the smart cafes. Occasionally there is a raid on a cabaret by the police, who search all visitors for foreign money (in which many speculate wildly), and confiscate all white-flour luxuries. Sometimes they close the place on account of its exorbitant charges—$6 for one sardine is an example. "Live and let die" is the slogan of the profiteers, attributed wittingly to them by one well-known writer.

GERMANY ABLE TO PAY DEBTS

SIR HARRY BRITAIN, AFTER TOUR OF GERMANY, DECLARES HUNS CAN PAY EVERY PFENNIG.

(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON, March 18.—That Germany can pay every pfennig demanded of her is the emphatic declaration made by Sir Harry Brittain, M.P., to a correspondent of the Cross-Atlantic who approached him on his return from an extended tour through Germany, Czecho-Slovakia, and Austria.

Sir Harry Brittain, who ranks as one of the great newspaper owners of Britain, and is well known in Canada from the prominent part he took in organising the Imperial Press Conference of last year. Apart from his various journalistic ventures Sir Harry is also interested in many large social and business movements, and finds time in his spare moments to perform his duties as a member of Parliament.

"Everywhere," he said, "one could not put down the feeling that this once great and powerful nation, Germany, would be great and powerful again.

"But," he said, "the comparison between the German-speaking Austrian and the German-speaking German is perfectly amazing, and struck me with particular force, because I knew both countries intimately before the war, and, although I have been in Germany on three or four occasions since the Armistice, I had not re-visited Austria.

"The Austrian is now waiting to be spoon-fed at every angle.

"The German is now pulling, and in many cases has pulled himself together, and the great machine is getting into full swing right across the country.

Hatred for France.

"I was in villages and small towns in Eastern Prussia and Bavaria, as well as in the great centre of Berlin, and every where one could not put down the feeling that this once great and powerful nation would be great and powerful again.

"The hatred for France is intense; in fact, at the moment all their hatred seems to be concentrated upon our great Ally."

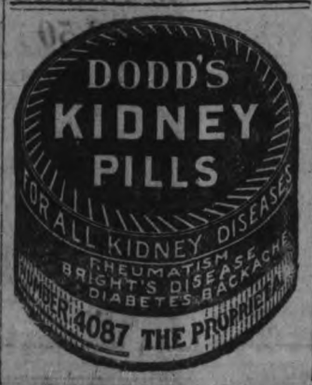
In view of what has since transpired in the matter of the conference on reparations, Sir Harry's observation whilst in Germany is particularly apropos regarding objections which have been raised to the Allies' demands.

Germany Can Pay.

"I am firmly convinced," he said, "that Germany can pay every pfennig demanded of her.

"What the people do seem to want to know in various quarters and of course, there is justification for it, is exactly where they stand, and not to be left for an eternal length of time in doubt.

"As far as we are concerned, and my wife was with me, it is only fair to say that we were accorded the most courteous treatment throughout, and although going through with a very critical eye, there was nothing in the slightest to take exception to."



C.N.R. RUNS DEEP IN DEBT

EARNINGS $25,000,000 GREATER THAN 1919, BUT DEFICIT IS $20,000,000 GREATER.

LITTLE OPTIMISM

OTTAWA, March 18. — (Canadian Press.) — Although the gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways in 1920 exceeded those in 1919, by twenty-five million dollars, that gain in revenue was not sufficient to counter balance the increase in the operating expenses during the past year. Hon. Dr. J. D. Reid consequently found himself obliged to report to the Commons in his annual statement on the estimates of the Department of Railways delivered yesterday, that the deficit of the roads owned and controlled by the government was twenty millions greater in 1920 than in the previous year.

Increases in wages, the cost of fuel, equipment, material and supplies, the Minister of Railways stated, had placed the National Railways in a position that for every dollar they earned they had operating obligations to the amount of $1.29 to meet. Of every dollar that they earned in 1920 they paid 75c for operating wages and 20c for fuel.

The railways were thus compelled to meet operating expenses greater than their revenue. They were also burdened by fixed charges, that is bonded indebtedness, nearly six millions greater in 1920 than in 1919.

The Minister of Railways was not able to cheer the house by the hope of a considerable reduction in the deficits in 1920. The directors of the Canadian National Railways estimated the total operating deficits and fixed charges of the Canadian Northern, Canadian Government and Grand Trunk Pacific this year at $49,892,720, not including interest to the amount of $11,000,000 on advances by the Government to the Canadian Northern System.

Concluding his address the Minister of Railways declared himself still a believer in the ultimate success of the National Railways. That success, however, would be dependent upon the character of the management of the lines.

Therefore he invited a frank, non-partizan discussion of the situation by the House, and urged cooperation between the management and the employees of the system.

LONDON WOMAN IS MUCH GRATIFIED

MRS. PUGSLEY OBTAINS WONDERFUL RESULTS FROM TAKING TANLAC.

"I will always feel grateful to the lady in Toronto who advised me to take Tanlac," said Mrs. Gertrude Pugsley, of 74 Colborne Street, London, Ontario.

"For three years I suffered from a general run-down condition, following a severe operation. I was in the hospital for a month, and after coming home it yas fully ten weeks before I could get around very much, and then with great difficulty. I could neither eat nor sleep with any satisfaction, and had very little strength. I was not satisfied with the way I was mending, and decided to get something to build me up.

"I read a statement from a lady in Toronto about Tanlac, and I wrote to her, and she advised me to try it, by all means. It certainly has been a godsend to me, and I am glad I followed her advice, for I am a well woman to-day. I began to pick up from the very start, and my strength gradually came back. I have a fine appetite, sleep soundly all night long, and my work is a pleasure. I am grateful for what Tanlac did for me, and I believe it will do the same for others."

How Much Better Every Good Thing Looks When the Sun Shines

Of course, it is the sun that gives the glow of colors to the prism, and the glint of gold and silver to the ice, or the forest leaves on the hillside.

But, most of all, the warmth and glowing energy of the sunshine lifts up the spirits of every human being and makes one feel that it is enormously good JUST TO BE ALIVE.

And that alone makes everything seem better and more interesting.

This spring there is another sun that is shining beneficially on all of us.

It is the Sun of Fair Prices for Goods.

TAKE HOLIDAY ON FARM TILL TIME FOR TRIAL

Far from the nervous struggle and worry of city life, Edgar Morton Brown, former teller of the Bank of Montreal, who was released on bail Monday afternoon after being committed in the morning on a charge of theft of bank moneys, in company with his parents and family will journey to the old farmstead near Thomasburg to-day, where he will rest until the time of his trial in court.

J. E. Brown, father of the young teller, said that the decision to go on the farm to rest had been reached at the family re-union on Tuesday after his release from jail.

"Edgar certainly needs a change from city life in order to build up," declared Mr. Brown, who added that he himself already wished he was back on the farm looking after his live stock.

Nothing Like Comfort of Farm.

"After all," said Mr. Brown with a little smile, "there's nothing like the farm for real comfort and rest especially in time of trouble. There one can get close to nature and somehow or other after a little while everything looks different and the answer seems plainer to puzzling questions."

"Some people think that farm life is too quiet, but after thirty-seven years on the farm, I have come to the conclusion that life in a city is too noisy and nerve-wracking. Edgar has become a sick boy in the city and I am taking him back to the country where he was always a healthy little lad."

Hundreds of Letters Received.

Mrs. E. M. Brown was smiling when the reporter called to see her this morning. "Have you heard the very latest news?" was her greeting. "We're going up to the old farm where Edgar and little 'Billy James' always have such good times together. Edgar's father and mother have told us that we've just got to leave the old apartment and come along with them, so we're closing up the apartment and leaving everything for a week or two of holidays. Of course Edgar will be back two or three days before his trial, and I certainly intend to come with him.

Mrs. Brown said that she never received such a large amount of mail in her life as had been delivered to her door by the postman during the past two weeks. "I have received letters from all over the city and from many parts of the province all expressing their sympathy for the family in our trouble," she said with a smile.

THE TRIUMPH OF CANADIAN PIANIST.

Miss Mona Bates, One of World's Foremost.

TORONTO, March 18.—(Canadian Press).—The triumph of Miss Mona Bates, the brilliant young Canadian pianist, as soloist with the New York Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Walter Damrosch, at Massey Hall here during the past week, was an event of interest, not only to music-lovers but to all Canadians. It established that young artist as one of the foremost pianists of her sex in the world.

Miss Bates won a triumph. She played, with orchestral accompaniment, the massive concerto in E flat of Liszt in masterly style. The big passages were played with brilliant vitality, amazing in a player of her dainty physique, and the delicate passages were colored with entrancing imagery. And now Toronto and all other Canadian cities will want to hear Mona Bates in a full recital programme. The new Canadian star of the piano has all the equipment of a popular concert artist—a charming personality and a style of playing rarely beautiful and distinguished.

SHEEP IN WEST FOR PERSIAN LAMB SKINS.

REGINA, March 17. — Karakul sheep, which supply Persian lamb skins, as well as mutton and wool, will thrive as well in Saskatchewan as anywhere, according to an opinion expressed by W. E. Dinwiddie, North Battleford, who is the owner of a flock. Mr. Dinwiddie's flock number 100, the second largest in Canada, and the third in North America.

Doubtless the way of the transgressor is hard, but the people who travel thereon have no time to get lonesome.

Far from the nervous struggle and worry of city life, Edgar Morton Brown, former teller of the Bank of Montreal, who was released on bail Monday afternoon after being committed in the morning on a charge of theft of bank moneys, in company with his parents and family will journey to the old farmstead near Thomasburg to-day, where he will rest until the time of his trial in court.

J. E. Brown, father of the young teller, said that the decision to go on the farm to rest had been reached at the family re-union on Tuesday after his release from jail.

"Edgar certainly needs a change from city life in order to build up," declared Mr. Brown, who added that he himself already wished he was back on the farm looking after his live stock.

Nothing Like Comfort of Farm.

"After all," said Mr. Brown with a little smile, "there's nothing like the farm for real comfort and rest especially in time of trouble. There one can get close to nature and somehow or other after a little while everything looks different and the answer seems plainer to puzzling questions."

"Some people think that farm life is too quiet, but after thirty-seven years on the farm, I have come to the conclusion that life in a city is too noisy and nerve-wracking. Edgar has become a sick boy in the city and I am taking him back to the country where he was always a healthy little lad."

Hundreds of Letters Received.

Mrs. E. M. Brown was smiling when the reporter called to see her this morning. "Have you heard the very latest news?" was her greeting. "We're going up to the old farm where Edgar and little 'Billy James' always have such good times together. Edgar's father and mother have told us that we've just got to leave the old apartment and come along with them, so we're closing up the apartment and leaving everything for a week or two of holidays. Of course Edgar will be back two or three days before his trial, and I certainly intend to come with him.

Mrs. Brown said that she never received such a large amount of mail in her life as had been delivered to her door by the postman during the past two weeks. "I have received letters from all over the city and from many parts of the province all expressing their sympathy for the family in our trouble," she said with a smile.

THE TRIUMPH OF CANADIAN PIANIST.

Miss Mona Bates, One of World's Foremost.

TORONTO, March 18.—(Canadian Press).—The triumph of Miss Mona Bates, the brilliant young Canadian pianist, as soloist with the New York Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Walter Damrosch, at Massey Hall here during the past week, was an event of interest, not only to music-lovers but to all Canadians. It established that young artist as one of the foremost pianists of her sex in the world.

Miss Bates won a triumph. She played, with orchestral accompaniment, the massive concerto in E flat of Liszt in masterly style. The big passages were played with brilliant vitality, amazing in a player of her dainty physique, and the delicate passages were colored with entrancing imagery. And now Toronto and all other Canadian cities will want to hear Mona Bates in a full recital programme. The new Canadian star of the piano has all the equipment of a popular concert artist—a charming personality and a style of playing rarely beautiful and distinguished.

SHEEP IN WEST FOR PERSIAN LAMB SKINS.

REGINA, March 17. — Karakul sheep, which supply Persian lamb skins, as well as mutton and wool, will thrive as well in Saskatchewan as anywhere, according to an opinion expressed by W. E. Dinwiddie, North Battleford, who is the owner of a flock. Mr. Dinwiddie's flock number 100, the second largest in Canada, and the third in North America.

Doubtless the way of the transgressor is hard, but the people who travel thereon have no time to get lonesome.

CONDEMNED 174 MOVIE FILMS.

112 Others Suffered Eliminations by Censor.

EDMONTON, March 17.—(Canadian Press). — One hundred and seventy-four moving picture films were condemned by the censor in Alberta last year; 112 other films suffered eliminations. These figures were given to the public accounts committee of the Legislature by Howard Douglas, chief censor, who said that 10,000 feet of "rough stuff" clipped from films and stored in his archives represented only the unclaimed portion of censored shockers.

Mr. Douglas submitted to the committee copies of the standard which the Alberta censor employes in judging films. This is the standard adopted by the four western provinces. It puts under the ban pictures portraying "white slavery unless a true moral lesson is conveyed; gruesome scenes involving bloodshed and corpses, offensive drunkenness and exploitation of notorious characters.

The censorship standard disapproves of pictures dealing with the drug habit, of scenes showing the methods of criminals in murder, house-breaking, poisoning, robbery, pocket-picking, lighting and throwing of bombs, use of ether, chloroform, etc., and other methods of persons employing violence against the law. The disapproval extends to pictures dealing with counterfeiting, with brutal treatment of children and of animals, and with scenes dealing with ridicule of races, classes, or social bodies, as well as irreverent and sacreligious treatment of religious bodies, or things held to be sacred.

Vulgarities of a "gross" kind also are disapproved, such as sometimes appear in slap stick comedies, such as burlesquing morgues, funerals, insane asylums, hospitals, etc.

Other things under disapproval of the censorship are bathing scenes "which pass the limit of propriety," immodest dancing, needless exhibition of women in night dresses and lingerie, and studio and other scenes in which the human form is unduly exposed. Sensual kissing scenes and love-making and vampire scenes also come under the censor's frown.

French transport firms believe that the air fare between London and Paris will soon be brought down to 300 francs (about £6).

PETERBORO MUSICAL TALENT AT BETHANY

PARENTS ENDORSE REPORT OF CASE

The following article is contributed by one who is interested in the Rubin case:

STATE OF ILLINOIS, s.s.
COUNTY OF LAKE.

We, the undersigned, each being duly sworn on oath, depose and say, that Miriam Rubin, eight years of age, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Rubin, of No. 132 Gillette Avenue, Waukegan, Illinois, recently became afflicted with a malady referred to as talking sickness, and from the time she became ill she was talking constantly and continuously for the period of eight days, during which period of time said Miriam Rubin did not sleep, but merely continued to talk; that Director R. H. T. Nesbitt, of Waukegan, Illinois, the family physician, was called shortly after she became ill; and that Doctor Albert E. Brown, County Physician, of Waukegan, Illinois, was called for consultation; and that in addition there was called into the case the following physicians—specialists—from Chicago, Illinois, to wit: Doctor Robert B. Preble, No. 30 No. Michigan Avenue; Doctor Alonzo C. Tenney, No. 25 East Washington Street; and Doctor Isaac A. Abt, No. 104 So. Michigan Avenue; all of whom immediately made all necessary blood tests and examinations and their prognosis did not disclose the nature of the malady, and they were unable from their examinations and diagnosis of the case to offer any solution or remedy for the patient, and that during all of this time the said patient continued to talk constantly as before without any sleep whatsoever. That on the ninth day of her illness Doctor Paul O. Berger, a practicing chiropractor in the City of Waukegan, was called to treat the said patient, and found upon examination of the spinal column that the patient had two misplaced vertebrae in the neck, one of which pinched the nerve effecting the speech centre of the brain; and that on the said ninth day he administered two Chiropractic adjustments to the said patient, and that after a lapse of about twelve hours, and during the tenth day of the illness of said patient, she showed marked and noticeable improvement, and for the first time during her illness slept for brief periods, and her temperature became lower during the nine days of her illness; during the ninedays of her illness; that the said Doctor Paul O. Berger continued to administer the Chiropractic adjustment daily for about three days, and that at the end of three days the said patient had ceased talking, and that the symptoms of the malady entirely disappeared, and the said patient was resting and sleeping soundly, and that her present condition is normal.

PLAYED BALL SUNDAY; FINED AND WARNED

BELLEVILLE, March 18.—That playing ball on Sunday will not be tolerated, three young men discovered in the Police Court yesterday, where they appeared in answer to a charge preferred against them for breach of the Lord's Day Act. They suffered a fine of one dollar and costs for indulging in a noisy game of ball last Sunday on the High School grounds, and which the police were called on to stop. The youths were also warned that a second similar offence will meet with a much heavier penalty.

HOT WATER FOR SICK HEADACHES

Headaches are caused by auto-intoxication—which means self-poisoning. Liver and bowel poisons called toxins, sucked into the blood excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head, producing violent, throbbing pain and distress, called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable, your meals sour and almost nauseate you. Then you resort to acetanilid, aspirin or the bromides, which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritating toxins.

A glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drank before breakfast, will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache, but will cleanse, purify and freshen the alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar.

If you aren't feeeling your best, if tongue is coated or you wake up in the morning with bad taste, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness constipation, or sour acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.

"GARRY OWEN" AT GRAND

(By JEANNETTE)

The usual 17th of March capacity audience greeted the performance of "Garry Owen" at the Grand Opera House last evening and the dramatic incidents in this typically Irish drama and the Irish songs and dances that whiled away the time between acts were greeted with such enthusiastic outbursts of applause from pit and gallery as to prove beyond a doubt that the love for the Green Isle, its brogue and its melodies is as staunch and undying a growth as that of the "dear little shamrock" itself

This comedy-drama in four acts is full of action from start to finish, and the directress, Miss Lillian Simons, is to be congratulated on her choice of a play, on the cast which carried it to a successful climax, and on the training which manifested itself throughout the entire production. The costumes were noticeable in their aptness to the part portrayed, and the stage-settings were most attractive.

Opening Scene

The play opens with Miss Minnie Allen, as Norah O'Neil, singing a sweet Irish melody, Norah was too pretty and sweet an Irish maiden to die in the first act, but this she dies following a notice of eviction to her aged father, Con. O'Neil, a part well taken by Mr. J. D. Fitzpatrick, and her sister Mary, the heroine, splendidly portrayed by Miss Lillian Simons, served on them by the villian, Mr. Jack Primeau, as Shaun Brady, who is on immaculately-attired but consistently unpleasant gentleman throughout the entire producion His accomplice in crime not quite so hard-hearted, is Darby Riordan, excellently enacted by Mr. Wm. Collins in a red wig. The first act contains a jaunty little dance by the whimsical lovers, Miss Florence Leahy as Kate Hennessey, a fetching little colleen in twinkling green stockings and red cape, always in search of iTghe Murphy, her lagard swain who is tardy in proposing. Tighe is acted by Mr. Frank Grady in fine happy-go-lucky style, and they dance to the fiddling of Mr. Jas. Condon, the very good portrayer of aBrney Burke, a strolling musican Mr. Frank Sheldon, the young English lover of the fair Mary O'Neil, is well played by Mr. Robert Leonard, and Mr. John McCabe is a life-like Father Tom.

The villain, who steals a wallet containing the rent money, then orders his tenants on a month's notice toyacate his property, afterwards abducts Mary and secrets her in a mountain cave in a vain effort to force her to marry him. She remains true to her absent lover, and Shaun then throws her over the cliff. ighe Murphy makes a thrilling dive and rescues her in the nick of time. The last act shows the return of the hero with a deed to Mary's home in his pocket, and the arrest and subsequent capitulation of the black-hearted villain. Their parts were so excellently portrayed by every single character taking part in this production that it is difficult to praise anyone in particular, but special mentjon should be made of Miss Simons, as the persecuted heroine, of Mr. Primeau's charactrization of the disagreeable bad man, and of the humorous element injected into the play by Miss Leahy and Mr. Grady, the latter being particularly good in his delineation of an Irish widow, "in search of a man."

Specialties between acts were loudly encored in every instance. Miss Gertrude Clancy sang "That Old Irish Mother of Mine," very sweetly, Miss Ernestine McManus rendered "I Bid You the Top of the Mornin," with her pretty voice at the best advantage, and Mr. Robt. Leonard with "County Kerry Mary" received repeated encores. Messrs Sam. Houlihan and Dave Quinlan in a duet of buck and wing dances Mr. Houlihan in an Irish jig, and Mr. Quinlon in a step with Mr. Asa Huycke at the piano, brought down the house with their professional methods and clever footwork.

The Opera House orchestra rendered some beautiful Irish music, "Come Back to Erin", "The Kerry Dances", "Oft in the Stilly Night", and" The Wearing of the Green", will never grow old when played as these musicions play them, with the friendly touch that brings out all the melody in the old tunes so dear to Irish hearts and minds.

Credit should also be given to the stage management of Mr. Jack Primeau, to Mr. Fared Shanon as property master, to the musical directress, Miss M. Doherty, to whose efforts, combined with those of the directres, Miss Lillian Simons the success of last evening's entertainment was, to a great extent, due and to all of the members of the cast who spent so, much time and care in preparation. The management of the Grand Opera House and the stage help also worked with willing co-operation and were most kind in every way.

WOULD CHANGE INQUESTS NOW

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL RECOMMENDS RADICAL DEPARTURES FROM ESTABLISHED METHODS.

TORONTO, March 18.—(Canadian Press).—Radical changes in the system of conducting inquests are proposed in the report by the Public Service Commission tabled in the House by Hon. W. E. Raney. The object of the changes is the elimination of the multiplicity of coroners and inquests. Under the plan laid out, public inquests will be held, not by physician coroners as at present, but by a local or district magistrate. The doctor, however, will not be eliminated, for provision is made for the holding of preliminary investigations by associate coroners, who will be medical men. These preliminary inquiries will permit of facts being secured, and upon these facts the Crown Attorney will determine whether the public inquest is necessary. If he believes the circumstances advise it, he must so notify the magistrate, who may sit either with or without a jury.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

It Neutralizes Stomach Acidity, Prevents Food Fermentation, Sour, Gassy Stomach and Acid Indigestion.

Doubtless if you are a sufferer from indigestion, you have already tried pepsin, bsmuth, soda, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and you know these things will not cure your trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up hope and deciding you are a chronic dyspeptic just try the effect of a little bisurated magnesia — not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate, oxide or milk, but the pure bisurated magnesia which you can obatin from practically any druggist in either powdered or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or two compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated or heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat.

You will find that provided you take a little bisurated magnesia immediately after a meal, you can eat almost anything and enjoy it without any danger of pain or discomfort to follow and moreover, the continued use of the bisurated magnesia cannot injure the stomach in any way so long as there are any symptoms of acid indigestion.

ABSOLUTELY CRUEL.

"I have a terrible cold," he complained. "My head feels all stopped up."

"Have you tried a vacuum cleaner?" she queried, sweetly.

BIG GOLD SHIPMENTS COME FROM EUROPE

NEW YORK, March 18.—(Canadian Press).—Heavy gold shipments from Europe to New York bankers were being unloaded here Wednesday, while other consignmentes of bullion were inbound aboard the steamer Aquitania, due here Saturday. The steamer Albania has arrived from England with $1,750,000 in gold for Kuhn, Loeb and Company, and $500,000 consigned to the Equitable Trust Company, The National Bank of Commerce received $700,000 in gold bars on the steamer Drottningholm, which arrived from Sweden. The Aquitania brings $1,700,000 to the National City Bank, $750,000 to Kuhn, Loeb and Company, and an unannounced sum to the Guaranty Trust Company.

A WOMAN'S WAY.

Miss Spendall was sued by her dressmaker for an unpaid bill, and the case went against her.

Asking to be allowed to appeal, she gave as one of her reasons that judge who rendered the decision was too old to understand the case.

The judge of the appeal court reminded her that once before, in another suit, she had complained that her case had wbeen tried by "a bit of a boy."

"What age, may I ask, madam, do you want the judge to be?" the judge inquired.

"Your age," the pretty plaintiff smilingly replied.

HOW TO KEEP PEARLS HEALTHY

According to an American despatch a woman was sentenced recently by the courts to wear thirty days in the year valuable pearls which had been left as a legacy, an heirloom in the family, in order to keep them "alive" and in healthy condition.

"Not a very serious sentence," laughingly remarked a Canadian woman who is fond of pearls, and who in the past has frequently worn them herself. "It is to be hoped," she continued, "that the woman is one of the people who can wear pearls without causing them to deteriorate. Whatever the reason, I know a woman who cannot wear them at all, because the most lustrous pearl will turn as ashy grey color after she wears them awhile."

"Pearls must be worn, if they are to retain their lustre and beauty as gems," said the expert for a large local jewelry firm, from whom knowledge on the subject was sought. "At least, they must be kept in the light. It is a peculiar attribute of pearls that they will deteriorate if kept for a length of time in a dark place, such as a safety deposit box. The pearl is the only gem that is affected in this way. Others can be buried in dark places for centuries without deterioration. We keep the pearls we have in stock for a long time in good condition by exposing them to the light. Given light, they will retain their lustre for years, though it is true, they do improve with wearing. It may be that the pearl, even after being strung or set in jewelry, retains something of its organic life. It seems to draw life from the one by whom it is worn. The warmth of the body possibly gives it lustre. It is true that some people wear them much better than others, whatever the reason. It may be that the physicical condition of the wearer affects them. On some people pearls brighten and glow; on others, they become duller. The majority of people, however, improve pearls by wearing them. Possibly it is the moisture from the human system that gives the glow to pearls."

The Canadian woman who owns possibly the most valuable pearls of anyone wears hers every day.

A prominent Toronto society leader who has rarely-beautiful pearls says, "I wear my pearls a lot. For one reason, I am fond of them, and, for another, I am sure it helps them to retain their life and lustre. In putting them away for a time I haven't noticed deterioration. But I usually wear them on the average of twice a week."

"And when you are not wearing them?" asked the interviewer, much absorbed for the moment in the subject of conserving the health of pearls.

"I assure you I don't allow them to lie round, particularly in these days," came the reply with a silvery laugh.

A charming Canadian girl has a theory of her own with regard to the reason why wearing pearls affects them.

"Perhaps," she says, "it is the amount of salt in the human system, and it is the salt that gives the pearls the life and glow. It would be an interesting thing to find out how sea air effects them from the women who wear them at the seaside."

Women who have pearls famous for their beauty and value wear them frequently, it would seem, because they realize that in so doing they keep their beloved gems at their best.

What of a superstition that pearls sicken and die with grief over the death of the owner?

This was a new idea, both to owners of valuable pearls and experts with whom the subject of pearls was discussed.

"It is a Bluebeard story," scoffed an expert, "originating, doubtless, with the well-known fact that pearls will grow dull and lustreless if left for a length of time in the dark. They seem to need life, light and air just like living things."

SOFT DRINKS HIT.

WINNIPEG, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—The soft drink business has seriously decreased since prohibition came into force, according to information given out at a recent convention of soft drink manufacturers here. This was due to illegal trade in whisky, one delegate claimed.

House painters and novelists are responsible for some highly colored stories.

DOGS ARE WINTER BURDEN BEARERS.

Horse and Flivver Has No Chance in North.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 17. — (Canadian Press.) — The horse or the flivver has no chance with the dog teams in the northland during the winter season, according to Miss Mary Clendenan, staff writer for the Manitoba Free Press. Dogs are the winter burden bearers of the north. The young men of the towns buy a dog team and toboggan instead of a flivver with which to take the girls riding. On the other hand, pioneers at remote posts do not mush the dogs as sport. The dogs are harnessed when it is necessary to make the round of the trap lines; to replenish the larder; to fetch supplies, or mail, from the nearest post, or to make a hurry up trip for the doctor.

The only wagon roads north of The Pas and vicinity run to Flin Flon mine, about 100 miles, and from Mile 82 on the Hudson Bay Railway to Herb Lake, about 18 miles. Aside from these roads horses are unknown in the north, and where the horse cannot go the automobile has no chance.

Northern traffic goes by water in summer and the dogs for their sins of fighting and howling, are banished to outlying dog camps. They come into their own again each fall at freeze up for the passenger, freight and mail service depends on dog power.

The genuine husky is a cross between the big timber wolf of the north and the collie dog. The first generation of such dogs is of little use for work. Many of the present huskies are generations removed from the original cross by which the type was produced. Many other working dogs show points of the husky all but extinguished in the conglomeration of almost everything doggy.

Pure huskies are known by their sharply pointed ears, the plume like tails carried well over the back, the rich, smoky silver of their coats, are long and silky; and also by their wolfish howling. Such dogs cannot really bark. Some of them weigh 100 pounds, and a load of 100 pounds per dog is not considered excessive. They are fit for work before they are one year old and are good for the hard trips of several hundred miles with a spin of perhaps 60 miles per day, for almost 7 years. After that they may be used for easy hauling for two or three years. Fifty mile a day is considered good sledding and 2000 miles in a winter is a conservative estimate of what a dog at regular work will cover.

There are different dog languages. "Mush," pronounced "moosh," generally is used for the start, with "gee" and "haw" for right and left; "whoa" for the stop, and other words too numerous and hectic to mention, reserved for the lazy, contrary beast. The Indians use "Yoo" for the right turn, and an explosive "Cha" for the left. The Alaskan, Walter Goyne, uses a nonchalant conversational tone with his dogs, starting them with a short whistle, and "All right."

There is nothing in the world quite so nourishing or helpful as for thin, anemic girls of "teen-age." It is well-worth trying.

FIRST REAL BALLOON INVENTED IN 1782 BY TWO FRENCHMEN.

Brothers Got Idea by Watching Smoke Curl Upward From Fire; Then Experimented With Paper Bag.

WASHINGTON.—"The adventures of three naval aeronauts and the international interest in their safe return from the frozen Canadian north recall numerous historic attempts of man to fulfill for himself on earth the ages-old feeling that he would have wings some day," says a bulletin from the headquarters of the National Geographic Society in Washington.

"These American birdmen who got their noses and ears nipped by the cold performed no such feat as did Daedalus, who, some thousands of years ago in the age of myths, flew near enough to the sun to melt the wax on his wings. Daedalus's experiment and the attempted flight of a certain monk called Elmerus, who, John Wilkins, one of the founders of the Royal Society of England, tells us, flew for a distance of more than an eighth of a mile from a town in Spain, are sufficient evidence, however, to accord to aviation the palm for being the older of the flying arts.

"Ballooning, though less romantic in its appeal and decidedly more commonplace and placid looking in its appearance, may perhaps be considered the John the Baptist of both arts as they are practiced to-day, as its progress has been steadily on the upgrade since Roger Bacon, back in the thirteenth century, propounded the theory, that a hollow globe of very thin metal, filled with 'ethereal air or liquid fire,' would float upward on the atmosphere.

Dew Suggested as Filler.

"From that day priests, philosophers and scientists put forward the idea that a light sphere could be made to rise and float in the upper atmosphere. Almost every conceivable thing was suggested for filling these balloons. One of the most amusing was the morning dew, since that substance, according to their suppositions, was shed by the stars during the night and would be drawn back to heaven in the day by the heat of the sun.

"As the result of watching the clouds the brothers Joseph and Jacques Montgolfier, of Annonay, France, in 1782, invented the first real balloon. They concluded that if the vapor of the clouds could hang suspended in the upper air a large bag filled with such a vapor might rise and drift about as the clouds do.

"Another interesting story is told about the Montgolfier brothers originating the idea. They were watching the smoke wreaths curl upward from their fire when one of them began wondering if the smoke could not carry other things up with it too. In the enthusiasm of the moment they made a small fire on a little tin tray and held a large paper bag over it. With delight they watched the bag fill out and try to rise. A neighbor, a widow, seeing the smoke issuing from their window and fearing that the house was on fire, went running into the room. She suggested that they attach the tray to the bag and the immediate result was that the bag rose to the ceiling.

It Flew.

"After several private try-outs, they announced a public ascent of a balloon on June 5, 1783, and many spectators gathered to see this sphere, 105 feet in circumference, which the inventors inflated with the hot air from burning straw, rise high in the air and float off for about one and a half miles. The brothers believed for quite a while that they had hit upon some peculiar quality in the straw which had lifting properties and did not realize until later that their wonder ball had risen only because of the lightness of heated air but they made the balloon a reality.

"From this time forward the physicists in France and elsewhere took seriously this infant invention which had suddenly made its appearance in their midst. Subscriptions were taken up to further the project, the Roberts brothers constructed a balloon, the noted scientist, Charles, conceived the idea of filling it with hydrogen, and a day for the ascent was set. The crowd that gathered was great and curious and so interfered with the operations that the balloon had to be moved to another place, but the eager throng, not to be outdone, learned its whereabouts and were there to see the performance. The sphere rose 3,000 feet in the air amid the rain, which some had thought would be an obstacle, to the wild enthusiasm of the spectators.

Experiment at Versailles.

"In 1783 Joseph Montgolfier repeated his experiment before the king, queen and court at Versailles. The first living creatures to take a balloon trip went up on that day. A sheep, a duck and a cock soared majestically into the air with the ornate baloon and descended after eight minutes about two miles away. The only injury suffered by any of them was a kick on the wing which the sheep gave the cock. Later on in that same year the gallant Pilatre de Rozier and the Marquis d'Arlandes made the first trip taken by persons in a free fire-balloon. From that time 'sounding' the skies became a science Lunardi startled Great Britain with his daring trips. It is said that when he soared into vision the king ended a conference with his ministers and a court of justice acquitted a criminal in order that all persons present might watch him.

"The R-34, when it traveled 3,130 miles in a little more than 108 hours, certainly put a crimp into world records of ten years ago, which at that time read, 'No balloon voyage has yet been made of a length comparable to the breadth of the Atlantic.' Only two flights exceeding one thousand miles were then on record—those of John Wise from St. Louis to Henderson, New York, and of Count Henry de la Vaulx from Paris to Korosticheff in Russia.

"Among the notable flights made in balloons the daring attempt of Salomon Andree and two companions in 1897 to reach the North Pole should have an honored place. They left Spitzbergen at a point 600 miles from the Pole on July 11. The only records concerning the explorers later than that are messages picked up in two floating boys."

A WHITE BEAVER.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 17. — (Canadian Press.—A white beaver, a freak of the beaver family, has been brought to Winnipeg for mounting from English River, Ont. The beaver is a perfect albino. Its fur is about two inches deep. Its eyes were pink; the feet and claws are pink and white.

GOSPEL HALL MEETINGS.

(Contributed.)

We thank God with full hearts for the blessing that He has given through these meetings and there is every indication that the Friday and Sunday—the last two nights—will be the best. Thursday night's meeting had a very encouraging attendance, the subject being "To know the love of Christ." Ephes. 3:20. It is important to remember that only those who know the love of Christ experimentally are recognized by God as His children. We may belong to a church, or to all of them in succession, and yet not know Him; on the other hand a person may not belong to any one of them and yet be God's child because they know that love. First, that love is a delivering love: Isa. 38:17. "Behold for peace I had great bitterness, but thou has in love delivered my soul from the pit of corruption; for thou hast cast all my sins behind thy back." God must first break up the false peace in which we live and make us feel the bitterness of unforgiven sin, and then show us that Christ has so fully borne its penalty that it is removed from God's sight. It is also an unchanging love. Rom. 8, 35-39. This cannot be said of anybody else's love —changing health, changing circumstances, depleted finances, nothing in life, nothing in death, can separate us from the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord. And let it never be forgotten by any Christian here, it is a constraining love. The love of Christ constraineth us—to live unto Him who died and rose again. II Cor. 5:14. A slave girl was bought at a very high price by an English gentleman to set her free. When the truth of her freedom dawned upon her she cast herself at his feet saying, "If you have done that for me I would like to be your willing slave as long as I live." Christ has set us free from sin's bondage and Satan's tyranny. Gratitude should lead us to be his glad slave for the rest of your days. The subject to-night is "Tears." Come and hear it.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural colour and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural colour and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

HOME AND BARN SAVED FROM FLAMES.

LINDSAY, March 18. — As a result of defective wiring the home of Mr. F. Waldon, on the Fenelon Road, caught fire on Wednesday. A high wind was blowing and both the house and barn being threatened with destruction a call for help was sent to the fire hall here. Fifteen men responded and on arrival the flames were soon under control.

Suits and Overcoats
Ready to Put On For

Regular Value $30.00 and $35.00

These Suits and Overcoats were all made up during the slow season to sell at from $30 to $35. They are the very latest in style and material. Every garment has been made in our own tailor shops by our own tailors, and carries our guarantee of quality and workmanship. They are not to be confused with ordinary ready-mades, because the style has been tailored into them by expert workmen, and they are superior garments in every respect.

We realize that the time is too short for all our regular customers and friends to have clothes made to their order before Easter—hence we have decided to give everyone a chance FOR ONE DAY ONLY to fill their Easter clothes needs at this ridiculously low price. Don't let anything keep you away. You'll be sorry if you miss this big opportunity to save money.

DO YOU BELIEVE IN SIGNS?

For the people who believe in signs:

On an undertaker's window: "We bury others—why not you?"

At the butcher's: "The Best you can do is to buy our Wurst."

In a laundry: "Wanted—Women to Mangle."

An Omaha merchant's sign: "Others have cheated you, why not give us a chance?"

On the factory of an artificial limb company: "Hands on artificial limbs."

A plumber at Pierce City (Mo.): "I am in a dirty business, but I do clean work."

Once upon a time a tradesman placed in front of his store this sign:

"Fresh Fish For Sale Here."

Along comes Professor Dinglebender who says, "The word 'Here' was superfluous because the average passerby would know as much. The sign is changed to read—

"Fish For Sale."

Along comes B. Critical Ho suggests that the words "for sale" be omitted, as the public would surely know that the dealer had not put in the stock with the idea of making pets of them. So the sign was again changed, reading—

"Fish."

"But why have a sign at all," commented Old Man Brevity. "Those whose olfactory organs are functioning normally will know what is going on without a sign." So the sign to-day looks like this:

Mileage signs on the roads leading into Hayward read:
Getting Warmer
1 Mi. to Hellweg's Grocery.

Sign on a "movie": "Driven from Home" in three parts.

Sign in photographer's window: "Your baby enlarged, tinted and framed, $8.79."

Butcher's advertisement: "Tongue 48c. Brains 33c."

On Tannery: "Let us tan your hide."

On a house: "For rent, room; suitable for a gentleman, 12 x 15 ft."

On a farm yard fence: "For sale, eggs for settin' on and to be et."

A candid ad.—"$250 buys this car. It won't last over a day."

On door of tailor shop: "Clothes pressed while you wait. Please don't stand in the doorway."

At a furriers: "Cloaks, coats, etc., for ladies out of their own skins."

By a farmer: "For sale, Guernsey cow; gives good milk, also rope, pulleys, stove and tools."

TOTAL ABSTAINERS MAY FALL OFF "THE WAGON."

OTTAWA, March 18. — Members of Ottawa are ruminating over the somewhat startling statement made in the insurance committee by G. D. Finlayson, superintendent of insurance, to the effect that the average duration of life of the total abstainer was not so great as that of the moderate drinker. Mr. Finlayson made the statement as an expert and not as a moderate or any other kind of drinker, and he based his statement upon the statistics of the insurance branch. It was a plain dispassionate statement, dispassionately made. Chairman Nesbitt for a moment thought that the witness had got twisted, but Mr. Finlayson repeated the statement, and then the committee broke out into loud laughter.

Mr. Finlayson qualified his statement by declaring that in some cases men might register themselves as total abstainers and fall off the water wagon next day. There was no record of such cases.

AGREE RURAL SECTIONS NEED SOME HYDRO AID.

LONDON, Ont., March 18.—While expressing very strong opinions as to the justice of the tax of $2 on Hydro power, suggested by the special committee of the Legislature, the Public Utilities Committee, at its meeting yesterday, agreed that some form of assistance must be given to the rural districts to enable them to get electrical power at a reasonable figure.

THE WESTWOOD DITCH APPEAL IS PROCEEDING

JUDGE HUYCKE HEARS FURTHER EVIDENCE IN COMPLICATED CASE.

In the county court to-day Judge Huycke is hearing a complex case from Westwood. It concerns the appeal of J. J. Breckenbridge and Sons of Westwood under the Ditches and Watercourses Act to set aside the award made by W. Wilkins, of Havelock, a civil engineer who was appointed by the township of Asphodel to design a ditch to drain lands adjoining the mill pond at Westwood. Flooding is alleged to have resulted from the pond. The drain was designed, and while it would drain the land, the appellants claim the drain would deplete their mill pond on which they depend for power to operate their grist and saw mill at Westwood. They claim the drain so injures their water power. The township declined to uphold the award made by Mr. Wilkins and William Morris, a resident of Westwood, who claims his land has been flooded, intervened and took the place of the township opposing the appeal of the Breckenbridge's.

F. D. Kerr is solicitor for the Breckenbridges and Mr. B. D. Hall is representing Mr. Morris.

Visited Scene.

The case began at 10.30 this morning, but yesterday some detailed technical evidence was taken in the town hall, Westwood, when the inspection of the dam and adjoining lands was made by Judge Huycke, Mr. Kerr, Mr. Hall, Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, a Peterborough engineer, on behalf of Mr. Morris, Mr. Wilkins and Major T. L. Burwash of Toronto, and George C. Wright of Kingston, engineers, giving evidence for the Breckenridge appeal.

A full inspection was made of the stream and later some evidence was taken. The first witness this morning was Mr. J. J. Breckenbridge, who was recalled by Mr. Kerr to answer several questions. The evidence and cross-examination of Major Burwash occupied all of the morning sitting. The court adjourned at one o'clock to sit again at two.

Mr. Breckenbridge produced the minute book of Asphodel township and showed the parts having reference to the drainage of the land.

Mining Engineer.

Major Burwash, mining engineer of Toronto, gave lengthy evidence this morning. He stated that he had been chiefly engaged in the Yukon territory in mining. Of late he had been road engineer of the Provincial Highways. His work involved drainage problems as his work in France did. In France he had been engaged in constructing light railways and in England aerdromes and flying fields. Both works involved drainage problems and he told Mr. Kerr he felt qualified to give an opinion on ddainage matters.

He inspected the dam at Westwood in December last, he said. A sketch plan of the dam pond and adjoining land drawn by the witness was submitted by Mr. Kerr as an exhibit.

Witness said he believed he was in a position to criticize Mr. Wilkins, the engineer's plan. "I do not think there is anw hope of arriving at a drainage system in the way the award planned," he said. The plan, he said, was calculated merely to drain the part between the ditch and the mill pond and would rob the mill pond of a great deal of water.

Drainage System.

Major Burwash explained his system of drainage. "I cannot see how Wilkins could hope to operate a successful drainage system under those conditions as outlined," said Major Burwash, when asked by Mr. Kerr what he thought of Mr. Wilkins' plan. He believed the plain would tend to drain the pond. His system as advocated would cost much less. The water on the flooded land, he said, came from the pond through the embankment.

The Effect.

What would be the effect of lowering the level of water in the pond a few inches? asked Mr. Kerr.

It would materially lessen the head of water on the wheel and lessen the power and also lower the storage of water in the pond. This would leave the mill in a serious predicament through los of power, particularly in the dry season. The engineer said on the storage of water depended the continuity with which they could work. He stated that if the head was reduced to six feet he did not believe the mill would be able to operate successfully. Two inches reduction of the head from 7.1 inch as present would seriously weaken the power available he believed, althouhg he knew little of the type of machinery used.

In his cross-examination Mr. Hall questioned Major Burwash on his experience in drainage problems. When he visited the Morris property in December he told Mr. Hall there was considerable ice on the property, particularly on the northwest part. He could not say whether the ice would represent more water than was on the land yesterday or not. The embankment was unchanged, he said.

Regarding his method of taking the heigth of the embankment, Major Burwash said he followed the usual engineering procedure.

Tre case is proceeding.

DODGE MOTOR COMPANY REOPENS ITS PLANT

DETROIT, March 18. — Dodge Brothers Motor Company, closed since last December, opened to-day with a force of between 3500 and 4000 men, it was officially announced at the company's offices. The company normally employs 20,000 men. It was announced an effort would be made to reach one-third normal production soon.

ONE OF THE OLDEST CANADIAN HOUSES.

In Good Repair — Still in Use at Wellington.

WELLINGTON, March 18. — Wellington has one of the oldest houses in Canada. This house was built in 1761, and is still in good repair. The first storey is a little changed from the original, but the second is just the same as when first constructed. The floors are of hewed out pine planks, two feet wide, and are fastened to 14 by 20 joists, with wooden pins. The old door, with its wooden hinges, hasp and lock is still the same as when placed there by the original owner. The cellar runs the whole length of the house and the kitchen has a Dutch firepiace at one end and an old Dutch oven at the other. Many apple-cutting bees have taken place here in days gone by with merriment and dancing until the dawn of the next day. Two camps of Indians lit their fires a stone's throw from the house and its walls are built of stone carried up by the Indians and their squaws. The original owners were Donald Reynolds and his wife, who came here from Albany, N. Y. It is reported that the first Governor-General of Canada was cared for by them in this house while ill. The old landmark is now the property of Dr. Will Garratt, of Yonkers, N.Y.

SETBACK FOR EUGENICS.

LANSING, Mich., March 18.—By a vote of 16 to 14, the Michigan Senate defeated an eugenics bill, after an amendment excluding women from provisions of the bill, had been adopted. The measure would have required applicants for marriage licenses to file physicians' affidavits stating that their mental and physical qualifications were satisfactory.

BARS BLONDES FROM JURY, "FICKLE," SAYS A JUDGE; BRUNETTES GIVEN PLACES

NEW YORK, March 18.—A mixed jury composed of men and brunette women yesterday heard arguments in a damage suit growing out of a clothing deal.

In ordering that both sexes participate, Justice William Morris, of the municipal court said: "There will be no blondes on this jury. Blondes are fickle."

AGITATING FOR COVERED RINK AT HAVELOCK.

HAVELOCK, March 18. — The project for a good covered skating rink, to be erected at the corner of the park, is steadily gaining favour, both with many citizens and the Park Board. It is generally conceded that such a rink would prove a great asset for Havelock.

INFANT'S BODY FOUND.

PERTH, March 18.—Boys found the body of a newly-born infant boy in shallow water of the Tay Canal and brought it to shore with the aid of a pole. The body was wrapped in a woman's fine blouse, to one sleeve of which was tied an ordinary flat iron. Physicians say the infant had not been in the water long. The mother of the child has not yet been located.

COLORS AND CLOTHES ON THE STAGE

(By LADY TREE)

(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON.—"Many years ago, when the curtain rose and discovered Mary Anderson, the lovely young American actress, preparing to sign the marriage contract in the 'Lady of Lyons,' the audience rose and cheered for five minutes at the sheer wonder of her beauty."

This was said to me the other day by one of the greatest of England's men. And one of the greatest of England's actors said to me, also the other day, "When Gladys Cooper took off her veil in 'The Betrothal' the audience simply wept at the wonder of her beauty."

Dimly I remember Mary Anderson in "The Lady of Lyons." Longingly I look forward to seeing Gladys Cooper in "The Bethrothal"; but to both their enthusiasts my question was: "How was she dressed?"

Mary Anderson, as it happens, was none other than Pauline Deschappelles; Gladys Cooper is none other than Joy—but would the effect, given the beauty, have been exactly the same if neither the one nor the other had been suitably attired? I am not quite sure; because I have seen so many—I have been one of so many—heroines who cannot hope to elicit a gasp of recognition, a thimbleful of applause unless richly caparisoned in the last sort of dress and material that such a heroine could have possibly put on.

A hundred years ago, when I was a mere baby, I was taken to a pantomine. All I remember is a tune (it runs in my head to this day); a Fairy, radiant, glittering, bespangled Fairy; and an Imp, a bad, cruel, devilish scarlet Imp. It was my first impression of the stage, and I communed thus with my small self: "Glitter—lovely, good; scarlet—ugly, bad."

Later—and still I was a baby and still it was a hundred years ago—I saw a play in which the heroine rushed down a broad stair-case and flung herself into the arms of a charming man in black, crying: "Henri de Legadere!" She wore white satin—gleaming, trailing, glimmering white satin—and then again I said, "Love, rescue, poetry, glamour—white satin!"

When I was much older I saw a melodrama, in which the heroine begged her way from door to door, from Manchester to London. I said in my heart, "Poverty, distress, hunger, repentance—long, flowing, clining black crepe de chine; changing to long, flowing, clinging, grey crepe de chine when she feels a little better." Time has rolled on, and I have seen little to cause me to change my first childish impression.

When after long years it fell to my lot to act Ophelia, I could not possibly have got me to a nunnery in other than glimmering white satin; but to prove that I was a daughter of Polonius I made my habit "as rich as my purse could buy" by encrusting its border thickly with patins of bright diamonds; diamonds dripped from the long, flowing sleeves, diamonds confined my slender waist, diamonds peeped forth from the tangles of Ophelia's hair.

Last, but not least there came Agrippina in Nero to be portrayed. Then I recalled the blood-colored sprite of my first pantomine, and in blood-colored silk and chiffon from head to foot, with all manner of glorious crimson mile-long trailings, I appeared. Succes fou!

Stage dressing becomes purely mechanical after a time. If you want to look more an antique Roman than a Duse, there is no alternative: you must put on an inky cloak.

In the same way, an adventuress cries aloud for a yellow moire with black wings in her hair; the brilliant comedienne will hardly be brilliant enough in anything but rose-colored velvet; the mediaeval maid will be neither maid nor mediaeval except in cream-colored under clothes, with a long blue cloak.

Occasionally mistakes are made. I have known a bad woman in blue; but she ruined the play. I have seen a "touching scene" enacted in other than a flowing robe; but the scene ceased to be touching. I have seen a starving heroine dressed in real rags; but no one in the audience imagined she was really hungry.

Believe me, as regards stage dressing, there is an unalterable law, and let those who break it beware! I have not seen "Fedora," but I bet you Miss Ellis Jeffreys wears rose-colored velvet. I have not seen "The Betrothal," but I bet you Gladys Cooper wears a cream-colored gown and a great blue cloak.

"The Tempest" is not yet out; but what will you bet me that Ariel will not appear a-glitter with spangles? And Miranda in white satin? And Prospero clothed in white, mystic and wonderful, holding the sword?

IS CHARGED WITH SHOOTING A HOUND

CASE IN COUNTY POLICE COURT ATTRACTING MUCH INTEREST.

In the County Police Court this afternoon, before Police Magistrate Langley a charge of wilfully killing a hunting hound was preferred by Merritt Taylor, an Indian of Indian Village, against Cornelius Harrington, a well-known farmer in Ennismore The dog was the property of complainant, who says he paid $5 for it when a pup, and who estimates its value when shot on Saturday, March 5, as he alleges by Harrington, at $50. While Taylor cannot swear positively that defendant actually killed the animal, he asserts that it was found dead within 35 yards of defendant's home, while another hound returned home to him severely wounded by a shot gun, but subsequently recovered. The case, which is attracting a good deal of interest, was still in progress at the time of going to press.

SMALL FIRE IN EAST CITY

Fires lighted by the section men on the G.T.R. siding in front of Messrs. W. Scott & Co.'s small warehouse on Robinson street, started a blaze about 2 o'clock this afternoon which did a good deal of damage to the contents. Bags of small kindling and charcoal were packed tightly in the warehouse, and it was difficult to extinguish the smouldering fire which resulted. Two lines of hose were laid, and it took considerable time to finally put the fire out. Empty crates and masses of soggy kindling littered the tracks on all sides, making, as one of the firemen remarked, "An awful looking mess."

SCARCITY OF FORDS

Mr. Jos. J. Duffus, proprietor of the Duffus Motor Sales, has returned from Toronto, where he was for three days attending the convention of the Automotive Section of the Retail Merchants' Association.

Mr. Duffus emphatically states that there is every indication of a serious shortage of Ford cars, trucks and tractors due in the first place to the fact that the Ford Motor Co. have been able during the winter months to dispose of their output overseas, and in the second place for the reason that a very large percentage of people seem to have concluded to "Buy a Ford and leave the balance in the bank."

The Duffus Motor Sales so far this year have been disposing of the cars as fast as they have arrived, notwithstanding the fact that they have had very many more cars this year than ever before. They also state that Ford Trucks and Tractors are being sold faster than they can get delivery of them, all of which goes to prove that the buying public are pinning their faith on the small investment, reliability and economical upkeep of the Ford product. 1d-66

CONVENTION CONCLUDED

EVENING SESSION IN MURRAY STREET CHURCH.

The annual convention of the Ontario Religious Education Council was held in Murray Street Church yesterday, commencing with a morning session at 10.30 at which Rev. T. A. Halpenny met the County representatives.

In the afternoon, the teachers and officers interested in different departments of Sunday School work were convened and addresses were given by the leaders of the different departments represented; Miss Bertha Laine taking the Children's Division work, Miss C. Gemmell, the 'teen age girls, the Rev. C. A. Myers, the 'teen age boys, and Mr. T. A. Halpenny the adult classes. All these conferences were most interesting, and, it is felt, will result in greater efficiency in the Sunday Schools of the city for the coming year.

At 6:30 the company adjourned to the dining room, where an excellent supper had been prepared for them by the ladies of the several churches. The decorations were beautifully carried out in a color scheme appropriate to the day, the green festoons, jellies and shamrocks providing an especially attractive appearance.

Great credit is due the ladies, especially of the Murray street church, for the time spent by them in preparing and serving this repast, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered them on its conclusion. Pleasant speeches were given during the banquet by Rev. T. A. Halpenny, Mr. James Edgar and Mr. R. C. Braund.

Evening Session.

At 8 o'clock, the audience room of the Sunday school was again filled to hear the final addresses and to receive the report of the nominating committee, which reported the officers for the coming year as follows: President, Mr. Jas. Edgar; 1st Vice-President, Mr. R. H. Carton; 2nd Vice-President, Mr. Geo. Robertson; Sec.-Treasurer, Mr. H. W. Stock. Following some timely remarks by the chairman of the evening, Mr Mowat, the Rev. C. A. Meyers gave a most striking address on the Relation of the Sunday School to the Home, an address, without ex ception, one of the most forcible and convincing that has ever been heard on this subject in Peterborough, followed by a splendid talk on Men and Women of the Churches, by Rev. T. A. Halpenny.

Much credit is due the Park street church occhestra, which rendered some very pleasing numbers during the evening, and a vote of appreciation aws tendered them by the meeting.

MOTOR FIRE APPARATUS LAKEFIELD

UNDER DISCUSSION BY VILLAGE COUNCIL—WILL BUILD SEVERAL CONCRETE SIDEWALKS THIS YEAR.

OLD BOYS RE-UNION

LAKEFIELD, March 18.—The regular meeting of the Village Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday, March 14th.

There were present Reeve J. C. Strickland and Councillors Marling, Spence and Morrison.

Motor Fire Rig.

Mr. Tanner, on behalf of the American La France Fire Engine Co., addressed the Council, and offered to sell to them their Ford La France combination chemical and hose car and equipment complete, as per specifications, at $2,600. They would allow $125 for one of the hand-drawn chemical engines, half in cash and the balance in one year at 6 per cent.

Mr. Bickell, on behalf of the Bickell Fire Engine Co., offered to sell the village their combination chemical and hose car and equipment complete, as per specifications, at $1,900, and the return of the two 70-gallon chemical engines—one-half cash and balance in one year at 7 per cent.

Mr. Webster, on behalf of the firemen, also addressed the Council on the advisability of getting a motor fire truck.

This matter was left in abeyance.

Drain Wanted.

Mr. C. Thompson addressed the Council re the drain on Smith Street.

Rents Storehouse.

Moved by Coun. Marling, seconded by Coun. Morrison, that the Council rent the main part of storehouse to Messrs. Blewett for $15 per month, from March 15th to Oct. 15th, if they are satisfied to pay that amount. Carried.

Finance Report.

The Finance Committee presented the following report and recommended that it be paid: Robert Graham, wages, $63; Wellington Hill, wages, $1.80; J. W. Botterill, material and work, Fire Hall, $5.35; Municipal World, assessor's guides, $1.12; W. J. Charlton, coal, etc., $94.45; J. C. Sherin & Co., rubber coats, $70.25; S. Harrison, wages, $4; H. E. P. Co., street lighting to Dec. 31, 1920, $607; George A. Brenton, repairing pipe to pump, $13.90—total, $860.82.

Moved by Councillors Spence and Morrison, that the report of the Finance Committee be received and adopted. Carried.

Petition For Sidewalk.

A petition was received from S. Harrison, P. White, C. R. Armstrong, Mrs. G. Hamilton and Milford Dever, asking for a cement concrete sidewalk on the north side of Albert Street, from Concession Street to Edward Street.

Moved by Coun. Morrison, seconded by Coun. Spence, that this petition be handed to the chairman of the Streets and Roads Committee for a report. Carried.

Mr. Marling, on behalf of the Streets and Sidewalks Committee, made a verbal report of some of the necessary work on streets and sidewalks.

Moved by Coun. Spence, seconded by Coun. Morrison, that we authorize the chairman of the Streets and Roads Committee to build the following cement walks: One on Chippewa Avenue, from Colborne Street North to Strickland Street, west side; one on Burnham Street, from Charlotte Street to Water Street, south side; one on William Street, from Caroline Street to Clementi Street, north side; one on Albert Street, from Concession Street to Edward Street, north side; and to repair board walks where necessary. Carried.

Rev. S. F. Dixon and R. A. Hirsch addressed the Council regarding holding during the Old Boys' Reunion, and promised more particulars at the next Council meeting.

The Council then adjourned.

TORONTO WOMAN HELD FOR FRAUD.

Conspiracy to Conecal the Assets of Rochester Company is Charged.

ROCHESTER, March 18. — Rochester officers of the Flower City Grocery Company and a Toronto woman, Mrs. Celia Helpert, were arrested by the federal authorities here on charges of endeavoring to conceal the assets of the company, said to be bankrupt ,amounting to about $10,000.

The officers are charged with turning over to the Uncle Sam Stores about $10,000 worth of assets and furnishing money to Mrs. Helpert to buy a majority of stock in the stores. The arests to-day were Kopyman J. Arent ,president of both companies; his wife, Sarah Arent; Jacob Solomon, treasurer of both companies; Jens Nielson, vice-president of both companies; Abraham Isaacson ,a director of the grocery company; Mrs. Helpert and Miss Anna Relin, clerk for both companies.

YOUR MONEY AND YOUR LIFE.

The other day when I reached home
I said unto my wife,
"I know you will be happy dear,
I've just insured my life.
"And so, if I should meet my death
To-morrow let us say,
A check of fifty thousand
Will be yours that very day."
I knew 'twould make her happy,
So I took her by the hand,
And waited for her answer—
And she said, "Won't that be grand."

—Mervi Lane, in "New York Evening Sun."

WAS ALSO FED AND WATERED.

LONDON, March 18.—"It is no argument against Canadian live stock to point out that Beaverbrook was imported on the hoof," declares Punch.

LEAF'S PLAYERS ARE GETTING DOWN TO THEIR KNITTING AT COLUMBUS

TWENTY-THREE PLAYERS NOW IN CAMP—SANBERG AND DEVINE HAVE REPORTED, SO HAS RILEY AND HUNTER.

COLUMBUS, March 18. — Larry Doyle will not have to worry any more about his backstopping department. Gus Sanberg and Mickey Devine have reported at the Leaf's camp, and though both are a little overweight they will soon get down to playing condition with "Laughing Larry" driving them at top speed four hours a day. Threat of suspension, with the addition of a $100 fine, apparently made Devine sit up and take notice, with the result that he did not lose any time taking the first train to Columbus after he received the timely wire from President McCaffery. Sanberg and Devine just have to play the same high-class ball they did last season to give the Leafs the best catching corps in the league.

Riley and Hunter Report.

Outfielder Jim Riley and utility player Hunter, who comes from the Giants, also have arrived at the camp and got right down to work. Riley, so despatches from Columbus say, looks ready right now for the opening of the season's campaign. Hunter, who can play the infield and outfield equally well, has seen service with both the Giants and Boston Red Sox, and he also played in Japan this past winter. He comes well recommended, but with the material now under Doyle's wing will have to be awful good to replace Anderson, McAndrews or Gonzales. Time will tell just how good he is, but one thing is certain, McGraw has never yet handed President McCaffery a no-account. Hunter is a six-footer, and, according to reports, looks a ball player every inch of him. Riley and Devine have not signed contracts as yet, but that is nothing new for Toronto players. Last season most of the players were signed to contracts the day before the opening game at Reading. There is no doubt all the holdouts will be in line very shortly, and they will be satisfied.

Twenty-Three Players in Camp.

There are now 23 players at the Leafs' camp, seven pitchers, two catchers, eight infielders, and six outfielders. Pitchers Wintevs and Barnes and Outfielder VernonSpencer of the Giants will be with the Leafs before the International season opens. That much is certain. President McCaffery is now on his way to Columbus.

The Akron club will take out an injunction to prevent the International League selling their franchise to Newark.

Newark will play at the old Federal League park at Harrison, N.J. It is a park very hard to reach, and it will be some task to get the fans to go there to see the game. Unless Newark get new grounds that city might just as well forget about International ball. Anyway Newark and Jersey City have not been good ball towns since the Giants and Yankees have been able to play Sunday ball in New York. It was the Sunday crowds that made baseball a paying thing in Newark and Jersey City in the past.

Catcher Frank Lapp, with the Hamilton M.-O. League club last season, is to get a trial with Todedo. He is a promising backstop.

Judge Landis has informed the International League that it will have to settle its own trouble in regard to the transferring of the Akron franchise to Newark.

Former White Sox players indicted for throwing ball games have been given their unconditional release. They will never again play in organized ball.

Floral Bat for Ruth.

Crowley, La., March 18. — Babe Ruth, Ping Bodie and other homerunners of note, are here to take part in a fracas between the New York Yanks and the Inndianapolis Indians. The Yanks were expecting just as easy a time as they had in beating the St. Louis Cards, 14 to 9. Ruth hit a homer and was presented with a floral bat.

Shea With Giants' First Team.

San Antonio, Texas, March 18. — John McGraw divided his Giant forces yesterday. A first and second team will set out on an exhibition tour to-day. The New York manager did something unexpected when he relegated Rube Benton and Lee King to the second team and elevated Shea, Brown and Walker to the first section.

Shanks Bats Some.

Gainesville, Fla., March 18. — A ninth-inning rally by the Phillies nosed out the Washington Senators here 3 to 2. Frank Bruggy, pinch-hitting, sent the winning runs across by a terrific wallop to right field. Shanks, for Washington, batted 1,000 in four trips to the plate.

Will Manage Newarks.

Newark, N.J., March 18.—Jimmy Walsh, former outfielder for the New York, Boston and Philadelphia American League clubs, will manage the Newark club of the International League, according to an announcement by Roy Mack, president of the club.

Mack's Pitchers Going Well.

Beaumont, Texas, March 18. — Effective pitching by Hasty and Naylor, allowing only three hits, scarcely enabled the Athletics to win over the Beaumont Texas leaguers here, 5 to 1. Connie Mack was of the opinion that there was some pretty good major league material in the hustling Beaumont outfit.

Cobb's Hurlers Show Something.

Detroit, Mich., March 18.—Manager Cobb of the Detroit Tigers, has removed the restraint he imposed on pitchers early in the practice season at San Antonio, and yesterday saw five innings of earnest effort by the "regulars," to overcome the "Yannigans." Holling and Cole, both recruits, came through three innings charged with a single apiece. These two recruits, it is believed, are slated for a regular berth with the Tigers.

In addition to rounding into shape for the championship season in baseball a number of the Tigers are devoting early morning hours to golf at the public course adjoining their training field. The innovation has the thorough approval of Cobb, and San Antonio golf ball dealers.

Young and Ehmke share low medalist honors with 100.

FOCH SEES BOXING BOUTS.

War Hero and Other Notables Watch Legion Matches.

PARIS, March 18.—Members of the American colony and many persons prominent in French political and social life, including Marshal Foch and General Nivelle, to-night witnessed a series of boxing matches in the Cirque de Paris, given for the Paris Post of the American Legion.

There were eight hard-fought contests between champions from the American forces on the Rhine and the United States Navy and French pugilists. The contests resulted in an international draw.

The bouts kept the spectators in a keen state of excitement, so evenly matched were the contestants. Marshal Foch was accompanied by a large group of officers. Several hundred officers and doughboys from Coblenz carried out a regular "rooting spree" from the gallery. President Millerand and Hugh C. Wallace, the American Ambassador, did not attend the bouts, but were personally represented.

American girl students acted as ushers. The bouts were held in the same ring where the American Expeditionary Force championships were decided after the Armistice.

BIG LEAGUER IN MILLBROOK

LET NATIVES IN ON SOME OF SOLOMON'S STAGE SECRETS.

Mr. Stanley Lowes, of Peterborough, was in town on Friday last on a business trip. Stan was full of baseball dope as usual, and says that Manager Jake Solomon will have some new faces on his line-up this year, and predicts another successful season for the Solomon crew. Stan started into baseball in his old home village of Mount Pleasant some years back, and those were the good old days when the rivalry between Millbrook, Mount Pleasant and Cavanville was always at fever heat. Stan played good ball last year and will be with the Petes again this coming season.—Millbrook Reporter.

LACROSSE CLUB MEETING TO-NIGHT.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club will be held in the Board of Trade Rooms to-night at 7.30 o'clock.

ANNUAL MEETING OF LACROSSE CLUB

WILL RE-ORGANIZE FOR SEASON IN BOARD OF TRADE ROOMS TO-NIGHT.

All Peterborough people interested in lacrosse are invited to the annual meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club which will be held at 7.30 o'clock to-night in the Board of Trade rooms, corner of George and Simcoe streets. A large attendance at this meeting would be a source of encouragement to the players and an augury for a successful season. Every lacrosse player and fan in the city should try to be on hand to-night.

LOCAL FOOTBALL GOSSIP

EXECUTIVE MEETING ON MONDAY NIGHT—PRACTICE GAMES ON SATURDAY—OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST.

The regular monthly meeting of the Peterborough Football Association will be held in G.W.V.A. rooms on Monday evening, March 21st. All club representatives are requested to attend the meeting which is called for 8 p.m. prompt.

All C. C. G. football players are requested to attend a practice game at the Exhibition grounds commencing at 2.30 p.m., on Saturday afternoon.

Last Saturday afternoon, down at the Exhibition grounds, the C.G.E., De Laval, Comrades and the Caledonians held their first practice games. At the C.G.E. pitch a good number of last season's players were out getting into shape. The Caledonians picked two teams amongst themselves and went into the game with full force until all cried 'enough' for the day. But on the east end pitch the De Laval and Comrades had a "friendly" game that proved very beneficial to all the players, more especially the De Laval, who have a number of new players in their team, who look very promising, and playing as full back for the De Laval, Leach, late of the Comrades, certainly strengthens a weak spot of the De Laval. Unfortunately the ground was too soft and cut up very easily that demonstrated 'Jock' Lindsay in a new role 'picking out the dry spots.' At the Canadian Woollens athletic field a good turnout of players were present, and was very interesting until the unfortunate accident to Charlie Thorpe necessitated a 'cry off' for the day. All football enthusiasts wish the Woollens player a quick recovery.

During the last two weeks on Saturday evenings the Great War Veterans' football club have been conducting a dance with the object of assisting the club financially, which has proved very satisfactory.

On Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m., the Comrades football team will hold a practise game and any player desiring to get into the game will get a hearty welcome at the east end of the Exhibition grounds.

A special practice game of all Caledonian players will take place on Saturday afternoon at the east end of the Exhibition grounds. Please attend as early as possible, starting at 2.30 p.m. Defence against forwards.

The Great War Veterans' football executive have not decided yet when they will initiate their first practice game.

At a special meeting of the Caledonian Football Clu bon Wednesday evening, it was decided not to hold their dance on Friday evening, March 25th, and has postponed the date indefinitely.

"What will the executive do to encourage the Scottish football team to play in Peterborough when touring Canada," is the question of the hour" by all football enthusiasts.

All Canadian Woollens football players are requested to meet at the Bonner-Worth office on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 sharp. Business important.

ALL ABOUT THE SCOTTISH CUP.

An Interesting Article Describing Some Thrilling Incidents in the Fight for the Trophy.

It is a remarkable fact that Glasgow Rangers, in the very van of football for more than 40 years, should have won the Scottish Cup on only four occasions. They were the winners in 1893-94, when they defeated Celtic by 3 goals to 1; in 1896-97, when they mastered Dumbarton by 5 to 1; in 1897-98, when they overcame Kilmarnock by 2 to 0; and in 1902-03, when they knocked out Heart of Midlothian by two clear goals.

The famous Rangers are not famed for their prowess in the struggles for the national trophy They managed to reach the final for the first time in their history in 1878-79, and played the Vale of. Leven to a draw of one each. But they refused to play again, contending that they had been cheated in the first encounter. There was nothing left for it but to award the Cup to the Vale.

Again and again have the Rangers flattered in the ties only to deceive. It is 12 years since they appeared in the final round—1908-09—when the Hampden Park riot occurred and the cup was withheld. The Rangers, a great club with a great team, have, strange to say, a comparatively poor cup history.

Celtic's Quick Start.

Celtic, on the other hand, had been only two years in existence when they won the cup. At that time the Rangers were their Seniors by nigh a score of years, but had still their names to carve on the national trophy. The Celts have won it on nine occasions.

They defeated Queen's Park in 1891-92 by 3 to 1; Rangers in 1898-90 by 2 to 0; Queen's Park in 1899-1900, by 4 to 3; Rangers in 1903-04 by 3 to 2; Heart of Midlothian in 1906-07 by 3 to 0; St. Mirren in 1907-08 by 5 to 1; Hamilton Academicals in 1910-11 by 2 to 1; Clyde in 1911-12 by 2 to 0; and Hibernian in 1913-14 by 4 to 1. Five unsuccessful appearances have Celtic made in the final, the first being in 1888-89, the season that the club was established.

Queen's Park have not been in the finals since Celtic whipped them 4 to 3 21 years ago. But in the early years of the competition Queen's Park were all the rage. For long they were the cocks of the walk. They have played in 12 finals and won 10. In 1873-74 they beat Clydesdale 2 to 0; 1874-75 they beat Renton 3 to 0; in 1875-76 they beat 3rd Lanark 2 to 0; 1879-80 they beat Thornliebank 3 to 0; 1880-81 they beat Dumbarton 4 to 1; 1883-84 awarded the cup, Vale of Leven 2 to 1; 1892-93 they beat Celtic 2 to 1.

Glancing over the amateur's wonderful cup tie record between 1873 and 1890, I find that in 1876-77 they defeated Sandyford by 7 to 0, in round one, Caledonian by 7 to 0 in round two, Arthurlie by 7 to 0 in round three, Northern by 4 to 0 in round four, and then in round five, were beaten for the first time in their history by any club, Vale of Leven knocking them out by 2 to 1. The highest score ever made by Queen's Park in the Cup competition was 16 to 0 against St. Peter's, in the first round in 1885-86.

Jimmy Quinn's Entrance.

In the Scottish final of 1903-04 the one and only Jimmy Quinn came into his kingdom. For a season or two before this Quinn has been as often out of the team as in it. Alec Bennett, afterwards of Rangers' fame, was then the recognized centre-forward. But Alec fell ill about the date of the final tie, and Quinn was called upon to fill the vacancy.

The Rangers were in opposition, and led at the interval by 2 to 0. Quinn, in the second period, found and maintained the form which very quickly sent him to the top of the tree, and kept him there, as one of the greatest centre forwards the game has ever seen. He was irresistible—dodging, dribbling, passing and shooting. Nothing like it had ever been seen on Hampden Park.

Three times he broke clean through the Rangers' defence — nothing oculd hold him—and scored three of the loveliest goals ever registered in a Scottish cup tie. Quinn became a football hero from that afternoon. And he is a football hero still although he is not now in the game.

Another sensational cup-tie between these famous rivals was at Celtic Park in 1905. Quinn was ordered off by the referee. Jimmy's supporters—and they were legion — at once invaded the field. They stopped the play, assaulted the referee and threatened the Rangers' players. The police cleared the pitch. The players reappeared. The game was restarted. But another invasion of the field occurred and grave disorder was imminent. The players and referee skedaddled to the pavilion. The arena was the scene of several fights.

A huge crowd of Quinn's supporters gathered in front of the pavilion and cheered their hero till they were hoarse. Quinn was suspended for a month for his share in the proceedings. At the time of the break in, the Rangers were leading by 2 to 0, and the tie was awarded to them.

The Memorable Dundee-Clyde Final

Another memorable cup final was that between Dundee and Clye in 1909-10. They met three times. On the second occasion, Clyde were leading 2 to 0 with three minutes to go. Dundee's desperate and despairing effort to save the game lives in the memory of all who witnessed it.

Thousands had left the ground in the belief that Clyde had won. Messages had been telephoned to the evening newspapers that Clyde were the winners. But twice in the last two minutes the Tayside men swept the field scoring brilliantly each time, and most miraculously drawing the match. The next week the teams met for the third encounter. Clyde were defeated and it was "Up wi' the Bonnets o' Bonnie Dundee."

Other provincial winners of the Scottish Cup have been Vale of Leven, 1876-77, 1877-78, and 1878-79; Renton, 1884-85 and 1887-88; Dumbarton, 1882-83; Falkirk, 1912-13. Of the Edinburgh clubs, Heart of Midlothian were the winner in 1890-91, 1895-96, 1900-01 and 1905-06; Hibernian 1886-87 and 1901-02; and St.Bernard, 1894-95.

Last years results were:
Fourth round—Rangers 1; Celtic 0.
Armadale 1; Kilmarnock 2.
Morton 3, Third Lanark 0.
Albion Rovers 2, Aberdeen 1.
Semi-Final—Morton 2; Kilmarnock 3.
Albion Rovers 2, Rangers 0.
Final—Kilmarnock 3, Albion Rovers 2.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

AT THE ALLEN.

"Dangerous Business," which opened its engagement at the Allen yesterday, is a film version of the widely read novel, 'The Chessboard,' written by Madelaine Sharp Buchanan and adapted for the screen by John Emerson and Anita Loos.

It is different than the usual run of photoplays inasmuch as in the big scene in which the supposed "husband" orders his bride to undress and go to bed in their bridal suite she is forced to obey through stress of circumstances and no third party breaks down the door and rescues the unwed girl in the nick of time, as has always heretofore happened in the fifth reel.

The audience positively gasps at this new and daring situation. It is not a play that is supposed to convey a message, or encompass a vital idea, but the climax of this uncommon plot is too good to spoil in the telling.

The heroine is played by Constance Talmadge, whose popularity among film fans will be further enhanced by the freshness and charm she displays in the role of Nancy Flavell. Indeed she may be confidently expected to bring many new devotees to her shrine by her handling of this somewhat difficult role. Difficult because she is not the persecuted heroine, but largely the author of her own troubles. The picture has been lavishly staged and has an appropriate cast. Kenneth Harlan, as the suppositious husband, acts the lord and master to the entire subjugation of Nancy. Nina Cassavant, as Nancy's particular chum and confidante, portrays the part of Genevieve understandingly. "Dangerous Business" is ably directed by R. William Neill.

AT THE REGENT.

THRILL AND CHARM IN BUCK JONES' PLAY.

Those who love to be thrilled, who can be charmed by pure romance, who can laugh at clear, clean, humour, should not fail to see the cyclonic Fox star, Buck Jones, in his latest picture. "Just Pals," which opened an engagement at the Regent Theatre last night.

Buck Jones is certain to add materially to his reputation by his clever portrayal of Bim, a "nobody" and the principal character in this stirring story of the Western country—a story replete with thrills, romance and humour, and giving the start a role more interesting, perhaps, than any he has yet had.

WILSON OUTPOINTS O'DOWD FOR MIDDLEWEIGHT CHAMPIONSHIP

The principles weighed in under the stipulated 160 pounds at two o'clock this afternoon. Wilson turned the scales at 158 pounds, and O'Dowd at 159 1-4.

Wilson was the first to enter the ring, and he received a warm reception. O'Dowd climbed between the ropes a minute later and was greeted by hearty cheers from all parts of the house. Both men appeared to be in excellent physical condition.

The principals shook hands at 10.48.

FEDERATION OF SPORT CLUBS AT BELLEVILLE

COMMITTEE APPOINTED TO DRAFT RULES AND REGULATIONS.

BELLEVILLE, March 18. — A strongly representative sporting committee has been appointed to recommend on Tuesday night next rules and regulations to govern a federation of all sporting clubs, proposed at a recent meeting in the City Hall. Mayor Hanna presided and the Lion's and Rotary Clubs were well represented. The rules in view are similar to those of Aura Lee or Toronto Rowing Club, and the project is to organize an association to handle every branch of sport—baseball, hockey, basketball, tennis, football, rowing and lacrosse. The agricultural grounds will be available for the coming season's football, and the diamond is to be improved.

ANNUAL REPORT.

Depression "Welcomed" as it Enabled Return to Normal Conditions.

Profits of the Port Hope Sanitary Mfg. Co., Ltd., for the year ended January 31st last, after provision for all charges, were $46,610.45, as compared with $79,411.50 the previous year. Business during the year, however, increased substantially, according to President L. M. Wood, despite the decrease in net which he attributed to scarcity of raw materials, high labor and poor production, which so hampered the excellent orders of the first half of the year that the falling off of orders at the close came as a distinct relief, as it provided an opportunity to get the plant back on a normal basis. Mr. Wood said that the outlook for the year was favorable, a great deal of new building was contemplated, and any further price reductions would be of a gradual character.

MOHAWK INDIAN HUNDRED YEARS OLD.

BELLEVILLE, March 18. — A member of the Mohawk Indian band, Peter Brant by name, on Wednesday celebrated his century birthday. He was born on the tribe's reserve in Hastings County and was quite hale and active until a few months ago, when he accidentally fell and injured his right knee. Since then he has been confined to his bed. His memory is good and he recollects many incidents of the past. He is the last member living of his parents' family.

DISMISSES INDICTMENTS AGAINST FIVE PACKERS

NEW YORK, March 18.—Federal Judge Garvin, in Brooklyn, formally dismissed indictments charging profiteering, returned under the Lever act, against the "Big Five" packers—Armour Company, Swift and Company, Morris and Company Wilson and Company and the Cudahy Packing Company. Dismissal followed the action of the United States supreme court in holding the Lever act in part unconstitutional

"PUSSYFOOT" FIXED UP.

Col. Robinson Notifies "Dry" They May Have Armory.

WINDSOR, March 18.—Final adjustment of the armory controversy was made when Lieut.-Col. Robinson, officer commanding 21st Regiment, notified headquarters of the Border Cities referendum committee, to make formal application for the buildings for the night of April 11th, and directed the applicants to enclose a check covering the accustomed fee of $10.

It was learned later that General Panet told Mayor Wilson of Windsor at a conference that the Armouries might be used for the "Pussy foot" Johnson meeting but the city would be held directly responsible for any damage that might result in event of violence.

The friends of Mrs. Maxwell Cromie will be pleased to know that she has returned to her home in Smith township, after several weeks in Nicholls Hospital following a serious operation.

The Otonabee Chapter of the I. O.D.E. held a very delightful St. Patrick's Day Tea at the residence of Mrs. E. C. S. Huycke, Engleburn Avenue, yesterday afternoon. A good attendance resulted in a very nice sum being realized for the work which is the special interest of this organization just at present; that of secondary education. The decorations were exceptionally attractive, the colour scheme of green and white being carried out in every detail. Harps and shamrocks, festoons candles, even the dainty green of the candy served to emphasize the note of spring always associated with this color of hope. The caps and aprons of the pretty waitresses were very fetching, and yellow daffodils added their bright faces to the general decorative effect.

Mrs. Huycke and Mrs. W. A. Sanderson received the guests, Mrs. R. R. Hall and Mrs. C. Fessenden had charge of the tea table, assisted by the Misses Rosamond Huycke, Nora Hatton, Georgie Stevenson, Jessie Cressman and Esme Aylmer, and the musical programme, under the direction of Mrs. H. W. Morphet, was much enjoyed. Mrs. W. R. Widdiss gave a vocal solo, Mrs. Porter a pianoforte selection, Miss Hazel Davidson recited, Miss Edith Pryce gave a solo dance, and Mrs. P. Hooper, accompanied by Miss Agnes Logan, very kindly played several times.

Guests registered at the Empress Hotel: S. D. Jarvis, M. A. Hirst, Hamilton, F. A. Kidd, Kingston; E. J. Hayes, S. L. Lawther, Alan Coatsworth, J. C. Gibson, A. Gillies, L. A. Austin, M. S. Haas, F. GERMAN MERCHANTS MUSTN'T RAISE RATES

O.C. Occupied Area Issues Orders Against Profiteering.

DUSSELDORF, March 18. — General Gocher, commander of the occupational forces, in a new order issued to-day warns the merchants of the ocupied area not to further raise the prices. They are cautioned against creating the impression that the higher prices charged for clothing and foodstuffs are due to the allied occupation. Offenders will be punished severely and their stores will be closed, the order says. The merchants say the higher prices are caused by the fact that the goods are not coming into the region.

VOL. XLIX. NO 66 PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, MARCH 19, 1921 PRICE THREE CENTS

LEGISLATURE UPHOLD RIGHT OF THE PRESS

DISCUSSION OF ARTICLE IN THE GLOBE ENDS IN RECOGNITION OF THE FREEDOM OF THE PRESS.

APPROVE PLATOONS

TORONTO, March 19.—(Canadian Press). — The right of free speech was vigorously emphasized in the Legislature yesterday when W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal member for South Ontario, sharply took the Globe newspaper to task tor an article condemning the Opposition members for prolonging the session and, incidentally, thereby insinuating that they were playing into the hands of the pro-temperance advocates by keeping those stalwarts of the House who might now be out fighting in the ranks of the "dry column" from participating in the campaign.

From both the Liberal and Conservative benches came protests against any suggestion that they should be "muzzled" in discussing the King's business, and as to the ulterior motives hinted at, they were indignantly denied.

The House then went on to advance a few public bills before calling it a day. In the Committee of the Whole, W. A. Crockett's bill providing for the adoption of the two-platoon system in permanent fire brigades was approved, with an amendment restricting its application to towns and cities of ten thousand population or over.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? AND IT'S A FACT, TOO

A GRAND WORK THAT IS NOT GENERALLY KNOWN BY OUR CITIZENS.

How many citizens of Peterborough who read this article are aware of the fact that the Peterborough Health Association conducted a summer camp at Jackson Park all last summer, where seventy children were taken care of and assisted back to health and strength. This is only possible through the money that is derived from the Motor Show, and is one of the main reasons why busy men and women are so interested in making the Motor Show a success.

In the past there has been hardly a citizen who has not done something to help it along and as the days go by the Publicity committee of the show will try to tell you of some of the many activities of the Health Association that you have so liberally supported in the past without all this knowledge of the work done.

A BIG DANCE IN CAMPBELLFORD BY THE WAR VETERANS

The Campbellford branch of the Great War Veterans' Association will give a dance on Easter Monday night in the Music Hall. Many invitations have been issued throughout the town and district and a large attendance is expected. Blood's orchestra of Port Hope, has been engaged for the occasion. The committee is composed of Harold Nancarrow, Harry Anderson and Walter Davidson.

HUN CHANCELLOR ADVOCATES DISARMAMENT IN REICHSTAG

BERLIN, March 19 (Canadian Press).—The recent entry of some armed British ships into German harbours, it was announced in the Reichstag, is seriously engaging the attention of the German Government, in view of the "gravity of the principle involved."

Chancellor Fehrenbach urged the speedy passage of the Disarmament Bill, warning that a delay, for which neither he nor the Government could take the responsibility, would entail danger. The Reichstag Committee is discussing the measure.

U.S. PACKERS FAVOR STRIKE

UNLESS EIGHT HOUR DAY MAINTAINED 20,000 WILL WALK OUT IN CHICAGO.

MAY BECOME GENERAL

CHICAGO, March 19.—(Canadian Press).—By a vote of 21,482 to 207, union workers in the Chicago packing plants went on record yesterday in favor of a strike if they were unable to induce the packers to maintain an eight-hour working day. Telegraph reports at union headquarters were said to indicate similar strike majorities in other packing house centres throughout the United States.

SELF-DENIAL DRIVE GETS GOOD RESPONSE

HOPE TO REACH OBJECTIVE BY MIDDLE OF NEXT WEEK.

The Campaign Committee for the Salvation Army Self-Denial Fund is still working away, and hopes to reach the objective of $3,000.00 during the week following. A number of the factories have as yet to report but promise to do so on Monday.

It is hoped that the middle of the week will close the work out, and that workers can be notified that the end has been accomplished. Many thanks are tendered for what has been done and gained, and the liberal response, as a whole, has been a very good encouragement. On a final settlement being reached, a statement will be published. The public which has supported the effort should know how the matter stands.

In the meantime the committee has on hand a gift in kind of five bushels of peas. This esteemed product of the farm has its value. Who will bid for the lot? This column is, of course, not the advertising column of this paper, but we want to slip in a small advt. while the hands are not looking. So, who will make an offer. The committee wish to turn the peas into money for, it is quite evident, it can't turn them into soup. Peas are on a rising market. Positively going up. Buy while the opportunity to do a trifle of lucrative trade is here. Who will have them. Tenders may be made to the Secretary. The giver of the peas was short on cash, but long on peas. Hence the gift.

All told, the committee sees in sight $2,380.00. In fact has it pretty well cornered. Hopes to get the balance and surely will.

CONFESSED TO ROBBING BANK.

North Dakota Teller Short $70,000.

BISMARCK, N.D., March 19.—O. E. Lofthus, State Bank Examiner, announces that Frank C. Heaton, former teller, arrested on charges of embezzlement of funds of the Scandinavian-American Bank of Fargo, had confessed. The method used by Heaton, Lofthus said, was to tear out pages of loose leaf register in the savings department where he was a teller. The embezzlement was discovered a short time before the bank was closed, Lofthus said.

FARGO, N.D., March 19.—Frank C. Heaton, former teller in the Scandinavian-American Bank of Fargo, which closed several weeks ago is now out on $20,000 bond, following his arrest charged with embezzling $9,000 of the bank's funds.

L. C. Reep, of the State Bank Examiner's office, said that a total shortage of $70,000 to $80,000 had been discovered.

NECESSARY TO EXTEND AREA

MULHEIM OCCUPIED

PARIS, March 19. — (Canadian Press).—The occupation of Mulheim and the Speldorf railway stations in the Ruhr district of Germany by French troops was simply a further step in the plan adopted by the London Reparations Conference, it was explained in official circles here to-day. The stations command the approaches to the Rhine, and their possession was necessary to make the Allied occupation effective, it was added.

GOOD DEMAND FOR CANADIAN CATTLE

MR. H. P. KENNEDY DISCUSSES LIVE STOCK SITUATION

Commencing about March 1st there was an increased demand for fat Canadian export cattle, to European markets, and prices of live stock have considerably improved from the extreme low point reached in Febraury, said Mr. H. P. Kennedy, who was in the city to-day.

H. P. Kennedy, Ltd. have, during the month of March, made several shipments of the choicest heavy export steers to Switzerland and British ports. They are to-day loading a steamer at Baltimore for Glasgow, and expect to be in the market every week for the choice heavy export cattle.

Steady Prices.

Their purchases have been made principally in Toronto, Montreal, Chicago and Lancaster, Pa. In speaking of prospective prices, Mr. Kennedy recently stated that he looked for steady prices, possibly a shade lower, for the next six weeks, as, while there is a fair demand for export, shipping rates are still about 4 to 5 times more than the rates ruling before the war, and, with the great number of unemployed, both in Europe, the United States and Canada, the demand for high-priced meats is naturally limited.

The ruling prices paid this week for export by Mr. Kennedy were 10 1-2 to 11 1-2 in Canadian markets, and 9 1-2 to 10 1-4 in the American markets. While the quality of the American cattle is better than the Canadian brand, the British pound sterling is worth about 15 p.c. more in Canada, which allows a better price to be paid the Canadian farmers.

DEATH REVEALS SECRET MARRIAGE.

Wife's Mourning Gown Led to Discovery.

NEW YORK, March 19. — The death in the New York Hospital on Monday, March 7, of Austin Ogden Sherwood, Secretary to Supreme Court Justice William J. Kelly of Brooklyn, revealed the fact that he had been married for eight years to Minetta Reichert a stenographer attached to the Supreme Court. The romance was learned when the secret wife appeared at her work in the Court House clad in deep mourning the day after the funeral, held on Thursday, March 10, at St. Patrick's Church, Glen Cove, L. I.

When seen at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Reichert, of 1015 Lincoln Place, Brooklyn, yesterday, Mrs. Sherwood refused to make any statement. From other sources it was found that the couple lived in Brooklyn after their marriage and had one child, James Richard Sherwood, now six years of age. The marriage was not made public because of a difference in the religious beliefs of the pair. ?

Mr. Sherwood was the son of James K. O. Sherwood, who has large real estate holdings in the vicinity of Glen Cove. The late Mr. Sherwood was active in Catholic charities in Glen Cove, as are his father and his mother. Mrs Regina Sherwood, who received the title of a Papal Marchionette two years ago from Pope Benedict.

OLD HOME WEEK.

THE SHOOTING OF SPRACKLIN UNCONFIRMED

NO CONFIRMATION OF RUMOR OBTAINABLE FROM RELATIVES OF THE PASTOR-INSPECTOR.

VISITING AT ST. GEORGE

WINDSOR, March 19.—(Special to The Examiner.)— No confirmation of the reported shooting of the Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin could be had from relatives of the fighting parson here this morning. Rev. Mr. Spracklin is visiting relatives at St. George, Ontario, and it was stated that it was not known when he would return.

Whether or not Mr. Spracklin will take an active part in the Referendum campaign is not known here. It is understood that he left the border cities a few days ago to confer with leaders of the movement in Toronto.

Mr. Spracklin, who went to St. George early in the week, was joined by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Spracklin, of Windsor, on Thursday.

LADIES' LITERARY SOCIETY MEETING

INTERESTING PAPER BY MISS AMY HALPIN—THE PROGRAMME.

A real Irish evening was offered by the Ladies' Literary Section of the Holy Name Society in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum last night, and a good-sized crowd enjoyed a treat on this occasion.

Miss Amy Halpin's paper on "Thomas Moore," was very interesting, being a brief review of the life of the poet who is best known to fame by his Irish melodies, and who once said, after a visit to our own Niagara: "Bring an atheist here, and he will not return an atheist." Byron's saying with regard to Moore is familiar to most of us: "Tommy dearly loves a lord," and it was his fondness, perhaps, for fashionable society that caused him to die almost penniless, after having received upwards of £30,000 from the sale of his works, "Lalla Rookh" alone bringing him £3,000

Saint Patrick

Rev. Father Peter McGuire then gave a splendid talk on St. Patrick, he who 1,500 years ago, after his 38 years of preparation, converted a whole nation to Christianity without shedding one drop of blood, and whose memory is just as fresh and green to-day in the hearts of his countrymen as it was so many long centuries ago. For 500 years after the death of its saint, who used the little green shamrock growing at his foot to illustrate the idea of the Holy Trinity, Ireland was renowned for the learning and hospitality of its people, but, although a thousand years since have seen its ineffectual struggles for liberty, the Irish people have never lost, nor ever will lose, their hold on the ancient faith Ireland itself contains only four and one-half millions of the Irish race, but there are twenty-five millions of them in the United States, and in evey other country under the sun. With reference to their emigration to Canada in the black famine years, the speaker recorded the debt of gratitude due the French-Canadians who succored these weary exiles, many of whom were stricken with the dreaded typhoid. Although Ireland's cause is not yet won, Father McGuire asserted that the Irish are not down-hearted. St. Patrick was a great man, and the Irish nation is a great nation

Rev. P. Costello also spoke at some length, and Irish music in songs and instrumental selections was delightfully rendered by the Misse M. Allen, Florence Leahy and Marion Haye. Mrs. Jas. O'Brien occupied the chair.

ELECTION OF CHAMBERLAIN NOW ASSURED

NO OPPOSITION FOR CHIEFTAINSHIP OF GOVERNMENT PARTY.

LONDON, March 19.—(Canadian Press).—Austen Chamberlain's election as Chief of the Unionist Party seems assured, as opposition will not be forthcoming. He will, it is presumed, lead the Commons, and sooner or later resign the portfolio of Chancellor of the Exchequer, which he is now holding, for the less exacting office. The convention to select the leader of the Unionist Party has been called for next Monday.

HEAVY LOSSES OF BOLSHEVIK AT KRONSTADT

ATTACKED WITH NO THOUGHT FOR TERRIBLE SACRIFICES WHICH ASSAULT ENTAILED, SAID.

FIERCE FIGHTING

LONDON, March 19. — (Canadian Press.)—Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik war minister, leading the attack which resulted in the fall of Kronstadt, had no thought for the terrible sacrifices which the assault entailed, according to the advices received here. He attacked with overwhelming forces, including Chinese and women, regardless of the heavy loss of life which his followers were suffering.

Kronstadt was engaged from two directions, the main attack coming from Oranienbaum. The big guns of the defence could not be used but the fortress machine guns mowed down the Bolsheviki until piles of dead covered the ice. Fresh columns incessantly appeared out of a dense fog and the Bolsheviki eventually succeeded in penetrating Petersburg gate only to be ejected. On the third attempt the Bolsheviki captured the fortress.

About 7 on Thursday evening the troops who that morning had subdued the island batteries, started another attack and from the east a fierce final assault was launched. The Soviets got a foothold in the city. There was furious street fighting until early in the morning when Trotsy's followers became masters o fthe situation. Then the revolutionary leaders ordered the garrison to withdraw to Taricki, on the Russo Finnish forntier, the way to which had been kept open.

LONDON, March 19. — (Canadian Press.) — M. Djearjinsky, head of the all Russian Revolutionary Commission, has personally arrested General Sergius Kameneff, commander in chief of the Bolshevik armies, and Colonel Lebedieff, the general's chief of staff ,at Moscow, according to a despatch from Riga to the Times. No reason for the arrests is given.

OTTAWA ENQUIRES AFTER MR. BURNHAM

PETERBORO'S FORMER MEMBER IS NOT FORGOTTEN IN THE CAPITAL

Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., is in town to-day from Ottawa. He said that Lieutenant Michael O'Leary, who was the first Canadian to receive the V.C. in the Great World War, was an extremely interesting and picturesque character.

The report was that during the battle of Givenchy, in February, 1915, Michael O'Leary, single-handed, charged a German machine gun nest, and killed eighteen men, and then turned the machine gun against the Huns.

Michael O'Leary was formerly in the North-West Mounted Police, but as he has a wife and family, he wants to get located in Ontario.

While on the platform with Mr. Gordon last Wednesday night, Lieut. O'Leary made a short speech, and according to Mr. Gordon's view, if he keeps at his public speaking he will be as good a platform man as he was a fighter.

According to Mr. Gordon, Mr. J. H. Burnham has been a well-known and popular figure in Ottawa. Mr. Gordon is bombarded with questions from members on both sides of the House as to how Mr. Burnham is, and if he has returned to practice of law or not.

The view around Ottawa is that Mr. Burnham took the right attitude in protesting against the Government's hanging on to office after the mandate of the people had ceased, and according to Mr. Gordon there are many of the old line Conservative members of the House who still believe in the doctrine of the Conservative Party, and are not friendly to the new hyphenated party which has included in it a bunch of cast-off Grits.

BLAMES HIGH SKIRT ON WAR.

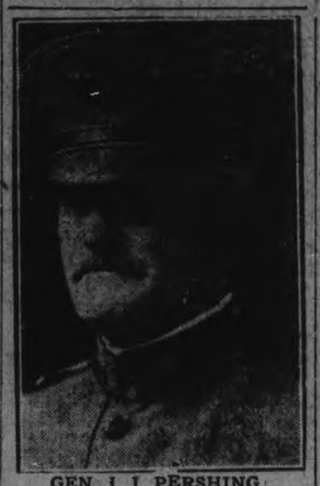
But For All That Girls of To-day are Good.

CHICAGO, March 19.—The extremes adopted by the modern girl should not be judged too harshly, said Mary Ross Potter, dean of women at North-western University, at a meeting of ministers' wives.

"There is nothing wrong with the girl of to-day because she uses a lip stick and a little rouge and a dab of powder," said Dean Potter. "Of course, the dress of the girl of to-day—skirt to the knees almost, flimsy stockings, flimsy everything—is not the dress of mother's generation. Nevertheless, she is sweet and good and kind at heart.

"She has an independence that did not belong to her mother's day, but such is the spirit of the times. It is the result of the war."

Thousands in New York Demonstrate Allied Friendship



GEN. J. J. PERSHING,
Who bitterly denounced the spreading of anti-Allied propaganda at a huge patriotic demonstration in Madison Square Garden, New York, last night.

PERSHINB SPEAKS

NEW YORK, March 19.—(Canadian Press).—General John J. Pershing, speaking before a crowd which packed Madison Square Garden last night at one of the greatest patriotic demonstrations here since the signing of the armistice, bitterly denounced persons of foreign birth who seek the freedom of the United States to spread "political and war-like propaganda" to weaken the ties of friendship between the United States and her Allies in the late war.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the American Legion and other patriotic societies as a protest against the recent mass meeting arranged to voice objection to French Colonial troops in occupied Germany, described as "the horror on the Rhine."

Fifteen minutes before the meeting was called to order fire department officials ordered the doors of the Garden closed to bar further admissions. More than fourteen thousand persons were then packed into the historic structure.

EGGS DECLINE 50 PER CENT.

75 CENTS A DOZEN IN FEBRUARY, NOW 38 CENTS ON THE FARMERS' MARKET.

LITTLE MAPLE SYRUP

The roads in the country, according to most of the farmers, are as bad as they seem to be every spring. With this in view, the market to-day was a very creditable one.

One might concluded from the quantity of eggs, that no matter what their own inclination might be, the farmers have absolutely had to find a market for them. Huge baskets sat in front of nearly every woman in the basket market. The price was generally 38 cents; some asked 40 cents of course. This price indicates practically a 50 per cent. drop from the 75-cent level predominating until the market slumped in February.

Chickens were plentiful, selling at 40 cents. Butter retains its hold on the high price balloon and sold at 65 cents.

The farmers asked $1 for potatoes to-day. Pork sold at 23 to 25 cents. Most of the crowd this morning were gathered around two maple syrup wagons and a stalled car, over and on which a mechanic demonstrated his gymnastic ability. The run of sap is very light this year, because of the mild winter and light snowfall. There were only a few gallons of syrup to-day, where in past seasons there have been hundreds. The syrup to-day sold at 90 cents and $1 a quart, or $4 a gallon.

THE WEATHER

That we have many varieties of weather in a country as vast as Ontario has always been recognized, but my attention has been drawn recently to the fact that even in a single county there are great and sometimes remarkable differences. Peterboro County is one of the largest counties in the province, and from the northern shores of Rice Lake to its northern confines is considerably over 60 miles. This winter its southen portion had about ten days sleighing; Peterboro City, about 20 days, and the northern portion continuous sleighing from the middle of November until the second week in March. Sleighing (and good sleighing) continued for about 110 days. Then as to cold dips—Port Hope and Cobourg, although not in this county, rarely reach within ten degrees of the cold figures for Peterboro city, while Apsley, Kinmount and other northern villages, easily beat the city's lowest figures by 10 to 15 degrees. The proximity of Lake Ontario may have some effect on its southern section, but it is likely that the much higher altitude of its northern half has much to do with its weather conditions. The northern part is from 1000 to 1500 feet above sea level while the city is but a little over 700 feet.—W. P.

ROYAL SCARLET CHAPTER "AT HOME" IN LINDSAY

LINDSAY, March 19.—In honor of the Eastern Ontario Grand Lodge of Orangemen in convention here this week, the Royal Scarlet Chapter gave an at home in the armouries, which was attended by hundreds of visitors, and pronounced an unqualified success in every way. The honorary patrons were Sir Sam Hughes, Dr. J. Wood, Joseph Beatty, Omemee, H. C. Hocken, Toronto.

DR. W. HAYES GAVE TALK ON HYGIENE

HISTORY OF DENTISTRY REVIEWED —DEBATE FOLLOWED.

The Further Educational Club of the Sacred Heart church, was addressed last evening by Dr. W. N. Hayes, on the subject of "Oral Hygiene," with special reference to inspection in separate schools. A brief review was given of the history of dentistry, a science which dates back to the early ages, even before medicine was practised. The war, the speaker maintained, has done a great deal in emphasizing the need of proper care o fthe teeth. In entering the army, a man was barred from enlistment until the oral cavity had been placed in a healthy condition by dentists, and proper instructions given regarding a continuance of same.

Proper Diet

The importance of proper diet and mastication was insisted upon and regular trips to the dentist with daily thorough cleansing were recommended. The relationship of local foci of infection to diseased physical conditions, such as chronic rheumatism, was also pointed out.

School inspection, which is now carried on in the public schools with gratifying results, was reviewed, with the methods used in arriving at results and Dr. Hayes closed his very interesting and educational address with a reiterated admonition in regard to proper care of the teeth.

A Debate

The second feature of the programme was a well-rendered debate on the resolution: "That life in the country is more beneficial to the human development than life in the city."

The affirmative was upheld by the Misses Lucille Lonergan and Dorothy McGrath, and the negative side by Misses Louise Letellier and Claire Black, and the young ladies on both sides advanced some very clever and well thought-out arguments. The decision was finally given to the negative by the judges: Mrs Collins, Mr. Rafferty and Dr. Hayes.

In conclusion the different members on the programme were heartily thanked by Rev. Father O'Brien and by Mr. F. J. McAuliffe, chairman of the meeting.

DITCH APPEAL CASE TO LAST TO NEXT WEEK

FURTHER EVIDENCE IN WESTWOOD APPEAL HEARD IN COURT BEFORE JUDGE HUYCKE.

ENGINEERS TESTIFY

An unusual case of a complex nature is proceeding in the County Court before Judge Huycke. The case originates in the Village of Westwood through which flows the River Ouse, which is dammed back, forming a mill pond to operate a grist mill, owned by Matthew and David Breckenbridge. The property of Thomas Cardwell adjoins the pond. An embankment, on which is a road, lies on Cardwell's property and prevents serious flooding by the pond. Cardwell in 1912 entered action against Breckenbridges for flooding his land. In 1914 an enigmatical judgment was finally rendered by Mr. Justice Hodgins. It is alleged there has been almost continuous ill-feeling between Cardwell and the owners of the mill and dam. West of Cardwell's property in the village lies a village lot, owned by William Morris. Morris alleges his land has been flooded from the mill pond.

Express Ran Into Open Switch; One Crushed, Two Hurt

ENGINE TURNED OVER, CRUSHING DRIVER AND FIREMAN, AND TWO CARS DERAILED AT PICTOU.

NO PASSENGERS HURT

PICTOU, March 19.— (Canadian Press.)—Short line express No. 34, from Oxford Junction to Pictou, ran into an open switch at Urquharts siding, about two miles from Tatamagouche, last night. The engine turned over and crushed to death Driver John J. Ferguson of Pictou, and badly injured Dick Almour, fireman. James Rogers, baggageman, was also badly shaken up. The cars next to the engine left the rails and went over at an agle of 45 degrees. The first and second class cars held the rails and none of the passengers were injured. A wrecking train was sent out from Stellarton to clear the line.

WORKED ONE DAY ON A DOURO FARM

FIFTEEN YEAR OLD BOY CONVICTED OF THEFT IN COUNTY COURT.

Several nationalities were involved in County Police Court cases yesterday. Samuel Curreri, a fifteen-year-old Italian boy from the Industrial School, Toronto, on Thursday, 1st March, went to work for M. D. Sullivan, a farmer of Douro, living near Indian River. The one day on a Douro farm was evidently enough for the Italian youth, for that night he pocketed eleven $10.00 bills from Mr. Sullivan, and next morning departed Torontowards.

Sullivan's son gave chase when the loss was discovered, and Curreri took to the woods, later to give himself up. He confessed the theft to Sullivan and Constable Whibbs, of Indian River, and showed where he hid the money in the woods. He was brought to the Peterborough Jail.

Yesterday Magistrate Langley found Curreri guilty. Sentence was deferred until Wednesday next. In the meantime Mr. G. W. Powell, the local agent for the Children's Aid Society, will have charge of the boy.

Mr. V. J. McKilderry appeared for the defence.

NORWOOD PASTOR RECEIVES A CALL NAPANEE CHURCH

NORWOOD HAPPENINGS — DELEGATES TO GRAND LODGE— SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

NORWOOD, March 19.—Rev. A. J. Terrill, B.A., B.D., pastor of the Methodist Church here, has received a call to Grace Street Church, Napanee.

The pulpit of the Presbyterian Church will be occupied Sunday by Rev. T. M. Wesley, B.A., of Coldwater.

Rev. T. MaNaught, of Roseneath and Bethesda, whom the Presbyterians called to their church here, is going to White Lake.

Delegates to Grand Orange Lodge.

The Grand Orange Lodge of Eastern Ontario was held in Lindsay this week. Those from Norwood who attended were: Mr. Henry Thistlewaite (County Master), Mr. Ernest Baptie, W.M. of No. 34, L.O.L., and Mr. Howard Gardner, W.M. of No. 277.

Choir Entertained.

Miss Blanche Pearce, leader of the choir in the Methodist Church, entertained the members and a few friends on Thursday evening at her home.

M.P. CHARGES IRREGULARITY GOV'T BUYING

MEAT FOR DORCHESTER PENITENTIARY SENT FROM DORCHESTER TO MONTREAL AND THEN SOLD TO DORCHESTER, ALLEGED.

WILL BE INVESTIGATED

OTTAWA, March 19.—(Canadian Press.)—In the House yesterday the Opposition members were again critical of the creation by order in council of the Purchasing Commission. The House, declared Frank Cahill, Pontiac, had twice refused to authorize the creation of such a commission.

The Minister of Justice explained that the Purchasing Commission was a body with supervisory powers. He argued that the government required no special authority for its creation. Mr. Vien retorted that appointments to the Purchasing Commission should have been made by the Civil Service Commission and not by the Governor-in-Council. Such appointments did not, he claimed, comply with the law. Mr. Vien suggested the establishment of a central store for the purchase of supplies. The Minister replied that purchases were now being made in a systematic manner.

At this, A. B. Copp, of Westmorland, N.B., cited the case of Dorchester penitentiary, meat purchased in Westmoreland county, in which Dorchester penitentiary is situated, had been shipped, he said, to the Montreal market. At Montreal dealers purchased the meat and shipped it back to Dorchester. Mr. Doherty promised an inquiry and information.

1921 MOTOR SHOW NOW UNDER WAY

At a largely attended joint meeting of the Peterborough Health Association and the Advisory Board of the Red Cross Association, together with representatives of the Motor Association, Mr. Andrew Brown and Mr. Chas. Banks, with Mr. George A. McDonald in the chair and Mr. J. H. Vanstone acting as secretary, it was unanimously decided by the Red Cross members to accede to the request of the Peterborough Health Association and undertake the management of the Motor Show this years which will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 14-15-16th next.

There is no organization in the city that is doing a bigger or better work for the citizens at large than the Peterobrough Health Association and while the full scope of the work is not known by the citizens generally the faith they have in the Association is shown each year by the enormous crowds that take in the show in the mutual endeavor that it be a success financially to augment the funds of the Association so that they will not be handicapped in any way, and it is the wish of those engaged in putting on the Motor Show this year that all records are broken, and it is felt that the public will see that this is accomplished.

ELEVEN PRINCIPLES ON WHICH LABOR WILL MAKE AGREEMENT

CHICAGO, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Eleven basic principles on which labour would be willing to negotiate agreements were laid down before the United States Railroad Labour Board yesterday by the president of the Railway Employees' Department of the American Federation of Labour. The fundamentals are:

An eight-hour day, proper overtime rates for work in excess of eight hours, arrangement of working shifts for reasonable living arrangements by employees and their families, the definition of the work of each craft to be performed by mechanics and helpers, the formulating of an apprenticeship rule, a four years' apprenticeship requirement for mechanics, eight of the majority of each class to determine what organisation shall represent them, the right to select a committee to handle grievances, the limiting of craft seniority to local shops, and to permitting the interchange of seniority with other shops or crafts, and the right to organise without discrimination.

Oppose Extending Insurance Act to a Further Extent

WOULD ADD ENORMOUSLY TO ADMINISTRATIVE COST AND PRESENT IMMENSE DIFFICULTIES.

PENSIONS ON MONDAY

OTTAWA, March 19.—(Canadian Press).—Amendments to the Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act were under review yesterday before the Special Committee of Parliament. Most of the amendments proposed were administrative in nature and were so explained by Superintendent of Insurance Finlayson. The extension of the Act to cover accident and sickness benefits to returned men was urged by the G. W. V. A., but the proposal was opposed on the ground that it would add enormously to the costs of administration and would present immense difficulties. The G. W. V. A. pension proposals will be taken up on Monday.

NEW OCEAN SERVICE FOR CANADIAN LINE

MONTREAL, March 17.—(Canadian Press.)—It is understood that J. W. Norcross, President of the Canada Steamship Lines, Limited, who is due to arrive in New York on the Aquitania to-day, has concluded arrangements under which his company, in conjunction with the American Mail Steamship Company and the Norwegian Steamship Company will run a service between Canada, Hook of Holland and Norwegian ports.

SHOOTING CASE WAS DISMISSED

ENNISMORE FARMER ACCUSED OF SHOOTING A HOUND.

Magistrate O. A. Langley dismissed the two charges against Cornelius Harrington, a well-known Ennismore farmer, yesterday afternoon. One charge was of wilfully shooting a hound owned by Merritt Taylor, an Indian, of Indian Village, and the other was of wounding another hound.

Taylor valued the hound at $50.00. He found it dead within 35 yards of Harrington's house; so believed Harrington was guilty.

Harrington was defended by Mr. J. A. O'Brien. He denied the charge, admitting that it was a relation, John Regan, who was staying at his place who did the shooting. Regan is now out West, and so temporarily out of the clutches of High County Constable A. Moore.

A dozen Indians from the Reserve were present in Court, and found the proceedings highly enjoyable.

INSPECTION AT CAMPBELLFORD NEXT TUESDAY

"C" COMPANY OF THE 40TH REGIMENT WILL PARADE AT 5.30—GENERAL KING WILL LIKELY BE THE INSPECTING OFFICER.

COMPANY GETS RECRUITS

CAMPBELLFORD, March 19.—The first parades of C Company of the 40th Regiment have revived the cherished memories of other springs when khaki uniforms seemed to fill the streets as the youth of the Trent district marched daily to the Exhibition Grounds for their elementary training in the grim business that took them overseas.

"It reminds you of the war to see the soldiers' uniforms again," is one expression of those recollections of the 139th Battalion's local quota early in 1916. Five years have passed, and it is spring again. The rolling hills are bare of snow, birds are returning, and the air is filled with light and sweetness and hopes of release from the industrial depression the world is experiencing as part of the price of victory.

Want Fruits of Peace.

The khaki has been put on again, new uniforms from the unused war stores. Perhaps they were cut from the materials made in the days of emergency when the country hummed with activity, money flowed and ebbed in equal streams, and every man had either to "fight or work." In some way the soldiers of C Company accentuate the general wish that the country, and indeed the world, was securely starting again on a new period of prosperity. There are intimations that industrial re-establishment has completed its cycle. There are rumours here, for instance, that the "Trent Valley," and that means the woollen mills, will blow its whistle soon again—perhaps on Monday morning. And when the "Trent Valley's" whistle sounds across the town, all's well with Campbellford's little world.

Quietly Re-organising.

Within two weeks Major Bygott has re-organised the local company, and now has sixty-five men enlisted; including a band of twenty-two pieces. Some of the men have seen service overseas, and others are youths just coming of age. All are enthusiastic, veterans and new recruits alike. Walter Davidson has been commissioned as lieutenant, and a transfer from Kingston has been asekd for Lieutenat Charles Boyd. Both are Campbellford boys. Lieutenant Davidson was with the Canadian Machine Gun Corps, and Lieutenant Boyd was also overseas.

Inspection on Tuesday.

The Company has been drilling on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evenings. Although not yet up to strength, the commanding officer has followed the plan of accepting recruits when they offered themselves instead of making an intensive drive to bring the force up to full strength with a rush.

The orders call for inspection on Tuesday evening at 5.30, and all the men are expected to be on hand dromptly.

General King, of Kingston, will be the inspecting officer. His visit will probably be fruitful of explicit instructions as to what course the company shall follow during the remainder of the season. There is some likelihood that drilling will continue throughout the spring, but as yet there has been no definite information in this particular.

Old C Company has its own fine war record, and because of that proud showing in the test of war, there is no question of its prestige falling upon a full quota of new recruits and veterans. The band has been practising faithfully, and will give a good account of itself this summer.

"A QUITTER"

You who are discouraged, and think it no longer worth while to fight defeat, read these experiences of Abraham Lincoln:

When very young, Abraham Lincoln was a candidate for the Illinois Legislature, and was badly beaten.

He then went into business, and failed. For the next 15 years he worked to pay the debts of a no-good partner.

Again in politics, he ran for Congress, and again was badly beaten.

He tried ofr an appointment in the U.S. Land Office, and was unable to get it.

He was a candidate for the U. S Senate and was beaten.

He tried for an appointment in the U. S., and was beaten.

One failure after another—knock-outs mostly—but determination and courage carried him over all of them until we speak of him to-day as one of the greatest men this country ever knew.

Margaret Anglin will appear as Joan of Arc at the Century Theatre on Easter Sunday at a Knights of Columbus benefit for the Hoover Relief Fund.

TOASTED CORN FLAKES

IF you would be sure of the sweetest, freshest, most toothsomely toasted corn flakes, always identify our big corn flakes factory at London, Ontario, with the package your are purchasing.

The package is plainly marked "Made in Canada" and "London, Ontario," and you will never be disappointed if you ask your grocer to give you the London-made Kellogg's.

Our constantly mounting production of corn flakes, first offered 14 years ago, and eaten every year with increasing appreciation, shows that no deception, no imitating of package, no "cheaper" no "try 'em," no "just as good" variety can overcome the consistent reputation of the original corn flakes.

Our duty to the consumer is to provide a constant reminder of the marks on the package that identify the original—"Made in Canada" and "London, Ontario" (printed in red across the face of the package)

RED FOOLISHNESS.

If the section of Toronto's unemployed who are clamouring for the use of Massey Hall in which to hold meetings to discuss the situation are fairly represented by the speakers who are doing the talking for them, the authorities are entirely justified in refusing permission. Demagogues who tell the unemployed that the Government should give every married man who is out of work $20.00 per week, with an additional $2.00 for every child, and should pay single unemployed men $12.00 to $15.00 a week, should not be provided with facilities for spreading their demoralising and foolish doctrine. They are Reds, pure and simple, and glorify in the title; their value to the state or to the men in whose cause they are supposed to be working is represented by a cypher, and what useful purpose could be accomplished by allowing them to gather in Massey Hall and give vent to their class prejudices and Socialistic nonsense is a mystery. The Red influence is sinister and harmful to the workers, and most of the Canadian labour leaders appreciate that fact and resent the activity of the agitators.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The Globe, commenting upon the manner in which time is being wasted in the Ontario Legislature professes to find in the loquacity of some of the members an attempt to "keep the members of the Legislature at their desks in Toronto when otherwise many of them, including the Premier and the bulk of his followers, would be helping as private citizens to make Ontario bone dry." The evidence adduced in support of this somewhat startling suggestion is the fact that the debates in the Legislature usually get around to the Ontario Temperance Act. In The Globe's condemnation of the blockade of public business we heartily concur; but we must profess that the motive assigned by our contemporary is far-fetched. The delay in the House and the sidetracking of important business do not represent a new condition; they are rather merely a repetition of other sessions aggravated by the development of the group system, which lends itself to frequent amendments and more frequent speeches. It is true that the Ontario Temperance Act bulks largely in the daily debates, just as it does in every day conversation; but it is going a long way further than The Examiner cares to go to declare that enemies of the temperance cause are merely seeking to arouse public opinion against the Act, and to influence the Referendum vote. The O. T. A. is not perfect by any means, and surely members of the Legislature who are conscientiously endeavouring to improve its administration do not deserve to be denounced as anti-Prohibition conspirators.

A TERRIBLE BURDEN.

Staggering in its revelation of the enormous cost of operating Canada's National Railways and of the harvest of debt that is being gathered under Government ownership was the annual report of Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Railways, as presented to the House of Commons on Thursday. The problem of bringing the Federal railways to a basis upon which they can be operated at a profit looms up as the biggest question with which the Canadian Parliament has to deal. The deficit of $69,593,441 for 1920, in spite of the fact that the roads showed a big increase last year in gross earnings, will surely wake the country to a realisation of the seriousness of the situation, and lead to a demand for all the details. What is the reason for the deficit? Apparently not lack of business, for the Government-owned lines had gross earnings last year of $25,000,000 more than in 1919, showing an increase in freight of 16 per cent. and in passengers carried of one million people. Is the deficit due to extravagance and mismanagement, to a lack of efficiency throughout the system? That is the question which the Canadian people will be asking, and the answer should be given in Parliament.

One factor stands out clearly, however, and that is that by far the greatest item of cost in the operation of the Government roads is the wage bill. Out of every dollar the Dominion lines takes in, seventy-five cents is paid to the railway employees. As twenty cents on each dollar is required for fuel, there is only five cents left with which to meet all other requiremetns, which, according to Dr. Reid's report, amount to 29 per cent. The cost of labour is enough to make every citizen of Canada stop and consider the necessity of a revision. The average wage per employee of the Canadian National system is now $1,850, as compared with $700 before the war, and the operating payroll last year amounted to $83,507,072, whereas in 1917 it was $40,606,170. In addition, wages on capital work required $12,222,045 last year. So that altogether the payroll totalled $95,727,117.

This condition of affairs cannot go on, and the people of Canada are going to demand a showdown sooner or later. They are not going to continue to pay increased passenger and freight rates, mounting higher every six months, in order that railway employees may be paid the huge salaries that for reasons of political expediency were granted by McAdoo and the United States Labour Board to American railway men, and subsequently were granted to employees of the Canadian roads. The prevailing wages are out of all reason, and the Minister of Railways is quite right in his statement that the situation justifies an immediate discussion between employees and management. The time has come for cards on the table and a clearing up of the whole problem. Otherwise the advancement of Canada will inevitably be retarded. The annual loss in the operation of Canada's railways must be reduced and the freight and passenger rates cut down—more especially the former—before business in the country can be put on something like a normal basis.

PATRONAGE.

The discussion in the Federal House the other day, of the subject of Patronage and the Civil Service, and the remarks of Dr. Roche at the Convention of the Civil Service Federation, now sitting, that though it had been abolished, the patronage evil was by no means killed, has worked quite a great deal of interest all over Canada.

When Sir Robert Borden's government finished the good work begun by Sir Wilfred Laurier, by abolishing patronage in Civil Service appointments, all fair minded persons rejoiced that this self evident evil had been done away with, and a merit system substituted in its place.

It is an unquestioned fact that no one will dispute, that the people of Canada desire that those whose duty it is to serve them, and who are really in their employ, should work under conditions that are fair, reasonable and just. The public also demand that their Civil Servants shall be efficient and capable, and that their efficiency and ability should meet with the compensation and the reward which they deserve, and that merit should govern promotion.

The work of the Civil Service is really the carrying out of the public business of the country, and it is readily seen that the pubilc business can only be carried out by appointing to positions the men who are best fitted to perform the duties connected with these positions. Putting the best man on the job is not only the wisest course to pursue as regards the best interest of the public service, but it is absolutely the fairest system for the Civil Service itself. This is easily seen by a comparison between the Patronage and the Merit System regarding appointments and promotions. We will assume a vacancy is open in the Civil Service and an appointment is to be made. Under the Patronage System the member for the constituency recommends a man for the position. This man, of course, is an outsider, who has had no experience at all in the Civil Service, and who knows nothing of the duties he will be called upon to perform. He is an untrained man, with no skill or knowledge of his duties. Contrast this with the Merit System in the situation. The Merit System gives the men who have had years of experience in the work, and are familiar with the duties that they are to perform an opportunity to compete with each other by an examination by experts in the Service, for the vacant position, thus ensuring that men fully qualified for the work, shall obtain the position. It must be remembered, too, that the Patronage System not only gives the position to an untrained man, but it also denies to the trained man, with years of experience, an opportunity to take the position he is qualified to fill.

Thus Patronage is not only in the worst interests of the country's business, but it is unjust and unfair to the members of the service.

LIFE'S NEEDS STILL HIGH FOR FRENCH.

Up to One-Third More Than Pre-War Prices.

PARIS, March 19.—(Associated Press).—The French householders are still paying more than one-third times the pre-war prices for the necessities of life, although there has been a big decline in the cost of living.

The French Government has made public figures comparing the living cost in France with those in the United States, as given by Bradstreet's, and for Great Britain, as given by the Statist. These show that the peak of the cost of living in all three countries was attained in April, 1920. Taking the prices of 1913 as normal, or 100 per cent., the prices of necessities in April last year are given as 587.5 per cent. in France, 225.1 in the United States and 313.1 in Great Britain.

According to the Government figures, these percentages had declined in December last to 434. per cent. in France and 243.5 in Great Britain. The figure for the United States in November last was given as 147.9 per cent. The December figures were not given.

Most of the French newspapers find the joy of the reduction in the cost of living tempered by knowledge that it is still more than four times higher than in 1913 and that it is accentuated by much unemployment.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

And now it's the income tax returns.

The report on the operations of Canada's National Railways makes it a matter for rejoicing that the Hudson Bay line is not going to add to the deficit.

Among life's little worries may be listed the new Easter hat.

But there is reason to wonder whether people look as much at women's hats as they used to in the days of the long skirt.

There used to be an idea that the Canadian National Railways were operated for the benefit of the Canadian people. It seems, however, as if they are run merely for the benefit of the employees.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

"Pep" is the difference in tense between has been and is.

Solution of difficulties to some people means a 95 per cent. proof solution.

When a man becomes suspicious of the other fellow's motive he is probably judging him by himself.

The ancient wheeze about the foreigner who could not talk when his hands were tired may yet be superseded by the matter of fact modern type, which cannot talk without a pencil and a piece of paper.

Another way to give an establishment afflicted with the fatal disease of sorry-there-was-a-delay in the semblance of "pep", is to hang a number of work and hustle mottoes on the office walls.

Ask Us.

1. Q.—Why is "shut up" used instead of "shut down" in asking a person to close his or her face?—A. B.

A.—It doesn't make any difference, as no one obeys that command anyway.

2. Q.—Yesterday I saw a man walking with a woman and he was on the inside of the walk. Is this correct etiquette?—Anxious.

A.—It isn't correct, but they may have been married.

3. Q.—A boy whom I liked very, very much used to take me out a great deal. Now, for some unknown reason, he seldom calls even once a week. What would you advise me to do?—Agnes.

A.—Next time he takes you out, Agnes, tell him you would much rather eat at home.

4. Q.—Isn't the expression "How do you do?" to be preferred to "Very pleased to meet you" when introduced to a person?—H. K.

A.—Considering some of the people we have been introduced to, we would say that it is.

5. Q.—Why is a woman so blamed inconsistent?—Archie.

A.—We don't know and we doubt whether anyone else does.

6. Q.—Who wrote "The Light That Lies"?—Pete.

A.—Evidently a woman or one who knew them.

7. Q.—Why do you write the kind of "stuff" that you do in your column?—X. Y. Z.

A.—We refuse to answer on advice of counsel.

Do We Take Small Accounts?

We do more than that. We invite them—welcome them—and take good care of them. If you wish to open a Savings Account for any particular purpose—or wish to teach the children to save by having an account in each child's name—do not hesitate to do so because the amounts to be deposited will be small. $1. is sufficient to open a Savings Account, and deposits of $1. are always welcome.

IF I SHOULD DIE TONIGHT.

If I should die tonight,
And Old Boss Thayer should come to my cold bier,
And whisper softly in my waxen ear;
"Old man, your story surely was a bird.
"We let it run and didn't change a word,"
I say, if these words fell upon my head,
I'd know for sure that I was plumb, stone dead.

If I should die tonight.
And Old Boss Link should stand beside my bed,
And gently murmur o'er my silent head:
"Old man, the paper's open wide,
"Don't spike a thing; let every item slide!"
I say, I wouldn't give a whoop—
For I should know that I had "down the coop."

If I should die tonight,
And Old Boss Lyman laid his kindly hand
Upon my bean and said in accents bland:
"The first edition's full of Gene Young's guff;
"I'll chuck it out; bring on your city stuff;
I might rise up and give one feeble yell:
But the next moment I'd drop straight to hell!

NOREEN FACES HER BATTLE.

Chapter 6

It was after 2 o'clock in the morning before I heard Leonard's key in the front door. I had lain awake for hours, waiting, and struggling with the conflicting emotions of fear that some ill had overtaken him and grave suspicions. Why had he stayed out so late? His business demands had never claimed quite that much before.

I heard him on the stairs.

He came into my room very quietly and stood near the bed. I knew he must be looking at me. I did not dare open my eyes. If I acknowledged that I was awake it would necessitate conversation. I was not equal to it tonight. I would show too plainly my agitation, perhaps break down and ask questions—questions that now I was afraid to ask.

Leonard came nearer to the bed and I felt his hand touch lightly on my knee. Had I opened my eyes then, had we talked, I have wondered many times since if things would have all been very different. After a few minutes, but what seemed like a very long while to me, I heard him cross the room and the door close gently after him.

His manner was one of almost boyish embarrassment. I thought I detected a wistful sadness in his voice. Whatever the cause of it might be, I felt a little happier. It had been a very long time since he had shown any concern for me one way or another.

I helped him on with his big overcoat. It was good to do that again for him.

dear," he called back to me almost tenderly.

After he had gone I felt happier "Leonard does love me," I cried aloud, spontaneously, and the tears rushed down my cheeks as I stood at the window and watched his broad shoulders disappear down the street.

He did come home to dinner that night. Almost I had been afraid to hope for it. Each time the telephone bell rang my pulse had quickened perceptibly. When at 6 o'clock I heard him come in the front door I hurried down to meet him. The old fear was quite forgotten.

I think he reddened consciously as he saw me on the stairs.

"A few roses, Noreen." He turned, taking a box from the hall table and handing it to me. I wanted to smile at his embarrassment as he hurried on up stairs to avoid my thanking him.

But dinner was difficult. In spite of our efforts to talk naturally, conversation fell flat. Leonard's manner was awkward and I knew that the realization of it was getting on his nerves as well as mine. I hardly knew what I was eating and it was most evident that Leonard was not enjoying his meal. What was this ghost that was haunting our happiness?

If I had had hopes that things were going to run more smoothly my optimism was speedily suppressed. After dinner we made no pretense of talking, but each tried to find relief in a magazine or book. The very atmosphere seemed charged with tenseness. Leonard lit one cigarette after another and smoked nervously.

"I'm not myself tonight," he finally blurted out, standing up suddenly and crushing the fire out of a half-burned cigarette. "If you don't mind—I'm going to bed."

After he left me I sat for a long while staring blankly into the open fireplace. The embers were beginning to whiten and fall apart. I knew whatever this demon was that was gradually growing larger and larger and coming between my husband and me, there was no going back—I must face it—must meet it and fight it out. I could not cry. I felt dazed, terribly stunned. I could only wait, wait—wait. Could I endure it? Tears—anything tangible that I might grapple with—would be a relief. Even the truth, no matter how terrible, would be better to face than this uncertainty.

AMERICANS LOSE STEEL TOOL TRADE.

ROTTERDAM.—German manufacturers of steel tools have practically driven American tools out of the market in Holland, according to statistics compiled by the American Consul General. Previous to the recent industrial renaissance in Germany, nearly 90 per cent of this trade was in the hands of Americans.

The change is largely due, according to Consul General Anderson, to the favorable money exchange conditions prevailing so long as the mark is low and the dollar high.

At the age of twenty-one years Miss Norma Brown is chaplain of the Illinois Senate.

QUEER ONE-RAIL IRISH RAILROAD.

Train Straddles Track — Very Successful.

Ballybunnion, on the coast of Ireland, is famed, first, for its excellent bathing beaches and, second, for its strange monorail railway that connects it with the town of Listowel, ten miles away. A French engineer named Lartigue designed and built the railroad several years ago at the small cost of fifteen thousand dollars a mile and it has been operated successfully ever since.

The single rail that carries the trains is mounted on A-shaped trestles three and a half feet high. Auxiliary rails are placed on the sides of the trestles about one foot from the ground to assist in smooth running and balancing. Small wheels on the inside of the peculiarly shaped cars ride on these rails.

What are the advantages of this particular monorail system? In the first place, groundwork is practically eliminated. The trestles rest in small trenches, and are reinforced with ballast. By lengthening or shortening the legs of the trestles, the natural sloping of the land can be followed. Furthermore, the trestles do not obstruct the natural escape of rain and snow. Thus drains or aqueducts are not needed. Exceedingly sharp curves can be safely built on this railroad, since the center of gravity of the cars is below the point of suspension.

The cars and locomotives are built with both sides exactly alike. The locomotives, for instance, have two boilers that are joined at the top. The passenger-cars carry twenty-four people apiece.

In rounding a curve a train can travel at twenty-five miles an hour without any tendency to oscillate.

THE INSURANCE PLAN FOR YOUR MAID OR MAN.

Hon. Rollo's Amendment Allows Employers of Farm Hands and Domestic Servants to Insure Their Help.

A VERY FINE THING.

It will cost approximately $1.50 per $100 of pay-roll to insure farm employes and about 20 to 25 cents per $100 of pay-roll to insure domestic servants under the Workmen's Compensation Act, according to an authority on the subject who is in close touch with the administration of the legislation of Ontario.

Hon. Walter Rollo has introduced amendments to the legislation which will allow employers of farm hands and domestic servants to insure their employes and bring them within the benefits of the Ontario legislation.

From the figures given it would cost employers of domestic servants to insure their servants the following annual sums, approximately:

Employer with one servant at average wage of $30 a month, and including an estimate of $30 a month for board and room, or a total annual wage estimated, at $720 a year, 20 cents per $100 of wage roll, or $1.44 cents per year. For this $1.44 cents an employer of a domestic servant could bring her within the provisions of the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Cost for Servants.

If an employer had three servants and taking the average wages as given above, it would cost $4.32 each year to insure them all under the legislation.

Where an employer has ten servants, it would take $14.40 cents to insure them all under the legislation.

It is somewhat different as regards farm employes where the risk is somewhat greater. But even for farm employes, the cost of protecting them against accident is small, comparatively speaking.

In the case of a farmer who has one employe, and is paying him, say for purposes of this estimate $50 a month, and in addition his room and board amount to $30 a month, a total of $660 a year, to insure the employe under the Workmen's Compensation Act it would cost about $15 a year, or $1.50 per $100 of the wake roll.

Cost to Farmer.

If a farmer had three employes and taking the above figures it would cost him $45 a year to bring the three employes under the act. In the case where the farmer had ten employes, it would mean a total cost according to the above figures of $150 a year.

And these annual payments would provide that domestic servants and farm employes would receive during loss of work due to an accident, 66 and two-thirds per cent. of their wages, medical attention and nursing if necessary. It would also eliminate the suits for damages that these employes are now compelled to take if they want redress other than that the employer gives them voluntarily.

The bringing of these two classes of employes under the act, by voluntary effort of the employers, would prove, according to authorities, a very fine thing, and the insurance of men and women who work on the farms and in domestic service against accident remove one of the defects of the legislation.

VARIETY IN DIAMONDS.

Each of the five mines owned and worked by the great De Beers Company in the Kimberly district produces diamonds with well marked characteristics. The Kimberly mine fields a good percentage of white and many yellow stones. Dutoispan Mine is famed for its large yellow diamonds. At Bultfontein small white and spotted stones are common. From the Wesselton Mine come many beautiful deep orange-colored diamonds while the De Beers Mine shows a good percentage of tinted yellow and brown stones. The Premier Mine (Transvaal) yields a large number of "off-colored" stones. The Cullinan diamond was of exceptional purity. From the Jagersfontein Mine in the Orange Free Srate the famous bluish-white stones are derived. The diamonds found in German Southwest Africa are small and yellowish in color.

"SHALL I NOT FLY?"

Shall I not fly? My spirit has confest,
Spirit of forbears long since passed away,
Longing for flight unceasing, freed from earth,
Of all man's longings loveliest and best—
Shall I not fly?
Shall I not fly to realms of air afire,
And every effort use to mount on high;
Up above beasts and lower men who live
Far from the goals of flight and man's desire?
Shall I not fly?
Shall I not fly, a virile, vital mind,
Winged like a greater bird in heaven above;
Worlds and more worlds to conquer and control,
Soaring and striving perfect worlds to find?
Shall I not fly?
Should I not fly the very heavens would ring
With condemnation loud and sentence long,
Ambitions thwarted, aspirations gone
And all the peopled skies man's doom will sing—
Should I not fly?
Empty as yet the zenith of our dreams,
Empty and free from man and all his kin,
Free for the mind, no longer mind enchained,
For man in space and flight high destiny beams;
Shall I not fly?

Mental Diversion at a Profit

You own a business. It is your "child." You have nursed it through infancy, poured brain and money and energy—your life blood almost—into it, to bring it to its present position.

And, if the truth be known, the ambition is still with you to carry it to greater heights; not altogether for profit, perhaps, because there is a streak of altruism in every great business man.

Let us say, then, for the glory of achievement.

Granting this, will you not sit down after dinner this evening and figure out whether you can use advertising — Daily Newspaper Advertising—to accomplish your purpose?

It is unfortunately true that a great deal of daily newspaper advertising is not as well done as it should be; but, even allowing for this, the overpowering commercial successes that have been assisted in their achievement by the persistent force of Daily Newspaper Advertising are sufficient evidence to justify your earnest consideration.

If you were to ask what Daily Newspaper Advertising can do for you, we should answer:

1. It will enable you, if necessary, to make a sales appeal — to reach every possible buyer of your goods.
2. It will enable you to get local or national sales action quickly.
3. It will give you frequency of appearance, and flexibility in extent of space or character of message or price.
4. It will enable you to localize your sales efforts—to place your advertising in those territories and only those territories where you want action, and where you can profit by it.

If you have ever thought you would like to advertise, if you could get proper advice on how to go about it, write to this Association. We will give you the benefit of our experience in starting you on the road to successful publicity. Or, consult a recognized advertising agency. A list supplied on request.

Man's glory is his strength

MAN'S ability to perform feats of strength to do things other men could not do has always been his stepping stone to power and position.

Every man wants to be a leader in his own line of work or sphere in life.

Unless a man is a genius or superman he can only attain his objective when he has strength—to have strength he must have health—to have health he must be full blooded, his heart strong and his nerves steady.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have assisted many a man who was facing a crucial test and was not at the moment just feeling his best.

How about yourself? Are you facing some task requiring all your strength and "Your Nerve"?

Do as hundreds of others have done, have a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills at hand and take them according to directions.

They have helped other men past the trying or testing time and may enable you to carry on and win and keep the position you so much desire.

Mr. Stephen Crouse, East Clifford, N.S., writes:—"I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting, as I used to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking them; three boxes made me quite well. I am now helping my son to work the farm and can truthfully say I feel like a different man."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by

This Department will be presented twice a week for the benefit of those interested in this phase of local activity. It will be conducted by Miss Kathleen McCarthy.
Articles of a social or general nature are always welcome, providing they are brief. Address all communications, such as personals and other social items, to the Society Editor of the Examiner, or telephone 1,600.

Women Voters in Peterboro will Be Factor in Future Elections

The recent bye-election demonstrated quite clearly that the ladies with their votes have come to stay. The good old days, when everything was planned some weeks in advance, and a majority for a candidate, could be reckoned on within a very narrow margin, when the men who were pledged to a certain programme or man could be trusted to stand quite pat and deliver, according to schedule, these halcyon times have passed by the board for ever, and now we have the uncertain and interesting element which woman always injects into matters, whether personal or public, which come under her attention.

Although the righteous lady who intends to vote with her husband and the infirm member who does not believe it is womanly to meddle in politics are still in existence—they are not in the majority. Silver-haired grandmothers were just as keen in a recent contest as the youngest miss who marked her ballot for the first time, and the lure of the political game is going to prove just as strong for women in the future as it has been for men in the past. One important thing that women have discovered about politics is that public questions aren't dry and uninteresting at all, but very, very much the contrary, now that we have a hand in the settling of them, but, if we are going to take an intelligent part in the making of the laws and not go at it in a hit-or-miss fashion or according to the advice of some male who has always been a supporter of a cut-and-dried policy and will be so to the death, we ought to devote more time and thought to the legislation being enacted every day in the political arena. There was at one time considerable talk about a Women Voters' League in Peterboro? But no one seems to know much about it now.

Art Association

The Women's Art Association has so far had a very successful season. Their series of Saturday afternoon musicales, nearly completed, have been most enjoyable, and they have also offered a number of very interesting lectures, including an address on the subject of "Interior Decoration," one on "Scientific Photography, an illustrated talk on "The Art Galleries of Europe," an evening with Mozart and Goethe, and will have in the near future a lecture on "Art," by the teacher in the Normal School. The bringing of Miss Katherine E. Wallis' work to the city was another artistic treat of this season's work of the association.

The society intend to present a play by local talent some time in April, and are thinking seriously of establishing a dramatic section of their association in the coming Winter.

Tea Dansant

The Peter Robinson Chapter of the I.O.D.E., who are interested in a number of charitable works and whose broad motto is to give to any deserving cause that appeals to them, have arranged for a tea dansant, to be held on Easter Monday afternoon at the Conservatory of Music, the proceeds to be applied in the usual way.

About seven representatives of the chapter were present at the Armories on Wednesday evening last, on the occasion of the inspection by General King. The young ladies watched the inspection proceedings, were introduced to the General, and took a great deal of interest in the doings of the Machine-Gun Band, which has been adopted recently by the chapter.

Ladies' Auxilary

A new organization was inaugurated this week in the Woodmen of the World Hall. This will be the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Caledonian Club and has for its aim and object the furthering of pleasant relations between the feminine population of Peterborough who are of Scotch descent, any lady being eligible for membership who can boast of Scottish blood, as far back as the third generation. The officers for this society are as follows: President, Mrs. Peter McArthur; Vice-President, Mrs. John Gillespie; Treasurer, Miss M. Lownie; Secretary, Mrs. Jas. Fi Reid. The committee is composed of Mrs. Dick, Mrs. French, Mrs. McFeat, Mrs. Petrie and Miss Ina Ingram. Every lady of Scotch descent will receive a hearty welcome at the meetings.

City Mothers

The City Mothers' Office, a confidential bureau which enables mothers to extend a helping hand to boys and girls before they commit acts which would cause them to appear before police and juvenile courts, is an excellent step, which has been taken in different American cities, to prevent the young from becoming delinquent.

The contention is advanced that a large number of boys and girls who are in danger of going wrong, can be reached in this way before they commit offences of a serious nature, and that it is impossible to do this through the regular channels of police departments, because of the inability of such departments to take cognizance of cases not involving the actual violation of the law.

The confidential character of these mothers' bureaus leads many parents to go to them for assistance when their boy or girl is getting beyond control. Teachers, principals of schools and Juvenile Court officers also refer many cases to them for consultation and advice.

On "Flappers"

At a sacred concert recently held in the Lyric Theatre, Hamilton, ex-Mayor Charles G. Booker raked present-day fashions over the coals, and said that mothers would be doing something worth while if they consistently addressed themselves to trying to drive some common sense into the heads of their daughters.

The former Chief Magistrate was quite sarcastic about the studied negligence affected by "flappers," or, as our teutonic citizens term them, "backfisch," who button one overshoe and leave the other open, and said: "The average young girl with those shoes going flippity-flop looks like a sick duck in distress."

But the wasp-waisted youth with the form-fitting overcoat and the spats came in also for a measure of cynical attention, this type and the aforesaid "flapper" making a fine team in the Mayor's opinion, and, being a custom tailor, the sneaker's sartorial criticisms carried some weight with his audience.

And then we have the irreverent Parisian critic of feminine fashion who writes thus: "God created man in His image. Then, to improve on His work, He fashioned woman after another model—He created her in the image dreamed of by man. He was satisfied with His work, but He had reckoned without the couturiers. They clothed woman to look like a barrel, then like a plank, then a top, then a hair-pin, and then like an arm-chair. . . . And God, observing what they did with his work, persevered no more with His creation."

But, all the same, every woman knows that men have just as keen an eye for the latest fashion in feminine apparel as those for whom they are designed, and one of the recent plays, "Eliza Comes to Stay," is a fine example of this masculine tendency. When Eliza became "dangerous," when she donned a short-skirted dress in the latest mode, a hat of the prettiest shape and fluffed out her hair, she was madly adored, but when she played "safe" and appeared in an antique collection of long plaid skirt, tiny hat, right basque and did her hair in a "bun," she was immediately repudiated by her whilom suitor, and even her guardian failed to perceive her attractive personality until she had donned more fashionable garments and "teased" her coiffure for a few minutes.

Machine for Blind

A machine, the invention of a Birmingham scientist, has recently been perfected to enable the totally blind to see by hearing. It is christened the Optophone, and was developed from an idea conceived twelve years ago that a tiny spot of light travelling over a printed page will produce sound.

An ear-cap arrangement has been devised by which the listener can distinguish harmonious variations between the different printed letters. There are staccato notes—shorts, longs, thrills—almost every known variety of sound. No two letters are exactly alike. The sound alphabet thus created by the travelling spot of light is easier to memorize than the clicking of a Morse telegraph key.

Freckle-Face

Now is The Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle-face?

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength, from your druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. The sun and winds of March have a strong tendency to bring out freckles, and as a result more Othine is sold in this month. Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

HOUSING

One of the results of physical examination in the war was the conclusion that the man power of the world was decidedly below par, due to a great extent to undesirable housing conditions. This situation was further complicated by the cessation of home building during the period of the war, and now the governments find it expedient to step in and build shelters for its people. It is maintained that it is the duty of the authorities, whether Federal, Provincial or Municipal, to use public funds for this purpose. Using of such funds for such a purpose would be an investment in the health of the community which would repay itself many times over in a better citizenship, for dearth of housing accomodation, especially in urban centres, is not only a cause of discomfort to citizens, but a positive danger to health. The city of Montreal, with a shortage of over 26,000 tenements, has given the landlords an opportunity of raising the rents from 25 to 75 per cent. It is computed that in this city alone there are 26,771 short of the necessary number of dwellings to decently house the people, and a report of a recent limited survey of the Housing Commission says:

"It is fair to assume that Montreal is paying heavily, in dollars and cents, as well as in human misery, for its negligence in this fundamental question of housing, "and a medical report concludes:

"Notwithstanding the spread of hygienic knowledge, which helps in saving strong children, there would be a great number die through physical miseries probably due to the increase in the density of the population in dwellings, and to the fact that so many people are forced to live in buildings that in ordinary circumstances would be deemed unfit to be rented."

Under the Federal scheme, augmented by a Provincial loan of $2,000,000, the Province of Ontario has build upwards of 2,200 dwellings, and Toronto under its own scheme has built upwards of 400 additional tenements. Under the Federal scheme, the Province of Quebec has built 262 dwellings in 12 small municipalities, most of these being built by industrial concerns located in out-of-the-way communities that took advantage of the Federal scheme to bordow throuhg housing comapnies cheap public money to house their employees.

A question which sometimes occurs to an observer of the ordinary small town and is especially applicable to Peterborough, is this: Why are there so many large houses? Large houses and apartment dwellings seem to be the rule. In the large houses, there is too much room for the number of the occupants, and in the ordinary apartment, too many occupants for the floor space. Here is where the large family and the cooking of fish are alike tabooed, and where privacy is merely an idea. What is the matter with the little house we used to have with us, an affair of plaster and green and white paint, with four or five rooms and a bath, all on one floor, instead of the red brick creations with voluminous balconies which are seldom used, that line our city streets?

"Owes her life to Virol"

No. 45, St. Ann St., Boston. 24/6/1918.

Dear Sirs,

I have much pleasure in forwarding to you a photo of my little girl who I am quite sure owes her life to Virol. From birth she would not take her natural food, and I tried all the patent foods I knew of, but nothing would suit her; then I took her to three different doctors, after that I took her to the London Hospital; then when I was giving up in despair I was advised to try Virol. She is now 3 years of age and I think the picture speaks for itself.

Yours faithfully,
(sgd.) C. CONNOLLY.

Virol is invaluable for the expectant and nursing mother herself, whilst for children it supplies those vital principles that are destroyed in the sterilising of milk; it is also a bone and tissue-building food of immense value. Virol babies have firm flesh, strong bones and good colour.

"DRESSING FOR BEAUTY"

An interesting lecture on "Dressing for Beauty" was given in Toronto this week by Prof. Margaret J. Blair, a noted authority on dress from New York. Costuming in its ethical aspect was attractively interpreted by the speaker, her talk being illustrated by a display of imported frocks, wraps and tailleurs.

The speaker maintained that while small women could wear bright shades and jewellery, the large woman should choose more subdued colorings and less ornamentation. As women grew older and their hair changed to grey, they should adopt new colors, rose taupe being one of the shades which should be worn. "Do not wear black," she said, "unless it cannot be avoided." The correct colors were those which cleared the complexion, brightened the eyes and gave light to the hair. While brilliant rose hues might be worn safely by the dark-eyed, dark-haired girl, maupe and lavender were appropriate for red hair and red-brown eyes. Blues were safe tones to wear, but the blue must contain a touch of rose for the grey-haired lady. She advised that the grandmother and great-grandmother be attired in attractive colors, to make life as agreeable as possible for them.

In concluding her lecture, Professor Blair advised all women to dress correctly. Long lines should be worn by the woman of stout figure, while the slender lady might adopt the costume of frills, ruffles and puffs. With regard to hats, she said: "Don't wear your hat on the back of your head, and be sure that it is on straight," an admonition that would not be regarded with favour in some cases, where the only way to wear a hat correctly is to have it on at as acute an angle as the coiffure or the laws of gravity wil permit. The veil should be bordered with a narrow ribbon and fastened about the neck before being draped over the hat. It should never be tied, but the ends twisted together and tucked inside the rim of the hat. Any accessories such as the hand bag, should be in harmony with the costume, as should also the gloves and shoes. Every woman, she said, possesed a color peculiarly becoming to her, and if she were wise, she would study her features and coloring and experiment until she arrived at a knowledge of the shade which suited her best, then dress in accordance with this knowledge.

WOMAN ISSUES FRANK STATEMENT

"I had been pale for years, lacked ambition, had no interest in life and generally felt as though I could not drag through one day to another." Then I started taking VITAL, the great blood and nerve remedy. The result was almost miraculous. Within a few days I noted an improvement. Before long color returned to my face, my blood became richer as VITAL gave it nourishment and the light-heartedness and energy I was accustomed to in my youth, returned. To-day "nerves" are no longer a factor in my life."

Such are the testimonials VITAL has earned. If you are in a general run-down condition be wise, do not delay, secure a box of Vital at once. Price, 50 cts a box at all druggists.

CHOICE RECIPES

Broiled Tripe.

Soak the tripe in cold water five minutes. Wipe carefully and broil over a quick fire. Spread with melted butter and a little lemon juice.

Baked Dried Pears.

Soak the pears in cold water half an hour and place in a deep baking dish. Add a cup of sugar, a tablespoon of molasses, six whole cloves, a tablespoon of grated lemon peel and just cover with water. Bake slowly until tender.

Baked Liver.

Place in a baking pan a good size slice of liver cut about three in thes thick. Dredge with flour on both sides and add pepper and salt. Pour over a cup of water and the juice of half a lemon. Bake tender.

Orange Shortcake.

Mix four cups of flour, three tablespoons of butter, one of lard and a little salt. When well mixed add two teaspoons of baking powder and milk to make a good dough. Bake in a round tin in a quick oven. When done split apart, spread with butter and sliced and sweetened oranges.

Salmon Chowder.

Three ounces salt pork; 3 tablespoons onion; 3 cups boiling water; 3 cups diced potato; 3 tablespoons fat; 1-3 teaspoon paprika; 3 tablespoons flour; 3 cups hot milk; 1 one-pound can salmon; salt to taste.

Cut pork in very small dice, cook slightly, add sliced or chopped onion and cook slowly five minutes. Cook pork, onion, potato and water together twenty minutes or until soft. Heat milk in double boiler, and thicken with flour which has been mixed with an equal amount of salt pork fat; cook twenty minutes or more. Separate salmon into flakes or small pieces, remove skin and bones, and add to sauce. Combine mixtures, season, and serve.

Scallop Soup.

One quart scallops; 1 quart rich milk; 1 pint water; 5 tablespoons flour; 3 tablespoons pork fat; 2 tablespoons minced onion; 3 tablespoons butter; 2 tablespoons minced parsley; salt and pepper to taste.

Wash scallops and chop fine. Cook together scallops, onion, and pork fat until they begin to turn yellow, add water, and simmer twenty minutes. Heat milk in double boiler, add flour which has been mixed smoothly with butter, and cook until thickened. Combine mixtures, add seasonings, and sprinkle with parsley.

Peanut-Butter Toast.

Two and a quarter cups hot milk; 2 tablespoons butter; 2 table-spoons flour; 4 tablespoons peanut butter; two-thirds teaspoon salt.

Melt butter, add peanut butter and flour, and stir until free from lumps; add milk, stirring constantly. Return to double boiler and cook fifteen minutes or more. Serve on bread which has been toasted until crisp and golden brown. If toast is hard, dip in cold water and reheat in oven before using.

Tomato Cream Toast.

One pint tomatoes; 3 tablespoons butter; 4 tablespoons flour; 1 tablespoon sugar; 5/8 teaspoon salt; 1/8 teaspoon paprika; 1/4 cup thick cream.

Rub tomatoes through strainer and bring to boiling-point. Melt butter, add flour, and then tomato, stirring until smooth. Boil two minutes or more, add seasoning and cream. Serve on crisp or moistened toast.

Sausages With Glazed Apple.

Separate the links of sausage, wipe with a cloth, and bake in a hot oven, or cook in frying pan until brown and crisp.

Dissolve one cup sugar in one cup boiling water and boil one minute. Wash and core tart red winter apples and cut in rings about one-half inch in thickness. Cook in the syrup until tender and transparent, being careful not to break them. Cook at a time only as many as can be done without crowding. Arrange sausages in a mound on a hot platter, and surround with rings of apple. Serve with cornbread or hot rolls.

TO GET TRUE ASPIRIN

Warning! Unless you see name "Bayer" on tablets, you are not getting Aspirin at all. Nothing else is Aspirin.

You must say BAYER

SAFETY FIRST! Accept only an "unbroken package" of genuine "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin," which contains directions worked out by physicians during 21 years and proved safe by millions for Headache, Earache, Toothache, Neuralgia, Colds, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Lumbago, and pain. Made in Canada.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents—Larger packages.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

N.P. SOAP

What are you paying for Laundry Soap?

There is nothing cheaper than the big bar of N.P. at 25 cents. If you buy more expensive soaps you probably get more frills on the wrapper, but you certainly do not get any better soap. One of those big, hard, bars of N.P. cut into four gives you four bars worth 10c each. It is best in quality, best in price, — just as it has been for over forty years.

N.P. is common sense soap

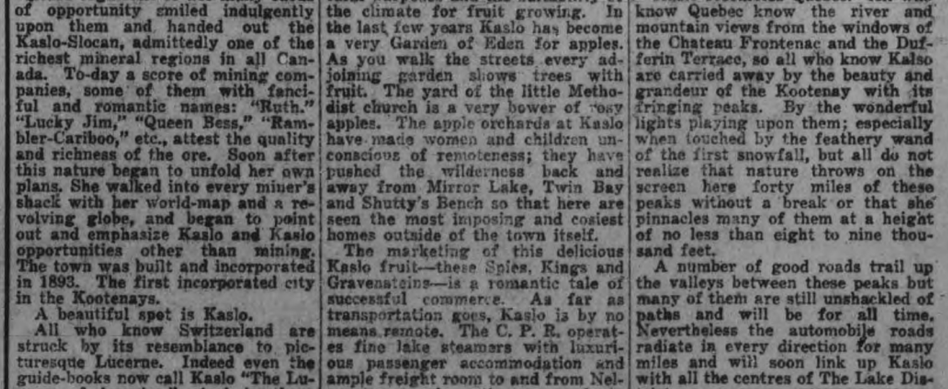
Kaslo on the Kootenay in British Columbia



Kaslo on the Kootenay Lake, in British Columbia.

It is an old story now how the pioneers who first went to California and Alaska in search of gold were disappointed and angry that unlimited nuggets were not everywhere to hand. Yet men have since found in both these places nature held in her hand a far bigger, even if a different, reward than any they had "staked out" for themselves. Opportunity is everywhere. But it is undoubtedly true that at the present moment Canada is the full-section on nature's world-map; offering the largest and most obvious opportunities to settler and investor. A horn of plenty is Kaslo on Kootenay, in British Columbia. In pioneer days men came to Kaslo as to California and afterwards to Alaska possessed with but one idea and that to mine. Nature cognizant of her many cards of opportunity smiled indulgently upon them and handed out the Kaslo-Slocan, admittedly one of the richest mineral regions in all Canada. To-day a score of mining companies, some of them with fanciful and romantic names: "Ruth," "Lucky Jim," "Queen Bess," "Rambler-Cariboo," etc., attest the quality and richness of the ore. Soon after this nature began to unfold her own plans. She walked into every miner's shack with her world-map and a revolving globe, and began to point out and emphasize Kaslo and Kaslo opportunities other than mining. The town was built and incorporated in 1893. The first incorporated city in the Kootenays.

A beautiful spot is Kaslo.

All who know Switzerland are struck by its resemblance to picturesque Lucerne. Indeed even the guide-books now call Kaslo "The Lucerne of America." And is there good fishing in the lake? An afternoon of trolling at the mouth of Campbell's Creek is an afternoon to remember. Especially if you build a fire of driftwood on the beach over which to fry your trout and hang your camp-kettle for tea.

In urging a town for this section nature very well understood she was urging . . . homes. "See," said she, "all you will have to do will be to bring saws and axes along to cut your lumber right here." And the pioneers took their saws in hand and built their houses, but it remained for 1921, urged by the great hue and cry everywhere going up for wood, to convert Kaslo into a really great lumber centre. Which is being done as fast as lumberman can blaze and fell.

From the very edge of the lake virgin forest stretches out and away apparently without limit, but up till this year little had been done here in the way of serious lumbering on a large scale. "But now," as one old-timer puts it, "Kaslo is lumbering up with 'sticks' fast."

The biggest opportunity afforded of nature at Kaslo however, lies in the richness of the soil for agricultural purposes and the suitability of the climate for fruit growing. In the last few years Kaslo has become a very Garden of Eden for apples. As you walk the streets every adjoining garden shows trees with fruit. The yard of the little Methodist church is a very bower of rosy apples. The apple orchards at Kaslo have made women and children unconscious of remoteness; they have pushed the wilderness back and away from Mirror Lake, Twin Bay and Shutty's Bench so that here are seen the most imposing and cosiest homes outside of the town itself.

The marketing of this delicious Kaslo fruit—these Spies, Kings and Gravensteins—is a romantic tale of successful commerce. As far as transportation goes, Kaslo is by no means remote. The C. P. R. operates fine lake steamers with luxurious passenger accommodation and ample freight room to and from Nelson two or three times a week, in addition to a line of railroad out of Kaslo to Naknap where it links up with the Arrowhead Lakes system to Revelstoke on the main line across continent. So that from Kaslo to the prairie markets and even to the appreciative markets of England is but a step. The Kaslo apple travels abroad with the utmost confidence, armed with the highest of agricultural passports: the Royal Horticultural Society's coveted medals. As a local grower says, fingering a large Gravenstein, "Kaslo fruit keeps so well you can do anything with it. There's no world market so distant but a Kaslo apple would live to get there in good condition."

It would seem that the hillsides and bench-lands of this Kaslo section are a specially favored corner of nature's earth-garden because she herself gives it her own personal attention. She even sprays it herself and has no use here for the artificial irrigation she so strongly advocates for many another section. Kaslo enjoys just the right degree of moisture and just the right degree of dryness and sunshine to bring out fruit and vegetables to perfection. . . . .

Kaslo resembles Quebec. All who know Quebec know the river and mountain views from the windows of the Chateau Frontenac and the Dufferin Terrace, so all who know Kalso are carried away by the beauty and grandeur of the Kootenay with its fringing peaks. By the wonderful lights playing upon them; especially when touched by the feathery wand of the first snowfall, but all do not realize that nature throws on the screen here forty miles of these peaks without a break or that she pinnacles many of them at a height of no less than eight to nine thousand feet.

A number of good roads trail up the valleys between these peaks but many of them are still unshackled of paths and will be for all time. Nevertheless the automobile roads radiate in every direction for many miles and will soon link up Kaslo with all the centres of The Lake District.

But "the Peaks of the Purcell's" nature means to keep for herself and in so doing reminds you to write in your summer notebook this bit of general advice: "Keep the cool beauty of the Kaslo region in mind whenever the thermometer of the prairie or elsewhere mounts one degree above . . . comfort.

DITCH APPEAL CASE TO LAST TO NEXT WEEK

ed engineer by the Township of Asphodel to design a ditch to drain the alleged flooded lands adjacent to the pond. He did this and his plans were approved of, and understanding the township was prepared to go ahead with the work, the Breckenbridges are appealing under the Ditches and Waterways Act to have the award made by Mr. Wilkins set aside. Their claim is that the ditch would drain their mill pond and the mill would practically have to shut down. The township declined to uphold the award in the court and Mr. Morris took this responsibility upon his own shoulders, and he opposes the appeal brought by Matthew and David Breckenbridge.

The solicitor for the appellants is F. D. Kerr and B. D. Hall is representing Mr. Morris.

The engineers retained by the appellant to testify in this case are Major T. L. Burwash, of Toronto, and George C. Wright, of Kingston; for Mr. Morris, J. W. Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, and William Wilkins.

Inspected Stream.

An inspection of the stream and adjoining lands was made by Judge Huycke and the interested parties on Thursday, and some introductory evidence was taken in the Town Hall, Westwood.

The case opened before His Honour at 10.45 Friday morning and will probably continue till Monday, as many witnesses are to be heard.

Was Recalled.

J. J. Breckenbridge, Clerk of Asphodel township, was recalled by Mr. Kerr at the commencement of the case and swore that he received the letter from the mill owners threatening action if Mr. Wilkin's plans were carried out. He showed Mr. Kerr in the minute book the Council's proceedings on the matter. The book was taken as an exhibit.

Major Burwash, of Toronto, a mining engineer with considerable experience in the drainage of land, testified that he had inspected the dam in December last on a Thursday. "I do not think," he said, "there is any hope of arriving at a drainage system in the way the award planned."

The plans, he said, would not drain the flooded lands satisfactorily, and on the other hand, would deplete the storage of water in the pond. The mill would not have as much power or such a continuity of power if the plans were carried out, he stated.

The Next Witness.

George C. Wright, Kingston, civil engineer, continuously in practise since 1902, Vice-President and engineer of the Kingston Construction Co., and at one time City Engineer of Kingston, followed Major Burwash. He was connected with the Cardwell case over the same matter in 1910. He said that he had specialized in drainage work and had appeared in numerous cases arising out of drainage questions.

Asked by Mr. Kerr as to what he attributed the flooding, he said this was directly traceable to the pond.

Took the Level.

Mr. Wright said that yesterday he had taken the level of the water and found it generally three inches below the top of the embankment. This average he took so it would be a fair and unbiased result. Since 1914, when he last saw the embankment, he said he saw few changes. In 1912 he had visited it and it had two small cuts at the north end. Yesterday he found a large new cut in the embankment filled with water. Yesterday he noticed part of the embankment had been materially reduced through motion.

Called It Failure.

"Now, Mr. Wright, you have read the award of Mr. Wilkins and have seen the plan of Mr. Wilkins. Without asking you the intentions, I want to ask you what effect it would have from the Breckenbridge point of view?" asked Mr. Kerr.

"Well, it's an absolute failure as far as drainage goes. It would lower the pond level besides and reduce the head of water. It would take away the 'cream.' It's a detriment to the whole drainage scheme."

Mr. Wright said if he had been in Mr. Wilkins' position he would have considered Mr. Morris' rights first, but also Breckenbridges' rights. He said that Mr. Wilkins made a grave mistake in planning to cut through the embankment. Mr. Wright said the cut should have been filled and Mr. Wilkins should have put the onus on Breckenbridges' to see that the land suffered no further saturating or make restitution to Morris. Mr. Wright said he would not undertake to drain the three-quarters of an acre between the pond and embankment, as Mr. Wilkins said he would do, for no one under any circumstances.

Fees Conservative.

The fees of Mr. Wilkins were very conservative, he said. The costs would be conservative as far as that went, but the drainage of Mr. Morris' property, he said, would cost very little as he would do it. As Mr. Wilkins planned to eliminate the saturation by a ditch, the drain would be merely a by-pass, taking the water around and below the mill.

When cross-examined by Mr. Hall George Wright was asked if he was a Dominion surveyor. He replied: "No, I am happy to say."

"Why do you say 'happy'?"

"I have my own profession."

"I have travelled and seen some of them," he said, deprecatingly turning to Judge Huycke.

"I am not an Ontario land surveyor," he told Mr. Hall.

Witness told Mr. Hall work had undoubtedly been done on the cut specified in the award. He saw the material taken out of the embankment.

Matthew Breckenbridge.

Matthew Breckenbridge, one of the owners of the dam testified. A letter was produced by Mr. Kerr signed by M. and D. Breckenbridge advising the Clerk of Asphodel township that if the plans of Mr. Wilkins were carried out his business would be greatly injured and warning them if the work was proceeded with a writ would be issued by Breckenbridges against all parties This letter, dated Nov. 15, 1919, was recognized as the letter sent by witness.

Mr. Breckenbridge told Mr. Kerr there had been considerable bickerings with Mr. Cardwell.

The Ownership.

Witness said his father had owned the mill since 1885. The previous owner was George Reid. After the Cardwell case was over in the Fall of 1914 witness said his father and he and Mr. Wilson tried to plug up the cut to stop the water from flooding Cardwell's land, but Cardwell stopped them, claiming they were trespassers.

Mr. Breckenbridge said Mr. Cardwell made the present ditch from the river. He saw Mr. Wilkins staking it out, witness said.

Mr. Breckenbridge in his evidence said that after the Cardwell case George Wright ascertained the maximum height of the water allowed in Mr. Justice Hodgins' decision and they had since kept within that level.

Mr. Breckenbridge stated that from 5 to 8 men were employed in their grist mill. They would be unable to operate the mill, witness said, if Mr. Wilkins' plans were carried out.

This evidence concluded the afternoon's hearing. The case is proceeding to-day.

First, Doctors — Then a Skin Specialist Then a bottle of D.D.D.

We shall publish every week for the benefit of skin sufferers in this section, a few words written by Canadian people—some of them of prominence—all heartfelt stories of relief from terrible suffering.

A sentence or two from a letter from J. W. Corns, 22 Melbourne Ave., Toronto, a man of fine standing. "I have been a sufferer for two years with eczema on the legs and ankles. I tried three or four different doctors. I went to a skin specialist. All of no use. I used one dollar bottle of D. D. D.—that is all. Today I am perfectly well."

If you wish to try a bottle of this Prescription that Mr. Corns found so remarkable, we will guarantee relief on the first bottle, or your money back. Stop that itch today. $1.00 a bottle. Try D. D. D. Soap, too.

KEEP SHIELD CLEAR.

Home Mixture of Alcohol and Glycerine is Effective.

There are many inquiries for something which will keep the wind shield clear enough for careful driving in a storm. Only one has who sat behind a foggy wind shield will know the feeling of anxiety, almost helplessness, which the driver has.

There are a number of mixtures sold which are guaranteed to keep rain off the wind shield, but a simple one may be made by any driver.

A small bottle filled with alcohol and glycerin, half and half, and a soft cloth to apply it, are all that one needs. It is not necessary to paint the whole glass with this. Take a strip six or eight inches wide and the height of the wind shield and coat is with the mixture, and the rain or snow will not stick to that part. This will give ample vision for driving, and when the shower is over there is plenty of clear glass on either side

ARE HOLLANDERS NOT DUTCHMEN.

AMSTERDAM, March 19.—(Canadian Press).—Citizens of Holland should refer to themselves, when abroad, as "Hollanders" rather than "Dutchmen," rules The Amsterdam Handelsblad after a long debate on that subject in its columns.

The correspondence in The Handelsblad has been voluminous. Especially since the war, says one writer, those Hollanders who forget that many American and Englishmen term Germans "Dutch," find scant welcome in the United States and England when they say they are "Dutch."

"If in England," writes this correspondent, "a Netherlander says he is a 'Holander' doors are open to him that are closed to 'Dutchmen.'"

"Dutchman" is an opprobrious term in America, writes another.

CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of childhood and the child suffering rodm it cannot thrive. To keep the children well, the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. To do this nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. They are a mild but thorough laxative; are absolutely safe, and never fail to relieve constipation and indigestion; colds and simple fever. Concerning them Mrs. Jules Fauquereau, Nominingue, Que., writes: "My baby was terribly constipated and suffered day and night. I was advised to give him Baby's Own Tablets, and from the first they helped him and now at the age of thirteen months he is a big, healthy, happy boy." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GANDHI HEADS INDIAN BOYCOTTS

In An Attempt to Force Home Rule.

Associated Press.

LONDON.—Mohandas Karmachand Gandhi, who holds such a sway over a certain section of the Indian people and who has been heading the anti-government boycotts in an attempt to force home-rule in India, is 51 years of age with grey hair, unflinching, truthful eyes and slim eloquent hands, says a correspondent of the Daily Mail.

The writer continues: "His voice is low-pitched and monotonous, yet pleasing, whether in Gujerati or English.

"He is married and has four sons. Gandhi lives in Ahemdabad, the big mill center, where he has founded a settlement for the culture of truth in poverty and for handweaving, and promitive agriculture.

"Gandhi is not, as is commonly supposed, a Brahmin of the priestly caste. He belongs to a Bania, or trading caste, family resident in Kathiawar. He descends from politicians. His political mind comes from his father, who was a Dewan, or chief minister, of the state of Porbandar for 25 years.

"Gandhi's genius lies in making lost causes live. To his disarming sweetness of a saint he adds all the arts of the advocate. In South Africa, he matched even General Smuts. They sparred for years over Indian claims without quarrelling.

"If Gandhi has a hobby, it is experimenting in diet. Eighteen months ago he had reduced his daily food to four ingredients, wheat, vegetables, a little oil, and fruit, and he became very ill. He now takes goat's milk and salt, but not cows' milk or butter.

"He never sues a debtor, never gives evidence against an enemy, always travels third-class, the acme of discomfort in India, and always goes barefoot. He can sleep when he likes and he dispenses with sleep for long periods at will.

"India's humble masses, suatrated with ancient Hindu philosophy, have long imagined a 'saviour who should unite earthly practice to divine precept' The key to Gandhi and Gandhi-ism is wrapped in his self-revealing sentence: 'Most religious men I have met are politicians in disguise; I, however, who wear the guise of a politician, am at heart a religious man.'"

CONQUEST OF MOUNT EVEREST

(Associated Press.)

LONDON.—The Royal Geographical Society is pushing forward its plans for the conquest of Mount Everest, the highest mountain in the world, the summit of which no white man has ever reached. The main attempt will be made next year.

Sir Francis Younghusband, the president of the Society, has announced that Colonel Howard Bury, who had travelled much in Asia had been chosen to lead this year's expedition, with Harold Raeburn in charge of the actual reconnaissance of the mountain. This will be in preparation for the real attempt next year to reach the summit.

Sir Francis said that the society had the utmost confidence that Colonel Bury would conduct the expedition in such a way as to preserve the present good-will of the Tibetans, "friendly relations with whom was regarded as of the utmost importance.

Mr. Raeburn is the most experieneed mountaineer in the Alpine Club now available and has just returned from a reconnaissance of Kangchanjunga, a mountain in the Himalayas with an altitude of 28,146 feet, and it is hoped that he will be able to leave England about the middle of March.

The Society is also hoping to secure the services next year of Brigadier-General, the Hon. C. G. Bruce, the originator of the idea of ascending the mountain.

THE SATURDAY COLUMN

(By QUINTERS)

This column will contain an article each Saturday by Quintus of general interest and of educational value.

The difficulty which we chiefly find in our efforts to acquire knowledge is that of properly approaching a subject. There is an old and true saying that difficulties vanish according to the point from which we approach them. I knew a lad once, who was about to give up all hope of becoming an educated man because he thought that he had a poor memory. After carefully and conscientiously looking his past career and future prospects over he had come to the conclusion that it was useless for him to attempt to fill his mind with information because it would not retain it. His father, who had been most anxious that his son should go on and amount to something was woefully disappointed but felt that he would have to bow to the inevitable and reconcile himself to his sons's mental inferiority. I was present at the interview when the matter was brought up for final consideration and when it came my turn to give my opinion I said "This boy can remember everything but his studies. He can go down to the smallest detail all the sports he ever took part in. Is it not possible that he does not know how to apply his mind to his studies and that if he did they would be as easy to him as his sports?" The lad thought not. To the father the idea suggested a ray of hope. "Well!" I said to the boy at least "If you will pledge me your word that you will do exactly as I tell you I will guarantee that you matriculate into the University with flying colours." The boy shook his head doubtfully, but agreed, and the course of study was immediately begun. It soon became plain that the love of sport and that these was where the difficulty lay. It is the will to concentrate that it is chiefly necessary for us to cultivate and each time we try it, the act of concentration becomes easier to accomplish. Whilst genius is exceptional natural aptitude it is also exceptional power to concentrate. With fair ability and fair power of memory there is nothing that the human mind cannot understand if it concentrates. The brain, is like a muscle. The more we exercise it and the more we accustom it to sustained effort the greater the use it will be to us. A man I once knew of fine technique and education lamented his inability to speak in public. When he realised that his real fault lay in self-consciousness in, as it were, watching himself while he was speaking or, in other words, in failure to concentrate his mind on what he was to do, not how he was to do it; he became a fine ready speaker. The speaker must let himself go. A man or woman full of his subject and information cannot fail to be a good speaker. Nervousness is only a phase of self-consciousness. That is what fear is, also. In other words, what is in a speaker will come out if given a chance. Mathematics require great concentration because it is something that is not seen at a glance, and requires sustained effort. There is no inherent difficulty in the subject. To the mind that is not lazy and diffuse mathematics is a delight. It is a delight. It is a complicated piece of machinery that if properly handled will guide us to marvellous results. It is not open to everybody to be a Newton or Laplace but it is open to everybody to understand what they accomplished. We can understand perfectly the principles upon which Adams and LeVerrier worked in searching after Neptune. Yet the means employed required the highest efforts of the mind in making use of them. There are certain basic principles of a simple kind upon which all knowledge and every branch of it rests. If we apreciate these principles and fix our minds upon the use that may be made of them, the rest is easy, that is to say if our will does not desert us, and if we have energy to carry on. Methods such as the calculus are like the spinning jenny, the instrument invented by others which we can make use of.

S. A. NOTES.

Very special services will be conducted at the S. A. Temple over the week-end, when Staff Captain Layman, of Montreal, will be in charge. The Staff Captain is in charge of the young people's side of affairs for Quebec and Eastern Ontario, so his visit will have a special interest for the junior portion of the corps.

At the Sabbath School at 2.15 there will be a special octette from the senior band to open school.

On Monday night there will be a social meeting, conducted by the Staff Captain, at which he will enroll the local troop of Life Saving Girl Guards.

Ensign and Mrs. Beer will also be in the city and their many friends will have an opportunity to renew old acquaintanceship.

Everyone will be made welcome to any or all of these services.

WHY B. C. MAN RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

N. P. Molander Tells Why He Feels in a Position to Say Dodd's Kidney Pills are Beneficial.

KITCHENER, B.C., March 18.—(Special.)—"I feel a lot better since I started using Dodd's Kidney Pills for my rehumatism. They have done me a lot of good and I am satisfied I can recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to anybody as very beneficial." N. P. Molander, who makes the above statement, is a well-known and respectable resident of this place. That statement and hundreds of others along the same lines are the foundation of the reputation Dodd's Kidney Pills have made.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy. People who have used them say they are good for sick kidneys. Everybody knows that healthy kidneys are absolutely essential to good health. The kidneys strain the impurities out of the blood. If the impurities remain in the blood trouble is bound to follow.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not a splendid remedy for sick kidneys.

APPENDICITIS

Warm Water Properly Applied Prevents Operations, and Has Cured Many Advanced Cases.

Hundreds of operations for Appendicitis have been avoided by the "J. B. L." Cascade", and thousands of others who have had Stomach Trouble and Constipation for years have regained their health completely. Most troubles arise from poison accumulated in the Colon, which is absorbed into the system. Internal Bathing keeps the system clean, cures Constipation and the hundreds of ills which are directly traceable to it.

These letters from among thousands in our possession should convince you that Internal Bathing brings positive results. Mr. James McLaughlin, 91 Evanston street, Winnipeg, writes:

'I bought a "J. B. L. Cascade" for the cure of a bad case of Appendicitis. My doctors told me I must have an operation at once. I had spent more than fifty dollars in doctor bills, but the Cascade completely removed in a few days every trace of soreness and pain. I eat and sleep well now, have regained my former weight, and am now in perfect health.

A mother from R. R. No. 1 Leamington, Ontario, writes: "About two weeks ago our eldest son took sick with Cramps in the Bowels so bad he could not move. Our doctor gave him hypodermic injections and ordered him to the Hospital to be operated on at once. Before doing so, however, I induced him to use the 'J. B. L. Cascade' and in less than a week he was up and around, and has been well ever since. It also cured me of severe Headaches and Constipation. I cannot praise the Cascade enough. It certainly is a wonderful invention."

If you have Constipation, Headaches, Appendicitis, or feel languid and not just right, don't drug yourself, bath internally. The "J.B.L. Cascade" is being shown and explained at Warne Drug Co., Limited, druggists, Peterboro, Ontario. Ask for booklet, or write Tyrrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College Street, Toronto

RHEUMATIC PAINS HAVE DISAPPEARED

As a Result of Treating the Trouble Through the Blood.

The chief symptom of rheumatism is pain. The most successful treatment is the one that most quickly relieves and banishes the pain. Many rheumatic people suffer pains that could be avoided by building up the blood; when rheumatism is associated with thin blood it cannot be corrected until the blood is built up.

Mr. Ed. Hall, Main-a-Dieu, N. S., suffered from rheumatism for years, but was more fortunate than many victims of the disease for he found a remedy that to built up his entire system that he is now free from rheumatism. Mr. Hall says. "I was taken down with rheumatism and at times was under the treatment of several of the best doctors in Cape Breton, but they held out no hope for my recovery from the trouble. I was confined to bed for three years and a helpless cripple from the trouble. I could not move, and had to be turned in sheets. My legs and fingers were drawn out of shape and sores developed on my body as the result of my long confinement to bed. I was in this serious condition when a friend advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I began taking them. The first benefit I felt from the pills was an improved appetite, and then I began to feel stronger, and was finally able to get out of bed and go about on crutches. I continued taking the pills for months, slowly but surely getting new strength, and finally I was able to lay crutches aside. I will always be lame, as a result of my long stay in bed my left leg has shortened somewhat, but otherwise I am feeling fine and able to do my work as Fishery Overseer. "I may add that when the rhenmatism came on I weighed 140 pounds, and when I began going about on crutches I only weighed 67 pounds, and now I am at normal weight. There are many here who know and can vouch for the truth of these statements."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail, postpaid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PUBLIC SPIRIT SWAYS MEMBERS

OF PETERBORO AUTOMOTIVE ASSOCIATION AND MOTOR SHOW IS CERTAIN SUCCESS FOR THIS YEAR.

The members of the Peterborough Automobile Association are men of big hearts. When this year's Motor Show was talked of everybody wanted to see it go ahead right from the first announcement, and while those who conduct the arrangements for the show will be busy for the next four weeks, the man who really is responsible for making the show a success is the automobile dealer, who makes the exhibit. Peterborough dealers are right behind the show although it costs them money, worry and work, but Messrs. Andrew Brown and Charles Banks, representing the dealers, made it plain at last night's meeting that their part in the programme would be looked after in every detail. The Peterborough Motor Show is in a class by itself, outstripping any show in any city of similar size, and it has been said that while not as large, it is the best conducted show in the Province.

CHARGE THREE SINN FEINERS.

DUBLIN, March 19 (Canadian Press).—An official statement issued from Dublin Castle yesterday charges Cashel Burgess, Richard Mulcahy, and Michael Collins with the responsibility for the organisation and control of the attacks on the forces of the Crown in Dublin.

The three are Sinn Fein members of the British Parliament, and thus far have succeeded in evading arrest.

It is suggested that the citizens take this opportunity to influence their elected representatives to cause Burgess, Mulcahy, and Collins to cease their attacks.

Egbert, who reigned from 800 to 838, is considered the finest king of England.

PUEBLO NATIVES WORSHIP SUN WITHIN SHADOW OF ROCKIES

Few people on this continent have any idea that within the confines of the Republic of the United States, within 300 miles of Denver, Col., and under the shadow of the Rocky Mountains, there are villages where the sun is worshipped and where dances are danced and customs observed just as they were ages before a Caucasion set foot on this continent. If any one wants to observe mediaeval life among the American Indians, amid a setting of the twentieth century, let him go to any of the dozen pueblos in New Mexico.

The strangest of all scenes in any of the pueblos are those in Taos and on San Geronimo day, when the crops are safely housed and the aborigine settles down to his tobacco and long weeks of siestas. There is nothing in this country comparable with the celebration in honor of the Spanish Saint (known to English as Saint Jerome) at this ancient community.

Taos is in Northern Mexico, in a little valley among the Rocky Mountains, ninety miles from old Santa Fe, and almost as secluded from the busy world as if it were in the heart of Tibet. It is at least 1,000 years old. Most of its queer little rudely built stone and mud houses are over 300 years old, and a few are probably much older.

Among a great many curious facts about the Pueblos is their combination of ancestral paganism with the teachings of the Roman Catholic Spanish missionaries, who have labored among them for three centuries and long ago established churches in every pueblo. The pueblo has a peculiar fondness for celebrating saints' days in the church calendar, and generally he is a faithful parishioner, but none of the Pueblos has ever got away from the belief in the faith, customs and observances of his ancestors in the days of Montezuma.

San Geronimo Day.

San Geronimo day is unaccompanied by the hideous and cruel ceremonies which mark the sun worship of other savage tribes. It is given up to praise, prayer and thanksgiving.

On the morning of San Geronimo day mass is said in the little white-washed adobe chapel, but most of the attendants are Mexican women. The mass is concluded by 9.30, and then occurs the procession of the saint, another Christian interpolation.

In the chapel are images of San Geronimo, the Virgin Mary and Christ on the cross. These are taken up in mysterious awe by the women present. Outside the door a piece of sheeting is raised aloft on poles by four Indians to form a canopy that will protect the images from the heat of the sun.

The procession then moves toward a little bower of green limbs. At the head of the company marches a drummer, pounding away for dear life on his snareless drum. Then follow two Pueblos firing guns as rapidly as they can be loaded, which has some unknown religious significance, and finally come the women with the images. The figures are installed in the bower where they can overlook the dance and the race.

Emerge From Their Holes.

By 10 o'clock the Pueblo men emerge from holes in the ground, the openings of their subterranean council chambers. The women and children, decked out in their brightest robes and displaying sheepskin leggins as white as paper, flock to the terraces of their pyramid home to witness the pagan ceremonies. The men went through mysterious incantations in their underground estufas, took off their ordinary clothing and arrayed themselves to honor the Sun Father and to please the esthetic taste of their race.

Ordinarily clothed well enough to pass muster in a civilized community, they come forth for the dance stripped to a breech clout, one of these a lace curtain, another a piece of print with the picture of a stork and many of them bits of gay calico. Some have worked red ribbon or skeins of yellow yarn into their long, black hair.

All are painted but, unlike the Indians of the north, the Pueblos eveidntly try to present a pleasing rather than a hideous appearance. Some are marked with geometric figures, and some are one solid color, except at the front and rear below the throat, where a V-shaped piece of flesh was untouched, irresistably recalling the cut of many fashionable women's gowns.

The men from the two big community buildings form in separate groups, shoulder to shoulder, and on an open space overlooked by the images begin their dance. Two men carry a black rawhide drum as big as a barrel, and a third thumps the time with a curious and ponderous drumstick.

The dance is a jerky lifting of the feet. At the same time the dancers move along sideways, one group to the right and one to the left, which in time brings the two lines face to face. As they dance they sing a Pueblo anthem.

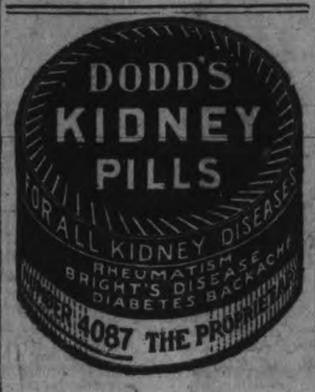
To the unitiated it seems like a meaningless repetition of such simple syllables as hi-yo-ta-bu, but is in fact a song of praise and thanksgiving to the Sun Father and a supplication for the continuance of his favor. It is not the hoarse and discordant yelping of the northern Indian, but rises and falls in rhythmical cadences and with an exactness as to time that is surprising.

After the dance comes the race, a peculiar relay which lasts about an hour and a half. Then in the afternoon the chiffonettes, who fill the dual role of merry makers and priests of the sun, entertain the people with clownish antics.

Every man has a right to his own jaw, but he has no right to give it to other people.

MAGISTRATE DUMBLE'S CONDITION IMPROVING

Magistrate D. W. Dumble's many friends will be pleased to learn that he is improving and practically all danger is now over. Yesterday afternoon he was able to sit up, and the Examiner was informed by his daughter to-day that he is regaining his strength, and much of the soreness has departed from his shoulder. The doctor's orders still call for rest and quiet, and it will be one or two weeks before he will be sufficiently recovered to venture out.



Can't Wipe It Off

No—it is a smile that remains, because he suffered from backache and kidney trouble until a friend advised him to use Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills, and he is now as well as ever. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills will do as well for you. Right in your own City of Peterborough they have helped hundreds and if you do not get relief from these ailments return the box to your dealeer and he will refund your money.

CRITICISM AND REMINISCENCE

(PATERFAMILIAS)

BETTER MOVING PICTURES.

The elimination of sex suggestiveness and blood and fire scenes, in which knife and gun dominate—in fact, a thorough cleansing of film productions—is now assured, not only by the Ontario Board of Censors, but also by that ready co-operation of producers themselves, which promises a long-need purification of moving picture presentations.

Local Houses Not To Blame.

But let it here be distinctly understood that no local theatre is or has been responsible for the screen stories shown. They are forwarded by the distributors on a regular circuit, and Peterborough managements have no recourse than to either show them or close the house. Now, however, a great forward movement in moving pictures has at last been inaugurated here in Canada and across the border; and today it is squarely up to the public that they encourage by their patronage the new era of clean picturization to be controlled by stringent standards for their censorship.

Thirteen Points.

According to Jesse L. Lasky, a big screen producer, here are 13 points to be rigidly observed by his company in all future productions:

"No pictures showing sex attraction in a suggestive or improper manner.

"No picture dealing with 'white slavery.'

"Nakedness banned.

"Inviting dances eliminated.

"Unnecessarily prolonged passionate love scenes.

"No stories principally concerned with the underworld.

"No pictures which might instruct the morally weak in crime methods.

"No stories which may offend any religious sect.

"No incidents showing disrespect for any religion.

"Suggestive comedy barred.

"'Unnecessary depiction of bloodshed' must be avoided.

"No salacious titles nor advertising."

Moderating Policy.

A study of the moderating and prohibitive policy to be adopted by the Ontario Board of Censors reveals that wild and wooly west pieces are to be combed pretty clean of rough-house scenes in which knife and gun play constitute the feature action; violent scenes and close-up views of death, extreme physical suffering and the mutilated face and figure will no longer be permitted; all pictures emphasing ways and means for pursuing a criminal career, with its ingenious devices for defying present-day conceptions of community law and order, are to be banned, while the screen must no longer portray sensational scenes of suggested immorality, nor triumphant crime, calculated to incite the immature and impressionable mind to imitate. Of course, the working of evil forces, and also of crime, will be passed in such pictures as forcefully drive home the object lesson that an underworld life comes to a bad end and inculcates such precepts as make for the cultivation of all that is good, and a rejection of that which is demoralizing and depraving.

In future, religious organizations and sacred matters must not be burlesqued on the screen, nor funerals, hospitals, churches or asylums ridiculed and subjected to low comedy. Sex problems will come under the strictest of censorship, so that the marriage ties are respected and immoral suggestiveness is not conveyed to audiences from the to be purged films.

And Those Serials.

As for "movie" serials, the censors will give at least 50 per cent. of an entire production their closest scrutiny before it is released. And here they have assumed a job in which the pruning knife should be vigorously resorted to. For it does seem that, up to date, the general conception of a properly constructed "movie" serial is a perfectly ridiculous series of films picturizing a story built up on and around bloody—pardon the word—struggles, scintillating flash of steel and flourish of revolvers in amazingly preposterous adventures. They are full of so-called "thrills" in each episode, which always ends with the poor enemy-beset hero or heroine (sometimes both) facing a perfectly lovely sure death, while the succeeding episode opens with his, her or their altogether too wonderful escape from utter extinction. There's plenty of opportunity for the censors to get busy with most serials and relegate them to the "has-beens."

Wonderful Invention.

The "movie" picture is a wonderful invention, which must not be decried by any means. It offers opportunity for seeing the best in stage craft, prohibitive to the many by price and location. Visual association with Nature's beauty and marvels and realistic picturization of past and present historical events are brought to the doors, so to speak, of those who could not attain to their enjoyment otherwise. Only cleanse them of all coarse, harsh, ugly, contaminating and degrading features, as contemplated, then we have in motion pictures a blessing of the age.

Foster the Refined.

A real good picture will draw an intelligent patronage, while a distorted burlesgue, comedy or drama appeals to the lesser intelligent and as yet undeveloped and impressionable minds, susceptible to the influences of evil or absurd examples. Eliminate that which is unwholesome and we'll foster a desire in the latter for and appreciation of that which is refined, either in comedy or picture drama. We want a few more pictures like those in which that charming little actress, Marguerite Clarke, features—portrayals of ancient chivalrous days when men paid loyal homage to women in a knightly way, and both sex danced the dainty minuet with stately dignity and movement, oh, so graceful; or those more modern films where she plays the part of vivacious little school miss in innocent pranks and girlish adventures—perfectly irresistible. Whether in drama or comedy—ancient or later Day—Marguerite Clarke and others in her class present "movie" offerings refined, interest-holding and appealing to all lovers of that which is clean, pure and morals-conserving—the censors will have little to do with such pictures.

RAISINS FOR HEALTH.

Raisins are served on the Battle Creek Sanitarium table every day. A pound of raisins has twice the food value—an equal amount of iron and seven times as much food lime as a pound of choicest lean steak. The sugar of raisins is much more wholesome than cane sugar, requiring no digestion, and being absorbed in one fourth the time required for ordinary sugar. If the Canadian people would eat more raisins and less meat the result would be better digestion, less rheumatism, less Bright's disease, less heart disease, greater efficiency and longer life. Such is the opinion of Dr. J. H. Kellogg, a famous authority on health conservation.

THE BEAT OF THE DRUM.

Thirty-five years ago to-day the beat of the drum sounded from far away North-Western Territory over prairie lands, hills, and lakes, down through old Ontario and Quebec, calling loyal Canadians to arms in suppression of a rebellion in Saskatchewan. For on 18th March, 1885, Riel, the rebel half-breed, had assumed mastery at Batoche, appointed Gabriel Dumont, famous as a buffalo hunter, his second in command, and raided the Government stores at Dutch Lake in defiance of the whole of Canada. The failure of the Canadian Government to assure the Indians and half-breeds of the North-West the ownership of their lands in the Saskatchewan Valley had aroused resentment among them, and the half-breeds called on their former rebel leader Riel, then an exile in Montana, who quickly espoused their cause, uniting himself and followers with Redskins, under such intrepid chieftains as Crowfoot of the Blackfeet tribe, Pound Maker of the Crees, and Big Bear of the Objibways. The Mounted Police suffered rather severe casualties for such warfare in the struggle's initial clashes, and within three days after the call on central and lower Canada for aid, troops were on their way west from Quebec, Montreal, Toronto and other Ontario points via the C.P.R. Before their arrival, however, the rebellion had spread throughout the entire Saskatchewan Valley, the town of Battleford was threatened by the Crees, and white settlers at Trov Lake were tricked into disarming and then butchered by the so-called "braves" under a chief called Travelling Spirit. Francis Dickens, son of Charles Dickens, the late great novelist, tried in vain to hold Fort Pitt against tremendous odds. But by this time the troops were arriving. They advanced in three columns, but, well entrenched at Fish Creek, Dumont held back one column for a couple of days, while a second Canadian body, under Col. Otter, of Toronto, it is said, antagonised the then peaceful Crees under Pound Maker, by attacking that tribe, who, in retaliation, ambushed Col. Otter's men at Cut Knife Hill, forcing them to retire in confusion. On 9th May, a week later, the famous three-days' battle at Batoche's Ferry was fought. Canada's arms were crowned with victory, and the rebellion of 1885 ended with the subsequent successful storming of Batoche by the troops. Dumont then fled to Montana, the Indians threw down their arms, and Riel was captured and shot for treason, as also were eight Indians implicated in the Troy Lake massacre. However, Parliament did not approve of Riel's execution, for they conceded that the half-bloods and Indians really had a grievance, which the Canadian Government subsequently recognised. But the storm raised at Ottawa seriously threatened the downfall of the John A. Macdonald administration.

Wholesale Arrests Canadians With Coughs

Halt! Who goes there? Someone with a cough. Pass, friend! Stop cough! you are under arrest. Thousands of such arrests are being made every day in all parts of Canada. Too long have coughs and colds evaded justice and caused untold suffering to humanity, but at last they have been cornered and overpowered by Canada's famous cough detective—Buckley's Bronchitis Mixture. Did you ever hear of this wonderful remedy? Why, everybody is talking and writing about the great work it is doing in curing coughs, colds, bronchitis, asthma, etc.

The following is one of thousands of letters received:—"Kindly accept my sincere thanks for the benefit my wife derived by the use of one of your bottles of Bronchitis Mixture. For over thirteen years she has suffered acutely. After spending dollar after dollar upon various remedies, no relief was obtained. Hearing of your most marvelous remedy she decided to give it a trial and I am glad to say one bottle has made her well. You are at liberty to use my name and should be only too pleased to answer any inquiries. Sincerely yours, John Holmes, Yorkville Ave." The original of this letter may be seen at W. K. Buckley, Limited, 142 Mutual St., Toronto. Don't allow a cough or cold to linger with you. Away with it! Hail Buckley's Mixture and have cough arrested. This remedy never fails. On every bottle is a guarantee to refund the money if not satisfactory. Delays are dangerous. Order now from your Druggist 20

ORDER OF "MOPSES."

It is well known that Freemasonry extends all over the world—Canada, United States, South America, Europe, Asia, Africa, India, China, the Antipodes and where not—but perhaps the following little historical incident in their connection, which happened a hundred and five years ago, will be read with interest by many:

In 1816 the meetings of Free Masons and other secret societies were prohibited by the King of Naples, under penalty of banishment, fine, and infprisonment. When Pope Clement XII. excommunicated the Free Masons, certain persons organised a new order in Germany, under the patronage of members of the Government and others of high rank, with signs and passwords and all the paraphernalia of Freemasonry, it is recorded They set up a dog as their emblem, a sign of fidelity, and called themselves "Mopses" — pug dogs They admitted women into their order, and over each lodge they set a Grand Master and a Grand Mistress, each ruling alternately for six months, and who were addressed as Grand Mopses A candidate was invested with a collar and chain attached to the next, by which he or "she" were led blind-folded into a lodge, when immediately the Mopses began to bark and howl like dogs. The final ceremony was too gross to be described in print. No wonder that order did not survive the passing of a hundred years.

THE HOME CIRCLE

I think home love is the best. The love that you are born to is the sweetest that you will ever have on earth. You, who are anxious to escape from the home nest, pause a moment and remember that this is so. It is right that the hour should come when you in your time should become a wife and mother and give the best love to others, but that will be just it. Nobody, not a lover, not a husband, will ever be so tender or so true as your father and mother. Never again after strangers have broken the beautiful bond will there be anything so sweet as the little circle of mother, father and children where you were cherished, protected, praised and kept from harm. You may not know it now, but you will some day. Whomsoever you marry, true and good though he may be, will, after the lover days are over and the honeymoon has waned, give you only what you deserve of love or sympathy, and unusually much less, never more.

Some persons seem to think laughing a sinful habit; or a very immodest one. Never a beam of cheerfulness brightens their cadaverous countenances, and the exhaling influences of such persons cast a gloom of profound sadness over their surroundings.

Which of you by your anxieties can make tomorrow any smoother than it would have been without them? Which of you by your groanings and grumblings can change the future? It changes you, it wears you out, it puts bitterness in your sweetened cup. I tell you the spirit of trust, hope and joys is the most victorious atmosphere in which woman can work out her temporal or eternal salvation. There are only two ways of living. One way says to the people round about: "Come and make me happy;" and the other way says, "Come and let me make you happy."

THE BUSINESS OF LIFE.

The task appointed unto us is admirably stated in a recent issue of Collier's. Nothing finer as to the stern business set before us has recently appeared in print:

"To hold the vision of a final arrival at some fitting destination; to maintain undiminished a sense of personal worthiness; to be defeated in each foolish dream of the younger life, and so to be disciplined into a larger vision, made more sure by adversity; to be delayed for most of a lifetime, and yet to believe in the strength of human spirit to surmount pain, outlive sin and defeat malice and envy; to relieve in the gradual but all-conquering power of good will; to be saddened but not conquered. That is the stern business set before us."

Probably of all the beautiful and eloquent passages ever written by the inimitable George D. Prentice, the following is the finest:

"It can not be that earth is man's only abiding place. It can not be that our life is a bubble cast by eternity to float a moment upon its waves and sink into nothingness. Else why is it that the high and glorious aspirations which leap like angels from the temple of our hearts are forever wandering unsatisfied? Why is it that the rainbow and clouds come over us with a beauty that is not of earth, and then pass off and leave us to muse on their loveliness? Why is it that the stars which hold their festival around the midnight throne are set above the grasp of our limited faculties, forever mocking us with their unapproachable glory? And, finally, why is it that bright forms of human beauty are presented to our view and taken from us; leaving the thousand streams of our affection to flow back in an Alpine torrent upon our hearts? There is a realm where the rainbow never fades where the stars will be spread out before us like the islands that slumber on the ocean, and where the beautiful beings which pass before us like shadows will stay forever in our presence."

When children begin to attend school, their thoughts should be directed constantly to their work, and between the school and needed exercise, there is not much time to think of clothing, save that to be neat and clean and suitable to the means of the parents. God never intended the people of moderate means to rival the bird of paradise in raiment. The mother who talks dress and finery constantly must not expect to bring up children who care for questions of church and state and humanity when grown. In some families, it is a subject under constant consideration and the problem of clothes is a much greater one than any one of the great ones on truth and right and justice and patriotism.

Nature, in her silent, beautiful way, teaches many lessons. She does not force a moral upon us. We may drink to her loveliness and take or leave the lesson as we please. A man must have something of the child in his heart to feel the splendor of the horizon, the magnificence of the stars, the mystery of the woods, the joyous dignity of fertile sunlit meadows; and having the child's heart to feel, he will have the child's faith to see, and whatever his sorrow, nature shall heal it, whatever his perplexity nature shall solve it. Men have set their mark upon the woods and hills. They have divided the land have said to the world, "This farm is mine." "Yonder woodland is yours," the babbling brok and the beach-covered hillside belong to your neighbor, but the forest child of nature which chances that way have all the beauty and peace of this lovely landscape for the looking.

In a world subject to mechanical laws there can be no progress without friction; neither can there be much with an excess of it. In the one case affairs are too often allowed to slide; in the other, life becomes a "dreadful, horrid grind." A right judgment is a royal gift from heaven. Rub the baby's back by all means; he will digest better, sleep better, and behave better; but remember that he is new as yet and unhardened; his skin will be tougher later on. Stroke the family cat; she likes it, but stroke in the direction indicated by nature. There is all the difference in the world between a spit and a purr. Keep the carving knife sharp, as you value a peaceful meal, but incline it always at the proper angle to the steel. Sharpen the family wits also by judicious rubbing against each other; but interpose occasionally and very dexterously, a drop of oil. Keep the family wheels whirring but beware of hot boxes.

You get out of a tire in mileage just what is put into it in materials, workmanship and design.

In Firestone Cord Tires, the cords are twice dipped in pure gum, to soak up the greatest possible amount of rubber. Then they are twice calendered to force additional rubber into every fibre. Each cord is insulated and chafing and wear prevented.

This is just one of the features of Firestone Cords that make them give most miles per dollar.

SEYMOUR TOWNSHIP SCHOOL CLOSED ON ACCOUNT OF EPIDEMIC OF MUMPS

WILL REMAIN CLOSED ALL NEXT WEEK—ACCIDENT AT SAWING BEE —CAMPBELLFORD NEWS—SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 19. — The Burnbrae School (S. S. No. 11, Seymour) has been closed for over two weews and will remain closed next week on acount of an epidemic of mumps. Nearly all the pupils have had or still have this unpleasant malady.

Hand Cut.

While assisting at a sawing bee at the home of Mr. W. W. Whitton, Mr. Robert Ketcheson met with a very painful accident. In some unaccountable manner the middle finger of the left hand became caught in the saw, resulting in a very ugly wound. Medical aid was at once summonded and the injured man was conveyed to his home, and the wound was dressed. The patient is resting as quietly as can be expected.

Returning Home.

Mrs. Charles Macoun, who for the past two weeks has been addressing meetings of the Woman's institute at Barrie and throughout Simcoe County, will return home to-morrow night. Mrs. Macoun is a fluent speaker and an enthusiastic worker in the Institute, and interested in the betterment of rural life generally. Last year she spent some time doing similar work in Middlesex Co.

Prices at Sale.

Mr. J. Battisby, auctioneer, conducted a sale at the farm of Mr. Fred Simmons in Percy Township, on Thursday. The cattle sold for high prices and Mr. Wm. Mitchell of Norham bought all the pure bred Herefords to add to his herd. Five horses were sold and prices went as high as $195 each. Three fine colts, descendants of "Bricanam," the pure bred Percheron horse owned by Anderson and Cukles, sold for high prices. The hogs sold well; one sow and litter bringing $113. The machinery brought a good price and the sale was a general success. Mr. Simmons intends to move to Colborne.

Euchre Parties.

There were two very pleasant St. Patrick progressive euchre parties held during the last week. Mrs. W. Diamond held one at her home on Front street, which was very prettily decorated in typical Irish decorations. The prizes were won by Mrs P. Denyes for games and Mrs. J. B. Battisby for lone hands.

Mrs. Watters of Sebastopol Street, also held a St. Patrick's party, at which Mrs. C. A. Walson won the prize for games and Mrs. James Loucks for lone hands. There were six tables at both parties.

A Lacrosse Team.

A very interesting meeting was held in Campbellford last evening to organize the Junior and Juvenile Lacrosse Teams. Many of the older players were present and sports were thoroughly discussed.

It was decided that Campbellford have a junior O.L.A. Lacrosse team, The officers appointed were:

Pres., Mr. Wm. Sarginson.
Vice-Pres., Mr. Fred Keller.
Sec.-Treas., Ed. Hendricsk.
Manager, Mr. P. J. Sarginson.
Executive — Mr. D. W. Douglas, Mr. James Blue, Mr. James Loucks, Mr. Fred Hendricks, Mr. Harold Dunk.

A motion was passed that the secretary write to the various towns in the district and ask them to enter a junior O.L.A. team.

Contributions to treasury—Mr. F. Keller, Ed. Hendricks, Wm. Sarginson, N. Dickson, each $5.

The Juveniles.

The juveniles then declared their intention to organize a lacrosse team to replace their well known "Bear Cat" hockey team. They appointed Claude Hankinson as manager, and Fred Hendricks as Sec-Treasurer.

The meeting then adjourned.There will be a meeting of the officers and members of the Intermediate O. L. A team on Monday evening.

Elected President.

At the sports meeting on Tuesday night Mr. Fred Keller was appointed President. This was inadvertently omitted from the regular report.

Open a Garage.

Mr. W. H. Martin intends to start a garage at his home on Ranie street. He will have an expert mechanic, do all kinds of repair work and deal in gas, oil and accesories.

Assistant Engineer.

Mr. Wood of Morrisburg, has been appointed assistant engineer on this section of Trent Canal. Mr. A. E. Caddy, engineer, and Mr. Wood, with their staff of men, are now working near Healey Falls.

Social Evening.

The "Men's Club" will hold a social evening with refreshments, in Parish Hall on Thursday evening, March 31. All members kindly be present as this will be the last meeting of the season.

Personals.

Mrs. Spence Patrick, who has spent the winter with her daughter in Fort William, has returned to town.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Miller have returned after spending three months in Rainy River and Winnipeg.

Grandma is Their Doctor

"ON an old-fashioned bureau, in a house I know, lies a large-sized New Testament with the binding well worn, and with it a much-used old copy of Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. When the calves have the colic or the neighbor's baby the earache, 'Grandma' hands out well-assimilated advice from the Dr. Chase Book. When 'Grandma' herself feels 'run-down,' Dr. Chase's Nerve Food stands ready on the dining-room table among the salt and pepper shakers."

In these few simple words Mrs. Bert Smith, Way's Mills, Que., beautifully describes the way in which many a grandmother is a blessing to her family and to her neighbors as a guardian of health.

And what finer compliment can be paid to Dr. Chase's Receipt Book and Dr. Chase's Medicines than the approval of such mothers of experience as the one here described.

Just as in this home, Dr. Chase's Almanac hangs on the wall in the great majority of Canadian homes, and in the cupboard or medicine chest will be found one or more of Dr. Chase's Medicines ready for use in case of emergency.

If you did not receive a copy of Dr. Chase's Almanac it will be sent free by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

BANDITS RIFLE STUDIO'S TILL

TORONTO PHOTOGRAPHER ROBBED BY PSEUDO-CUSTOMERS.

TORONTO, March 19 (Canadian Press).—George Cook, photographer of Yonge Street, reported to the police last night that he was held up in his studio at the above address by two armed men, and robbed of $9.00. According to the story told by Cook, the bandits asked to see some photographs, and while the photographer was bending over his samples, one of the men covered him with a revolver, and told him to stand still.

Cook obeyed the order. He noticed that the other thug was armed with a piece of rubber shaped like a bludgeon.

While one bandit kept Cook covered, the other went to the till and rifled it of its contents.

OMEMEE MAN WAS STRUCK BY STONE

NOSE WAS CUT OPEN—DEBATE IN THE HIGH SCHOOL—OMEMEE NEWS OF INTEREST.

OMEMEE, March 19. — To be struck on the nose with a sharp stone while in the act of throwing a stone at a dog was the experience of Mr. Samuel Fisher on Thursday. Mr. Fisher is employed as section man on the railway under Mr. Mintz. As they were at work a dog appeared and each threw a stone at the animal. As Mr. Fisher stooped to pick up another stone, Mr. Mintz threw a second stone which struck Mr. Fisher on the nose, cutting it open. A passing vehicle conveyed him to a doctor's office, where the wound was dressed.

Another Debate.

The High school pupils of to-day are getting splendid practice on debating. The latest subject chosen and debated this week was: "Resolved, that more crime is due to riches than poverty. Miss Mabel Shea and Mr. Thomas Cassidy upheld the negative, while Misses Ruth Stillman and Jean Sandy had charge of the affirmative. Mrs. (Dr.) Earl acted as judge and gave her decision in favor of the negative.

Afternoon Tea.

Mrs. Percy Parsons entertained a number of ladies to afternoon tea on St. Patrick's Day, when a most enjoyable time was spent. Each lady on arrival donned a pretty green and white paper cap and the decorations were carried out in the green which made the rooms and small tea tables look very effective.

Have Returned.

Mr. and Mrs. Larkin and family have returned to town and have taken up residence in their former home with Mr. W. H. Kennedy.

Ladies' Aid Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid was held at the home of Mrs. O. G. Williamson on Thursday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. B. Courtney, in the chair. After the usual opening exercises, several items of business were disposed of, among them being the purchasing of knives, forks and spoons for the use of the church. At the close of the meeting dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Omemee Council.

The Omemee Council have secured the stone crusher from the county and already have it in use. Seven teams were busy on Friday drawing the stone to the road leading from the junction to the station corner, which is in bad need of repairs.

Public Debate.

On Thursday afternoon, March 24th, the Omemee High school will hold a public debate, the subject being, "Resolved, that it is of advantage to a country to have scattered colonies, rather than a compact territory. The affirmative will be upheld by Mr. Orville Finley, assisted by Miss Mayme Brown and the negative by Mr. Thomas Cassidy and as assistant Miss Mary Faulkner. An essay written by Miss Rhea Courtney, on "The prevention of life and property from fire," for which she has received a provincial medal, will be delivered. A musical programme is also being arranged. There will be an exhibition of art done by the pupils during the principal's term. Everybody welcome.

Rebecca Sherin.

The death occurred on Wednesday evening of one of the oldest residents of Omemee in the person of Miss Rebecca Sherin, who had been in failing health for a number of years. Miss Sherin was a Methodist in religion and while able was a faithful attendant. Rev. David McCamus of the London conference, conducted very impressive services at the house and afterwards at the grave. Rev. Mr. Stillman and Rev. Mr. Harrington also assisted in the services. Interment took place at Emily cemetery on Friday afternoon.

Personals.

Mr. William Glass of Bridgenorth, is visiting friends in town.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Southworth were in Peterborough Wednesday on business.

Mrs. William Earl is the guest of her niece, Mrs. (Dr.) Irvine, of Lindsay.

Mrs. (Rev.) Harrington and daughter, Miss Lucille, are the guests of Miss Cora Switzer, of Bethel for a few days.

Mrs. Gaul, of Lindsay, was a visitor this week.

Rev. J. H. Phelps of Ottawa, is visiting at the home of his uncle, Mr. Henry Laidley.

Rev. Mr. Stillman was in Lindsay on Thursday to assist in the unveiling of the memorial windows in the Queen street Methodist church.

Miss Margaret and Elizabeth Scott accompanied their father, the Rev. Mr. Scott, to Toronto this week.

THE RE-READING OF BOOKS

(By F. M. DELA FOSSE)

There are very many voracious readers who can never be induced, on any consideration, to read a book for the second time. There are very many who are not voracious readers, amongst whom I class myself, who have no special predilection in the same direction. But, in looking back over the years and striving to bring to mind some of the favorite authors of my youth, a sudden desire has lately taken hold of me to once more scan the pages of bygone authors and to discover to how great an extent one's taste may have changed with the years.

It has not been very hard to come upon many of them on the Library shelves. Marryat's novels have stared at me as I have passed along and so have Victor Hugo's and James Grant's. Hugh Conway's "Called Back" and Cuthbert Bede's "Mr. Verdant Green" are there also and so are one or two of Miss Braddon's novels and the mighty array associated with the name of Harrison Ainsworth. But, somehow or other, none of them appealed to me at the moment. It was only when I was arrested by the name of Frank Smedley on the covers of three resplendently red volumes that I stopped and took them down, one by one, from the shelves. What visions they conjured up of past hours of delight, curled up in the corner of my school cubicle or seated under the welcome shade of a rhododendron bush on the borders of the cricket ground. Then and there I abstracted Frank Fairlegh from its dusty niche and bore it home to discover if the old charm still lingered in its pages. It was with a keen joy that I found that age had not withered in the least degree the interest of the story or destroyed the redolence of its humor. It is a school and University tale, not unworthy of a place beside Thomas Hughes' immortal books, or Vice Versa or The Hill. To add to its charm the pages are enlivened with several colored illustrations by Cruikshank. It may be questioned, perhaps, if the story would appeal to the boys of the present day, as the style is in places somewhat stilted and has of course a strong early Victorian flavor. But its humor is undeniable and never transgresses the rules of good taste.

The author, Frank Smedley, was born in 1818 and died in 1864. He was a cripple fro mhis birth, but this did not death him from taking the greatest possible interest in all manly sports. This is abundantly shown in his novels.

Frank Fairlegh is a book better fitted for men to read than for women, although it has its love story, but the reader will not have his feelings harrowed by sickly sentimentality or pathos. As the writer of Smedley's Memoir has remarked, "it is a book that relies (for success) upon well-devised incident and a genuine if somewhat rudimentary vein of pleasantry."

TELEGRAMS CAN BE SENT IN FACSIMILE

NORWEIGIAN INVENTION SAID TO MAKE THIS POSSIBLE.

CHRISTIANIA, March 19.—(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)—Telegrams, by wire or wireless, reproducing in facsimile the handwriting of the sender, or drawings, etc., are made possible by a process just perfected by the Norwegian inventor, Kermod Peterson. At a demonstration, such "copy telegrams" were transmitted over 600 miles.

Messages sent by this process would be charged by space and not by the number of words. Forms of various sizes at varying prices would probably be issued by the postal authorities for use by the public. There would be no counting of words—filled in would be handed in and the message despatched in fac-simile.

The forms are placed with the inscribed side outwards on a metal cylinder already prepared with a membrane sensitive to light. The cylinder is then exposed to a strong light, which, penetrating through the paper, engraves the writing on the cylinder. The manuscript being removed, the roll is treated with a special developer which "rusts" or eats into the brass, causing the lettering (or the lines of a drawing) to come out in a green color. After washing and drying the cylinder is placed on the despatching apparatus very much like a phonograph cylinder. Over the cylinder an electric current is passed out on the wire and so communicated to the receiving apparatus. As the cylinder rotates a small needle moves on it evenly and slowly in a horizontal direction, successively touching all the points on the cylinder. Every time it touches the green writing there is a slight contraction, which is communicated to the receiving apparatus, on which sensitized paper is placed. Thus an exact reproduction of the lettering or drawing is reproduced at the receiving end of the line.

In commercial practice, it is stated, the apparatus would be simpler than that used at the demonstration. The cylinder would be superseded by metal plates. A card with metallic threads would rotate over the receiver project. The process now carried out by hand would eventually be made quite mechanical.

By the new apparatus it is said a message which requires three hours to send over the wires in the ordinary way can be depatched in twenty minutes.

Mr. Petersen's invention is founded upon an alternating current and an exact sychronizing of apparatuses. The continuous transmission of messages between Christiania and Trondhjam for 24 hours would require by the ordinary system 117 telegraphic operators. By the Peterson apparatus it would require only 16. With any other system the contents of the telegram must pass once at least through the human brain, and here it is, of course, that errors may (and do) arise. With the "Copy Telegraph," the messages are not subject to the human factor. All is done by mechanical means.

Pasteurized Milk

From the finest farms around Peterborough, made safe by Pasteurization, comes the Milk supplied by the Peterborough Milk Products, Limited.

Dr. E. V. McCollum of Johns Hopkins University says: "Milk is our greatest protective food and its use must be increased instead of diminished. No family has the right to purchase any meat until each member has at least a pint of milk daily and this I regard as below the optimum. Milk is just as necessary for the maintenance of health in the adult as in the young."

Try it instead of meat during the last week of Lent. Use it at meals—as a nourishing, satisfying, refreshing beverage. Use it in soups, sauces, puddings and creamed vegetables. Use it on fresh fruit. Use it every day between meals. And just before going to bed, an extra ration to take the place of the food your tired appetite has refused.

SCROLL MEMORIAL FROM KING GEORGE

KINGSON, March 18.—The relatives of Sergeant Frank Jones, killed in action while serving overseas with the Canadian Mounted Rifles, have received from the King, a rare recognition of services during the war in the shape of a scroll reading as follows:—

"I join with my grateful people in sending you this memorial of a brave life given for others, in the Great War. GEORGE REX."

"He whom this scroll commemorates was numbered among those who at the call of King and Country left all that was dear to them, endured hardships, faced danger and finally passed out of the sight of men by the path of duty and self-sacrifice, giving up their own lives that others might live in freedom. Let those who come after see that his name be not forgotten."

DISCROWNED HEADS OUTNUMBER CROWNS

DETHRONED EUROPEAN MONARCH SEXCEED RULING ONES.

LONDON, March 19.—(By Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)—That dethroned European monarchs now outnumber the ruling sovereigns is shown in the 1921 edition of the Almanach de Gotha, copies of which have reached London. This directory of royalty is now printed in German instead of French as formerly.

Tracing in its pages the present status of once-crowned heads, the inquirer gets curious facts. For instance Prince Wilhelm of Wied, who for a few weeks "Mpret" of Albania, and who left his capital in 1914 "with reservation of all his rights" now lives at Arkensee in the Tyrol, his eldest son being still an "hereditary prince."

Prince Sistus, of Bourbon, a family which once occupied the thrones of France, Parma and Naples, has been expelled from Italy. A doctor of laws and captain in the Belgian artillery, he now lives in Paris, where he married Mlle. de Rochefoucauld.

One Austrian Archduke, Hubert now calls himself "Hapsburg-Lothringen." The fate of many other archdukes is unknown, but most of them are believed to have taken defuge in Lucerne, Switzerland. Archduke Karl Albrecht, who is only 22 years old, has become a Polish General while Archduke Leopold still lives in Vienna, and is married to Baroness Nocilics-Pedrinska.

Though still ruling his tiny state, the Prince of Monaco's record is of interest. Seventy-three years old, he has been twice divorced. His son is a bachelor, but a mysterious adopted daughter, upon whom the Prince conferred the title of Duchess de Valentinois, will perpetuate the dynasty. She married Count de Polignac in 1920.

Duke Karl Alexander of Wurttemberg, 24 years old, is now styled Brother Odo, a novice in the Benedictine Monastery at Beuron.

CAN OLD AGE BE KEPT AT BAY?

(Associated Press.)

LONDON.—Popular interest in the oft-discussed question whether it is possible to keep old-age at bay indefinitely and correspondingly prolong the span of life has been revived by Prof. Julian Huxley of Oxford. Julian is a grandson of the great Huxley and inherits no inconsiderable measure of his talent for painstaking scientific research.

The Life Cycle.

"The common-sense view of the life-cycle, drawn from the observation of man and the familiar animals," said Professor Huxley, "is that it proceeds always and inevitably in a definite direction with a definite plan. The normal life-cycle of man, for instance, is as follows: The individual starts as a minute single cell, then follows a period of rapid growth accompanied by differentiation, then growth without differentiation, then senility and finally death, which supervenes as a natural phenomenon, even if not through disease or accident."

What Experiments Show.

Experiments had shown, however, that this process was not irreversible, and was not inevitably similar in all animals; that it was possible to modify the rate of growth and the length of the period of growth and thus prolong life.

"It has been shown," Professor Huxley continued, "that by alternately starving and feeding planarian flatworms they can be kept not only within certain definite limits of size, as was to be expected, but also within certain definite limits of age. One animal has thus been kept of the same age—that it, the same lively activity, the same form, the same type of behavior—for a time during which the rest of the brood have passed through nineteen generations; a period which, translated into human terms would take us back to Chaucer. Thus, age does not merely depend on the lapse of time; it is the expression of internal processes.

The Elixer of Life.

"The elixir of life so long sought in the Middle Ages has at last been found—but, alas! only for flatworms."

As an illustration of reversal in mental life, Professor Huxley mentioned that in some shellshock and neurasthenia cases the patients revert to an earlier stage of mental existence, having the minds of children in the bodies of adults. "The most striking case," he said, "was that of an Australian soldier who reverted to the condition of an infant, unable to walk or talk, and incapable of taking any food but milk. This is known as mental regression.

Life Prolonged.

Professor Huxley held that numerous other examples showed that the apparent irreversibility of the life-cycle was only apparent, and that the ordinary type of life-cycle had been adopted as the most convenient but not as the only possible method of grappling with existence. In the case of mammals, the normal life of rate had been prolonged by about 40 per cent.

"Observation of life process," said Professor Huxley, in conclusion, "has given way to experiment as the chief method of research, and experiment is leading to control."

The Law

as amended Nov. 10, 1919

THIS Referendum on April 18 is to ratify a new federal law, namely, the Canada Temperance Act, as recently amended by Dominion Parliament.

If a majority of the people of Ontario vote in favor of the Canada Temperance Act as amended, then, in the exact words of the law, it follows:

No Person Shall Import

1. "No person shall import, send, take or transport into such province any intoxicating liquor.

or Manufacture or Sell for Importation

2. "No person shall, either directly or indirectly, manufacture or sell, or contract or agree to manufacture or sell, any intoxicating liquor to be unlawfully imported, sent, taken or transported into such province.

or Transport Save by Public Carrier

3. "The carriage or importation of intoxicating liquor through such province shall only be by means of a common carrier by water or by railway and not otherwise, and during the time any intoxicating liquor is being so transported or carried no person shall open or break or allow to be opened or broken, any package or vessel containing such intoxicating liquor, or drink, or use or allow to be drunk or used any intoxicating liquor therefrom."

Except for Permitted Purposes

NOTE.—This law does not prohibit importation of liquors to be used for sacramental, medicinal, manufacturing or commercial purposes, or the importation of such liquors as are permitted to be sold by the laws of the Province.

The Question to be Submitted:

"Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the Province be forbidden?"

Vote and vote "YES"

LOOKS TO WIN IN UPPER SILESIA.

Germans Combing Country For Voters.

BERLIN, March 19.—Here everybody is now convinced that the result of the plebiscite in Upper Silesia on Sunday (to-morrow), 20th March, will overwhelmingly favour Germany unless the Entente authorities should interfere in favour of Poland. The reasons are mainly based on the bad financial, economic and political conditions prevailing in Poland, compared with which Germany still presents a more attractive picture.

There is no question where the German vote will be. The only problem was to furnish travelling and lodging facilities for the hundreds of thousands of Germans who, though born in Silesia, have found a home in other parts of Germany. But this problem has been solved by thorough organisation that stretches its tentacles to the remotest corners of the country, and consequently every voter it is possible to mobilise will be on hand.

WHITEHEAD TORPEDO WORKS ARE TO CLOSE.

WEYMOUTH, March 19 (Canadian Press).—It has been announced that the famous Whitehead Torpedo Works here will close down this month owing to the general depression in trade.

During the war about 3,000 workers were employed at the works, where, in addition to turning out torpedoes, the paravane, a mine-cutting invention which, it is claimed, saved many hundreds of ships, was tested.

Linotypes, for setting up any printed matter that may be required are installed on the latest American battleships.

OCEAN LINER A FLOATING TOWN.

Every Profession, From Printers to Gymnasts, Carried.

In the good old days of the sailing ship, when passenger-carrying was merly incidental to the principal business of a voyage, which was to transport cargo, a ship's crew was made up chiefly of sailors. There was a cook, of course, and his helpers, who served the meals of the officers and passengers, if any passengers were carried; the crew served themselves. In those days, when the crew of a ship was mentioned, sailors were meant, for they were greatly in the majority.

Today the reverse is the rule. Steam automatically reduced the number of sailors required to handle a ship, and introduced the engineer and his helpers in the engine and boiler rooms, who in time outnumbered the sailors.

Next, with modern developments in passenger carrying, cooks and stewards began to multiply, until today, on a great ocean liner, they actually outnumber by a wide margin the deck force and the engine room force combined. Added to their numbers, and grouped with them are numerous specialists formerly unknown on shipboard, whose functions relate entirely to service, and in no way to the operation of the ship.

This multiplying of attendants on shipboard, to meet the growing demands for comforts and luxuries in sea travel, had led to some astonishing results, both in the size of the ship's crews and in the variety of trades represented in the total of the ship's company. On a large sailing ship of 75 years ago an average crew numbered about 30 men, and only the packet ships of the North Atlantic, carrying large numbers of passengers, carried 50 men or over.

Today a single giant liner in service on the Atlantic ferry carries a crew, or more properly a ship's company, equal in numbers to the combined crews of 25 ships of average size in sailing days. For example, the Olympic carries a crew totaling 878 persons.

As to the specialists found in such a crew, one may judge from the following facts The ship carries 13 butchers, eight bakers and two confectioners.

She also carries three printers, who do nothing else but attend to the ship's printing. This embraces not only fresh menu cards for every meal, but a daily paper, which is found at the plate of each saloon passenger when he sits down for lunch.

The big ship also carries a violinist, a gymnast, a swimming master, a professional squash racket master, a tailor, a chiropodist, a ladies' hair dresser, a Turkish bath rubber, a manicurist, a boot-black, and three barbers, a librarian, three elevator men, a typist and shorthand writer, two druggists, two doctors and eight nurses.

FOR SELLING GIN TO NEGRO SLAYER.

Proprietress Saloon and Bartender Indicted.

TRENTON, N.J., March 19.—The United States Grand Jury here has indicted Mrs. Sarah Sturm, proprietor of a saloon in Perth Amboy, and William Brencka, her bartender, for selling gin to George Washington Knight, the negro who, on Monday confessed to having killed Mrs. Edith M. Wilson, a Perth Amboy organist, Saturday night. The Sturm woman and her employe were held for trial in $2,000 bail each, after pleading not guilty.

Mrs. Sturm and her bartender also are facing charges under the New Jersey Crimes act for selling liquor at retail without a license. It is expected that these charges will be presented to the Middlesex County Grand Jury on Friday, when it is called in special session to indict Knight for the murder of Mrs. Wilson.

According to the negro's story, his crime was a result of drinking cheap gin sold him at the Sturm place on Saturday night. Feeling against Mrs. Sturm and Brencka is strong.

Bates, Henderson and Faulkes, who were with Knight before he attacked Mrs. Wilson, and Benjamin Cransaw, to whom he sold the dead woman's wrist watch, are in the county jail as material witnesses.

YOUNG LADIES RECEIVE THE HABIT AT MOUNT ST. JOSEPH THIS MORNING

HIS LORDSHIP BISHOP O'BRIEN WAS PRESENT—ADDRESS BY REV. FATHER KENNEDY.

The pretty chapel at Mount St. Joseph was packed this morning, when fourteen young ladies received the habit of the Order, and five made their first vows. His Lordship Bishop O'Brien, assisted by Rev. Father Cantelon and Rev. Father Costello, said Mass, and the following priests were in the sanctuary: Monsignor McColl, Rev. Peter McGuire, Rev. C. J. Phelan, Rev. Jno. O'Brien, Rev. Father Garvey, Father O'Leary of Bracebridge, and Father Leahy of Ottawa Diocese, Father McCauley of Ennismore, and Father Power of East City.

This unique and beautiful ceremony is very impressive to those who fully understand its significance. The young ladies, attired in bridal costumes of white satin, with long veils, and carrying bouquets of flowers, with dainty little flower girls, renounce the world with all its gauds and vanities, and are then invested with the black serge and spotless white of the Order of the Sisterhood of St. Joseph. A beautiful sermon was preached by Rev. Father Kennedy, C.S.P., of New York, on the text from St. Matthew: "If thou lovest me, go, sell what thou hast, and give to the poor, and come follow me. There shall be treasure laid up for thee in heaven." This was an exposition of the struggle of the soul in its endeavors to escape from the call of the world and the flesh when it has been singled out by God for the religious life, and desires to walk in the way of perfection. The sisters were also addressed most beautifully by His Lordship Bishop O'Brien on the spiritual beauties and advantages of the religious life.

The Names.

Miss Irene McDonald, St. Andrews N. B., Sister M. Andre.
Miss Ida May Isobel, Alumette Island, Sister M. Laurina.
Miss Florence Isobel, Alumette Island, Sister M. Ernestine.
Miss Charlotte Barry, Dalhousie N. B., Sister M. Annunciata.
Miss Mary Desjardins, Trenton, Sister M. Yvonne.
Miss Gertrude McCabe, Peterboro, Sister M. Kathleen.
Miss Jessie Warner, Peterboro, Sister M. St. Gilbert.
Miss Irene Quinn, North Bay, Sister M. Faustina.
Miss Beatrice Byrnes, North Bay, Sister M. Cecil.
Miss Teresa Cleary, Hastings, Sister M. Roberts.
Miss Mary Cleary, Hastings, Sister M. Celine.
Miss Margaret Moloney, Peterboro, Sister M. Fidelma.
Miss Clara Young, Ennismore, Sister M. Giovanni.
Miss Pearl Hughes, Tweed, Sister M. Macrina.

Those taking their first vows were: Sister M. Albertine, Sister M. Doloretta, Sister M. Margaret Marie, Sister M. Marion and Sister M. Agnita.

Flower Girls.

The dainty little flower girls for the ocasion were the following small maidens: Madeline Doherty, Helen Hayes, Zita Thomas, Margaret Mcquade, Anna Swistelkinoff, Madeline Wolff, Geraldine Kelly, Dorothy Finn, Phyllis Cowie, Ann Donoghue, Noreen McDonoghue, Dora Morse, Marie Doris and Anna McCormick.

AN OLD RESIDENT OF HOPE DIES SUDDENLY.

One of the oldest residents of Hope Township, Myndert Harris, passed away in a private boarding home at Brighton on Thursday afternoon, when he suffered a hemorrage of the brain. He never regained consciousness, and died three hours after being stricken. Funeral will take place in Port Hope on Sunday.

TRENT CANAL NOW FAVORED IN MONTREAL.

Board of Trade Opposes St. Lawrence Deep Waterway Plan.

MONTREAL, March 19. — "That the proposed development would vastly more benefit the United States than Canada and that it would be better for the Dominion government rather than adopt a scehme to deepen the St. Lawrence waterways, to renew its consideration of the proposed Georgian Bay canal, which is the most advantageous route for Canada, the distance thereof being shorter, the cost of construction less, and it contains immense water power possibilities: moreover the whole route is entirely in Canadian territory."

The foregoing was the report in part of the navigation committee to the council of the Board of Trade, when considering the St. Lawrence River deep water project. The council adopted its committee's report and will oppose the scheme to canalize the St. Lawrence made before the International Joint Commission.

FIX STOMACH RIGHT UP

"Pape's Diapepsin" at once ends Indigestion, Gases, Sourness, Acidity

You don't want a slow remedy when your stomach is bad— or an uncertain one — or a harmful one —your stomach is too valuable; you mustn't injure it with drastic drugs. When your meals don't fit and you feel uncomfortable, when you belch gases, acids or raise sour, undigested food. When you feel lumps of indigestion pain, heartburn or headache from acidity, just eat a tablet of Pape's Diapepsin and the stomach distress is gone.

Millions of people know the magic of Pape's Diapepsin as an antacid. They know that indigestion and disordered stomach are so needless. The relief comes quickly, no disappointment, and they cost so little, too.

REVIVAL—CHURCH OF GOD MISSION.

As previously announced, tomorrow will terminate the special evangelistic effort at the Mission. In the afternoon at 2.45 Mr. Campbell will give an address to young converts. Subject, "First Steps in Grace."

In the evening, at 7 o'clock, the Evangelist will preach his farewell sermon, and has chosen as his text. Hebrews xiii., 14: "For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come."

On the whole, Mr. Campbell declares he is gratified with the result of the meetings, for though the attendance has not been large, the interest has been good, and there have been several conversions.

Mr. Campbell expressed his intention of returning to Peterborough some time later, perhaps next fall, or winter, at which time he expects to have another evangelist to help him as well as a good singer.

A hearty invitation is extended to the public to attend to-morrow's services, and especially would Mr. Campbell be pleased to have all those present who have been attending the services.

At Corner Hunter and George Streets, over Royal Bank.

GOSPEL HALL MEETINGS

(Contributed)

The unabated interest in the gospel message was evidenced by another crowded meeting last night. After the singing of several hymns, some of which were specially requested, Mr. Bentley spoke on the subject of "Tears" as announced. Beginning with the Saviour's tears, the speaker pointed out that the sacred record tells of two occasions on which He wept. First when He beheld the city He wept over it, Luke 19:41. These were the tears of a rejected Saviour. He had come to His own (nation) but His own received Him not. He would have gathered them as a hen gathers her chickens, but they would not, and now wounded love weeps over them. If there is anything to-day that would make him weep, surely it is the base rejection of the Son of God by those whom He came to save.

He also wept tears of sympathy, John 11:35. Into the Bethany home death had come. That death had made a deep gash in the hearts of the bereaved sisters, Martha and Mary, and that wondrous God-man touched with the feelings of the infirmity of those women wept. Sorrowing Child of God. He sees, and knows and cares for you in your sorrow. In Luke 7:38, we read of tears of penitence. Here is a nameless woman, sinful, but penitent. Her grief for sin flowing in bitter, repentant tears. Have you repented of sin? Unforgiven sin is the incubator that hatches the worm that never dies. It lights the fires of hell. If unforgiven still lies upon your soul, you must get rid of it at the cross, or it will mean your eternal ruin.

Heb. 12:17, tells of tears of remorse. These were shed by Esau When hungry he sold his birthright for a good dinner, and afterward when he realized what a fool he had been he sought to change this, but could not. There are men and women, who, for the sake of some present enjoyment, sell their chance of eternal salvation. They will wake to a realization some time that they were fools. When too late they will weep tears of remorse to think they might have been saved, but made light of a Saviour's offered grace.

Lastly, let me tell you of a tearless land. In the eternal dwelling-place of the saved God will wipe away all tears from their eyes, Rev. 21:4.

Heaven means perfect love, perfect light, perfect peace, sweetest music and deepest joy—an utter absence of sorrow as shown in tears. Hell is the place of sin—continual sin and hate, and wailing and remorse and tears flow all the time. The same Bible that tells of heaven warns of hell. To which place are you going? Christ and Christ alone is the saviour from hell, and the way to heaven. Take Him now.

Mr. Bentley made public acknowledgement and spoke very gratefully of the kindness of the "Examiner" in printing the synopsis of his address. It had been a real help.

QUEBEC PRIME MINISTER

Owner of a Heintzman & Co. Player-Piano.

The Player-Piano manufactured by Ye Olde Firme Heintzman & Co., Limited, George and Hunter Streets, Peterborough, known as the "different" Player, is much in favor in Quebec. Hon. L. A. Tachereau, Prime Minister of the Province, has a Style A Player, and Mr. J. Holt, of Holt-Renfrew Company, of Quebec, has also purchased one of these popular instruments.

JOY OF COMRADESHIP.

There is no way of living except the way of taking life on the terms on which it is given to us. It is too late, when we are in the midst of the sea, to wish that we had not started.

No one ever became a master mariner by "having a good time." (It is the contrary wind that makes manhood.) Again, it is the contrary wind that binds us to our brother-men. If we were to sail along under fair winds, each lying at his ease, life would teach us nothing but lazy selfishness. (The contrary wind gives us the fellowship of the oars)—the need of keeping time with one another of each helping the others while he pulls away on his own thwart. No finer sound ever rises to heaven than the comrade-song of the rowers. Surely we all know that the best things life has brought us—the things that bring the deepest satisfaction—have been the chances of service.

FAT FOLKS BECOME SLIM
EASILY, PLEASANTLY

Fat persons will be happy to learn that they might easily reduce their weight without starvation diet, drastic drugs, or strenuous exercise.
If you are overstout, are you lowering your vitality by carrying this excess burden? Don't jeopardize your health or be a laughing stock any longer. Be happy!
Follow the simple directions of the Korein system. Safe and pleasant; recommended by many reliable women and men.
Surprising weight reduction reports come in—even after just a few days' treatment. With proper reduction the flesh becomes firm, the skin smooth and the general health improved; in fact, work seems easier and a lighter, more buoyant feeling takes possession of the whole being. It is a fine sensation—that of looking and feeling younger, supple, cheerful, active, alert and full of enthusiasm.
To reduce ten to sixty lbs. (whatever you need to) you should now give KOREIN system a trial. You will probably find it is just what you need. Start on the road to longer life and happiness today. Obtain a small box of Korein tabules (pronounced Koreen) under money-back guarantee at any busy drug store or write for free brochure, with many testimonials, to Korein Co., Box 277-P, Toronto, Ont.

He threw a ball, the ring slipped off his finger, and while forty ball players and Henry Fabian searched a total of forty hours, they ring wasn't found. Two heavy storms have soaked the ground since then, four crowds of fans have tramped through right field to the exit gate. But the next day "Cosy" Dolan, while batting flies to Eddie Brown, clouted one that Brownie missed. The ball hit the ground. There was a sparkle in the air, and behold—there was the ring. "Cosy" says that for proper inducements he'll take his trick bat and ball to any field and find anything.

'VARSITY TIES QUEENS 8 TO 8

PLAY-OFF ON NEUTRAL ICE TO DECIDE CHAMPIONSHIP.

KINGSTON, March 19.—(Canadian Press).—When full time had expired in the Queens-Varsity game here last night for the Junior Inter-Collegiate championship, the score was a tie on the round, 8 to 8. Queen's won 7 to 3. It was decided to play off the tie on neutral ice. Queen's might have claimed the championship, as the rules provide for an extra period to decide in such a case, but preferred to meet Varsity in another contest.

LONDON LACROSSE NOW ORGANIZED

HOPE TO ENTER TEAM IN INTERMEDIATE O.A.L.A.

LONDON, March 18—The greatest enthusiasm in many years, marked the recent meeting of sports here to organize the London Lacrosse Club and eventually enter a team in the Intermediate O.A.L.A. series.

There seems to be abundant material from which to select a strong team to show up good in this district, which it is expected will be composed of clubs from St. Mary's, Stratford and probably Ingersoll.

The following officers were elected: President, T. H. Yull; vice-presidents, C. Grafton, W. Rhodes, Randall Brown, John A. Rose, A. E. Gibbons; secretary-treasurer, Walter Gurd; executive committee, H. Doherty, R Donahue, T. Luton, T. Veach, H. L. Scheiding; manager, R. Donahue; trainer, H. L. ALLAN CUP TO LARGE EXTENT FATED TO-NIGHT

SOFT ICE LIKELY FOR BRANDON-'VARSITY GAME AT WINNIPEG.

WINNIPEG, March 19.—(Canadian Press).—Whether the Allan Cup, emblematic of the amateur hockey championship of Canada, is to remain in the West will, to a great extent, be determined to-night, when Brandon, champions of the West, will hook up against the fast travelling University of Toronto team. Owing to the mild spell, soft ice will most likely prevail for the game unless the weatherman relents mighty soon. Both teams worked out yesterday, and there was water on one end of the rink. The Varsity boys were disappointed at the coming weather conditions, as they claim to have shown the very best form on fast ice, though they have played several games on soft ice with great success.

C. S. CUMMER HEADS THE LACROSSE CLUB.

Peterborough Assured of a Strong Group Near Home This Year.

With the brighest prospects of a big local group in the intermediate O.A.L.A. this year the Peterborough Lacrosse Club re-organized last night at a meeting in the Board of Trade rooms. All the regular supporters were present and most of the younger men. The following officers were elected:

Patrons — G. N. Gordon, M.P., Thomas Tooms, M.L.A., Mayor McIntyre, Rev. C. J. Phelan, Alderman Whitehouse and C. G. Graham.

Hon. President—H. R. H. Kenner.

Hon. Vice-Pres.—R. M. Glover.

President—C. S. Cummer.

Vice-President—Dr. N. S. Sutton.

Sec.-Treas.—H. J. Tudhope.

Executive—A. E. Todd, J. Sutherland, George Mein, Jack Creighton and W. Meagher.

Coach—Ed. Dillon.

Manager—James Skinner.

The club appointed Harry Tudhope as its representative at the annual meeting of the O.A.L.A. in Toronto next Friday.

Mr. Tudhope and Dr. Sutton were commissioned to interview the owners of Riverside Park in regard to the use of the grounds.

A meeting of the executive will be held on Wednesday night.

Lacrosse Going to Boom.

All signs point to a big boom in lacrosse throughout this district and in fact all through Ontario this season. Percy Lancaster has Havelock under way already, Norwood and Hastings will likely join forces and should produce a good team, and Tweed and Marmora will likely hook up in the same way.

Campbellford Enthusiastic.

Campbellford is coming back with a real revival of enthusiasm. Yesterday afternoon Charlie Nadou started out with a subscription list and within an hour showed a total of $140 in the newly organized club's treasury. That's a comfortable nest egg.

Everything is looking rosy for a good season and Peterborough will not go begging for games this year.

Johnny Sutherland arrived back from Campbellford last night in time for the local meeting, and announces that Peterborough's team will be young and fast. He helped set the Campbellford club going, not that the fans down by the Trent needed any special urging, but he lent a hand. Last year's manager spent the winter in Campbellford and got a lot of satisfaction out of managing one of the town's hockey teams.

Johnny says Campbellford will be in the O.H.A. next winter.

MUSIC AND DRAAM

AT THE ALLEN.

Betty Compson, whose meteoric rise to stardom was the result of her remarkable portrayal of the role of the girl in the George Loane Tucker production of "The Miracle Man," makes her initial stellar appearance in "Prisoners of Love," which will be presented at the Allen Theatre beginning Monday. The picture was personally produced by Miss Compson, who is now at the head of her own company, and was directed by Arthur Rosson.

The story is taken from one of the works of Catherine Henry, and contains innumerable tense dramatic situations which give Miss Compson the fullest opportuity to display her remarkable versatility. The action carries her through the complete range of human emotions, and her first production stamps her as one of the really great actresses of the screen.

As Blanche Davis, Miss Compson portrays the role of a girl born of wealthy and cultured parents, and cursed through inheritance with a dangerous degree of physical attractiveness. Discovering her father buying the silence of an adventuress who has become part of her life, Blanche leaves home and disdains even the use of her father's great name. She flees to San Francisco, where she obtains employment in the law offices of Martin Blair and James Randolph. The latter seeks to marry her, but his mother, an invalid since his birth, selfishly compels her to promise that she will not take her son from her until after her death.

Death's swift intervention fails to solves the riddle of "Prisoners of Love,' and the best work of many present dramatists seems childish compared with the magnificent gesture with which the picture ends.

AT THE REGENT.

Clothes don't make the man, but they have a lot to do with helping the man make himself. That is the moral, if any, of the new comedy picture, "The Sins of St. Anthony," which is scheduled for the Regent Theatre next Monday. Bryant Washburn is the featured player.

The central figure is a young scientist who is thinking so much about bacilli and conic sections that he neglects such trivial matters as keeping his trousers pressed and visiting the barber once in a while. Not until his best girl turns him down flat on acount of his lack of pep does Anthony realize that there is something queer about him. Then he sets about rectifying matters with a venegance calling in the queen of the jazziest musical show in town to teach him the ropes. Thereafter events move with delightful swiftness and before he knows it Anthony" and the picture was directed madest romance one could imagine.

Margaret Loomis and Viora Daniel help Mr. Washburn to keen the fun lively in "The Sins of St. Anthony" and the picture wos directed by James Cruze. It is a Paramount Artcraft.

AT THE EMPIRE.

A photoplay of delightful charm is promised by the management of the Empire theatre next Monday, when "The Dangerous Paradise," a Selznick picture, with Louise Huff will be presented.

Lewis Allen Browne, scenarist of note, adapted "The Dangerius Paradise" from a short story by Edmund Goulding and something quite different in the line of light comedy is anticipated.

Louise Huff appears as Ivis Vanastor, a charming young miss of eighteen summers, who is rapidly becoming more and more annoyed by the chaperonage of her aunt with whom she lives.

Upon her eighteenth birthday the young lady comes into her inheritance which includes a handsome house at Newport.

In order that she may have a wonderful time flirting with all men in general and one, Norman Kent, in particular, Ivis pretends she is married to Horatio Worthington, a fine old chap who lends himself to the spirit of the occasion. However, Norman discovers Ivis' little scheme and does a little conniving himself, the results of which are shown in a sequence of scenes that will keep the spectator in one continuous chuckle.

SHAMROCK TEA

The main hall of the Queen Mary school was filled yesterday afternoon with a jolly crowd of mothers and pupils on the occasion of the Shamrock Tea held under the auspices of the Queen Mary Home and School Association, Mrs. S. T. Medd, President of the Association, received, assisted by Miss Cairns, representing the teachers, and Miss Hawley, representing the pupils of the school. The tea table, charmingly decorated with green candles and shamrocks, was in charge of Mrs. M. N. Clark, assisted by a bevy of bright-faced little lasses, whose dainty caps also bore the emblem of the Green Isle. An atmosphere of pleasant cheer seemed to animate the gathering, and a number of musical offerings were very much enjoyed. Miss Gwen Donley, Miss Dorothy Worboy, and the Misses Elsie Bennett and Elsie Diamond gave piano solos, Marion McLean recited and rendered the Irish Lilt also, little Miss Clark danced, and Doris Donley Sang.

A NEW SOCIAL ORDER

(By LORD HALDANE)

By Lord Haldane (Former Lord Chancellor of England).
(Written for Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service.)

LONDON.—The question troubling the public mind is how to escape from continued industrial and economic perplexity. Prices are falling, manufacturers' profits are disappearing, and, on the other hand, there is a steady resistance on the part of the working-classes to any corresponding drop in wages which would bring down the cost of production to the old level.

The question is one which requires definition.

It is clear that if articles cannot be produced at a profit without some diminution in wages, they will not be produced at all and probably wherever this forecast is established the working-classes will be ready to meet it by some abatement of demand on their part. Indeed, they cannot help themselves.

This necessity, however, is subject to the principle that articles which cannot be produced here except by sweating, it would be better to import.

Undoubtedly the standard of wages has risen, probably permanently. This may not imply that in particular instances wages will not be affected by the necessity of finding markets, but it does mean, not only here, but all over the world, that as a result of increased requirements of labor, those who in the old days drew large profits and other advantages will have to forego more for the privilege of enjoying them.

A different social order is slowly coming into existence, in which the working classes require more money in order to maintain a better standard of life; and it is not likely, particularly with our extended franchise, that they will go back upon this as their general principle.

The new order of things is apparent in many forms.

Not long ago I visited one of the new county schools, where I was struck with the appearance of the pupils. The boys looked as if they were the sons of prosperous owners of villas or shops, but I found they were mainly the sons of workmen who had decided, with their better wages, to give their children an education superior to that which they had received themselves.

This is only one illustration. Turn where you will among the democracy and you find a rise in the standards of social life which points to an approximation from below to the advantages hitherto enjoyed by those above.

If, on the other hand, you study your surroundings in an old-fashioned region where the country gentlemen, until recently, have been comparatively rich, and have exercised a dominating influence, you again find this change.

One great house has become a school, another a hospital, a third has been sold to a profiteer, a fourth has been let to some other of the new-rich class. Certain of the old order of aristocracy have disappeared, but there remain—I think it is greatly to their credit—a class which is trying to live on while it can, though on a greatly reduced scale, in its old houses, or parts of them and which strives at the same time to do its duty to the public by rendering social service.

SPIRIT'S HOUSE

From naked stones of agony
I will build a house for me;
As a mason all alone
I will raise it, stone by stone
And every stone where I have bled
Will show a sign of dusky red.
I have not gone the way in vain,
For I have good of all my pain;
My spirit's quiet house will be Built of naked stones I trod
On roads where I lost sight of God.

Sara Teasdale.

Friendship is probably the basis of a great deal of the happiness we find in this world. In a little book called "Adventures in Friendship" David Grayson, in defining friendship, says, in part:

Friendship, it seems to me, is like happiness. She flies pursuit, she is shy, and wild, and timid, and will be the best wooed by indirection. Quite unexpectedly, sometimes, as we pass in the open road, she puts her hand into ours like a child. Friendship is neither a formality nor a mode; it is rather a life.

It is not the substance of what we say to one another that makes us friends, nor yet the manner of saying it, nor is it what you do or I do, nor is it what I give you or you give me, nor is it because we chance to belong to the same church, a society or party that makes us friendly. Nor is it because we entertain the same views nor respond to the same emotions. All these things may serve to bring us nearer together, nut no one of them can of itself kindle the divine fire of friendship. A friend is one with whom we are fond of being when no business is afoot nor any entertainment contemplated. A man may well be silent with a friend. "I do not need to ask the wounded person how he feels," says the poet. "I myself became the wounded person."

It is not short of miraculous how, with cultivation, one's capacity for friendship increases. Once I myself had scarcely room in my heart for a single friend, who am now so wealthy in friendships. It is phenomenon worthy of consideration by all hardened disbelievers in that which is miraculous upon this earth that when a man's heart really opens to a friend he finds there room for two. And when he takes in the second, behold the skies lift and the earth grows wider, and he finds there room for two more.

In a curious passage (which I understand no longer darkly) old mystical Swedenborg tell of his wonderment that the world of spirits (which he says he visited so familiarly) should not soon become too small for all the swelling hosts of its ethereal inhabitants, and was confronted with the discovery that the more angels there were, the more heaven to hold them. So let it be with our friendship!

Let us analyze this wretched habit of whinning. It is usually the habit of whining. It is usually the blues. Now if it is real trouble there might be a tiny excuse for it although even then it does more harm than good—spoils dispositions—makes wrinkles and fretful faces. And anyway why whine about it? When the trouble is past you will not like to remember that you cringed when you saw it coming. You will much prefer to remember that you faced it with high courage.

However, our experience has been that the people who have real trouble are, as a rule, too much occupied getting themselves out of it to whine. So most of this whining must come from the people who have only fancied trouble and for this there is surely no excuse. Most of the trouble in the world is the kind that exists only in the man's mind and we all get in our little whine about what is going to happen sometime and only about one per cent of the things we whine over ever really happen.

We see in this world chiefly what we look for. A farmer going along examines the farms, an architetet the buildings, a merchant the condition of the markets, a minister the churches. He who is constantly looking for troubles will find them stretching off into gloomy wilderness. He who is watching for blessings will find them hither and thither extending in harvest of luxuriance.

"Birth, marriage and death are three solemn mysteries given us to study, and the second of these is the key which solves the problem of the other two, since well-born children and true wedded love will help us to bless and save this world, and send us rejoicing to receive our reward in the next."

New Drug Is Only Drug Known That Acts on Liver

Will be a Revelation to Suffering Humanity. Cleans Liver in a few minutes. Symptoms of Liver Trouble are Sallow Complexion, Bad Taste in Mouth on Rising, Tired, Out of Sorts, etc.

This new drug is called Tanated Calomel. It acts only on the Liver, which immediately relieves many troubles, as Rheumatism, Constipation, Boils, Kidney Pains, etc. No Salts and Seidlitz are necessary after taking, because it is self-eliminating. It does not have a nauseating, sickening feeling the next day, like so many similar drugs. You no doubt have been taking all sorts of laxatives, salts, castor oil, etc., with only temporary results. The reason is that none of these drugs act upon the Liver; they merely draw liquid from the blood and tissues, causing a great flush. What you need is something like Tanated Calomel, which causes the bile to be excreted from the Liver into the Bowel, causing a natural elimination of the waste. You know waste allowed to remain in the system causes a multitude of troubles. I can venture to say that 90 per cent. of all sickness is due directly to this very thing. What is generally the first thing your doctor does when you are sick? He gets your Bowels operating so as to eliminate wastes in your Bowels, which is poisoning your system. Now, in order to be happy, healthy, vigorous, vivacious, bright, alert, keen to observe and understand, you must first keep your Liver clean, or you are coaxing all sorts of trouble upon yourself. Doctors recommend that you take a tablet before eating and one at bedtime. Just get some of these, and I feel assured that you will feel as if you had a new lease of life.

These Tanated Calomel Tablets are for sale by F. C. Weber, Druggist.

Rub Backache Away

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden pains, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get blessed relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameless and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on and out comes the pain. It is perfectly harmless and doesn't burn or discolor the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

SPEAKERS WORTH WHILE AT U.F.O. BANQUET

The annual banquet of the Peterborough U.F.O. Club in the Empress Hotel, Tuesday evening, at 8.30 promises to be a function worthy of capacity attendance. The principal speakers will be Prof. J. B. Reynolds, of Guelph Agricultural College and Edgar Watson, M.P.P. for North Victoria, both of whom are gifted in the delivery of after-dinner addresses, and whose utterances are always entertaining and instructive.

WHO I AM—AND I—AND I.

I am the news, the story, the tip, the rumor.
The Exclusive Stuff;
I lie around everywhere, in unsuspected places,
I roam in the Park; I sleep in Hesse's.

I am the Reporter, the Wild Man of Park Row;
I never sleep—I eat only on office time.
I kidnap the News-Beat,
I trap the Shy Rumor,
I drag them to the Twelfth Floor.

I am the Night City Editor,
My heart is like a skating rink floor;
My heart is as hard as Gibraltar;
My heart is as hard as a Hudson Bay Wolf's.
I eat the copy alive.
I spike it.
I throw it on the floor—in the waste basket.
But still it accumulates.

We are the Copy Readers, as gentle as grizzly bears,
Tender as alligators.
We hit the copy with axes,
With hammers,
With profanity,
With Unprintable Language.
We have no hearts at all—
No Consciences—
We hate everybody.

I am the Managing Editor.
I say: "Whatthehellisthisstuff? Whatthehellisthisstuff?
"Whosentthisrotalong? Whosentthisrotalong?
"Whatidiotpassedthis?
I am the Managing Editor.
Everybody loads this stuff onto me.

I am the Night's Over-set!
I am the Scum of the News;
I am the vermiform appendix; I am the jetsam;
I get all the stuff left out of the paper.
Nobody wants me.
Nobody has a kind word for me.
But now and then I have my revenge!
I hide a good story away.
It gets on the first page—
OF THE OTHER PAPERS!
Then there is hell to pay!

OPPOSES ANGLO-JAP TREATY.

Australia and New Zealand Takes This Stand.

Associated Press.

LONDON.—New Zealand and Australia, says Sir John Findlay are strongly opposed to the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty and he wants the home government to bear that fact in mind when the question of the renewal of the treaty comes up for settlement.

Sir John is one of the leading statesmen of New Zealand. With Sir Joseph Ward he represented New Zealand at the last Imperial Conference in 1911. He is now again in London.

"The people of Australia and New Zealand have made up their minds that their islands must remain a white man's country," he says in the Pall Mall and Globe. This is not my opinion merely; it is a national conviction. They do not want emigrants from China, Japan or India. The color bar is definitely fixed and is a fundamental feature of our Constitution. We want the British Empire to recognize that fact and to respect it.

"It is apparently difficult for the government of the mother country, and possibly for the people, to realize how great is the color question with us New Zealanders and Australians. The Chinese come to us in small numbers, and we want their numbers to diminish rather than increase.

"The Japanese are a more agressive people and constitute our greatest menace. We want the imperial government understand this matter more thoroughly than it does. The Japanese peril is there all the time.

"It has now come to this: New Zealand and Australia—for in this matter we are all of one mind—object emphatically to the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese treaty. When that treaty was made there was some excuse for it. Russia was threatening India, while Germany was threatening Europe and America was too much concerned with the Monroe Doctrine to be depended on. The German and the Russian menace are now removed and as for America, she is now ready to make a common cause with us over the Japanese peril. So there is no justification for a continuance of an undesirable treaty.

"The subject came up before the last Imperial Conference, and in the coming conference I have reason to believe it will be one of the most important questions for consideration. This time it will have to be thrashed out thoroughly."

MOORISH DRESS FOR PARISIANS.

Hide Hair Under Turbans the Vogue.

Associated Press.

PARIS.—If the fashionable women of Paris adopt the Moorish style of dress, which is dominant in the new spring vogues now being shown by the dressmakers here, they will be seen hiding their hair under turbans and learning to walk with a swinging motion of the hips, says the Daily Mail.

The Oriental note shows itself not only in the brightly colored turbans and in scarfs and sashes but also in the use of sequins as ornaments for evening gowns. Artificial flowers of gaudy color and great size are favorite trimmings. A single bloom worn on the left hip, or a loose garland hung round the body some inches below the waistline, enhances the Oriental style.

TO BE DYSPEPTIC IS TO BE MISERABLE

The poor dyspeptic suffers untold agony after every meal, and any one who has dyspepsia knows what joy it would give to eat three square meals a day and not be punished for it after. Nearly everything that enters the weak stomach acts as an irritant, and even the little that is eaen causes such torture and is digested so imperfectly that it does little good.

Before you can eat heartily, and not pick and choose your food, you must put your stomach into such a condition that it will manufacture its own digestive ferments.

For over forty years Burdock Blood Bitters has been toning up and restoring weak stomachs to a normal healthy condition so that the food no longer causes distress, but is thoroughly digested and assimilated, and enables one to partake of all the wholesome food required without fear of any unpleasant after effects.

Mrs. Alice Becknorth, Fesserton, Ont., writes:—"I have been a great sufferer from indigestion and dyspepsia for several years. I could not eat anything without almost dying from the pain in the pit of my stomach. Seeing Burdock Blood Bitters highly recommended I tried a bottle, and can gladly say it relieved me. I can eat anything now, and am in perfect health."

B. B. B. is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

New Hair Growth After BALDNESS

On legal affidavit, John Hart Brittain, business man, certified to this: "My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. An expert said that he thought the hair roots were extinct, and there was no hope of my ever having a new hair growth.

"Yet now, at an age over 66, I have a luxuriant growth of soft, strong, lustrous hair! No trace of baldness. The pictures shown here are from my photographs."

After hair growth

INDIANS' SECRET OF HAIR GROWTH

Mr. Brittain certified further: "At a time when I had become discouraged at trying to grow my hair again, I came across, in my travels, a Cherokee Indian 'medicine man' who had an elixir that he asseverated would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed, day by day, into a healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days."

True Hair Grower at Last

Photo when bald, mildly. "That I was astonished and happy is expressing my state of mind Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the then mysterious pomade. I negotiated for and came into possession of the principle for preparing this, now called KOTALKO, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist. That my own hair growth was permanent has been amply proved."

DUTCH MINISTER NEEDS FORTUNE.

Too Live These Days at Washington.

Associated Press.

THE HAGUE.—Selection of a new Dutch minister at Washington to succeed J. T. Cremer, resigned, has presented difficulties to the Dutch foreign office because of the high cost of living at the American capital. While the entertainment allowance made for jministers is considered ample in most capitals, the incumbent at Washington is generally preseumd to need a personal fortune.

Much interest has been aroused in diplomatic circles of The Hague by the decision of the American minister, William Phillips, to take up his residence, for several weeks each year, in Amsterdam, which is nominally the capital, though The Hague is the residence of the Queen and the seat of parliament.

Mr. Phillips is doing this in order to meet the financial and commercial leaders of Holland. His first period of residence there has been schedules for late in February or early in March.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 19, —(Canadian Press.)— Leading stocks registered normal gains and losses at the hesitant opening of to-day's session, but within the first half hour the reactionary tendencies became more marked. Mexican Petroleum forfeited a large fraction, Atlantic Gulf fell one point and International Agricultural Preferred lost 1 5-8. Prominent Motors and their Specialties also eased moderately. Among the few advances were Pennsylvania, Houston Oil, Allied Chemical and Seaboard Steel.

The Week in Wall Street.

NEW YORK, March 19.—(Canadian Press.)— Easier rates for call money influenced the better tone of the securities market this week, but net chanegs, except in a few of the speculative leaders, were comparatively insignificant.

Liquidation seemed to have run its course in the more stable stocks, although rails were conspicuously backward with new low records for varying periods in such prominent issues as Pennsylvania and several of the Grangers. Oils as a group contributed a preponderant share to the enlarged operations, Steels and Equipments also asserting much of their former leadership. Of the better known specialties, Tobaccos were heavily losing ground on adverse trade reports.

Industrial and commercial conditions, especially as applicable to the Steel trade, offered little inducement for any revival of public interest in the market and the smaller railroad earnings testified to a further diminuition of tonnage at western and south-western points.

Taking the foreign exchange markets as a criterion, little interest was manifested in the latest aspects of the European situation. Tigher money in London, it was declared, militates against any immediate reduction in the Bank of England rate.

The St. Patrick's Day concert was a success both in attendance and programme. The musical numbers were well rendered and an address by Mr. T. J. Begley was interest-holding and instructive.

DUTCH LOCAL OPTION.

THE HAGUE, March 19.— Efforts of Dutch prohibition advocates to obtain passage of a local option law this year have met with such small success that action apparently has been postponed until a more favorable time.

GROWING DEAF WITH HEAD NOISES? TRY THIS

If you are growing hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to your druggist, and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who is threatened with Catarrhal Deafness, or who has head noises, should give this prescription a trial.

Pastor R. J. Zimmerman will preach in S.O.E. Hall on Sunday, March 20th. Subjects — 11 a.m., "Sanctification." 7 p.m., "The Lord's Coming and the Battle of Armageddon."

REFUND GAS CHARGES.

ST. THOMAS, March 19.— The City Council has instructed their soliciitor to make a test case of the right of gas consumers to demand a refund of service charges paid to the City Gas Company. The proposal is to have the city sue on its own behalf for service charges paid on gas used in municipal buildings.

ALLEN THEATRE FOR LAKEFIELD IS RUMOURED

SAYS SITE ALREADY PURCHASED —ST. PATRICK'S DAY OBSERVED BY A. Y. P. A. AND SOCIAL CLUB.

SOCIAL MENTION

LAKEFIELD, March 19.—Rumor says that the vacant lot between the electric shop and the chinese laundry has been purchased by the Allen Theatre Corporation for the purpose of building a theatre there.

St. Patrick's Night.

The A. Y.P.A. held a social evening in honor of St. Patrick's night, which was attended by about twenty-five. The evening was spent in games and contests, among the latter being a hat trimming contest for the men, at which Mr. Reg. Murduff won the first prize, and Mr. Fred Moon the consolation prize. Then the ladies each drew a pig on card board and cut it out, when some strange looking creatures appeared. Miss Lucy Stiles won the first prize and Miss Ogilvie the consolation prize in this unique competition. Supper was served in appropriate style and the party did full justice to the delicious viands provided by the committee in charge.

Social Club Party.

The Social Club gave a hard times party on St. Patrick's night, which was a great success. About forty were present and tripped the light fantastic till the wee sma' hours. The evening had some special features, which were amusing as well as entertaining. The club have had several jolly dances and are planning for even more after Easter. Refreshments appropriate for St. Patrick's day were served.

Hotel Improvements.

Mr. H. E. Peacock is improving the appearance of the Commercial House by covering the exterior walls with tin. The tin affords better protection against fire.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Q. Dench and Mrs. Robert Jory are at Fowlers' Corners attending the funeral of Mrs. James Blackwell.

Mr. T. H. Adams of Peterborough, spent Friday in the village on business.

Mr. M. G. Hamilton was in Peterborough on Thursday.

Mrs. A. O. Lampman and daughter are at "The Grove."

EASTERN ONTARIO RACING CIRCUIT NOW ORGANIZED

HOPED THAT PETERBORO' HORSEMEN WILL ENTER—ALSO LINDSAY AND OSHAWA.

KINGSTON, March 19.—(Specail to The Examiner.)— Peterborough was not represented at the meeting held here Thursday night of prominent horsemen of Eastern Ontario, when a racing circuit was formed, but it is stated that Peterborough together with Perth, Lindsay and Oshawa, the latter places not being represented at the meeting, have expressed a desire to be in this circuit. The name chosen is "The Thousand Island Short Ship Circuit."

NOTICE

Owing to the fact that everything we have to buy is practically cash, it is impossible to finance properly unless our patrons make prompt settlement of their accounts. We are willing to give our customers our best services on telephone orders, but must remind trem that several hundred small amounts reach a large total that seriously inconveniences us in our business if unpaid. We must insist on accounts being paid promptly when rendered.

"KING'S OWN" S.S. CLASS, BRIDGENORTH WERE ENTERTAINED

SPENT JOLLY EVENING AT THE PARSONAGE — TEMPERANCE FORCES PREPARE FOR REFERENDUM.

BRIDGENORTH, March 19. — The "King's Own' Sunday school class was entertained at the parsonage on Friday evening, 11th inst., by their teacher, Mrs. A. C. Huffman. The boys entered most heartily in all the games and had an evening of "hilarious fun." All agreed that the best item on the programme was the "big feed" provided by the hostess. Appreciation was expressed by a vote of thanks, moved by "Leon" Forsythe, and seconded by "Bur" McConkey, and three cheers for their teacher. The "King's Own" are a bunch of good sports, every one being a live wire, and in the future in whatever they undertake you can depend upon it, there will always be "something doing."

Temperance Notes.

The meeting for organization held Thursday evening, March 10th, in the Methodist church, appointed committees for the respective polling sub-divisions, who are expected to look after the interests of the temperance vote in their territory on April 18th. The danger point in the coming vote is over-confidence.

Church Notes.

Subject next Sunday on the circuit, "The New Birth or Regeneration."

Social and Personal.

Mr. McCall, who underwent an operation in the hospital at Peterborough recently is improving rapidly.

Mrs. Marcus Fowler has recovered from an attack of appendicitis. Dr. Frazer of Lakefield, was in attendance.

Mrs. Jobe entertained a number of friends on Thursday evening of last week.

"I've just paid 9s 11d for an alarm clock, and I consider it positively disgraceful!" grumbled Brown one evening.

"But why buy an alarm clock?" asked Jones. "I have a dog that is as good as an y alarm clock. He barks every morning at half-past five."

"What a wonderful dog!" remarked Brown, without much enthusiasm.

"Yes," continued Jones; "all I have to do is to get out of bed and hit the dog. Then he barks, and I know it's time to get up."—Tit-Bits.

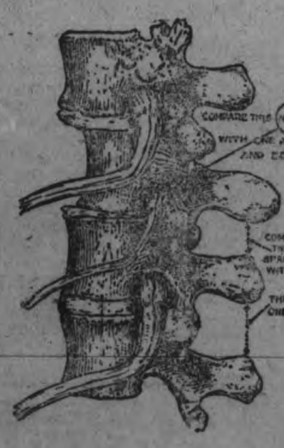
Chiropractic for the Working Man



If there is one thing which is imperative for the working man to possess it is HEALTH. It matters not how good a job you have you are forced to occasionally "lay off" because of sickness. You may not be sick enough to be confined to your house. You may even be able to do your work after a fashion, but you are by no means well. You take little interest in your work. You are sometimes hardly able to drag one foot after another. Already your co-workers are wondering how long you will last. Sooner or later you will be told your day of usefulness has ended, and you will be forced to seek a new job.

You have lost your Health. It is therefore your duty to yourself and family to conserve your health so that you will not be relegated to the "scrap heap."

What will do it? CHIROPRACTIC VERTEBRAL ADJUSTMENTS WILL MAKE YOU HEALTHY AND WILL KEEP YOU HEALTHY.

The chiropractor locates the cause of your trouble and with his bare hands alone, adjusts same. The cause will invariably be found in nerve pressure, which in its turn is caused by subluxated (displaced) vertebrae (small bones of the spine). Directly this nerve pressure is relieved, the vital force will flow uninterruptedly from the brain to the various organs and you will possess that which you seek, HEALTH.

VOL. XLIX. NO 67 PETERBOROUGH, MONDAY, MARCH 21, 1921 PRICE THREE CENTS

TO PROTECT REFERENDUM VOTE LISTS

WHOLESALE PLACING OF NAMES ON THE VOTERS' LISTS WILL NOT BE PERMITTED, STATED.

SHERIFF'S OPINION

OTTAWA, March 21.—(Canadian Press.) — Wholesale placing of names upon the voters' lists which are to be used in the coming referendum on April 18th, is not to be permitted, as clause five of section 46 of the Canada Temperance Act specifies that persons desiring to have the name of another placed on the list must be a relative or employer of the party whose name he seeks leave to have added.

Such is the interpretation made by Sheriff Richardson, Ottawa, returning officer. His announcement means in effect that Leagues, Associations or similar bodies, cannot prepare a list of any of those persons who support their cause and have put on the voters' list by an individual bringing down names and swearing before a revising clerk that the persons named on the list are entitled to vote.

ST. PATRICK' TEA AT THE Y.W.C.A

The St. Patrick's Tea, held at the Y.W.C.A. last Friday evening, under the auspices of the Recreation committee, was a very jolly affair. The decorations were carried out in the attractive green of shamrocks and Irish harps.

The first feature of the programme was a basketball game between the Western Clock and the T.M.T.M. girls, won by the former. Then there were game in the gymnasium with guessing contests. The stores of Peterborough were used for one of these contests, important parts of houses being the "Halls," and the answer to what the street-car conductor says being "Fairs." Refreshments were served in the green room, the table being prettily arranged with shamrocks and daffodils.

CHEMONG BRIDGE PARTLY WRECKED

The floating bridge across Chemong Lake broke early this morning when a huge mass of ice struck it on the Smith Township side. The ice on Chemong Lake is up to its old tricks. Every year finds the bridge smashed and battered when the ice opens, communication with Ennismore across the lake cut off, except for the round-about way via Cowan's Bridge, and a large repair bill annually for the County Council. This year the ice seems bound to maintain its past record, and do its little stunt several weeks earlier than in other years.

THE WEATHER

The rain of Saturday and Sunday was one of the heaviest downpours that we have had for some time. The total was one inch and 90-100, or almost 2 inches. To-day is the beginning of Spring, and the days and night are exactly equal. Perhaps the rain should be classified as an equinoctial storm. While scientific men ridicule the idea that storms are more common at this season than any others, the storms seem to have an uncanny habit of appearing about this date and 21st of September.—W. P.

NATIONAL RAILWAYS HOPELESS WITHOUT IMMIGRATION--BEATTY

MONTREAL, March 21. — (Canadian Press.) — E. W. Beatty, K. C., President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, interviewed by the Canadian Press on the subject of the deficit of $69,593,441, for last year's running of the Canadian National Lines, were in his opinion hopeless, and any legislation which would stem the tide of desirable immigration must inevitably pile up further deficits. It was, he said, aggressive immigration propaganda that built the Canadian Pacific Railway, and he claimed Hon. T. A. Crerar, the leader of the National Progressive Party, struck the right note when he declared before the Canadian Club in Montreal recently that a "wise and vigorous policy of immigration would help solve the problem.

GRAIN LOSS PLACED AT $1,000,000 IN CHICAGO ELEVATOR.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Canadian Press).—Wrecking crews were today clearing away the tons of debris scattered by the explosion on Satday night in the elevator of the Armour Grain Company on the south side, under which the bodies of four victims were believed to be concealed. The grain loss is placed at about a million dollars by a company official, who said that three million dollars worth of grain in the concrete bins could be salvaged. The explosion was believed to be due to spontaneous combustion, which ignited the inflammable mill dust.

CRERAR WON'T TALK ELECTION

IN TORONTO TO ADDRESS CANADIAN CLUB BUT AVOIDS POLITICAL SUBJECTS.

SPEAKS ON FARMERS

TORONTO, March 21.—(Canadian Press)—Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the "Progressives" in the House of Commons this afternoon, addressed the Canadian Club here on the subject of the "Canadian Farmer in business and politics. During the day Mr. Crerar had conferred with Hon. E. C. Drury, Premier of Ontario, and other leaders of the United Farmers of Ontario Mr. Crerar declined to discuss the possibility of early by-elections for the five vacancies in the Dominion House or the probability of a General Election within the next few months.

In addressing the Canadian Club on the above topic Mr. Crerar denied the charge that the farmers believed in a group of narrow sectional political system.

Dealing with the big deficit of sixty million dollars announced recently by the government in regard to the operation of the government railways, Mr. Crerar said that the system owned by the government should be thoroughly gone over and the deadwood cut out. "It should be put squarely up to the management to make good," said the speaker. Above this method the government should carry on vigorously an immigration policy, bringing out suitable people who would soon associate with Canadians. If these policies were carried out, he believed the roads would be established, pay and become a sound asset.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, March 21.—(Canadian Press).— On the Stock Exchange to-day trading began with a resumption of the recent uncertain movement. Mexican Petroleum was the most conspicuous feature, falling two points in the first transactions on selling attributed to the latest industrial advices from across the Rio Grande. Atlantic Gulf opened with a fractional gain, but immediately reacted 1 1-4 points and rails were disposed to ease. Firmness was shown by General Asphalt, American Tobacco, Crucible Steel, American Linseed, Pierce Arrow and International Paper.

Motor and kindred issues were feateure of part of their gains at midday, when the pressure against rails became more persistente. Reading and New York Central lost at most two points, and Baltimore and Ohio and Texas Pacific yielded one point. A 12 point rise in Standard Oil of New Jersey featured oils.

Automobile shares and rubber specialties represented the constructive side of the market during the morning, but rails, steels and equipments weakened, New York Central and Reading being especially reactionary. Gains of 1 to ⅝ points accompanied the buying of Chandler, Studebaker, Maxwell, Pierce Arrow and International Motors, also Kelley-Springfield Tire and Stromberg Carburetor. Pools furnished momentum in American International, General Asphalt, American Woollen, Industrial Alcohol and Central Leather at gains of 1 to 1⅝ points, and oils recovered part of their reversal. Call money opened at 6½ per cent., the lowest initial rate in many weeks, and private loans were again negotiated at 5 to 5½ per cent.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, March 21.—(Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange steady; demand 3.91 5-8. Canadian dollars 12 1-8 per cent. discount.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Buying on the part of houses with seaboard connections gave a decided upward swing to the wheat market to-day. Indications pointed to considerable export business and country offering were light, besides gossip concerning the new Emergency Tariff Bill counted somewhat in favour of bulls. Opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to 1½c higher were followed by sharp gains all around.

Stacking of demand in last part of day led to speculative selling. Its gain was practically wiped out and market closed nervous with March 152 1-4 to 152 1-2 and May 141 3-4 to 142.

Corn rose with wheat, after opening unchanged to 5-8c to 3-8c higher. The market scored a moderate general advance. The damage resulting from the elevator explosion here had a bullish effect on the oats market, which started 1-8c to ½c to 5-8c higher, and then hardened still more. Higher quotations on hogs put strength into provisions.

Competition between shippers and industries was in evidence but market slipped downward when wheat showed weakness. Close was heavy, with May 65 3-4 to 7-8.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, March 21.—(Canadian Press).—Nothing of importance developed during the morning on the Montreal exchange, and Abitibi was strong and closed at 44½, while Atlantic Sugar remained unchanged throughout the morning. Brompton strengthened the three-quarters of a point it lost earlier in the morning, and closed at 36 3-4. Laurentide and National Breweries were both quiet at 88½ and 37 respectively. Riordon and Spanish River remained unchanged throughout the morning and closed at 114 and 77 3-4.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, March 21.—(Canadian Press).—Transactions on the Toronto Stock Exchange for the initial session of the week were considerably heavier than during the closing markets of last week, but as far as prices were concerned the market was featureless. A wide variety of stock was traded in, but in all cases the price fluctuations were limited to fractions, with the strong stocks of last Saturday retaining their gains.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, March 21.—(Canadian Press).—Cattle receipts heavy; trade draggy. Quotations: Heavy beef steers $10 to $11; butcher steers, choice, $9 to $10; butcher cows, medium, $5 to $7.50; calves, $15 to $16.50; lambs, $13 to $14.50; hogs, fed and watered, selects, $15.50.

TO ASK FOR PROTECTION POWER HERE

G. N. GORDN AND OTHER TRENT VALLEY MEMBERS WILL PRESS THIS ON GOVERNMENT.

MANT POLICY DEFINED

Mr. G. N. Gordon, M.P., left for Ottawa today as he expects the estimates of the Department of Railways and Canals to be brought down, and he and the other members representing ridings in the Trent Canal Valley are attempting to have the Government define a policy of maintaining a uniform flow of water so that the surplus may be used for power purposes and prevent the loss of power which took place last October, when several of the plants were shut down in Peterborough for different periods of time. The Hydro Electric Engineers claim that if the levels are kept in uniform and continuous flow of water is allowed to run that this will be sufficient to take care of the power needs this season and will prevent any shut down during this year through lack of power.

$750,000 LOSS IN MINING TOWN FIRE

OUTBREAK AT ONE TIME THREATENED TO DESTROY BRITANNIA BEACH.

VANCOUVER, March 21.—(Canadian Press).—Fire which threatened for a time to wipe out the mining town of Britannia Beach about twenty-five miles from here yesterday the plant and property of the Howe Sound Mining and Smelting Company, valued at three quarters of a million dollars. No lives were lost. Only the heroic efforts of employes saved the little town and its population of eight hundred souls. A short circuit on the motor system is given as the cause of the outbreak.

WARLOW EXPECTED TO RECOVER SOON

MAN WHO KILLED WIFE AND THEN SHOT HIMSELF IN NO IMMEDIATE DANGER.

WINDSOR, March 21. — (Canadian Press.) — John Warlow, confined to the Hotel Dieu, under guard of the Walkerville police, and suffering from a self inflicted revolver wound, which he fired into his own body after fatally shooting his wife, was reported to be resting easily this morning. The doctors attending him state that he is in no immediate danger and will probably recover.

WILL ADDRESS LOCAL ENGINEERS

A regular meeting of the Peterborough Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, will be held on Thursday evening next, in the Board of Trade Rooms at 8.00 p.m.

The speaker will be P. P. Westbye General Manager of the Wm. Hamilton Company, who will give an address on Pulp and Paper making.

Mr. Westbye will describe all the processes involved from the Forest to the newspaper, and will show five reels of motion pictures.

These pictures have been taken by the large pulp and paper companies and are very valuable.

All citizens will be welcome, especially ladies.

STORMS DID NO HARM TO PETERBORO

WREAKED HAVOC ELSEWHERE IN PROVINCE AND DISTRICT TO THE SOUTH WAS FLOODED.

"FAIR AND COLDER"

Fresh north-easterly winds; fair and colder to-night and on Tuesday.

The storms which swept the Province on Saturday and Sunday left this city practically unharmed. Severe electrical storms passed over the city, and the deluge of rain swelled the creeks and filled the streets with miniature streams that seeped into many cellars.

But the severity of the storms in this district was felt to the south, where a cloudburst caused the Generaska River to overflow its banks flood a large area, sweeping away hundreds of feet of railway track, and causing damage estimated at $200,000 in Port Hope.

Another cloudburst flooded the district to the north-east of Toronto. Bruce County was visited by a cyclone which unroofed several buildings, destroyed others, and took a toll of human life of two.

(For particulars of storm damage see front page of noon mail edition/ which forms page 3 of this edition.)

A peculiar feature of the electrical storm on Saturday evening was the fact that there was a display of celestial fireworks and a deluge of rain, while the mercury of a down-town thermometer stood at 30 degrees, two degrees below the freezing point.

Roads in the district surrounding the city were rendered practically impassable in many cases, and a few culverts were washed away.

Due to the washing out of the Grand Trunk Railway tracks near Port Hope, it was necessary to route the Toronto trains by way of Peterborough until the damage was repaired.

STORM AT MILLBROOK.

MILLBROOK, March 21. — The stables of the Queen's Hotel here were almost washed away on Saturday evening as a result of the heavy rainstorm that passed over the district. A bridge near the hotel broke away from its moorings and jammed up against the stables, which overhang the stream at this point. A horse and a couple of cows were washed down stream, but were later recovered.

It was one of the worst storms in the history of the community, and the roads in many places were impassable. Bridges and culverts were washed out, and it will be many days before they are repaired.

C. G. M'NEIL, DOMINION SECRETARY G.W.V.A., PROPOSES IMMEDIATE PENSION INCREASES AND TABLES RESOLUTIONS.

CONTINUE TO-MORROW

OTTAWA, March 21. — (Canadian Press.) — Immediate need of increases in pensions was urged before the Parliamentary Committee on Soldiers Civil Re-Establishment, this morning by C. G. MacNeil, the Secretary of the Dominion Command of the G. W. V. A.. The present pension he said, was not filling the gap between the disability earning capacity and the normal earning capacity of pensioners.

The proposals tabled by Mr. MacNeil asked for increases in widows' pensions, one dollar per one per cent. of disability pension base, pensions for guardians of soldiers, orphans; no deduction of pension because the pensioner does not live in Canada, and equalization of pensions irrespective of rank.

The secretary urged the necessity of the present no pension bonus being made permanent. Further G. W. V. A. resolutions asked for pensions to dependents of those who die subsequent to discharge, and that the period age of disability awarded the pensioner by the medical board if satisfactory to the applicant should not be subject to revision or review at Ottawa. This resolution was not intended to interfere with the applicant's right of appeal if dissatisfied with the award. The committee will continue with the resolutions to-morrow.

IMPROVEMENTS ON OVERHEAD BRIDGE

Residents of East City note with interest the efforts of the city to make the new Hunter Street Bridge passable for foot traffic. This is being accomplished by the transfer of the wooden sidewalk leading to the site of the former temporary bridge. With a few lights added, the residents in that section of the city will take on a new lease of life, and settle down to the task of paying the cost of erecting the bridge.

TO-DAY IS FIRST DAY OF SPRING

The 20th and 21st of March are the days when the "line" storms cross the Equator, and sailors maintain that the winding up of these storms forecasts the weather for the next six months. If the tail of the storm on these days be cold, the next half year until they arrive again will be cold if warm, then the contrary may be anticipated. Scientists laught at this idea, but the old salts swear by their theory.

EVIDENCE WESTWOOD LITIGATION

THIS CASE WILL LAST ANOTHER COUPLE OF DAYS—MANY WITNESSES.

Although the appeal by Matthew and David Breckenbridge against the award of the Asphodel engineer proceeded all day on Saturday before Judge Huycke, the case will probably not be concluded until Tuesday. The appellants, who did not conclude their case until late on Saturday afternoon, called ten witnesses, and Mr. Basil Hall has six persons to testify for the defendants. expert evidence of J. W. Fitzgerald, local engineer, will not be taken till Tuesday, as George C. Wright, expert engineer for the appellants, can not be present on Monday.

Genesis of the Case.

In the village of Westwood, Matthew and David Breckenbridge operate a grist mill on power from a mill pond fed by the River Ouse. It is alleged that adjacent lands were flooded from the mill, particularly those of Thomas Cardwell and William Morris.

On the complaints of the owners, the township asked William Wilkins, of Asphodel, township engineer, to make an award on a drainage system. This he did, but it was opposed by the Breckenbridges, who claimed it would drain their pond. They have appealed the question before Judge Huycke.

Mr. Morris, in lieu of the township, is defending the award. Mr. F. D. Kerr is solicitor for the appellants, and Mr. Basil D. Hall for the defendants.

Reduced Storage.

Previous testimony given by the appellants before Saturday was that Mr. Wilkins' award, in the opinion of qualified engineers, would not be satisfactory, and would drain the pond, thus lessening the head of water and the storage of water in the pond.

Mr. Basil D. Hall cross-examined Matthew Breckenbridge when the Court sat at ten o'clock on Saturday morning.

Mr. Breckenbridge told how last fall Mr. Wilkins asked him if he would stand by the award. He said he would not. He would oppose it. Mr. Wilkins was taking levels last September, he said. Witness said he showed J. J. Breckenbridge and the engineer the height they could maintain the water, according to Justice Hodgins' finding in a previous case.

Mr. Breckenbridge said he had no objection to Mr. Morris running a drain through their property as long as it didn't drain the mill pond. "I don't like to see Billy Morris drowned. It grieves me to be here," he said.

Mr. Breckenbridge, before his evidence was concluded, said he wanted to explain the township's action. He asked Mr. Davidson, one of the councillors, after he sent the letter threatening action to the Council, if they were building a ditch. He received no satisfaction. The present ditch was then dug. Before the ditch was constructed he saw Mr. Wilkins staking the ditch, and a few days later work on it was started.

DAVID HASTINGS,

Suspended Magistrate of Dunnville who, with Frank Lalor, M.P., has instituted action for libel against the Attorney-General of the province, following the probe into the administration of justice at Dunnville, which resulted in failure on the part of the Crown to prove the charges against the Magistrate and prominent citizens of Dunnville.

LIBEL ACTION RESULTS FROM CAYUGA PROBE

MAGISTRATE HASTINGS AND FRANK LALOR TO SUE HON. W. E. RANEY FOR $50,000 DAMAGES.

ROBB IS SOLICITOR

DUNNVILLE, March 21.—(Canadian Press) It was announced Saturday that Walter Robb, Solicitor, has been instructed to bring action for libel against Hon. W. E. Raney on behalf of Frank Lalor, M. P., for Haldiman and David Hastings, suspended magistrate. Damages of fifty thousnd dollars are asked.

LETTER CARRIERS HAVE NEW BURDEN

CARRYING HERALDS OF "DRY" —QUEBEC TO PETERBORO HOMES.

Montreal liquor dealers are making hay while the sun shines.

Peterborough homes, during the last three weeks have been deluged with price lists of everything from prime cognac to the ordinary red-eye. Like a certain brand of breakfast food, "There's a reason." On May 1, the Quebec provincial government will take over the liquor business in that province, but has refused to buy the stocks now on hand. The liquor dealers are behind a huge advertising campaign to sell their stocks and the circular letter has hit Peterborough as well as other centres more noted for their booze capacity.

Until May 1, Peterborough letter carriers will continue to be burdened with these heralds of a "dry" Quebec.

SOMME IS RESTORED BY FRENCH

GRAIN EXPORTED FROM WAR DEVASTED AREAS IN FRANCE.

LONDON, March 21. — The Paris correspondent of the London Daily Telegraph has been touring the devastated districts of France, and is mainly impressed by the enormous amount of work still to be done, and the courage of the men and women who have returned and are doing it.

Closer investigation, he says, fully confirms appearances as to the tenacity and industry of the French peasant, who has come back to make his life again in spite of all difficulties. Unless a visitor knows by actual experience or by photographs what the countryside looked like at the time of the armistice, or even a year ago, it is nowadays often impossible to distinguish between what has been restored and what was never destroyed, and inevitably the eye is most keenly impressed by the hundreds of still ruined villages and the great stretches of still waste land. It is natural to conclude that, pending the payment of German reparations, little effort is being made.

This first impression is wrong. What remains to be restored is immense, but the reconstruction effected during the two years that have passed since the armistice is considerable, and the work which it has entailed is another testimony to the initiative, industry and perseverance of the Frenchmen of the north of France.

The Contrasts at Albert.

Anyone who wishes to see for himself what the clearing of towns has implied can still easily do so at Albert. There, at one end, he today has before his eyes piles of rubble, deep holes in the ground, and remains of wire entanglements almost as the end of the war left them. It requires only a glance to make him understand the effort entailed in evolving out of this confusion the neatly alligned streets cleared of debris, ready for houses to be built, along them, which he will find at the other end of the town.

It was originally thought that the devastation of the Somme was such as to make practically the whole zone useless for ordinary cultivation again. Consequently the people were not encouraged to return. Last year however it was found that except in the so-called "Red zone," where the cost of reconstituting the land will exceed the value of the land itself, the naturally rich soil was so deep that in spite of its churning up, it could be profitably sown straightway.

This explains how the Department of the Somme, in its second harvest since the war could produce 300,000 hundredweight of grain over and above the needs of its own inhabitants. The oringinal idea that it was "no use letting the people back to this department explains why today only about half the population have returned.

The Unlucky Aisne.

Much of the Somme's surplus corn went to the Aisne, which agriculturally is in a much worse plight than its neighbor. Unlike the latter, the tertile surface of the Aisne was very shallow, and in large stretches of country the shelling and trench-making have brought the barren subsoil to the surface.

Here and there something can be done by very deep plowing with tractors, but generally speaking, in the places where the surface soil has disappeared it will take years and years of manuring before a satisfactory crop can be grown. Yet there are number of cases of peasants in this department who are so determined to get their land back under cultivation that there is the greatest difficulty in convincing them that to sow now is merely a waste of money and labor.

The initiative of the peasant is relied on. Companies failed to fill in the craters and the trenches properly, the workmen taking no interest. Nowadays a peasant asks permission to fill in his land. If inspection proves the task practicable he is let go ahead. Then this work is inspected and usually found to be well done. He is paid for it, and goes back to farming on his land.

CYCLONE STRIKES WESTERN ONTAKIO

LONDON, Ont., March 21.—(Canadian Press.) — Hugh J. McArthur, farmer, residing near Clamis, was killed, and Geo. Farrish, a neighbor, is in the hospital in a critical condition as a result of being crushed in a barn which was demolished during a cyclone near Kincardine Saturday afternoon. The men had been attending a cattle sale and took refuge in the barn when the storm came up. The barn was completely demolished. A number of other barns in the vicinity were unroofed and damage that will total fifty thousand was caused to farm buildings.

BLAST WRECKS BIG ELEVATOR

$10,000,000 DAMAGE

CHICAGO, March 21.—(Canadian Press.)— Explosion of grain dust rocked the entire southern section of Chicago early Saturday night, wrecked one of the world's largest grain elevators, and broke every window with a radius of a mile.

Of the nine watchmen who were trapped in the structure by the blast two are known to be dead and four are missing. The bodies of two known dead were recovered yesterday. The elevator, which consisted of a series of steel and concrete towers, was built at a cost of more than ten million dollars and was operated by the Armour Grain Company.

The explosion was due, it was said by officials who made an inquiry, to a fire that started in the loading chute. The blaze set fire to the dust-filled bin and the resulting blast rent asunder the big tower, releasing thousands of bushels of grain.

BRANDON IS PROVEN THE BETTER TEAM

OUTCLASSES 'VARSITY ALL THE WAY AND DESERVED LARGER MARGIN THAN TWO.

WINNIPEG, March 21.—(Canadian Press.)— "Brandon 2, University of Toronto 0," flashed throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion on Saturday night, caused genuine surprise. Brandon team rose to the occasion in convincing fashion, outclassed the opposition for the greater part of the way, had a marked edge both in attack and defence, disrupted the combination which was claimed as the University of Toronto's best asset, packed harder shots, finished with a stronger punch and back-checked the Torontonians into virtual helplessness, the two-goal deficit being somewhat flattering to the Students and somewhat less than the wheat city citizens deserved on the run of play.

SLAYS WIFE, SHOOTS SELF

FINDING EFFORTS AT RECONCILIATION FUTILE WINDSOR MAN KILLS HIS WIFE.

WINDSOR, March 21.—(Canadian Press).—Finding his efforts to effect a reconciliation with his wife from whom he had been separated for some time futile and faced with the knowledge that she intended soon to remove from the city, John Warlow, 25 shot and fatally wounded his wife, age 30, Saturday night. Mrs. Warlow died at the Hotel Dieu an hour and a half later.

When his wife fell Warlow turned a revolver upon himself, f inflicting a wound in the chest. He is at the Hotel Dieu closely guarded by two police officers. Physicians believe he will recover. The shooting took place just outside the bakery establishment of Ernest Clegg at Walkerville. The Warlows came from England seven years ago.

SAVES EXPRESS FROM DISASTER

NORTH BAY-TORONTO TRAIN STOPPED BY MAN JUST BEFORE REACHING WASH-OUT.

SOCKS DANGER SIGNAL

HOLLAND LANDING, Ont., March 21. — (Canadian Press.)— Just before dusk Saturday, Sam Lowe of this village, discovered a wash-out 18 feet long ad 10 feet deep on the G.T.R. tracks north of here. Almost at the same time he heard the rumble of the North Bay express bound for Toronto. There was no time to go for help. Sam acted quickly. He was wearing red socks. Without hesitation he ripped off his boots, tore off his socks, and in his bare feet hurried along the track towards the on-coming train, brandishing the danger signals. The engineer whistled for him to get out of the way. He kept on. Within a few feet of the man the engine came to a standstill. It is almost certain Mr. Lowe's action saved a bad wreck. As a mark of appreciation passengers took up a collection and presented him with $28.

TROUBLE IN STORE.

A clerk showed 40 patterns of ginghams to a man whose wife had sent him to buy some for her, and at every pattern the man said: "My wife said that she did not want anything like that."

The clerk put the last piece back on the shelf. "Sir,' he said, "you don't want gingham. What you want is a divorce."—New York Sun.

MANUFACTURING PLANTS AND MERCANTILE ESTABLISHMENTS FLOODED AND GRAND TRUNK TRACKS WASHED AWAY—LOSS OF LIFE, AT FIRST FEARED, AVERTED.

INSURANCE DOES NOT COVER FLOODING

PORT HOPE, March 21. — (Canadian Press.) — Damage which may run as high as two hundred thousand, according to estimates in some quarters, resulted early yesterday in this town and vicinity, when a cloudburst caused the Generaska River to flood a wide territory.

Hundreds of feet of the Grand Trunk Midland tracks north of the town were washed away and practically every store on the noth side of Walton streeet was flooded.

Several manufacturing plants suffered heavy losses, notably the Nicholson File Company, the Cosmos Chemical Company, and Spirs and Tyes' mill. Walker's furniture store sustained the greatest loss among the merchants' establishments. The residents of the town were startled about 2 a.m. by th ringing of fire bell, the authorities fearing at this time that the flood was a menace to life as well as property. The water however did not rise sufficiently high to cause any drownings.

The Midland line had a big construction gang hard at work repairing the damage to the tracks. It was necessary to route the Toronto train to Port Hope around by way of Peterboro.

At the Nicholson factory 175,000 dozen files packed up and ready for shipment received a bad wetting and will have to be unpacked and refinished. The company's motors were badly damaged by the water and it is estimated that five or six weeks will be required to get the plant into normal conditions. A great deal of lumber was carried out into the lake. It is stated that the insurance policies carried do not provide any indemnity against damage from flooding.

ASSOCIATION HELD SOCIAL EVENING.

Mr. A. Mowat Occupied the Chair—The Program.

The Queen Alexandra Home and School Association entertained the executives of the other Associations in the city last Friday evening.

The meeting was representative and is the first opportunity the Associations have had of meeting together in a social way.

Mr. A. Mowat made an efficient chairman, and presented the following excellent programme:

Vocal solo ..... Mr. S. Whitehouse
Piano Solo ..... Mrs. Massey-Cooke
Reading ..... Mr. J. Johns
Vocal solo ..... Mrs. Rathbone
Violin solo ..... Mrs. P. Hooper
Vocal solo ..... Mrs. F. Turner

Musical Contest.

A clever musical contest was engaged in by all, after which Mrs. S. T. Medd spoke briefly on the formation of a Home and School Council. A temporary executive to act for the Council was appointed.

Dainty refreshments under the capable direction of Mrs. Manning and Mrs. Vance were served. Mrs. F. Whitehouse cut the ices.

The Association wishes to thank all those who so ably assisted with the programme.

PROBABILITIES.

Fresh to strong west to northwest winds, local showers, but mostly fair and turning colder.

WASTING TIME.

The other day the Toronto Globe charged the members of the Ontario Legislature—or some of them at least—with wasting time on fruitless debate and with blockading and holding up public business because of the inclination of talkative members to discuss the Ontario Temperance Act. On Friday the Ontario solons undertook to disprove the charge, and the method they took of doing so was to spend an hour in talking about it; in other words they wasted fifty minutes in endeavouring to show that they never wasted time. The Legislators, however, satisfactory as the discussion may have been to themselves, scarcely succeeded in proving to the people that much of the debate that takes place in our governing bodies is unnecessary and unprofitable, and it consumes so much of the early part of the session that the last few weeks are so crammed with business that it is almost impossible to give proper consideration to the legislation, and much of it slips through without the attention it should receive.

THE RAILWAY PROBLEM.

Hon. J. D. Reid's plea that the railway problem be approached from a national rather than a political standpoint, is one that the country generally will echo. The situation is too serious to be handled in a partizan manner and every member of the House of Commons should consider it a duty to do what he can to extricate the country from the burden of debt with which the government railways are heaping upon the shoulders of the people. The ideas and brains of all the groups in the House will be required to deal with the problem, and the debate which will take place on this great question should be constructive as well as critical. A national enterprise that in a year causes a debt of nearly $70,000,000 should not be made a political football, nor considered only in the light of possible political advantage. The Government must play the game fairly and put all the cards on the table and then for the benefit of Canada the members of the House should endeavour to find a way out of the tangle. Otherwise the advancement of the Dominion will be seriously retarded. The figures given by the Minister of Railways are enough to cause the burying of the political hatchet for they show Canada is confronted by a national crisis.

THE PETERBOROUGH DISTRICT.

In the efforts that are constantly being made for the advancement and betterment of the City of Peterborough, for the securing of new industries and the general progress of this community there is sometimes reason to wonder if opportunities to build up the district, of which Peterborough is the hub, are not being lost. Secondary only to the growth of the city itself in importance is the growth of the surrounding countryside. Anything that helps Lakefield or Millbrook, or Havelock or Campbellford, naturally helps Peterborough, for this city is the centre of the district, the logical shopping place, and the prosperity of our neighbors means, naturally, prosperity for ourselves. The question is, are we doing all we can to build up this section of Ontario? When an industry is in view which cannot be secured for Peterborough, do we ever make a neighborly effort to do what we can to see that one of the district centres secures the prize? Or do we lose interest in the affair as soon as Peterborough is considered out of the running? There are many people who think that to concentrate all our efforts on the advancement of our own city and to neglect opportunities of helping the section around us is not only a selfish, but a mistaken policy, and one that in the long run cannot possibly have as beneficial results as a more helpful and generous attitude would produce. Our status as a centre of a flourishing district is not always taken into consideration, nor is there that entente with the neighboring towns and villages and with the people of the countryside that would be in the best interests of this whole section. As a district there is much to offer manufacturers and tourists, but with each centre acting on its own initiative, and with no team work or co-operation, there is not the successful showing that could be made with a well developed plan of joint action. There are those who believe that a district Association to bring forward the unique advantages of this section of the province would be a movement that would yield surprising returns. In such an effort the City of Peterborough should be the logical leader, and the Board of Trade might find the subject one worthy of their consideration and attention. There are so many matters of public interest that might be dealt with by such an Association—better train connections, improved highways, the enforcement of the game laws, are a few of the things that naturally suggest themselves. An Association that spoke for a whole district would carry weight in its arguments and would command respect from governments or anybody else with whom it had to deal.

A CHANCE FOR THE DUNNVILLE COMMISSION.

In the matter of gossip every community in the world from London down is a big or little village, Dunnville has been given an undesired notoriety through the activities of a set of chattering busybodies. They whispered their imaginings in the Attorney-General's ear, And he bought a big phonograph, called it a Royal Commission, put in a loud needle, and started a jazz record that no town could wish to be known by its name.

The same indignity could have been done to Whitby, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope and Cobourg. It could have been done to every place in Ontario big enough to have a magistrate. The reason that Dunnville was singled out is probably that the Dunnville chatterers were the first to break through the jam of rival chatterers in the doorway of the office of the Attorney-General of Ontario.

Commissioner Paterson has a big chance. He can prove to the people of Ontario that even though Hon. W. E. Raney is its Attorney-General a magistrate will get fair play if he discharges his duties according to the dictates of his own conscience and the direction of his own common sense. Commissioner Paterson can use his Dunnville enquiry as a text for a much-needed sermon to the tattlers and tommyrotters of a hundred other Dunnvilles.

The reinstatement of Magistrate Hastings should be a foregone conclusion in view of what little real evidence was adduced at his trial. But Commissioner Paterson should proceed further in dealing with a condition which is by no manner of means localized in Dunnville. There and elsewhere flourishes so much meanness and narrowness and pettiness, so much gossip and tattle and backbiting which does not come within the criminal code that Commissioners Paterson should seize his golden opportunity to administer an official rebuke. If Mr. Paterson has the courage he has also the chance to suggest to the scandal-mongers of Ontario town that they need not again look to the Provincial Treasury to finance their vendettas. He could repay the Attorney-General for his Royal Commission by indicating that when Hon. W. E. Raney came in at the door fair play did not fly out through the window.—Toronto Telegram.

A STRIKE AGAINST PUBLIC WELFARE.

(Editorial from the Boston News Bureau.)

Do the 27 building trades unions of Boston render the public adequate returns for the money they demand from the public? They do not. Have the unions promised an advance in efficiency and production in ratio with the increase in wages for which they ask? They have not. The need for family homes and apartment houses in this city is so great, the values represented by business structures projected or actually begun are so high, the number of men out of work is so large, that these unions to-day actually are striking against the public welfare.

With deflation in general well under way, cost of living coming down, prices for building materials receding, men getting $1.00 an hour demanded $1.50 an hour, and $3.00 instead of $2.00 an hour for overtime. And the unions to-day are so organised, the employers are so shorn of real authority, the owners whose money fills the pay envelopes are so completely limited to the role of innocent onlooker, that union leaders calculate they can compel payment of wages 50 per cent. above the war level, and render only slacker service!

This union autocracy is based on union rules. These rules are so framed as to reduce output, lessen the labour supply, increase the amount of overtime, level down active and ambitious workmen to the dead level of the slowest and most careless, make union membership a high-priced privilege, keep the decision of points of difference between employer and employee in the hands of men whose primary obligation always is to the unions to which they belong.

Some of these rules pertain to matters comparatively small, but they add up fast, and the obvious intent always is to reduce output. For instance:

Here are workmen laying terra cotta blocks. Labourers deliver the blocks to the masons, who put them in place. The openings for the blocks are ready. But may the plain labourer distribute the blocks on the floor beside the openings? He may not. He must stack the blocks a certain distance away from the openings and let the mason come for them one at a time.

These workmen are placing steel reinforcing rods in position. The labourers deliver the rods on the floor. But may these labourers deposit the rods one at a time on the marks that indicate where they are to go. They may not. They must pile the rods together 10 or 15 feet away. That means an extra handling, and extra time, and it adds a little to the cost of the building.

This big job has reached a point where 100 carpenters are required instead of 150. That is, 50 men are laid off. If they were "fired," the rule would not apply. But under the rules these men temporarily released must have each one hour's notice. Nominally that hour is to be devoted to sharpening their tools. Actually the tools are not sharpened, nor do the tools of a good workman need sharpening he keeps them in order. The men simply spend the hour in idleness. But that means 50 hours, and $50.00 for which no return whatever is made.

Down at the waterfront it is low tide. This engineer has nothing to do because his derrick is workable only at high water. His fellow-workman—of another craft—is having trouble with an "orange peel bucket." He needs about 15 minutes of skilled assistance. May that engineer—who does nothing because the tide is wrong—turn to and help put in order a bucket that will go right on working whatever the tide? He may not. The rules prohibit such shifts. The "orange peel man" has to send for assistance, and the few minutes of actual aid multiply themselves into several hours of pay-envelope time.

You run a plumbing shop; that is, you are a master plumber. If it is a union shop you must conform to Article 16 of the Agreement between the Master Plumbers' Association and Local Union No. 12 of the United Association of Plumbers, which says that all your work must be done by members of that local. May you as a master plumber go outside your shop to do any work? No. May you do any of the work of your craft inside your own shop? Yes, but you are limited to half the amount of work the shop does.

Why, when this strike began, were the lathers considering a new rule that would reduce the number of lath nailed home in a day from a rather low average of 16 bundles to a limited maximum of 12 bundles?

The answer to this and a thousand questions of the same kind is contained in a special report of the United States Commissioner of Labour which reads: "It has been found that there is in the building trades a very general feeling that by working slower the work will be made to last longer."

Are these things for or against the general welfare? There is even a by-law in a Carpenters' Union which reads thus: "Any member who does an unreasonable amount of work, or who acts as a leader for his employer, for the purpose of getting all the work possible out of the men working in the same shop or job with him, shall be fined $10.00; for the second offence he shall be suspended or expelled."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"Grand Trunk to be taken over in April," says a news heading. By the bailiff, it is presumed.

Hon. Peter Smith might be able to make Germany pay.

That drink-more-milk campaign would have more supporters if there were any signs of a drop in price.

Mr. Dewart's admiration for the Globe is closely akin to Sir Adam Beck's affection for the Farmers' Sun.

Spring officially opened to-day, but the robin did not wait for the calendar to tell them when to come north.

At least there is not much talking in the Legislature over that $600 bonus for the members. That is one item upon which they can be entrusted to keep silent.

The Toronto Telegram thinks the Labour Unions were very careless in not getting the other twenty-five cents out of every dollar taken in by the Government Railways. They already get seventy-five cents out of every dollar.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Sunny California may have its charms, but the idea of living in a climate where the windows are always open does not appeal to tre man who has lived next door to a family with a new phonograph.

Out of the controversy over whether girls should smoke cigarettes, arises the fact that the girl who inhales develops a hand which cannot hold a cup gracefully.

The sensible girl says that one can't live on love, but a lot of them seem to live on compliments.

No matter how much money a man loses on the horses or in a poker game, he always tells his wife how much he won.

Funny how the tired business man can sit through the entertainments devised for his diversion.

Another way to make an impression is to talk about somebody else in the first person.

Ask Us.

1. Q.—Is smuggling small articles across the international boundary consistent with ethics?—Interested.

A.—Considering the number of women who make shopping trips to the United States we do not wish to answer this frankly.

2. Q.—What has the government done for the returned soldier?—A. C.B.

A.—As yet no one has been able to shift the truth from the clashing statements on this point of the government and the opposition.

3. Q.—A says that the hirsute adornments (?) on some youths' upper lips are moustaches. Is he right?—Harry.

A.—Decidedly not.

4. Q.—What is the origin of the phrase "baby-eyed stare?"—Ethel.

A.—The eyes are considered, next to the mouth, to be the most expressive part of one's physiognomy. This phrase is descriptive of the mentality expressed by some eyes.

5. Q.—Is it correct to allude to "outgrowing" a grouch?—Doubtful.

A.—No, a grouch is ingrowing.

TRENT RIVER

TRENT RIVER, March 21—A number of residents went to Havelock, Thursday evening last to take in the play "Dust of the Earth".

The waters are nearly all free of ice and navigation will soon open. Many canoes have been seen on the river for the past two weeks, the earliest for years for this time of season.

Mr. J. McConnell, Hastings Road held a sale of farm stock and implements, Friday afternoon last. Mr. McConnell has sold his farm to Mr Harry Thompson, who takes possession next week.

Mr. Baker, egg buyer from Hastings, made his first trip Friday last through this district paying 32 cent per dozen.

The Canada Fishing Tackle Factory is working full force six days of the week.

Mrs. McLaughlin and family of Toronto has returned and is occupying her house on Browning avenue.

Nine hundred and ninety-seven cutting tools alone are required in manufacturing a modern rifle. The twist drill is one of the busiest of these. To supply 1,000,000 rifles 94,000 holes must be drilled.

"A Friendly Word—"

The earnest wish of every daily newspaper publisher is to make his advertising columns profitable to the local merchants who use them.

For this reason, and with due recognition of the merchant's experience, it is proposed occasionally to give suggestions in these advertisements that may help merchants to prepare more effective copy and so secure greater returns, and, correspondingly, be encouraged to extend their appropriations.

The first thing to do with a proposed newspaper advertisement is THINK ABOUT IT. Never mind the form or the wording—THINK WHAT IT IS YOU WISH THE PUBLIC TO UNDERSTAND.

If you begin by considering form and wording you may lose sight of your real purpose. You may be "unable to see the forest for the trees."

First, be absolutely clear yourself what message, fact or impression you want the public to gather from your copy.

Having got thus far, write your idea out. Question it. Criticise it. Simplify it. Lick it into shape. Do anything you like with it, but, above all, have it a natural-looking job when it gets into the paper.

Always, if you can, tell your story in the headline, because, unless you arrest attention, everything else is unimportant. It may never be read.

Don't advertise to yourself.

That is really one of the greatest dangers of advertising. So many men, who are paying the bills, are apt to write matter that is pleasing to themselves—forgetting that the public look at it through different colored spectacles.

One of the most enjoyable things you can do is to spend an hour or so, a few evenings a week, thinking out a well-balanced newspaper advertising campaign for your store and your merchandise, and, having thought it out, carry it through regardless of other people's opinions or whims.

You have three of the best trading months ahead. Do, then, as we suggest and watch results.

LOVE!

By KATHERINE MOORE

Leonard Introduces Mrs. Darwood.
Chapter 7.

"Would you like to meet me some evening in town? We could take in a show," Leonard asked one morning at breakfast.

Ever since the night he had remained out until after 2 o'clock without explanations I had noticed a marked effort toward kindliness in his manner to me. Perhaps his attitude was not quite spontaneous. I felt that his actions were prompted by an element of self-reproach.

"I would like very much to go," I returned warmly. Leonard must not detect any forced effort on my part.

A week ago, when I had made my resolve before the dying embers of the open grate, I had promised myself to act squarely with my husband. I would not withhold my devotion to him one iota, until I knew the true cause of this thing that was rending our love.

"Tonight? I think I could get away tonight—that's if you can arrange with so short notice, Noreen?" Leonard said apologetically, evidently torn between the desire to do right and the consciousness of having perhaps been thoughtless.

"Surely I can manage," I said lightly.

We were both playing up to each other these days, and I wondered if my endeavors were as apparent to him as his were to me.

"What would you like to see? I'll send the office boy out for tickets."

"Something light and amusing," I suggested.

"A musical comedy?" Leonard queried, and I knew he sensed significance in the fact that I should choose somethin frivolous when we to be so much a part of our lives both preferred the more serious dramas.

"All right," he responded gayly to my acquiescence for a musical comedy. "I'll see Russell this morning on the train and ask him what's good," he went on, trying not to act as though he thought my selection at all unusual.

What a ridiculous thing it was, after all, for us with souls so intrinsically united to think for one minut that we were deceiving each other. I longed to look straight into my husband's eyes and say to him, "What ever happens—what ever is wrong, let us be honest with each other." I realized that we were making the great mistake of so very many—we were suppressing that natural instinct which honestly asks, "Why?"

I met Leonard at 6 o'clock and we went to dinner together.

"Have fine seats for The Purple Domino," he told me. "They say the music is very catchy and there is some mighty good dancing in it. The Russells saw it last week."

Was it the bright lights and gay people in the restaurant, I asked myself, that made our dinner together so pleasant—made me feel nearer to Leonard? It was evident that he was enjoying himself too.

"We must do this soon again, dear," he said with apparent warmth.

Whatever the difficulty between us, I felt it was as repellant to Leonard as it was to me. I could not bring myself to believe that it was anything of his own volition. We both gladly welcomed the relief from the unbearable tension which had come these past weeks.

At the theatre the same friendly feeling passed between us. The show was all that the Russells had claimed for it.

"This is splendid!" Leonard exclaimed after the second act. "I'll go out for a smoke if you don't mind, Noreen.

When Leonard came back I knew instinctively that something had happened. Through the third and fourth acts he aseemed frightfully uneasy. The happiness which had been so rare a treat for us tonight had suddenly vanished again.

When the curtain went down on the last act Leonard fumbled clumsily with my coat and furs until we were among the last to leave the theatre. As we reached the lobby I knew that the delay had been for a purpose.

Standing just inside the outer doors and leaning heavily on the arm of a swagger looking companion, stood a woman to whom I immediately felt antagonistic. A feeling of antipathy suddenly passed between us.

She was in evening dress with a jade wrap thrown over her bare shoulders. I saw that her mouth was small and petulent.

"You were beastly slow, Alley. I'm dying to meet your wife."

A thin white hand with fingers quite too long, and many rings, was extended to me.

"Noreen, let me introduce you to Mrs. Darwood," I heard Leonard saying.

RUSSIAN NOBLES DO MENIAL WORK.

Bad Plight of Refugees in Constantinople.

Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 15.—Russians of noble blood and high rank are fighting the wolf from the doorstep in the uniforms of porters and messengers in Constantinople, center of crumbled Empire's refugees. Some are small shopkeepers and many who knew court life in Petrograd are waiters and waitresses.

Wrangel's remnant of an army is disintregating and many commanders are drifting into the city where they pocket their pride and tackle the hardest problem of their life—the mere getting of enough to eat.

Generals and admirals have sold their decorations at a little daily auction in the courtyard of the Mosque Aghadjami in Stamboul where women of court circles dispose of furs, jewels and their last bits of finery.

Admiral Dickert, decorated with the Grand Cross of the Legion of Honor, was glad to get a place as hall porter in the French hospital. Prince Goubitsen, once rich and powerful in the government of Orel, is selling sausages in a store in the Pera quarter.

General Miolashevsky, formerly commander of the Czarina's Lancers, is a parcel carrier. A son of former Premier Sturmer is a bootblack.

Four Russian generals are making their living by catching and selling fish. Dozens of aviators and officers are waiters.

One Russian officer is chauffeur for the American military attache here. Others are dock laborers and stablemen.

Many titled Russian women are selling flowers and newspapers. Princess Galitsin, Princess Shahofskoi and dozens of others are waitresses. Countess Vera Tolstoy is teaching English.

Their former greatness does not seem to count when there are thousands in the same plight and they are starting life over again, earning their own living.

NIGHT IF FILLED WITH MUSIC NOW.

Rapid Development of the Radio-Phone.

Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 17.—Rapid development of the radio-telephone has made possible for thousands of persons in New York and other parts of the country fulfillment of Longfellow's prophecy that "The night shall be filled with music."

Enterprising amateur wireless operators, as well as many commercial stations, now put out through the air each night concerts created by attaching to sending sets phonographs and player pianos. Others, more enterprising, sing or play the violin and other instruments for the benefit of all who will "listen in".

Approximately one-half the amateurs in the New York district are licensed, permitting them to send. The others are content with receiving sets. Development of the radio equipment has been such that a practical receiving apparatus can be purchased for a very few dollars, the prices ranging upward in accordance with the equipment. Great stretches of aerials are no longer necessary.

A few feet of wire, looped over the end of a broom and hung out over the fire escape, and a ground wire attached to a radiator or water pipe answer. Some do not even call on the family broom, but attach a wire to the spring of a bed or a couch and excellent results follow.

On a recent evening one amateur residing in New York City heard seven concerts at one time coming from distances varying from two to 160 miles. By means of "tuners" these concerts were easily separated so that one stood out clear and distinct from the others as desired.

The Press Club of Jackson Heights, a suburban residence district of New York, recently featured a radiophone demonstration at a meeting of the members. By the aid of a "loud speaker" the members were enabled to dance from 9 p.m. until midnight to music which came in from varying distances. In a medley dance, the members of the club started with a waltz played at Woodside, Long Island, five miles away, swung into a fox-trot played at Brighton Beach, 15 miles distant; to a one-step which came from Patterson, N.J., 35 miles away, then back to a fox-trot eminating from a phonograph about 60 miles up state. At 10 o'clock all watches were set by the time signals which were sent out from the U.S. Navy Station at Arlington, Va.

So numerous have the amateurs become, and so united their interests by being able to talk with each other at will that they have formed an association. On March 16 to 19 they will hold a convention at a New York hotel. They propose to exhibit not only their latest possessions in modern sets, but will bring with them the home-made apparatus of their pioneer days. During the convention lectures will be given, and nightly concerts from distant ststions will feature.

TABLE TALK.

You will find that a great deal of character is imparted and received at the table. Parents too often forget this; and therefore instead of swallowing your food in sullen silence; instead of brooding over your business; instead of severely talking about others, let the conversation at the table be genial, kind, social and cheering. Don't bring disagreeable things to the table in your conversation any more than you would in your dishes. For this reason, too, the more good company you have at your table, the better for your children. Every conversation with company at the table is an education to the family. Hence the intelligence and refinement and appropriate behavior of a family which is given to hospitality. Never feel that intelligent visitors can be anything but a blessing to you and yours. How few have gotten hold of the fact that company and conversation at the table are no small part of an education.

DON'T SUFFER... WITH NEURALGIA

Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister.

Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

The Young Mother

Youth, with its vitality, makes for the young mother's health and happiness. But later, maternal experiences bring a different result. The care of a family, multiplied household duties, and very often the weakness caused by womanly disease, tend to prolong the suffering and to make convalescence a slow and weary process. Many women—perhaps your own neighbors—have had beneficial experience with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which prepares the prospective mother. Send 10 cents to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package of tablets.

HAMILTON, ONT.—"I was advised by a practical nurse to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic during expectancy, and I have had every reason to be grateful for her advice, because it kept me in perfect health and I had practically no suffering. The 'Prescription' not only benefits the mother, but I am positive the child is benefited, too. I would not hesitate to recommend this 'Prescription' to every expectant mother."—MRS. C. OFFICERS ELECTED AT THE ANNUAL MEETING OF CAMPBELLFORD I.O.D.E.

AMOUNT RAISED DURING THE YEAR—40TH REGIMENT HELD A PARADE ON SATURDAY—CAMPBELLFORD NEWS.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 21.—The annual meeting of the Campbellford Chapter of the I.O.D.E. was held here. Last year the membership was fifty-seven, and the total amount raised for all purposes was $868.41. Some of the money was expended in the following manner: Sixty dollars for scholarships for the schools, $100 to the Lawn Tennis and Bowling Association, $25 to the Children's Shelter at Port Hope and $25 to the Public Library. The Chapter gave the High school two large pitcures, one in memory of Capt. Wm. Doxsee, who served Campbellford for eight years in a public capacity, the other in memory of High school boys who fell in the Great War. On Empire Day the Chapter held a Decoration Day and placed a flag on the grave of each local veteran. In January the Chapter established, on trial for three months, a children's hour at the Public Library on Saturday morning of each week. This was later taken in charge by Miss Campbell and has proved a marked success. The Chapter paid its full complement of $500 last year to the War Memorial Fund.

The officers for 1921 are:

Hon. Regents—Mrs. David Robertson, Mrs. E. J. Free, Mrs. Richard Weston.

Regent—Mrs. Jas. P. Archer.

Vice-Regents—Mrs. Geo. Dickson, Mrs. Wm. Hume.

Secretary—Mrs. Andrew Haig.

Treasurer—Mrs. Jas. Stewart.

Educational and Echoes Secretary—Miss Mildred Robertson.

Standard Bearer — Mrs. Stanley Neale.

Regiment Paraded.

The local company of the 40th Regiment held a parade Saturday afternoon in spite of the rain. The band turned out in uniform and led the parade, which was under Lieut. Walter Davidson. It looked like days gone by to see the local boys in uniform on the streets again.

Easter Holidays.

The pupils and teachers are looking forward to the holidays, which begin on Thursday. Many of the teachers have planned to attend the O.E.A. convention in Toronto next week and will return to their work much inspired from coming in touch with others of their profession, and many of the leading educationaliss of the province.

Lodge Meeting.

The I.O.O.F. Lodge, No. 248, will meet on Tuesday, at which several new members will be initiated into the mysteries of the second degree. Speeches and refreshments will follow and a very pleasant evening is anticipated.

Good Orchestra.

The Men's Bible Class of the Methodist church, which was recently organized, with Mr. Percy Denyes, President, and Rev. H. B. Kenny, teacher, is increasing in attendance each Sunday. One of its attractive features is a fine orchestra under the leadership of Mr. R. T. Cowell, A. R.C.O., and assisting him are the following: Walter Lowe, David Mitchell, Walter Mitchell, Herbert Leonard, Clarence Williams, George Salter, Hugh Iunis. Altogether the Sunday school is in a flourishing condition, which reflects great credit upon the superintendent, Mr. G. A. Kingston and his staff of teachers.

Major J. M. Bygott spent Saturday in Peterborough.

Miss Ruth Taylor spent a few days last week in Stirling visiting her friend, Mrs. H. Martin.

Mr. B. A. Maclean, manager of the Utilities Commission, spent the week end with his wife and little son in Trenton.

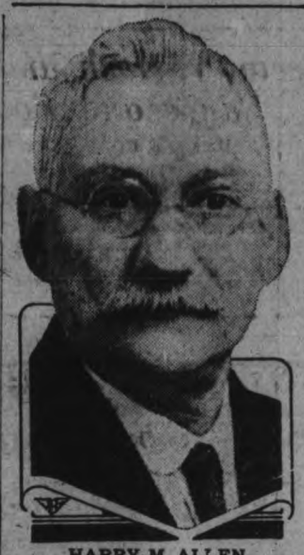
Miss Emma Meiklejohn has been spending the past two weeks with friends in Toronto.

Miss Zita Rellis, teacher of Separate school No. 12, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rellis.

Mr. Chas. Boyd of Montreal, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Matthew Boyd, Raglan street.

PITTSBURG MAN MAKES WONDERFUL STATEMENT

Declares Tanlac Enabled Him to Eat Better, Sleep Better and Work Better —Has Gained Thirty Pounds.



HARRY M. ALLEN
of Pittsburg, Pa.

"I consider Tanlac the grandest medicine in the world, for I have actually gained 30 pounds in weight since I began taking it. It has just simply filled me with new life and energy and for the first time in years I can sit down to the table and enjoy three square meals a day like other people. In fact Tanlac has made me eat better, feel beter, sleep better and work better, and I guess that's all a man can expect of a medicine.

"Before I took Tanlac, I was off 25 pounds in weight and was so badly run down I was hardly able to do my work. Nothing seemed to agree with me and my food invariably soured on on my stomach. I would always have an uncomfortable bloated up feeling in my somach, and although I tried many kinds of medicines, I never got relief until I took Tanlac.

"I also suffered considerably at times from Rheumatism, but this has all disappeared. In fact, this wonderful medicine has made a new man out of me in every way. I feel years younger and can do as much work as in any day of my life.

"Of course, I am only too glad to give you my testimonial because I want other people who are suffering as I did to take this medicine and get relief."

The above remarkable statement was made by Harry M. Allen, residing at 1009 Saint Martin Street, Pittsburg, Pa., a well known employee of the Oliver Iron & Steel Company of that city. Mr. Allen is a well known member of the United Presbyterian Church and is highly respected by all who know him.

Tanlac is sold by the Warne Drug Co., Ltd.

merly a farmer one mile east of Westwood, was the next witness. He said he once worked in the mill when Mr. Powell ran it and Cardwell's present farm. Mr. McCall said he could see no change in the embankment since 1912.

Thomas Roach, of Westwood, was the next witness. He said the embankment was once driven in. He worked for George Reid on the farm and also for Mr. Cardwell. Mr. Reid would not allow any flooding. He stopped, or made Breckenbridge stop, every hole in the embankment. Only in the spring was there any flooding. Mr. Reid had good crops on the land alleged to be unfit for farming now by Mr. Cardwell. West of the embankment there was only surface water, excepting when the spring freshets overowed the mill pond. Mr. Roach testified that he and Mr. Reid made the ditch to drain the Cardwell property, and it worked all right then.

Robt. Wilson, also a long resident of Westwood, said he worked on Cardwell's place in 1896-7, 1903-4. He had ridden on horseback up the old embankment, he said. Up till 1914, he said, there was no change in the embankment. In that year he was engaged by the millowners to patch up some holes in the embankment. This made no appreciable change in the embankment.

Ordered Off.

There was no water on the land west of the pond excepting surface water. When the cut as made in the embankment the land was flooded with water from the pond. At one time Mr. Wilson said Squire Breckenbridge and Matt. Breckenbridge were ordered off by Mr. Cardwell, who called them trespassers. This was in the fall of 1914. The cut appeared to have been artificial. He first saw it in 1912 before the law suit. Witness recalled a small drain for surface water on Cardwell's place.

Mr. Wilson told Mr. Hall that the old embankment could have been driven over if necessary. There is not much evidence of an old road now, he admitted.

Mr. Wilson said the cut appeared to have been made with a shovel. It was a foot deep and 4 to 6 inches deep. The cut he saw in 1914 was a little south of the one he saw in 1912. Both are still observable.

James Douglas, of Westwood, testified on Saturday morning. He said he was subpoened in the Cardwell case, but was not called by. In that year he saw a fresh cut taking water directly out of the pond and precipitating the water west of the embankment. Since 1902 Mr. Douglas has operated the grist mill, he said. He had always endeavoured to keep the water up to the determined level. With the cuts open it was hard to keep the water up.

Mr. Douglas admitted to Mr. Hall that Morris's land had been badly flooded. It was due, he told Judge Huycke, to the cut in the roadway. When there was no cut he was not flooded. Mr. Douglas said they required a seven-foot head to operate satisfactorily. A five or five and a half foot head was no use, he stated.

Robert Doherty corroborated the other witnesses that most of the water on the adjoining lands to the mill was surface water.

Morris E. Elmhurst, township assessor, valued the Morris lot at $20.00 an acre as at present. He admitted to Mr. Hall that the land would be more valuable if drained.

Engineer's Evidence.

Mr. Hall first called Mr. Wilkins. Mr. Wilkins said he was first appointed engineer 17 or 18 years ago. He made an award under the Ditches and Watercourses Act. Mr. Wilkins outlined an investigation made by him of the saturated territory. He denied that at his appointment he asked Matthew Breckenbridge to have an agreement made.

Amount Allowed.

Matthew Breckenridge, when it came to signing the the agreement, refused to do it until he had legal advice. Fifteen hundred dollars, which is all the Act calls for, would not construct the ditch as he planned it, Mr. Wilkins said.

Witness said he abandoned several courses, finally deciding the only way to drain it was by linking up the ditch and the small watercourse across the mill yard, and have a dyke and stop-logs on the ditch.

Mr. Wilkins said in 1877 he was commissioned Provincial Land Surveyor, in 1881 Dominion Land Surveyor. Mr. Wilkins stated he had considerable experience in drainage works. In making his award, he showed 'intentional' favours to no one. The award, he believed, would drain the land satisfactorily. It would require an 18-inch drain, he said. There had been a verbal arrangement first with the Breckenbridges over the award and the plans were made on this agreement.

Mr. Wilkins denied that he used the sworn epitaph about Judge Hodgins. "I said, 'Do you think Judge Hodgins is Lord God himself?'"

Witness said Matthew Breckenbridge stated he was willing to have the level of the water 7¼ inches below that marked by Mr. Wright. Mr. Wilkins said he went ahead with his plans after the Breckenbridges had refused to consent to them. Witness would not say that he had a very good knowledge of water power. He told Mr. Kerr that the upper foot of the head of water was the most important and valuable for water power. A 7-inch reduction would mean considerable loss of head.

Wanted to be Fair.

After Mr. Breckenbridge gave verbal assent to the award, Mr. Wilkins said he considered the taking of further evidence by those affected unnecessary. Some months prior to making the requisition Mr. Morris came to see witness, and he advised him the steps he could take.

"Fairness to everybody," Mr. Wilkins told Mr. Hall, "had been his watchword, and this scheme he also planned to carry out as economically as possible." Witness said as far as he could see now, nothing had been done but the dyke.

This concluded Saturday's evidence.

Do This

Then see if your friends notice prettier teeth

Make this pleasant ten-day test. See what it does for your teeth. Then judge for yourself — by the clear results — how much this method means.

Millions of people have thus found a way to whiter, cleaner, safer teeth. And you will also find it.

It fights film

This method combats the film on teeth — that viscous coat you feel. Film is the teeth's great enemy. It clings to teeth, gets between the teeth and stays.

Brushing in the old ways does not end this film. And most tooth troubles are caused by what is left.

Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Very few people have escaped these troubles caused by film.

Two new methods

Dental science has now found two methods to fight film. Many careful tests have proved their efficiency. Leading dentists everywhere now advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. Other factors, now considered essential, are included with it.

Pepsodent combats the film with every application. It keeps teeth highly polished, so film less easily adheres.

It also stimulates the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva, to digest starch deposits which so often cling and form acid. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, to neutralize the acids which cause tooth decay.

Thus every use brings five desired effects which old methods failed to bring.

The modern way

Pepsodent is based on modern research. It does what authorities now regard as essential. Half the world over it is displacing old methods, largely by dental advice.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth whiten as the film-coats disappear.

Watch all the good effects. The book we send will tell the reason for them. Then decide if this method, in your family, should supersede the old. Cut out the coupon now.

Pretty Papers

With Which to Make Pretty Walls

We certainly have a splendid selection of papers, in spite of the great inroads people have made on our stock this spring. We found it necessary to duplicate our original orders more than once. Besides, the duplicates we have added many new patterns.

A Living-room Paper that is attractive yet moderately priced, sells at 50c a roll. It is a Vista effect, showing a small landscape amid foliage. It can be had in Buff and Green tones, also Cream, Terra Cotta and Green.

For the Dining-room we offer a conventionalized foliage pattern, with a large brown leaf on a light ground. The price is 60c a roll.

At the first glance you will know this paper is intended for a Bedroom. Its tiny Rose and Vine pattern in Pink and delicate Green is printed on a White ground. The price is 50c a roll.

When You Paint

YOUR BUILDINGS

You Do So for Two Reasons —
First—Protection
Second — Beauty

And that Paint which serves best, and for the longest period fulfills these two purposes is the best paint—and the longer the term of that Paint's service, the greater the saving.

Buying "cheap" Paint is mistaken economy. True! You save on the first cost of material, but later you pay dearly for this supposed saving. It is in reality extravagance to use "cheap" paint when you consider that a gallon of "cheap" paint goes only half as far as a gallon of good Paint. Besides, the building will look shabby after a few months' wear. Moreover, it costs just as much to apply a "cheap" Paint as it does a good one, which will look more beautiful and last years longer.

For Tinting Walls

Muresco, Alabastine and Neu-Tone

Most people are familiar with Alabastine and Muresco. Neu-Tone has long passed the experimental stage, but has not been on the market for so many years as the others.

Neu-Tone is easy to apply, and works well under the brush, levels out and flats perfectly without a trace of laps or brush marks, producing a dull, flat finish of a soft, velvety effect, and with a great depth of tone that is most pleasing and restful to the eyes.

It forms a hard, non-porous, non-absorbent surface, and does not rub or chalk off, nor allows germs to find lodgment.

MARBEL-ITE FLOOR VARNISH

It dries with a bone-like hardness and unlike most Floor Varnishes it retains its hardness and never becomes brittle; consequently it will not mar or scratch white under the hardest kind of wear. In normal temperature it will dry in twelve to fifteen hours with a beautiful lustre.

REV. MR. POGUE'S SERMON ON LOVE; A CHURCH THAT IS DEAD, YET LIVETH

Yesterday morning, Rev. Mr. Pogue preached an excellent sermon in St. Paul's Church, taking as his text, "But God commendeth his love toward us, in that while we were yet sinners Christ died for us."—Romans 5:8.

He pointed out that it was because of God's love for sinners that He sent His only Son into the world to save them and that He willingly died upon the cross to redeem them from their sins, that they might enjoy eternal life.

He said that many have died that they might save others. Our soldiers died in France that they might save us, but their death had not the saving grace of Christ's. The difference lies in the fact that it was because of God's love for sinners that Christ died.

Mr. Pogue dwelt on the meaning of death in the New Testament. The sinner who does not love God because of the sacrifice of Christ on the Cross, "is dead though he yet liveth."

One of the hymns was particularly appropriate—

"Revive Thy dying Churches Lord,
And bid our drooping graces live;
And more, THAT energy afford
A Saviour's love alone can give."

Mr. Spurgeon, said Mr. Pogue, had preached for 40 years on love, our duty to love God and our duty to love our neighbors.

It is unfotunate that such a sermon is always too short. It would have been interesting to hear his views on a church that is dead, though it yet liveth, and that backs up, supports and encourages Ministers to hunt for sinners with a shot gun, policemen, spies and spotters.

The lives and conduct of such Ministers bear a close analogy to the life of St. Paul before his conversion, because the people who did not then agree with him were put in prison or were put to death. St. Paul says himself "And being exceedingly mad against them I persecuted them even unto strange cities."

That was during the time when St. Paul was dead and yet was alive. But fortunately for humanity, while he was on a mission of persecution, he saw a bright light above the brightness of the sun. It is more fortunate still that he at once confessed "I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision."

He changed the whole course of his life—or rather the whole course of his life was changed. He became the chief Apostle of Love. His immortal words are as true to-day as they were when uttered: "If I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not love, I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal."

After his conversion he did not become either a persecutor or a prosecutor, because to him, "Love is the fulfilling of the law."

After the "Flu"

Four Children Had Whooping Cough

Whooping cough, although specially a disease of childhood, is by no means confined to that period, but may occur at any time of life. It is one of the most dangerous diseases of infancy, and yearly causes more deaths than scarlet fever, typhoid or diphtheria, and is more common in female than male children.

Whooping cough starts with sneezing, watering of the eyes, irritation of the throat, feverishness and cough.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is highly recommended by mothers everywhere for the relief of this trouble as it helps to clear the clogged-up air passages of the mucous and phlegm that has collected, and in this way bring out the "whoop," which brings the so-much-sought for relief and heals and soothes the lungs.

Mrs. J. M. Rouse, Imperial, Sask., writes:—"After the 'flu,' last fall, my four children took whooping cought and one of them developed bronchitis. After using two or three botles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup they were greatly relieved of their nasty coughs. It is an especially good remedy for children, and is so nice they take it readily, and ask for more."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is 35c. and 60c. a bottle at all dealers. Put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water — you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

The income tax is nothing more than a tax on the ability God gave you to make money.

AT THE ALLEN.

HERE'S AN OPAL THAT IS GOOD LUCK

Betty Compson, whose first starring picture, "Prisoners of Love," comes to the Allen Theatre to-day, possesses but a single piece of jewelry—a black opal given to her by her father when she was a child. Contrary to generaal superstition, it has brought her the best of luck, for from a violinist in a vaudeville theatre at fifteen dollars a week, she has ascended to motion picture stardom and has her own producing company. Miss Compson declares that the belief that opals bring ill fortune is pure fallacy, and that this tale was invented by African diamond merchants who feared opals would surpass diamonds in popularity.

BETTY COMPSON LOVES AUTOMOBILE RACING

Betty Comson, whose first starring picture, "Prisoners of Love," which comes to the Allen Theatre, for 2 days, commencing to-day, used to be an ar[illegible]omobile racing enthusiast, [illegible]s when "juvenile"-cont[illegible]n vogue she had a tiny [illegible]nstructed that was called f[illegible]ompson," and it broke a[illegible] records and earned the title of "Juvenile Speed King of the World." When she wanted to be represented in the big game she ordered a special sixteen valve car known as the "Compson Special," which also made a name for itself at the racing carnivals.

AT THE EMPIRE.

NOVEL ART TITLES A FEATURE IN "THE DANGEROUS PARADISE"

Innovation in Screen Captions Introduced in New Selznick Pictures.

A novel feature of the new Selznick Picture, "The Dangerous Paradise," in which Louise Huff is starred, is the method in which the subtitles, or captions, are presented.

Nowadays nearly every photoplay producing company has some distinctive style of titling. A few stick to the old, original method of using plain type, or lettered cards, which are photographed and incorporated in the film in their proper sequence. Some use elaborately illustrated on the screen from clay models, raised metal letters, wood carvings titles and there are instances when the captions have been reproduced and even inlaid mosaic. Cartoons are often used in comedy subjects and "still" photos with the lettering incorporated are not uncommon.

The method used in this Selznick picture, which was devised by Randolph Bartlett of the Selznick studios, follows none of the above mentioned schemes but is said to be a distinct innovation and something never presented before in motion pictures.

"Dangerous Paradise" will be presented at the Empire Theatre today, remaining there for three days.

AT THE REGENT.

STRIKING ROLE FOR ROBERT WARWICK IN LATEST PHOTOPLAY

Star is Soldier of Fortune in "Thou Art the Man," Strong Story.

Robert Warwick in "Thou Art the Man," his latest Paramount Artcraft picture, will be the attraction at the Regent Theatre for three days, commencing to-day.

Mr. Warwick has the role of Myles Calthorpe, a young Englishman, who comes to South Africa to seek his fortune. Suspecting that he is being made a tool by his employers in a diamond-smuggling game, he protests and is discharged. In Cape Town he meets Joan Farrant, with whom he falls in love and who secures him a position with her brother. Farrant is also mixed up in the illicit diamond traffic. Calthorpe innocently becomes involved in the crooked business, is caught, and serves three years in prison. Upon his release, by hard work he becomes manager of a sugar plantation, only to be denounced as a criminal by Joan, who has become inflamed against him by her brother. Subsequently, however, she learns the truth, and she and Calthorpe are united.

Lois Wilson is Mr. Warwick's leading woman, and the supporting cast also includes such prominent players as J. M. Dumont, Clarence Burton, and C. H. Geldart. Margaret Turnbull adapted the story from a novel by F. E. Mills Young. The picture, which is a Paramount Artcraft, was directed by Thomas Heffron.

COALITION FOR SOVIET RUSSIA?

REPORTED LENINE IS NEGOTIATING TO THIS END.

COPENHAGEN, March 21. — (Canadian Press.) — Negotiations looking to the formation of a coalition government for Soviet Russia have been opened by Nikolai Lenine, Bolshevik Premier, with the leaders of the Mensheviks and Social Revolutionaries, says a Reval despatch to the Berlingske Tidende.

GREEKS TO MOVE AGAINST KEMAL

SUCH IS INTERPRETATION OF CONSTANTINE'S ORDER.

LONDON, March 21.—(Canadian Press.)—The calling by King Constantine of Greece of the three classes to the national colors announced at Athens on Sunday in all probability portends a Greek offensive agains tthe Turkish Nationalists, according to Greek War Minister Gounaris. In an interview to-day, he said: "Obviously we cannot await the completion of Turkish concentration. The decree is the natural consequence of the Turkish attitude, who has again declared she will not accept the proposals of the London conference and is demanding the return of Thrace and Smyrna, obtained by Greece as a result of the war."

FUNERAL ON SATURDAY.

The funeral took place on Saturday of Lavinia Blanch Coward, wife of Mr. Albert Collins, Lot 11, Con. 10, Otonabee, at two o'clock to Zion Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Courage officiated.

The deceased, whose death took place on Thursday last at Nicholls Hospital, was a faithful member of the Anglican Church, and will be greatly missed by her friends and neighbours.

SOCIAL EVENING OF MISSION BAND

WAS HELD AT HOME OF MRS. G. WALTER GREEN.

The Young Ladies' Mission Band of St. Andrew's Church held a St. Patrick's Tea at the home of Mrs. G. W. Green, Water street, on Friday afternoon and evening.

The attractive rooms were prettily decorated with shamrocks and daffodils, and a large crowd took advantage of the occasion. Mrs. McClelland was in charge of the tea-room assisted by Mrs. Lees, Mrs. B. McClennan, Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. H. Morgan. Mrs. Mowat presided over the home-made cooking and Mrs. M. Morgan looked after the candy. A musical programme was heartily enjoyed from the following: Misses Dora Pilling and Ina Allen, Mr Clarke and Mr. Sam Whitehouse sang, Miss Irene Breckenridge recited, and Mrs. Crawford, Miss Lillian Green with Mr. O. Walden gave instrumental selections.

ART ASSOCIATION HELD A MUSICALE

On Saturday afternoon at the regular bi-weekly musicale given by the Art Association in their rooms at the Conservatory of Music, a programme of unusual interest, cleverly arranged by Mrs. W. R. Widdess was presented, featuring Mrs. W. F. Reesor, soloist, Miss Helen Flavelle, pianist and Miss Jean Flavelle of Lindsay, each of whom were given a most hearty reception and enthusiastically encored by the large number of members present. A solo by Mr Asa Huycke, a piano solo by Miss Ida Sanderson and a piano duet by Mrs. Cruikshank and Mrs. Charles McClennan were also thoroughly appreciated. At the tea table which was charmingly decorated in shamrock and daffodils, Mrs. F. C. Neal and Mrs. Burritt Mann presided assisted by Miss Maude Rush, Mrs. G. H. King, Mrs Percy Hooper and Miss Grace Reinhart.

In the absence of Mrs. Sherwood president of the Association, Mrs. A. Mowat acted as hostess for the afternoon.

PRICES INCORRECT

In Saturday's issue of the Examiner there appeared an advertisement of the Studebaker New Light Six, in which prices were quoted that were incorrect. While the plate arrived in this condition, instructions given by Eastwood & Stock, Studebaker representatives, to delete the prices, were not attended to by the mechanical staff and consequently are misleading when probable purchasers of cars are going into the question of price.

FINE PROGRAMME SUNDAY CONCERT

MACHINE GUN BAND HEARD TO GOOD ADVANTAGE—SOLOISTS SCORED HEAVILY.

That the Sunday evening concerts are more than popular with the majority of people in Peterborough, was evidenced last night at the Grand Opera House, when standing room was at a premium. The wonderful improvement in the Machine Gun Band, under the direction of Lieut. Peryer since Sunday week, is beyond description, and the different selections played last night were rendered in masterly style and would do credit to any military band of lond standing. The 'special feature' selection., "The Church Parade," during which the Cathedral chimes are used, and several well known hymns are played and sung by the band boys, brought forth prolonged applause. The overture from the "Great Masters," concluding with "William Tell Overture" and the selection, "Gems of Scotland," were both splendidly rendered.

The vocal part of the programme was exceptionally fine last evening, Mrs. Wells singing "Palm Branches" in effective manner, had to respond with an equally fine number, "Just For To-day."

Mr. Barclay in "Where the Ebb-tide Flows," followed by "Bedouin's Love Song," sung in a fine bass voice of wonderful range, was greatly applauded.

Mrs. Hoyland again demonstrated her mastery of the violin, rendering "Il Trovatore" with great effect, while Mrs. L. M. Brookes in a beautiful contralto voice, sang (Liddles) "Abide with Me," rendered with much feeling.

A word of thanks is due to Miss Florence Gladman, who accompanied all the vocalists, in a most competent manner.

The entire programme was well worth hearing and the large audience showed their appreciation in no uncertain manner.

The next Sunday concert will be held on Sunday, April 3rd.

Taffeta is more than holding its own for dancing frocks for the younger folk.

TORONTO CREW WON THIS GAME

CENTRAL "Y" BUSINESS MEN DEFEATED LOCAL BUSINESS MEN AT BASKET BALL.

The Toronto Central Y Business Men's Class fared better than their O.A.B.A. team on Saturday night, for they succeeded in taking the local Businessmen's Class in basketball by 35 to 16 points, leading at half-time by 9 to 4.

The visitors appeared to be in better shape than the locals, who held them well in the early stages, only to have the Toronto bunch draw away as the game progressed. Bill Hastie, formerly of Peterborough, was one of the stars of the visitors.

The teams were as follow:

Toronto Central Businessmen—Hastie, Anderson, forwards; Chamberlain, centre; Chisholm and McKinnon, defence; Dr. Smith, sub.

Peterborough—Matthews, Thompson, forwards; Roper, centre; Dobbin, Hall, defence; Loucks, sub.

CURLERS' ANNUAL MEETING TO-NIGHT

Members of the Curling Club are reminded of the annual meeting which will be held at the Charlotte Street Rink to-night. The presentation of the scheduled games prizes and the election of officers are two of the usual items of business. The vice-skips' bonspiel prizes and the Waddell points trophy won by J. E. A. Fitzgerald will also be presented. All the curlers are requested to attend.

LONDON CRIMINALS ARE NOT ARMED.

LONDON.—Five hundred new policemen will shortly be added to London's force, making approximately 11,000 men at Commissioner Enright's command. This number will be only about half the city's force.

The London policeman carries no pistol, and a statute provides a heavy penalty for any one carrying arms of any description. And Inspector Spriggs likes the broad view that a London criminal, not expecting to be shot by the police, will not carry a pistol himself.

This policy of forbearance on both sides results in a minimum of pistol fights. Figures show that less than once London policeman is killed in a year, and usually such fatalities result from a scrimmage instead of a knife or pistol battle. This does not mean that the London officer is averse to trouble when it arises. Practically every man on the force is handy with his fists, and the records prove that the percentage of arrests to crimes is higher than in most cities.

The London policeman works an eight-hour shift with a half-hour for lunch, a privilege recently suspended here during the crime epidemic. His patrol is based upon time instead of distance, and he must cover two and a half miles an hour. In the case of the financial, jewelry and important business centres, the patrols are short, and policemen numerous. Patrols in the residential districts are lengthened and those in the suburbs grow still longer.

No Crime Wave.

As to crime epidemics, Inspector Spriggs puts it this way: "Well, we have our good and bad times, but not what I would exactly call a crime wave."

Then the plan of rewarding an officer for an arrest because he was in the right spot at the right moment is not favored in the London department. No matter what danger the policeman might encounter in the arrest, that was looked upon as part of his responsibility, and something which every one of the 22,000 men was ready to face. It was regarded as a matter of luck, a sporting chance, for an officer to be within hailing distance when a crime took place, with the opportunity to catch the criminal red-handed.

Rewards are based on efficient work rather than on accident which throws an officer in the way at an opportune time.

Intoxication Figures Low.

Regulation of the liquor traffic and restriction of hours in which drink can be sold has been a means of reducing intoxication to record low figures. All public houses are required to close at 10 P. M., and the midnight roysterer has disappeared. Under the regulations drink has become practically a negligible quantity as a cause of crime, but continues to be a social bond with all classes.

PILES ARE GENERALLY CAUSED BY CONSTIPATION

There are few, if any, complaints more common than hemorrhoids, or piles, as they are commonly called, and scarcely any which cause more trouble, annoyance and misery.

Ninety per cent. are troubled with them at some time or other, owing to allowing the bowels to become in a constipated condition.

Piles are classed under three headings, i.e., itching, bleeding and protruding, and the excruciating pains which accompany them cause misery which is beyond description.

Ointments and suppositories may help and relieve for a while, but to get rid of them, it is necessary to have a free, easy and natural motion of the bowels, at least once or twice a day, and by doing this the cause will be quickly removed.

Milburn's Lava-Liver Pills regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the liver and bowels, thus removing the constipation and all of its allied troubles.

They contain no calomel or drastic mineral ingredients, being purely vegetable. They are small and easy to take and do not gripe, weaken or sicken.

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all druggists or dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

COMMENT ON LOCAL SPORT

Peterborough Y. M. C. A. basketball five are in the finals of the Intermediate series, Ontario Amateur Basketball Association. They earned the right to take part in the championship finals by defeating Toronto Centrals at the Y. M. C. A. Gym on Saturday night. The score was 39 to 22, and on the round 63 to 49, giving the locals a margin of 14 points.

In the preliminary game on Saturday night Toronto Central Business Men defeated the local business men by 35 to 16, in a contest that created a lot of fun for the big crowd of spectators. The visitors also put on a game of Volley Ball after the first half of the O.A.B.A. fixture.

PETES OPEN FAST.

With Ross Dobbin as referee, and the Toronto Centrals carrying a lead of 3 points from the first game, the Peterborough five stepped into the visitors and proceeded to display their wares. Tom Pogue scored the first basket on a neat shot, and a minute later Seely added another, sending the Petes out in front. In as many minutes the locals had 9 points and the visitors had failed to score. The Toronto players were called together for consultation. On top of this the visitors gathered their first score, on a penalty. De Graw quickly got this brace of counters back, and the locals continued to pile up a commanding lead. This half saw Centrals outplayed throughout. The locals handled the ball more effectively, they shot accurately and their checking smothered the opposition. It was 27 to 10 for the Petes when the half ended and there appeared to be no doubt as to the final outcome.

Centrals opened the second half by scoring the first basket, and forced the Petes on the defensive. Seely missed an open shot but turned in a pretty score when he accepted a pass from DeGraw, who had bounced the ball along the floor to the Toronto basket. The visitors did better this period. They were using Campbell at centre, and the big fellow and Stuart had a merry battle. The visitors centre did not relish the effective checking the local player handed out. This pair furnished much of the interest to this period, and honours were about even. Campbell however proved a better scorer than Cook whom he replaced. It was when this period was well advanced and the Petes needed a few baskets to make their lead safe, that Tom Pogue featured the play with some superb shooting. The local right forward took passes from his teammates and several of his scores bordered on the sensational. He scored a total of eight baskets during the game. Towards the end of the contest the locals contented themselves with using defensive tactics. Campbell got the last score of the game as the bell sounded. The teams:

Toronto Centrals—Greenbury l.f., Williams r.f., Cook, c.; Lee, r.g.; Young, l.g., Spares, Winfield, Holden and Campbell.

Peterborough, Seely, l.m.; T. Pogue, r.f.; Stuart, c; DeGraw, l.g.; R. Pogue, l.g., Spares, Jobbitt, Darling.

BAD WEEK END FOR TORONTO.

It was a gloomy week end for the Queen City. While Peterborough was eliminating Toronto Centrals from the Intermediates O.A.B.A. race, Brandon was defeating University of Toronto, in the first of the Allan Cup games. Bob Armstrong who played centre with the 247th Bn. Intermediate O. H. A. team here in the days of the Great War, was one of the reasons for the defeat of the Cup Hunters.

PILOTING ANOTHER WINNER.

Harry Cressman, manager of the local Y. M. C. A., O.A.B.A. team, piloted Cressman's ball nine to the Commercial League Championship last summer, made Belmonts hustle to win the City Basketball League title this past winter, and is now on the last lap of another championship race.

CREDIT TO Y. M. C. A.

Peterborough's representatives in the O.A.B.A. race are clever basketball players. They are clean, gentlemanly fellows, and a credit to the Y. M. C. A.

PETERBOROUGH LOSES TWIRLER.

Percy Ecobichon, a promising southpaw pitcher, has apparently been lost to local baseball. He is now in Cobourg, and will be given a chance with the Lakeshore Central Leaguers. Ecobichon twirled for the Bohunks last Summer.

BIG SEASON EAST PETERBORO.

It looks like a big season for the East Peterboro Baseball League. Reorganization will take place shortly. Nassau and Douro will link forces and enter one team.

SIR MONTAGU ALLAN OFFERS CUP TO ENCOURAGE AMATEUR LACROSSE

PROFESSIONALISM HAS BEEN THE BANE OF THE SENIOR GAME AND PROMOTERS ARE STRIVING TO MAKE A FRESH START ON PURELY AMATEUR BASIS.

POPULARITY RETURNING

Among the encouraging signs of the widespread revival of interest in lacrosse is Sir Montagu Allan's offer to donate a trophy to be competed for by the senior amateur clubs in the province of Quebec. He is the donor of the Allan Cup, emblematic of the Canadian senior amateur hockey championship for which the Toronto Varsity and Brandon teams are now playing this season's series of final games in Winnipeg.

Sir Montagu Allan is not only interested in the rehabilitation of Canada's National summer game, but he is anxious that it shall be redeemed from professionalism and established again on a sound basis of amateurism. In his letter to John Louson, Honorary President of the Montreal Lacrosse Club, he writes:

"I am glad to hear you intend to revive amateur lacrosse in this Province and I would be glad to donate a trophy for the senior amateur clubs to play for, if I could be quite sure that there would be no danger of professionals or semi-professionals being allowed to play as amateurs. I know it is difficult to ascertin the real facts in many cases and this can only be done by a set of very strict rules being adopted, and strictly enforced.

"We have had a great deal of trouble with the amateur hockey players in connection with the cup I gave some years ago for them to play for and I am told it is becoming more difficult to enforce the rules every year."

In acknowledging Sir Montagu Allan's timely and generous offer Mr. Louson assured him that the Montreal Lacrosse club would do everything in its power to place the senior league on an amateur footing "and to get the other clubs who comprise the league to insist on every man having an amateur card and the proper credentials before being allowed to play."

The Montreal Star makes a strong and persuasive appeal to the promoters of lacrosse in Quebec to revive the amateur game. These are reassuring evidences and promises that it will have a big season this year, and that it will regain firmer position in the confidence and attachment of the public.

Activity in Ontario.

Followers of lacrosse will applaud the efforts of the clubs in the big cities to slough off the professional element, and coming closer home they must notice with warm satisfaction multiplying reports from all pars of Ontario showing that clubs are being again formed in the cities and towns and even villages. To those who have struggled against the indifferent attitude of the public toward the national game during the lean years of the last decade the accumulating enthusiasm this spring must be particularly gratifying. They are heartened by the new interest and the co-operation of many en who have been holding aloof.

Good Local Group

In the Trent district it is practically assured that a strong group will be formed with teams in the intermediate and junior series. There may be juvenile grouping, too, but intermediate teams are regarded as certain. And there will be no professionalism in this district. There never has been, not in the memory of the present generation at any rate. The game for years has been so neglected that it is lucky to have survived. The contributors to Campbellford's recently organized club stipulate that only home-brews shall play on their team. Of course any new material that may be available will be welcome, but there is to be no attempt to bring in men from other towns. This is the spirit that is actuating the lacrosse fans throughout the district. There will be keen rivalry, but it will also be clean, and the minor prophets are predicting one of the liveliest seasons this district has seen in a long time.

THE PETERBORO TEAM WILL ENTER THE O.A.B.A. FINALS

BEAT TORONTO CENTRAL "Y" TEAM IN FAST GAME SATURDAY NIGHT BY 39 TO 22, WINNING THE ROUND BY 14 POINTS.

TOM POGUE STARRED

The speed, deadly shooting and combination of the Peterborough Y. M. C. A. baskeball team enabled them to register a decisive victory over the fast Toronto Central Y.M. C.A. team in the second game of the semi-final round of the intermediate O.A.B.A. series in the local Y gym on Saturday night, the Petes winning by 39 to 22 and annexing the round by 14 points.

Only the St. Catharines team stands between the Peterborough crew and the Ontario intermediate championship, and judging by the speed at which the local gang are travelling the St. Kitts outfit will have to show all kinds of class to stop them.

The Peterborough team had a deficit of three points to pick up on Saturday night from the first game in Toronto, when they were beaten 27 to 24, and it only took them a few seconds to overcome the margin and take the lead, after which they went along like a well-oiled machine, until at the half they were in front by 27 to 10, and had the game and the round at their mercy. The visitors rallied in the second half and gave a much better account of themselves, but at that the best they could do was to split the scoring fifty-fifty with the Petes, who still had seventeen points to the good when the final whistle sounded.

Although every member of the winners had a share in the victory, the stellar honours must be awarded to Tom Pogue, who contributed no fewer than nine field baskets to the Peterborough total. His shooting was deadly from every angle and he slipped away fom his check like a ghost. The visitors could not keep him under control and he found the basket in big league style. Seely also shot in great fashion, not only from the foul line but from the field. Stuart fed his forwards well and did some great checking, and found time to net three baskets. Degraw and Russell Pogue, besides covering their checks to perfection, managed to slip down the floor once in a while and add a basket to the Peterborough score, one of Pogue's scores being among the prettiest tallies of the night.

Campbell Was Effective.

For the visitors the most effective of the outfit was Campbell, the elongated sub, who was not used until the second half was under way. He was fast and accurate in his shooting and hung up three baskets in pretty fashion during the comparatvely short time he was on. Why he and Winfield, the other sub, who was introduced into the game with him in the second half, were not called on sooner, was a mystery to the fans for the team looked fifty per cent. better with this pair on than with the original line-up. Of the others, Greenberg and Cook were effective, while Lee did nice work on the defence.

The game had hardly got under way before a series of lightning passes and a beautiful shot by Tom Pogue put the Petes in front. They came right back with another, with Seely completing the play, and then Staurt slipped down and scored neatly. Then Seely tossed in a foul and Tom Pogue added another field basket and it was 9 to 0.

Two foul throws taken by Williamson put the visitors on the score sheet, but Degraw and Seely had both scored for the Petes, and it was 13 to 2 before Toronto got a field basket, Greenberg finally turning the trick. It was 17 to 4 before they scored again, Cook registering, and then Tom Pogue got two in a row before Greenberg added one for the visitors. Russell Pogue made it 23 to 8, and then Lee of Toronto scored a pretty basket. Before the half ended Russell Pogue and Seely each tossed in a basket from the field.

The Second Half.

The second half was closer. Cook started the scoring by a field basket for the visitors and Tom Pogue got it back. Williamson for Toronto, counted on a foul, and for good measure Seely slipped in two fouls for Peterborough, after which Tom Pogue did the "hat trick" by three beautiful baskets from the field. That made it 37 to 13. Campbell and Winfield went into the game for the visitors at this stage and they took an immediate brace, holding the Petes to one more counter, while they added nine points to their own figures. Campbell tossing in three baskets while Winfield annexed a basket and a foul. Tom Pogue got the Petes' last two points with a nice shot before Campbell scored his third basket.

Ross Dobbin refereed the game in satisfatcory style. There was a big crowd on hand, including forty of the Toronto Central Y Business Men's clasg.

REQUEST A.A.U. TO INVESTIGATE

C.A.H.A. FAVORS APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSION—BARRIERS TO TOURISTS.

WINNIPEG, March 21.—The amateur Athletic Union of Canada will be requested to appoint a commission of three to conduct a Dominion-wide investigation into amateur Claude Robinson, Winnipeg, in decision made by the delegates attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association here this afternoon. This decision was made after Dr. Macdonald had made a plea on behalf of a general house-cleaning in Canadian sport, offering to appoint a commission.

W. A. Hewitt of Toronto, in favoring the formation of such a commission, advocated the inclusion of President Sterling in the personnel of the commission.

During a discussion on the financial question Dr. Johnston of Saskatchewan attacked the Allan Cup trustees, accusing them of arrogating to themselves moneys and powers which were properly the prerogative of the C.A.H.A., and claiming that such arrogation prevented the C.A.H.A. from functioning as a real governing body.

Claude Robinson, Winnipeg, i defense of the trustees, replied it was "idle talk" to accuse the trustees of "arrogation of power" and of funds, which the C.A.H.A. had itself agreed to leave at the discretion and disposal of the trustees; and that it was "idle talk" to say that the C.A.H.A. was a governing body in name only.

Dealing with the "tourist evil" the delegates passed the following resolution: "That no player who has changed his residence or his club since January 1 last be granted a certificate until he has satisfied the executive committee of his Provincial branch of the bona fides of such change, and that all such applications for certificates, with complete and definite information regarding their change of residence, together with an affidavit from each player conforming to the A.A.U. of C. rules as set out in the rule book, must be in the hands of the Secretary of such branch on or before November 20 so that each application can receive full and careful consideration by the executive. No application received will be considered until January 20 except in the case of junior players. In case of a transfer from one Provincial branch to another, the player must satisfy both branches."

Allan Cup receipts will not entirely be devoted to charity in the future, as has been the case in the past, as the trustees of the cup decided to-day to allow the hockey association first call on the funds for promoting hockey.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION IS FORMED IN COBOURG.

Will Amalgamate All Activities — Officers Elected.

COBOURG, March 21.—With the promotion of clean and healthy sport as its objective the Cobourg Amateur Athletic Association has been thoroughly organized. The officers elected are:

PORT HOPE, March 21.—A meeting of baseball fans to-night will definitely decide whether Port Hope will be represented in the Central Ontario League this season or not

THE BETTER TEAM WON SATURDAY

COLLEGIANS ARE CONFIDENT OF OVERCOMING LEAD.

WINNIPEG, March 21. — First blood to the West. Brandon, champions of the Manitoba Hockey League, champions of Western Canada, and defenders of the Allan Cup, won the opening game of the finals for the cup Saturday night by defeating the University of Toronto 2 to 0, and that slight edge is therefore theirs for the second and last game, which will be staged at the Amphitheatre on Monday night.

The West has every reason to be proud of its representatives. The East has no reason to be ashamed of theirs, nor has the East any reason to feel downhearted over the result. The game in the first period was staged on sticky ice, despite the face that the weather outside was sufficiently cold to freeze all the puddles and ponds on the Winnipeg streets and sidewalks, which citizens tried to sidestep, unsuccessfully, one might remark, all day Friday. During the intermission between the first and second periods the ice was swept and scraped. From then until the end of the game the surface was covered with a thin film of water, which, while it stopped the puck from rolling and made combination possible, took a tremendous amount of energy out of the players.

Considering the conditions, the game was remarkably fast. In fact, even the Westerners, who are rather wont to scoff at the speed of Eastern hockey teams, were forced to admit that the game was a very fast one, and in particular to doff their bonnets to Stan Brown, of North Bay, who dazzled the spectators and the opposing team with his speed and altogether turned in one of the greatest games of his career.

Better Team Won.

There can be no gainsaying the fact that the better team won. In every department except goal, where Langtry put up a thrilling exhibition, the Brandon team had an edge on Varsity. Even Varsity admits that. They invariably met the Varsity attack with a three-man defence, yet, once they secured possession of the puck, they could break like lightning and confront Varsity with a three-man attack. Their shots were precise, well placed and well timed, and except for Jack Langtry the East to-night could bid farewell to its chance of once again securing possession of the Allan Cup. In back-checking the were supreme. No senior O.H.A. team, nor any other team that has played on Toronto ice this year can compare to the Brandon team in back-checking. They are a 60-minute team, formidable from goal out, and Varsity's task of winning from them by three goals on Monday night is one which one cannot but help but look forward to with a certain amount of trepidation.

The teams:

Referees—Bill Rollo, Regina, and Bobby Hewitson, Toronto.

VOL. XLIX. NO 68 PETERBOROUGH, TUESDAY, MARCH 22, 1921 PRICE THREE CENTS

JOHN DOUGHTY IS ARRAIGNED, "NOT GUILTY"

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO CHARGE OF THEFT OF $105,000 IN BONDS FROM SMALL.

MRS. SMALL IN COURT

TORONTO, March 22. — John Doughty, who was arrested in Portland, Oregon, some months ago after a chase across the continent, was brought before a jury to-day for trial on a charge of stealing $105,000 in bonds from his former employer, Ambrose Small, theatrical magnate, who has been missing for nearly a year and a half. Doughty turned up in the prisoners' docket to-day. Mrs. Ambrose Small, wife of the missing magnate, was one of the spectators in the court room. The plea was "not guilty" of theft.

ALIMONY CASE ADJOURNED.

Mrs. John Doughty's application for $35 a week interim alimony and interim disbursements came before the Master-in-Chambers, I. A. C. Cameron, at Osgoode Hall yesterday and was adjourned until Tuesday of next week.

G. T. Walsh appeared for Mrs. Doughty and Miss Clara Brett Martin for Doughty. Miss Martin desired to obtain an affidavit from her client as to what he was worth, and she informed Mr. Cameron that he would appear at the City Hall today on criminal charges. She asked for an enlargement under the circumstances and it was granted.

GERMAN MACHINE GUNS RECEIVED

FOUR OF THEM AT THE CITY HALL AND THREE CONSIGNED TO THE CELLAR.

The third anniversary of the German drive in March 1918, the last desperate throw of the war lords, has been marked locally by the arrival of four captured machine guns which were received a few days ago by Mayor McIntyre. The first notice of their coming was a freight bill notifying the Mayor that this allotment of the enemy's armament was at the freight sheds. Three of them have been stowed away in the cellar at the city hall, probably in one of the dark corners with an ammunition box, cartridge belts and other accessories. The fourth gun sprawls on the floor in the City Engineer's office behind the desk of Mr. George Perks, who knows this breed of German field equipment from his experiences under fire.

This show piece is a 1917 model and in its flimsiness betrays the scarcity of essential materials that prevailed in Germany at that period of the war. It bears the name Spandau with cryptic figures and other marks, and along one of the supports of the air chamber are painted the symbol "5th C.M.R." perhaps crediting that regiment with the capture of this machine gun. It conjures up thoughts of the number of allied soldiers it may have wiped out or wounded, how many of its splitting bullets found human billets, and the sector it sprayed when captured Mr. Parsons said he had no idea what the Council intends to do with these trophies of the war.

CHAMBERLAIN GIVES UP CHANCELLORSHIP

LONDON, March 22.—(Canadian Press). — Austen Chamberlain, newly elected leader in the Commons to-day that he was relinquishing his post of Chancellor of the Exchequer, and that the new Chancellor would present the budget. Mr. Chamberlain did not indicate the identity of his successor.

WILL REVIVE FORDNEY BILL

MEASURE WILL BE RUSHED THROUGH CONGRESS WITHOUT CHANGES SOON.

VETOED BY WILSON

WASHINGTON, March 22.—(Canadian Press).—The Fordney Emergency Tariff Bill, precisely as vetoed by former President Wilson, will be rushed through Congress as the first importan legislation of the extra session.

Acceding to the request of President Harding for passage of a measure designed to help the farmers, asking for protection against foreign competition, Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee turned about and voted to revive the Fordney Bill, after agreeing almost unanimously a week ago not to consider any emergency legislation ahead of a permanent tariff and revenue revision.

Senators Penrose, Smoot and McCumber, conferees from the Senate Finance Committee, agreed to the new programme, which, it was explained, would go to President Harding for approval.

Senator Penrose expressed the belief that the emergency measure would be in the hands of Mr. Harding within ten days after the convening of the special session on April 11.

After disposing of the emergency measure in the first few days of the extra session the House will take up and pass the Anti-dumping Bill, which will be followed by the allied measure fixing a United States valuation on goods which must pay ad valorem duty.

Then will come the permanent tariff, which Republican leaders hope will be broad enough to satisfy all interests in all sections demanding an upward revision. The actual work of framing it will begin to-day, hearings having been concluded at the last session.

INVESTIGATION OF THE STATUS OF DEPENDENTS

SPECIAL COMMITTEE OF HOUSE WILL FULLY INVESTIGATE RELATION TO PENSIONS.

WHAT OF CANTEEN FUNDS

OTTAWA, March 22.—(Canadian Press.)—The problem of placing the commutation of pensions on a sound actuarial basis was referred to the superintendent of the Soldiers' Insurance Branch by the Parliamentary Committee on Pensions this morning. G.W.V.A. officials declared the present system of calculating commutations was unfair. It was decided to fully investigate the question of the exact status of dependents of men alleged to have declined. In addition to the request of the Veterans a letter from the Minister of Militia also requested an investigation. The committee decided to accede to the request to recommend the proper channels for the disposal of the canteen funds surpluses, amounting to approximately seven million dollars, now in the hands of the Reciver-General. A considerable amount is yet to be received.

GEORGIA TRAGEDY STILL A MYSTERY.

Find Three Bodies of Negroes in River.

COVINGTON, Ga., March 22.—County authorities here were investigating the finding of three chained bodies of two negroes, chained together, were found in the river recently and later the body of another negro chained to a sack of rocks resting on the river bed.

None of the three bodies have been identified nor have there been any reports of racial trouble or tragedies in this section which would account for the deaths.

STOP SALE OF FORD'S PAPER.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 22.—Chief of Police Martin O'Brien said he was preparing to issue an order prohibiting street sales of the "Dearborn Independent," Henry Ford's paper. Charles H. Dause, city councillor, has ruled the sale by criers on the street constitutes a law violation punishable under defamation and criminal libel statutes and the disturbance of the peace ordinance.

The Huns Hit Back

RETALIATE BY CANCELLING BRITISH ORDERS AND RAISING PRICES OF DYES.

DICTATED BY STINNES

LONDON, March 22.—(Special to the Examiner by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service).—The first real counterstrike by Germany directed against the Allies in retaliation for the occupation of the Ruhr ports has thrown British manufacturers into a state of considerable alarm. The Allied proposal to collect an export tax of fifty per cent on the value of all goods passing through these ports to go towards the cost of the occupation and the bill for reparations, has been answered by Herr Hugo Stinnes, the real dictator of Germany today, who advises German merchants to cancel all orders that have ben placed in London and to demand prepayment in full on all orders placed by British manufacturers and wholesalers in Germany. In addition to this it is announced today that the cost of German dyes, which are still indispensible in the British textile industry, have been doubled.

ARE ENERGETICALLY PLANNING OFFENSIVE

GREEKS IN ASIA MINOR REPORTED TO BE ABOUT TO LAUNCH ATTACK.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 22.—(Canadian Press.) — The Greek forces in Asia Minor are reported to be energetically preparing for a new offensive in the direction of Eski-Shehr, an important city in the interior of Asia Minor, more than half way to Angeria from the Greek occupation area around Smyrnia. It is understood the offensive will begin late this month.

REPAIRING DAMAGE BY PORT HOPE FLOOD

PORT HOPE, March 22.—About one hundred and ten men are energetically at work repairing sidewalks, roads and crossings, washed out by the flood on Sunday, which destroyed property to the value of over $100,000. Port Hope has experienced many floods, but in the opinoin of the oldest residents, that of Sunday was by far the worst in the town's history.

BEGINS FIGHT AGAINST DRUG TRAFFICKERS

INTERNATIONAL RING ALLEGED TO EXIST AND WILL BE CURBED BY THE NEW YORK POLICE.

WORLD-WIDE TRAFFIC

NEW YORK, March 22.—(Canadian Press). — The opening of the fight to curb the traffic of an international big ring which he says is headed by the business men of Germany, Japan and Great Britain, was announced here to-day by Dr. C. Simon, special deputy police commissioner.

Declaring high ranking officers of steamships plying between New York and Mediterranean and South American ports have been transporting drugs to the United States, Dr. Simon said many raids are planned and developments of a serious nature expected. The crews of six steamships now are under surveillance, he added. Leaders of the "ring" had been identified but that action against them was impossible as laws of their countries do not prohibit trafficking in narcotics.

Drugs manufactured in Germany, it is charged, have been carried from that country into Switzerland by means of underground passages. Through Switzerland these drugs, Dr. Simon asserted, have been transported to the United States, China, Japan and Italy.

HEAVY FINE IF MAPLE SYRUP IS NOT "PURE."

Containers Must Also Bear Producer's Name.

That all containers of maple syrup must bear the producers'l full name and address, is the notice issued by Dominion Food Inspector William E. Wilson, of the London district. Failure to comply with this law makes the vendor liable to a fine and seizure of all of his supply. Whether the syrup is sold in a gallon can, a qaurt sealer or a milk can, the producer must have his name printed on it. It must be plainly visible to the public, and the can must also be stamped "Maple Syrup." The word "Pure" said Mr. Wilson, is not necessary, all maple syrup is supposed to be pure."

"If the product is not pure the owner is liable to a heavy fine," he asserted. The order affects all farmers in Middlesex, Lambton, Essex, Kent, Elgin, Norfolk and Brant Counties. Careful inspections will be made.

WOODSTOCK OPPOSES HYDRO TAX PROJECT

WOODSTOCK, March 22.—The City Council here will forward to the Legislature this week a strong resolution in opposition to the proposal that city users of Hydro power be taxed to enable the Drury Government to extend the service throughout rural municipalities. The North Oxford member, John Calder has been instructed by the Council to oppose the bill before the Legislature to impose the double platoon system, including the operation of fire departments in all cities over 10,000 population. The passing of the bill will mean an additional expenditure of $6,000 per year for Woodstock.

FATALLY INJURED ON RAILWAY AT TRENTON

BELLEVILLE, March 22.—An aged resident of Trenton, Mr. Charles Driscoll, met with fatal injuries during Saturday night's storm. He was walking across the C. N. R. track, when, owing to being dazzled by lightning, he did not see the approach of a train. He was struck down and injured to such an extent that death resulted two hours later. A son, Dr. Driscoll resides in

MAY PROBE TORONTO POLICE COURT CASE

TORONTO, March 22.—(Canadian Press). — Following the reading of affidavits by Ald. Singer last night, making serious charges against officials of the police court, the City Council adopted a resolution calling upon the legal department to advise them as to how to proceed to get the police court situation cleared up. Ald. Singer had asked for a judicial enquiry under the Enquiries Act and he got substantial support from the members. The discussion dragged along until nearly one o'clock this morning, when Controller Nesbitt's motion to refer the matter to the legal department was carried.

WOMEN BLAMED FOR EXCHANGE

SIR HENRY DRAYTON LAYS ADVERSE EXCHANGE RATE AT DOORS OF HOUSEWIVES.

BUY IN CANADA

MONTREAL, March 22. — Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance speaking yesterday before the American Women's Club here laid at the door of the Canadian housewife a large part of the responsibility for the shrinkage of the Canadian dollar in the United States market, and uttered a warning that, if the Dominion continued on her way of lavish importation of United States goods at the expense of Canadian producers and manufacturers, national bankruptcy would be inevitable.

Canada's apex of international trade reached last year in a total of two and a quarter billion of dollars did not in the minister's view, stand for prosperity in a country which was bearing the colossal burdens of war debt, of obligations to Canadian soldiers and of great debts grown out of the war in connection with the railway system of Canada.

Unnecessary purchases such as fruit, vegetables, eggs, and textiles mean," he said an extra charge of $2 on every ton of coal in the cellar of Montreal houses, since the adverse rate of exchange inflated the price of every article thus imported.

NEW SHOE STORE

ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE OPENING OF GRANT'S NEW SHOP FOR FINE FOOTWEAR

With the early days of spring all mankind begin to think of new footwear, and with this Easter season comes the announcement of the opening of a new shoe store at No. 330 George Street. The new shoeman is Mr. D. C. Grant, late manager and buyer for the shoe department of the Cressman firm. He hopes to be able to open out with a complete stock on Easter Saturday. Mr. Grant has had many years' practical experience in the shoe trade, having filled important positions in such widely known houses as Gales & Co., of Ottawa, and other places. He is an expert in fitting, and has graduated as a foot specialist.

Mr. Grant's new stock of footwear will chiefly embrace this spring's high-grade styles in Canadian and American models—such as have won favor with both men and women of particular dressy tastes. This distinctive footwear should appeal to Easter shoppers, and the prices promised will be found consistent with values. Fresh as spring, every pair will be new and just out of the cases.

The assortments have been carefully selected, and will reveal the newest shapes and leathers, novelties never shown here before, with so many unique and dainty features. Spring always brings in its wake new fancies and fresh fashions, and Mr. Grant intends to show the newest changes in feminine and masculine footwear.

The public are cordially invited to make a note of this Easter Footwear Opening, to see the newest creations for spring and summer. Shoppers will probably find just what they have been unable to find elsewhere. 1d

GERMANY WILL REFUSE TO PAY ALLIED DEMAND

UNOFFICIALLY STATED THAT 1,000,000,000 GOLD MARKS WILL NOT BE HANDED OVER.

TIME IS UP TO-MORROW

BERLIN, March 22. — (Canadian Press).—Germany's reply to the demand of the Entente for the payment before March 23 of one billion gold marks to apply on reparations obligations will be in the negative, it was unofficially stated to-day. The German Government's answer to the Allies, now being drafted, will be presented within thirty-six hours, as the time limit expires Wednesday.

WHY CHURCHES MUST ADVERTISE.

What a Church Trustee Has to Say.

A church trustee writes a letter to the Brooklyn Eagle in which he says: Advertising to-day is the modern method of reaching the public. Department stores could not exist were it not for this method of reaching the public. Why should the churches stand aloof and feel that they can grow and extend their power and influence without this modern machinery of advertising which is becoming so well organized in all departments of life?

The great trouble with most churches has been their lack of business acumen. The salaries paid clergymen have been so small that most of the theological schools of the country have been reduced to a mere handful of students. The activities of many of the churches, to say nothing of the preaching, have not kept pace with the demands of the day.

In communities where churches have grown and have exerted great power and influence it can be found that they have taken advantage of advertising. It may not be by notices in the newspapers, either by individual or combination "ads," but by the use of publicity both in the newspapers and by word of mouth among the people in the community.

The main problem after all is how to reach the masses. If by newspaper advertising, then that is right; if by billboard advertising, if by circulars, if by ministration and by preaching and by social activities, no matter what the method is, so long as the people are aroused and brought to the realization of their religious duties.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, March 22.—(Canadian Press).—Encouraged by yesterday's late re-action, shorts resumed their aggressive operations at the opening of to-day's stock market, effecting further losses in the majority of the popular shares. Crucible Steel lost one point, and large fractional recessions were made by Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums. U.S. Rubber, Canadian Pacific and New Haven. Studebaker, General Asphalt, Endicott Johnson and several unimportant specialties were included among the few firm issues. A steadier tone developed within the first half-hour on improvement shown by oils.

On the early rebound oils and shippings, as well as food and textile specialties, were carried 1 to 2 points over yesterday's final prices, some of the rails, notably Hill issues, also strengthening. Excepting Atlantic Gulf, the gains were largely or entirely cancelled before noon, Steels, Motors, Coppers, Tobaccos and low-priced rails yielding to renewed pressure. Republic Iron Preferred, Pierce Arrow Preferred, Tobacco Products and Sears-Roebuck were especially heavy, losing two to three points, and General Asphalt, the most active feature of the morning, re-acted 1 3-4. There was little demand for call money at 6½ per cent. renewal rates.

Shorts were provided with additional material at midday on the announcement of the passing of the Vanadium dividends, that soctk falling two points. Sears-Roebuck increased its loss to 5¼. Montgomery Ward lost 1 5-8, and Investment Rails became heavy again, Chicago and North-Western declining three points.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, March 22.—(Canadian Press).—The advance of much pressure to sell brought about the appearance of strength in the wheat market to-day. Buying, however, was of only a scattered sort, and was confined mainly to shorts. The opening prices, which varied from unchanged figures to 3-4 cents lower, were followed by moderate gains all round, and then by a fair re-action.

Corn hardened with wheat. After opening a shade to 5-8 cent lower, the market scored slight general gains but then sagged. Oats were firmer with other cereals, starting unchanged to 3-8 cents off, but later showing a small advance. Provisions, like grain, tended slightly upward.

Subsequently bearish crop reports together with misgivings about economic conditions and lack of export demand led to an effort to liquidate and prices broke sharply in the wheat market. The close was unsettled with March 151 3-4 to 152, and May 142 3-4 to 143.

Later the corn market sympathized with wheat weakness. Corn closed nervous with May 65 1-8 to 65 1-4.

MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, March 22.—(Canadian Press).—Nothing interesting developed during the morning on the local Stock Exchange, and most of the issues were steady, although exceptionally quiet. Riordon held its overnight advance of five points and closed at 110. Abitibi weakened another ¼ points to 42 3-4. Brompton did not vary. Neither did Laurentide. National Breweries was quiet throughout the morning at 37, while Spanish River closed slightly stronger at 76.

TORONTO.

TORONTO, March 22.—(Canadian Press).—Conflicting opinions regarding trade conditions generally led to considerable irregularity in trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, the closing at noon showing an even distribution of gains and losses. Riordon Paper, after its violent downward swing yesterday to 107¼, recovered 3¼, while Spanish River also made a partial recovery at 67½. There was no rally in Abitibi, this stock declining 1¼ to 42½. C.P.R. lost half a point at 129, but General Electric made a full recovery of yesterday's loss, closing at noon at 114. Toronto Railway was down 1 at 67½.

LIVE STOCK MARKET.

TORONTO, March 22.— (CanadianPress.)—Cattle receipts light, trade active. Quotations: Heavy beef steers, $10 to $12, Choice butcher steers, $9 to $10, Butcher cows, medium, $5 to $7.50. Calves, $15 to $17.50. Lambs, $14 to $16. Hogs, fed and watered, selects, $15.50 to $15.75.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, May 22.—(Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange easier; demand 3.50 7-8. Canadian dollars, 19 1-8 per cent. discount.

IT'S ACTIONABLE SLANDER

Totally unwarranted rumours reflecting on the equity and integrity of Peterborough's business houses, are in circulation around town, emanating from some person or persons as yet unknown, but whose identity no pains will be spared to establish. The story is not altogether a new one, and is to the effect that Government inspectors—male and female—of prices have visited local stores, and succeeded in gathering data in proof that several merchants are making excess retail profits, over and above wholesale invoice charges for goods, after allowing for overhead expenses. Enquiry by The Examiner shows irrefutably that the whole report is a fabrication and can only find foundation in either dreams of a diseased mind or in a deliberate attempt to maliciously slander reputable dealers in such merchandise as ladies' and gents' wear. The general public can rest assured that were there any truth whatever in these rumous they would have been so informed ere this from a more authoritative source or sources than the playing of battledore and shuttlecock with merchants' good names by thoughtless or evil-disposed traducers. For had inspectors visited this town and discovered profiteering, that fact would have been given wide publicity; and on the other hand, had an examination resulted in their finding fair trade conditions the business men themselves would quite naturally have reported such pronouncement. It may safely be assumed that, here as elsewhere, vendors of commodities in order to tide over a period of depression, must shave rather than augment prices on a close live-and-let-live basis.

Once again attention is drawn to the unpleasant consequences that may follow any attempt to defame either a person's business or private character—such conduct is actionable—very much so.

Power Interests of Trent Valley In Session Here

CONSIDER PROPOSAL THAT GOVERNMENT BE URGED TO ALLOW MUNICIPALITIES TO ACQUIRE POWER SYSTEM TO BE OPERATED BY HYDRO AS IN THE WEST.

WORK OF THE PAST YEAR REVIEWED

At the annual meeting of the municipal power interests in the Central Ontario district, which was held in the City Hall here on Monday afternoon, a resolution was unanimously passed requesting the Government to bring down legislation enabling the municipalities to acquire the Central Ontario power system, to be operated for them by the Hydro-Electric Commission on the same co-operative basis that obtains among the municipalities of Western Ontario.

The proposal, which will be laid before the Legislature, was tersely described by Reeve E. L. Vickery, of Oshawa. "It means," he said, "that the municipalities will pay for the Central Ontario power system, and at the end of forty years, they will own it. Under the present arrangement which we have with the Government, we will pay for the system anyway, but at the end of forty years, some one else will own it. That difference is so plain that it should appeal to all the municipalities in the district that are using the power."

Mayor J. O'Reilly, of Lindsay, defined the scheme in the homely terms of house rentals. "It is like a man owning a house or renting one," he pointed out. "We are now paying the rent of the power to the Government, but if we keep on doing so, the Government will still own the properties. If we can get this legislation we will have the opportunity of buying the entire system."

H. G. Ireland, Manager of the Hydro-Electric Commission in this district, stated that the change would not impose any additional costs upon the municipalities. They simply assumed liability for the debentures which would be issued by the Hydro-Electric Commission, who would operate the system. Ownership of the properties would be transferred from the Provincial Government to the municipalities of this district that buy the power, and the Hydro-Electric Commission would continue to operate the system.

Nine Municipalities Represented.

The delegates were: J. H. Sills, Trenton; B. Ewing, Cobourg; E. L. Vickery, Oshawa; T. J. Taylor, Desoronto; L. A. Southworth, Omemee; Mayor J. O'Reilly, T. Wilkinson and T. H. Stinson, of Lindsay; Reeve Curtis, Havelock; Mayor McIntyre, Aldermen Turner, Morrison and Phelan, R. Hicks, E. F. Mason and S. R. Armstrong, Peterborough.

Ald. Turner was appointed Chairman on T. H. Stinson's motion, seconded by Mayor McIntyre.

Mr. Stinson briefly recounted how the Central Ontario Municipal Association had languished and passed out. It was succeeded during the last two or three years by what was intended to be an association of the municipalities who are power customers of the Hydro-Electric Commission in this district. It was regrettable, he said, that the attendance had not been larger.

Western Ontario's Example.

City Clerk Amstrong outlined the purposes of these annual meetings. Some of the municipalities realized that they should follow the example of the municipalities in Western Ontario. They are the virtual owners of the power systems in that part of the Province. They guarantee the bonds for generating plants and transmission lines, and when these debentures are retired, the municipalities will own the power systems. They will be then in a position to decrease their rate and probably to secure advantages that will be lost to the municipalities in Central Ontario if they are satisfied to remain as mere tenants or renters of the local power, instead of engaging to buy it on terms similar to those in the west end of the Provinie.

Property Not Going Behind.

Replying to Mayor O'Reilly, Mr. Ireland stated that the Central Ontario power properties were not going behind. "They are standing on their feet," he said. "When the Commission fell heir to the properties of the Electric Power Company, they found quite a number of contracts which they regarded as improvident. They had been made in earlier days by subsidiary companies. These contracts have been gradually expiring, thereby enabling the Commission to put them on a proper basis that will carry itself."

Will Have To Pay Anyway.

Mr. Ireland told the meeting that the Government's bonds financing the Central Ontario scheme would expire on March 1st, 1926.

Reeve Vickery: "Suppose the municipalities don't take over the system?"

Mr. Ireland: "New bonds would have to be issued in 1926."

Mr. Vickery remarked that the charges for power included the bond interest. "Eventually the municipalities will have to pay the cost of the system, but they won't own it unless they take it over now?"

"Mr. Ireland: "That's it in a nutshell."

To Mr. Hicks Mr. Ireland said that every local improvement in the system improved the condition of the whole. For example, the line to Healey Falls is capable of carrying three times its present load. As the demand for power here grows, it can be transmitted without any increased capital cost.

Reeve Vickery offered his understanding of the proposition in the brief form quoted above. The municipalities, he said, would have to pay for the system anyway. Hence they should own it instead of having nothing to show for their annual expenditures for power.

Light Charges Lower.

"In Oshawa," he continued, "we don't own our distribution system. Although there have been advances in the costs of power, we are paying about a dollar less for light. The increased revenue from this system must have taken care of the increased costs of labour, material and other items and at the same time enabled the Commission to reduce our rates."

Mr. Stinson: "The reduction of the rates depends upon the industrial development throughout the district."

In answer to Mr. Stinson as to

MANY READJUSTMENTS IN DIRECTORATE AND MANAGEMENT MADE AT ANNUAL MEETING.

NET PROFITS HIGHER

TORONTO, March 22.—Important changes in the Board of Directors and management of the Canadian General Electric Company, Ltd., were made at the annual meeting of shareholders held in Toronto. Senator Frederic Nicholls, who has been associated with the company for thirty-three years, is relinquishing the combined positions of President and General Manager, and now becomes Chairman of the Board of Directors, which post will henceforth demand all his time. Mr. A. E. Dyment, formerly Vice-President and Chairman of the Board, becomes President. Mr. J. J. Ashworth, Assistant General Manager and a Director, takes over the General Managership.

The surprise of the meeting came with the announcement that Senator Nicholls would be presented with 2,400 shares of common stock of the company, worth approximately a quarter million dollars, in recognition of his long services as head of the concern.

Net Profits Higher.

The annual meeting was one of unusual interest. The 1920 financial statement shows a year of unusual prosperity, with net profits of $1,356,689, as compared with $1,093,320 in the previous year.

The consolidated surplus account shows:

Profit for the year, before providing for depreciation and interest	$2,213,731.14
Reserve for depreciation of plant	$530,741.95
Interest on borrowed capital	326,300.14
		857,042.09
Net profit for the year		$1,356,689.05
Less—Divends paid: 8 per cent. and bonus 2 per cent. on common, and 7 per cent. on preferred stock		1,014,114.25
Surplus for the year		$342,574.80
Add—Undivided profits as at December 31st, 1919		436,097.48
Balance at credit profit and loss		$778,672.28
Reserve		5,000,000.00
Surplus per balance sheet		$5,778,672.28

The balance at credit of profit and loss a year ago was $436,097.

The feature of the statement is the announcement of a 20 per cent. stock dividend, to be distributed to shareholders in view of the large accumulated surplus which has been built up during years of conservative management. A special general meeting for the ratification of this bonus will be called shortly.

Senator Nicholl's Statement.

President Nicholls in his address, touching on his retirement from the position of President and General Manager to assume the duties of Chairman of the Board, said:

"Since I organized a syndicate thirty-three years ago, for the purpose of investigating the possibilities of the electrical industry as a field for investment, I have maintained a policy of personal control and direction of all details of the business, large and small. The capital of the original syndicate, from which our present company sprung, was $10,000, whereas our assets today are over $31,000,000. This remarkable growth necessitated a corresponding increase in responsibilities, and I have concluded that it is not only fair to myself to ask for a measure of relief, but also none the less fair to the interests of the shareholders that younger men should succeed me and carry on."

Wanderer Will Hang

"ARCH-MURDERER OF ALL TIME" SENTENCED TO DEATH AT SECOND MURDER TRIAL.

MOST UNUSUAL CASE

CHICAGO, March 22. — Carl Wandered will die by a hangman's noose. So decided a jury here in returning a verdirt in the serond case lor which Wanderer, a former army lieutenant, and described by the State prosecutors as the "arch-murderer of all time," has stood trial.

The verdict ends one of the most unusual criminal cases tried here in many years. Wanderer was tried and sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary for the murder of his wife. At the same time he was alleged to have killed a tramp, whom he is said to have found in the hallway of his home.

The jury was out twenty minutes.

Wanderer declared that when he came home from a picture show one night with his wife, they met a man in the vestibule at the entrance to their home. The man opened fire, Wanderer said, and he fired back. The stranger and Wanderer's wife were killed.

For several days Wanderer was looked on as a hero. The police, however, found that the stranger's gun belonged to Wanderer's cousin, and that Wanderer had borrowed it a few days before the murder. Wanderer was arrested and signed a confession that he had hired the stranger, whom he termed a "poor boob," to stage a fake hold-up and had killed his wife and the man.

In his first trial, for the murder of his wife and her unborn baby, Wanderer repudiated this confession. He was found guilty and given a 25-year sentence, the jury announcing that it had compromised on the punishment.

The State immediately arranged for a second trial, the charge being for murder of the dupe. The defence pleaded insanity in the second trial. The body of the stranger still is in the county morgue, never having been identified.

Wanderer, in the repudiated confession, said he had met the man in a saloon, and arranged the hold-up, telling the stranger he would kill his wife, but wanted to make it realistic by a mock robbery. He said he wanted to get rid of his wife, so he could go back to the army, where he had served overseas as a lieutenant.

WOULD OPEN BOTH HOUSE AND SENATE

FOR CABINET MINISTERS TO SIT IN WHEN THEIR DEPARTMENTS BEING DISCUSSED, PROPOSES LEMIEUX.

LAUDS THE SENATE

OTTAWA, March 22.—(Canadian Press.)—Private members' day in the House brought a constitutional discussion which both sides agreed in terming of prime importance. It touched on the relations between the Senate and the House. Hon. Rodolph Lemieux initiated it on a motion to enable ministers of the Crown to sit in either chamber "whenever measures and policies are introduced affecting their respective policies." The Senate, Mr. Lemieux argued, was never more necessary than at the present with the world passing through a period of reconstruction. At present, the government had three ministers in the Senate and surely it was essential that the head of the labor department and the head of the interior department "now in the Senate," should be entitled to be present when their departments were being discussed in the House.

The Prime Minister saw no strong objection to the principle of the proposal, but he doubted if it could be given effect by a resolution either of the House or Senate. Would it not rather require a constitutional amendment? In any event, it was a step which should be taken only after mature consideration. "It should be open," Mr. Meighen declared, "to the consideration of the people through the press, and there should be a general discussion before be launch on such a proposal."

From the Opposition benches came the expression of the view that the adoption of the proposal in full might lead to abuse. Hon. A. K. MacLean (Halifax), former member of the Borden government, agreed on the advisability of ministers with seats in the House being permited to hand in Senate business of their department.

Mr. Lemieux eventually withdrew his resolution.

For practically the whole afternoon housing was under discussion on motion by H. C. Hocken (Toronto West), calling for a housing proposition of millions annually for five years. Support and criticism of the motion came both from the government and Opposition members, criticism generally lying on the ground of exenditure. The debate was adjourned.

Parry Sound Dam Bursts, Wrecking the Power House

NUMBER OF MEN TRAPPED WHEN WING OF DAM COLLAPSED BUT ESCAPED THROUGH COVERED FLUME WHILE POWER HOUSE WRECKED BY TONS OF WATER.

SUPERINTENDENT HAD NARROW ESCAPE

PARRY SOUND, March 22.—(Canadian Press).—Last night, the fifteen hundred horsepower electric plant here was almost a complete wreck, swept and pounded by thousands of tons of water and debris released when one of the wings of the dam partly collapsed. A number of men were trapped in and about the powerhouse when the break occurred They were driven to the roof, whence they made a precarious escape by way of a covered flume and across the big dam.

George Murray, Superintendent of the waterworks plant, who was assisting in work in the electric power house, was caught in the flood and barely escaped by climbing up a big window, breaking the glass with his hands as he climbed higher to escape the roaring torrent There he was held captive until ropes were procurred which were let down to him from the roof of the powerhouse, and he was drawn up to the roof and safety. He was badly cut by breaking glass as he forced his way from danger.

CHICKEN'S HEART BEATS IN TUBE.

NEW YORK, March 19.—The heart of a chicken, which has never "lived" in the accepted meaning of the word, has been functioning in the Rockfeller Institute laboratories for more than eight years and continues to add to its tissue, it was learned to-day.

The heart was removed from the embryo by Dr. Alexis Carrel and placed in a test tube, immersed in a special solution After two years the tissue cells began to multiply and now it is several times its original size.

WEARIED BY STRIKES

GRAZ, Austria, March 21.—(Canadian Press)—Wearied by the endless strikes of all classes of working people, many of them political and nearly all on trivial grounds, the Styrian Physicians Association has formally declared they will make reprisal. In event of a wanton strike involving communications or traffic or in any way endangering the public health and comfort, they will strike and refuse to visit or prescribe for the sick.

HYPHENATED CITIZENS.

The mass meeting of loyal Americans held in New York the other night to protest against recent antially demonstration in that city was more representative of the real sentiment of the United States than the mouthings of some of the strife makers who have been trying to keep the flames of hatred blazing. In the United States as in Canada, perhaps to a lesser degree, there are many people who seem blind to the fact that true patriotism should impel them to consider first the claims of the country in which are living. There is no room in either republic or Dominion for hyphenated ctizens who think more of the land from which they spring than they do of their duty to the land in which they have become citizens. It is a poor return for the liberty they enjoy on this side of the Atlantic to attempt to use their safe position here as a campaigning ground for the furthering of interests with which the people of Canada and the United States have little or no concern. And the sooner these misguided citizens learn the fundamental principles of patriotism the better it will be not only for this continent but for themselves.

LORD BYNG.

It is not surprising to find that several branches of organizations of returned soldiers in Canada have declared themselves as heartily in favour of the appointment of Lord Byng as the next Governor-General of the Dominion. To the members of the Canadian Expeditionary Force his name is a revered and esteemed one, for General Byng commanded the Canadian forces in France during one of the most trying periods of the war, and it was under his command that the Canadian corps achieved its great victory at Vimy Ridge. The man who was worthy of leading the Maple Leaf troops into battle should adorn the position of Governor-General, and his appointment would be popular among ex-service men, especially those who, as members of the Canadian Army Corps in the earlier stages of the war, proudly bore the title of the "Byng Boys." And as the Vancouver Sun puts it, "Every day he holds the highest office in our Dominion will recall the events, the sacrifices, the consecrations, the victories, in the course of our national effort for the holding together of the British Empire and the saving of civilization."

THE VETERANS 'REQUEST.

The requests made by the Great War Veterans' Association before the Parliamentary Committee on Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment will strike the average citizen as sane and reasonable, even if it is not possible to put them all in effect immediately. The G.W.V.A. has since its inception been constructive in its criticism of re-establishment plans, and many of the reforms suggested by the organization have been acted upon. The newest suggestions from the G. W. V. A. should receive the sympathetic attention of the Special Committee. Probably the chief request is the one for larger pensions. The present scale, Secretary MacNeil declares, does not fill the gap between the disability earning capacity and the normal earning capacity of pensioners. This is a statement that should be fully investigated, for whatever may be the opinion in regard to cash gratuities for Canadian soldiers, there is no doubt of the desire of the people of this country that the men who fought and who suffered disability shall be provided with adequate pensions to enable them to fight life's battles with a fair chance for success.

THE RENT PROBLEM.

The rent problem, with which most of the people of urban Ontario are painfully familiar, will be the subject of an interesting, and it is hoped profitable, debate, when Hon. Walter Rollo's Fair Rentals Bill comes before the Legislature for discussion. There is much opposition to the measure on the part of property owners, as might naturally be expected, and it may be that the Legislature may decide that the Rollo bill goes too far in its provisions. But in the interests of the public, if the measure is rejected, some other action will have to be taken to protect tenants from that section of the property owners who have been taking advantage of the abnormal scarcity of housed to exact utterly unreasonable rents. Many landlords have been fair to their tenants; they have only raised their rents to keep pace with increasing taxation, and the greater cost of repairs, and they are absolved from the charge of being profiteers. But, unfortunately, in every urban centre in Ontario there are property owners of another type who have deliberately utilized the scarcity of houses to extort exorbitant rentals. If the Rollo Bill is too drastic there should be substituted legislation to rescue thousands of people from a situation that is becoming intolerable.

WHAT THE TRAFFIC WILL BEAR.

Since the Canadian Minister of Railways "presented" Parliament with a $50,000,000 deficit ,there has been a feeling of gloom in the ranks of the public ownership enthusiasts, while even the private ownership suporters, keeping in view the doubtful showing of the Canadian Pacific are not disposed to urge the return of such a white elephant as the Canadian National to private hands. The fact is that only a drastic reduction in operating costs can rescue the Canadian roads from their difficulties. Several lines in the United States have already taken this step, and since the Canadian roads have followed those across the line closely as regards both rates and wages, similar action here can be delayed only with serious results.

On March 11th railroad heads in Chicago stated that all classes of employees would be effected by the readjustment. At the same time they admitted that excessive freight and passenger rates are a potential influence in holding back industry and that rates cannot be lowered until wages are reduced and the payrolls freed of the thousands of employees loaded uopn them during the war. However for the present there would be no reduction in the pay of skilled employees — the operating forces—but they, too, in time, must meet the readjustment plan. It was pointed out that the roads would have to put their houses in order or go into bankruptcy. Freight was not moving, passenger business was slumping, and when the railroads suffered the entire country suffered.

Frank admission was made by the executives that rates were too high to permit traffic. Merchants who have to pay the high rates simply pass the cost along to the ultimate consumer, and the ultimate consumer in recent months has shown a decided aversion to paying. He has quit buying, and thus stagnation has set in along the entire line.

From the labor side there was little comment upon the proposed action by the executives. B. M. Jewell, representing the unions, said the men had known for some time that the propositions were coming, but he would have to wait for more detailed statements before making formal announcement of the attitude of labor. Other labor officials questioned the right of the roads to confer with their employees by individual crafts. They held that the roads would have to hold one conference with representatives of all employees, and could not deal individually with the different unions.

The Chicago and Great Western Railway announced that conferences would be held this month on a proposed reduction of 20 per cent in salaries of all employees, from the president down. The Santa Fe is laying off large numbers of men to reduce its payrolls. The Alton, Burlington, Rock Island, Monon, Michigan Central and other lines have called conferences with their men on the proposition to cut wages from 8 to 20 per cent.—Monetary Times.

A RECORD YEAR.

The annual report of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on the business of 1920, shows that the new business placed on the books broke all previous records in the world. Neither the great amount of new insurance taken out, nor the percentage of lapses indicate depression in the business or industrial world. The amount placed in the United States and Canada was $1,651,950,151, which is a gain of more than two hundred and fifty million dollars, as compared with the previous year.

The income and assets increased proportionately, the income for the year being $263,519,779, and the assets making a gain of $116,019,262 for a total of $980,913,087. Dividends have been declared, payable to policy holders in 1921, amounting to $10,819,369, of which $6,961,261 is to holders of Industrial policies.

The number of policies outstanding at the end of the year was 23,899,997. The number increased in 1920 by 2,129,326.

Claims were paid on 312,689 policies, an average of one every 28 seconds for each business day of eight hours. The amount paid to policy holders in claims, matured endowments, dividends, etc., was $81,257,393 or an average of $556.86 a minute for every business day of eight hours. Group insurance amounted to $214,547,572.

The Company placed new business in Canada during 1920 amounting to $123,016,745, of which $43,494,114 was industrial. This is the largest amount ever placed in Canada by any company in any one year. The company closed the year 1920 with a total of $407,957,217 in force in Canada.

In 1920 the Metropolitan paid Canadian policy-holders $4,309,648.12. The work for improved health among Canadians was continued. Metropolitan nurses in cooperation with The Victorian Order of Nurses made 187,545 free visits to sick Industrial policy holders in Canada during the year and distributed 2,6800,000 pieces of health literature. The confidence of the people of the Dominion in the financial strength of the Company, and in the desirability of its policies, is indicated by the fact that the number of policies in force in the Dominion is 1,587,479. The Company's investments in Canada are over $62,000,000.

The Company's health activities have been continuous during the last ten years and the Company has found that they have had an appreciable effect on its mortality. The death rate for 1920 among Industrial policy holders was the lowest in the history of the Company. The reduction in general mortality in the last nine years has been 22 7-10 per cent. The Company's reduction of mortality from typhoid in nine years has been 72 per cent.; in tuberculosis, 40 per cent.; heart disease, a trifle over 19 per cent.; Bright's disease, nearly 27 per cent., and the infectious diseases of children, over 28 per cent.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Sunday's flood in Port Hope was the biggest excitement that town has seen since the day Sandy Lockington was discovered to be wearing cream-coloured spats.

A Holland's Landing farmer stopped a train by waving a pair of socks. Some socks would stop almost anything.

Judging by the announcement that Pavlowa netted $100,000 in her recent tour, the revolutions of the Russian dancer are evidently more profitable than the usual Russian revolution.

For saving the lives of 200 passengers by stopping a train headed for a washout on the line, the hero of the incident received $28 from the passengers. That figures out at the rate of 14c. a life.

Cobourg Collegiate Institute has been teaching its pupils how to speak in public by holding an oratory contest. Judging by proceedings in the Legislature, a course in when not to talk would seem to be a necessity.

There is to be no daylight saving for the Canadan railways this year, and judging from Dr. Reid's report the roads don't save anything else.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

A millionaire in the United States is starting a newspaper just for the fun of running it. Some people have queer ideas of fun.

The head of the dinosaur which was dug up in Alberta had three horns. Most certainly must have lived in the pre-prohibition era, for under the O.T.A. even one horn is frowned upon.

Stephen Leacock labels some recent works as Nonse Novels. All writers are not so frank.

Now that Chief Newhall has declared war on the bootleggers many citizens will have to make their own hootch or let the expressmen run the gauntlet of staring neighbours to their front doors.

And when you come to think of it, says the Backfence Cynic, the bootlegging industry depends less on the difficulty of getting the stuff than on the clutching fear of "what will people say?"

"I hear that Old Wayen cleaned up in a real estate deal?"

"Well, you might say that. He managed to slip his bag past his landlady and jumped two weeks' rent when he moved the other day to new quarters.

"Is he a prominent and influential architect?" we asked.

"I guess he must be," replied Mr. Newrich. "He recommended a certain kind of heating plant to me very strongly, and when I asked him why this particular kind he said it was absolutely fool-proof."

"And do you think I would prove a satisfactory mate with whom to sail the sea of life?" he asked softly.

"Oh, so-so," the maiden responded coolly. "You'd do pretty well as a mate, I guess, if you clearly understood who was captain."

Why Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is the Favorite Constipation Remedy with so Many Mothers

YOUNG Mothers in the midst of bringing up a family of small children should consider it a duty to investigate the action of the various remedies for constipation. This is the ailment most common among children, and it often leads to serious diseases. It is important for the mother to know the right remedy to give, for they differ widely in action.

Children do not take kindly to drastic drugs, salt waters, calomel, physics, castor oil, carthartics, mercurials and such things, and they find difficulty in swallowing these harsh medicines even when disguised in sugar-coated tablets or pills. It is not only that the child doesn't like the taste, but these drugs are so violent that they wrench the little system. They should not be given to children.

Thousands of wise mothers, after having tried many things, give only a combination of simple herbs with pepsin, known to druggists as Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin. The formula is on the package. It is a mild, gentle remedy, free from all narcotics, that relieves constipation and its symptoms, such as headache, biliousness, colds, fever, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, and it does it without griping or weakening. A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin can be bought at any drug store for sixty cents and is enough to last an average family many months.

Last year over eight million bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin were sold in drug stores, the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, and as the preparation has been on the market over thirty years the second generation of mothers are now giving it to their babies. No careful, well-regulated home will be without a bottle for a mild, safe constipation remedy like this may be needed by someone in the family any minute. Every bottle is guaranteed to do exactly as claimed for the ailments of the stomach, liver and bowels or your money will be refunded.

TRY IT FREE!

There are heads of families who will want to prove to their own satisfaction that my Laxative Syrup Pepsin is as effective in constipation, as mild and gentle in action, as pleasant-tasting and safe, as I claim. Let such write me for a free sample. It will be sent postpaid. Simply say "Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 19 Front Street, Bridgeburg, Ont.: Send a free trial bottle of your Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin to—" and give your name and address. I will see that the rest is attended to promptly.

WESTWOOD CASE CONCLUDED TO-DAY

LONG DRAWN OUT CASE REACHES FINAL STAGES.

With reasonable prospects that the lengthy appeal case from Westwood will be concluded to-day, the County Court adjourned shortly after four o'clock yesterday after a full day's sitting.

Matthew and David Breckenbridge, grist mill owners of Westwood, are appealing to have an award made by William Wilkins, Engineer of Asphodel Township, for draining alleged drowned lands caused by overflow from the mill pond, set aside on the grounds that the plans as proposed would drain or partially drain the pond. The township, not caring to fight the appeal, William Morris, of Westwood, alleged to have suffered severe flooding, is defending the award. The case is being heard by Judge Huycke. F. D. Kerr is counsel for the Breckenbridges. B. D. Hall for William Morris.

Case For Defence.

The case for the defence proceeded yesterday.

Evidence was given yesterday by Mr. Wilkins, Thomas Cardwell, who claims his lands to have been greatly flooded, William Morris, J. J. Breckenbridge, Township Clerk, Reeve John Scott of Asphodel and Major A. P. Miller of the Trent Canal engineering staff.

Major Miller declared that the engineering methods of Major Burwash and George Wright in ascertaining the height of the embankment were wrong.

Only one more witness, J. W. Fitzgerald, of this city, will be called by Mr. Hall to-day.

HEAVY STORMS OVER WEEK-END NEAR NORWOOD

SUNDAY CONGREGATIONS WERE SMALL—NORWOOD NEWS OF INTEREST.

NORWOOD, March 22. — The congregations in the several churches were very small on Sunday on account of the heavy rain.

A meeting of those interested in temperance will be held in the Methodist Sunday school room to-night in the interests of the vote to be taken on April 18th.

Rev. Mr. Wesley of Coldwater, conducted the services in the Presbyterian church on Sunday.

Mr. Ralph Cuthbertson was in charge of the Young People's Guild of the Presbyterian church on Monday evening.

On Sunday evening in the Presbyterian church it was moved by Mr. Jessie Thompson, seconded by Mr. Thos. Robinson, that a congregational meeting be held on Monday evening, March 28th, to consider a call to their pulpit.

Miss Edith Tedford has taken the position of organist in the Presbyterian church.

Anglican Young People's Association.

On Friday evening the A.Y.P.A. held a St. Patrick entertainment in their club rooms over Mr. T. Ridyard's store.

The room was tastefully decorated with green and white tissue paper prettily arranged in festoons and drapings, trimmed with harps and shamrocks commemorative of St. Patrick.

Those to whom this part of the work was entrusted have proved themselves adepts at the art and spare no time or trouble in their efforts to make all a splendid success.

The evening was spent in games, after which a programme was given. Rev. Noble gave a splendid address on St. Patrick. Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Una Duffield and Miss Florence Scott and a duet by Mr. K. G. Thompson and Miss Ida Weir, which won much favorable comment. Instrumentals were given by Miss Barbara Foote and Miss Lois Cuffe.

Mrs. Thompson, an old lady of over eighty, delighted all with several piano selections.

Refreshments were furnisehd by six of the ladies and served at tables decorated with green and white. So great was the supply that it was decided to serve light lunch on Saturday afternoon.

Those present expressed themselves as delighted with the evening's entertainment, which was closed by all joining hands and singing God Save the King, the accompaniments being played by the older member, Mrs. Thompson, Sr.

Removals.

Mr. George Humphries is preparing to move to the farm near Wildman's school, which he recently purchased from Mr. Chamberlain.

Mr. Peacock, Sr., will move into the house occupied by Mr. Humphries as soon as it is vacated.

Mr. T. Ridyard is moving his oven down to his residence on Peterborough street, where he has made several alterations and will carry on his bakery business, selling bread to the merchants of the village and surrounding villages.

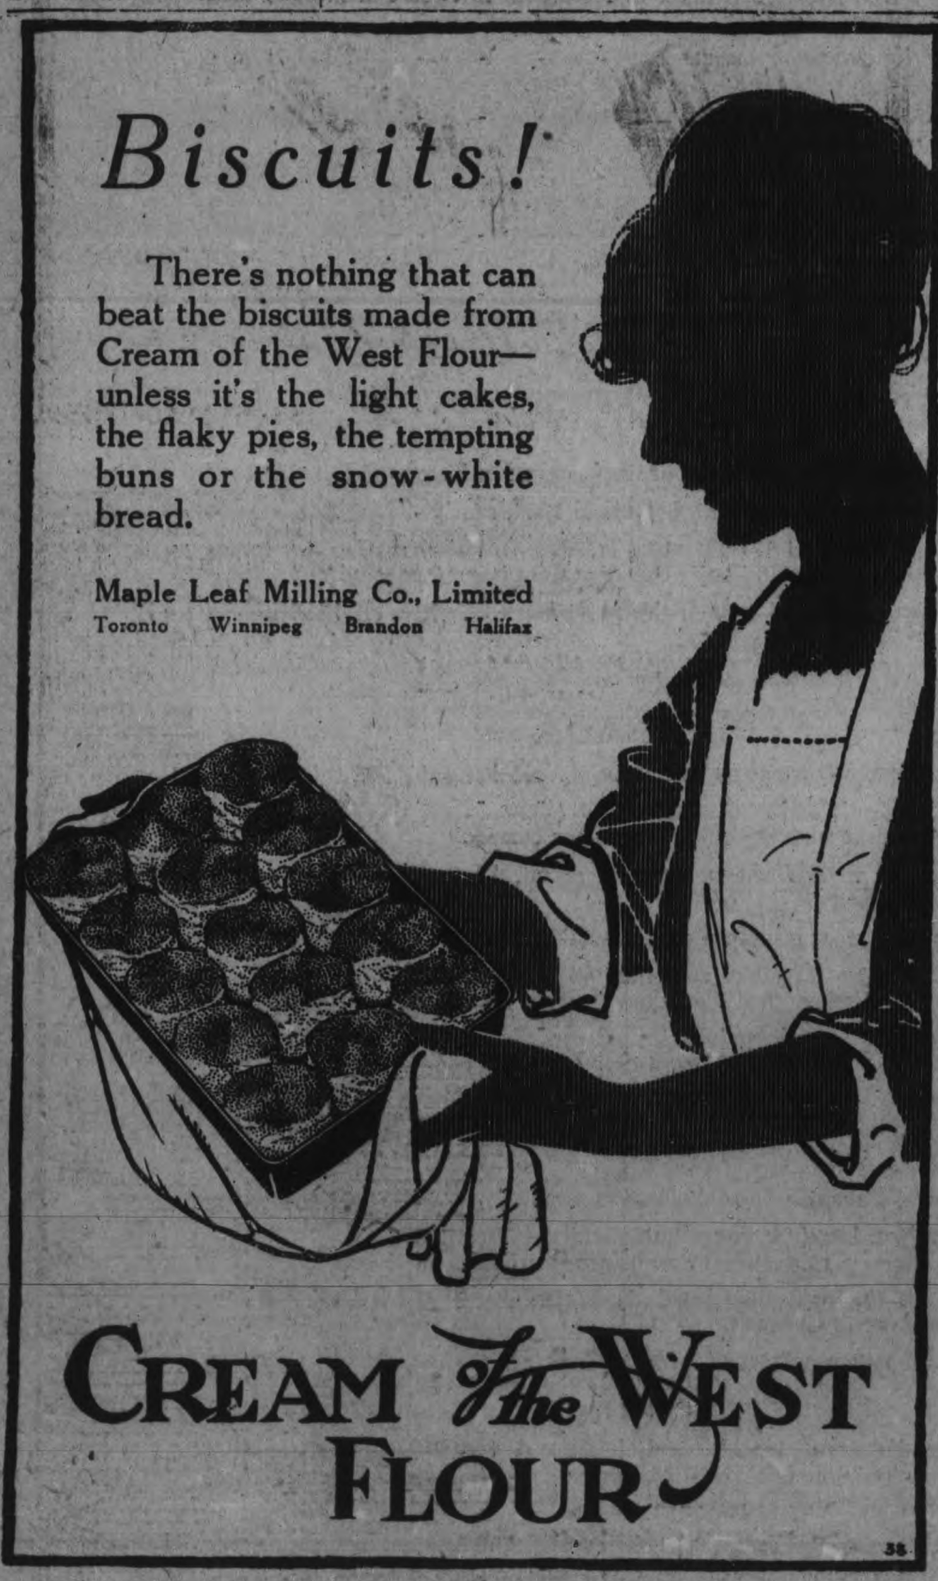
Messrs. Porter and Dinner, who have purchased Mr. Ridyard's shop on Colborne street, and have taken over his sale of bread and pastry, have decided to extend their activities after they get the interior arranged to do so conveniently.

Social and Personal.

Miss Marjory Johnson, who spent the past two months as nurse-in-training in Grace Hospital, Toronto, returned home on Friday.

Mrs. Dainard of Hastings, has been visiting Norwood friends.

Mrs. C. Johnson of Campbellford, is a guest of Mrs. W. Baskin.



TRENT RIVER NEWS

TRENT RIVER, March 22. — Heavy rains, accompanied by severe thunder and lightning, passed over here on Saturday and Sunday, making the roads almost impassable.

A number from here went to Havelock to attend the sale at Ray Scott's on Saturday.

Mr. John Melville of Midland, has been a visitor with his sister, Mrs. A. Wight, for a few days.

The egg market is still on the slump, the highest price being 30 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke Ellis have moved in with their daughter, Mrs. McLaughlin, on Browning avenue.

The Sewing Circle will not meet again until May, when it will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Garneau's and arrangements will be planned for a bazaar.

Mr. Sarsfield McGuire has disposed of his farm, at Mud Lake, to parties from Toronto, who intend opening up a summer house for tourists.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Rylott and family of Belmont township, left for their new home in Peterborough last week, where Mr. Rylott has secured a good position at the De Laval Dairy Supply Co.

Attended Church.

Notwithstanding the roads being almost impassable on Sunday, a goodly number of the congregation of the Methodist church were present to hear Rev. A. O. Seymour, pastor, deliver a helpful and inspiring address.

The usual prayer and praise service will be held Thursday evening.

Messrs. Robt. Buchanan of Seymour township, and Charles Thompson, of Campbellford, have purchased the creamery in Havelock from Mr. R. S. Southworth and have taken possession.

An After-Theater Party.

Chapter 8.

In the few seconds while Mrs. Darwood's long thin fingers touched mine as Leonard introduced us, I felt I had fathomed the woman's nature. There was no grip or firmness in her touch! Her hand slipped from mine cold, soft, and listless.

"Mrs. Allen—you must know Alvah," she turned coquettishly, catching her companion by the lapel of his coat and thrusting him toward me. "This is so jolly, truly," she enthused lavishly.

Her insincerity was so apparent to me.

"Alvah's going to invite us all to have something very nice to eat," she went on coyly, yet I was quite aware that she was shaping things to her own liking.

Much against my wishes and yet without knowing why I went, or how I got there, we were soon at a central table in a sportively fashionable restaurant. I felt the guileful power of influence wielded by a crafty woman. What chance had an artless man with such a one!

I tried to eat—I wanted to be game. The crash of music and many voices made my head swim. I hated the cabaret. A tenuous youth was spinning a voluptuous female around his head. I wondered if perhaps it would be better for me if I liked this sort of thing.

Mrs. Darwood leaned toward Leonard and drew him into abstruse personal conversation. She had a little intimate way of talking subtleties to the men.

Forced to talk directly to Alvah Fairchild, I was surprised to find I did not dislike him. If there was anything about him for disapproval, it was a sense of his weakness rather than any apparent badness. His eyes were candid. I liked them. I felt he was conscious of the strained situation and knew I was ill at ease.

"Would you like to dance, Mrs. Allen?" he asked softly. The others could not hear him.

"Thank you, I will."

I stood up. I think he must have seen by my expression that I was grateful.

As we whirled away from the table to the pulsing rhythm of a popular waltz, I saw the lines deepen in Leonard's forehead. As we turned again I could see that his eyes still followed us—sought us out among the moving couples.

I confess I was enjoying myself. In this game which I was forced to play, though I hated it sincerely, I knew that once at least I had trumped my opponent's ace.

Alvah Fairchild was a superb dancer. I was not a finished artist in all the latest steps, yet under his guidance one could hardly fail to dance well. Again I felt the exhilaration of the waltz. I had forgotten that I enjoyed dancing like that. We remained on the floor until the dance was entirely ended.

Mrs. Darwood's efforts to dominate the party had failed. Leonard had acted uneasy and annoyed before. Now he was glum, indifferent. Her desire to surmount his attentions miscarried sadly.

He fingered his watch nervously.

"We don't want to miss that last train, Noreen," he suggested.

The tension was taut enough and each one of us seemed glad of the chance to break up the party.

"Do, Mrs. Allen, 'phone my hotel any tije you are in the city shopping—we must meet again," Mrs. Darwood lied tactfully as we parted. I think she knew too well that I would never willingly seek her company again. I knew also that she had no desire for mine.

Though I had more to fear, I felt in that moment of parting her hatred of me was far more venomous than mine for her. Perhaps it is significant that the wrong-doer fears the object of his attack far more than the person wronged will ever fear.

After we had left them, Leonard did not ask for my opinion or impressions of Mrs. Darwood. He did not refer to her at all. The fact that he did not ask me held more meaning than anything he might have said.

I felt the evening had not been altogether a failure.

Tomorrow—I Meet Alva Fairchild.

PRESENTATION TO NORWOOD FAMILY

NEIGHBORS GATHER AT HOME OF MR. AND MRS. JOHN ENGLISH.

NORWOOD, March 22. — On Thursday last the friends and neighbours gathered together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John English, and presented them with a beautiful quarter-cut oak dining-room table, acompanied by the following address, showing the esteem and respect in which they are held by a large circle of friends:

Mr. and Mrs. English and Family.

Having learned with deep regret that it is your intention in the near future to take your departure from amongst us and our community, we, your friends and neighbours, have assembled here this evening to convey to you in a small measure what you have done for us in the past, and also to tender you our best wishes for your future happiness and prosperity in your new home which you have selected for your future abode.

We have enjoyed our social life with you; your home has always been open to hospitality, and you have ever been willing and capable to lend a hand whenever necessary.

As a small token of esteem, we ask you to accept this table as a remembrance of your friends and neighbours of Caughnawaga.

Signed on behalf of the community,—

John Herr,
Ambrose English.

Mr. English, although greatly taken by surprise, replied in a few words on behalf of his wife and family, stating that they would look back with remembrance on the many happy hours spent together.

The presentation was made by Mr. John Herr, while Mr. Ambrose English read the address.

NEW STEEL STEAMER FOR KINGSTON SERVICE

KINGSTON, March 21. — The steel steamer "Waubic," costing $50,000, is to be placed on the Cape run. She has a carrying capacity of 500 passengers and 15 automobiles, is 135 feet long with a breadth of 25 feet and a speed of fifteen miles an hour.

KINGSTON PRICES.

Prices on the market at Kingston Saturday took a general drop, excepting maple syrup. Butter sold at 50 to 55 cents, and one farmer accepted 45 cents; eggs declined to 35 cents. Maple syrup at $3 a gallon was fairly plentiful.

Promote Settlement in New Parts Empire.

LONDON, March 22 (Canadian Press).—The British Government has decided to hold a conference with representatives of the British Dominions in order to formulate a policy of promoting the settlement of British colonists in new and undeveloped parts of the British Empire.

This plan is intended to serve the double purpose of distributing the population of the United Kingdom so as to populate the empty spaces of the Empire and ensure that the additional population of these undeveloped territories will be British both in birth and spirit. By these means it is hoped to provide for the defence as well as the development of the Empire and to reduce the surplus of women over men in the population of the United Kingdom.

the annual assessment against municipalities which may be increasing their power consumption. Mr. Ireland explained that under the proposed legislation this matter would be adjusted annually. The equity of each municipality would be made, more or less, in proportion to the quota of power taken.

Provide For Renewals.

"The objection is made by some persons that in forty years the system would be worn out," Mr. Stinson recited by way of anticipating one of the stock objections of the stand-patters.

"There is nothing to that assertion at all," said Mr. Ireland. "Our rate is based so as to take care of maintenance. A renewal fund is provided and sufficient is set aside to cover any large amount of renewals that might be necessary from time to time. So the system will be thoroughly maintained, and will, in fact, improve."

If Some Stand Aloof?

Mr. Mason asked what course would be adopted in the event of some of the municipalities refusing to adopt the proposed scheme.

Mr. Ireland: "If 25 per cent. of the municipalities choose to stay out, it would be only reasonable to grant the 75 per cent. what they want and give them the entire equity in the system. The Commission might hold the 25 per cent. for the time being. Certainly those municipalities could not expect to share in the co-operative features of the scheme!"

Mayor O'Reilly: "As I understand that point, the 75 per cent. of the municipalities would own the system at the end of forty years."

Mr. Ireland: "Supposing there were 15 municipalities and only 12 came in. These 12 would would finally own the system and the other three would simply be customers."

Mr. Southworth: "The municipalities will be required to vote on the question of guaranteeing bonds?"

Mr. Ireland: "According to the proposed legislation they would vote on the question of whether or not they would enter into contract with the Commission to buy power. That would obligate the municipalities to pay the charges for the power they take."

No Discrimination.

Mayor O'Reilly: "Suppose, for example, that Lindsay and Peterborough each takes 5,000 h.p. and Omemee takes 1,000. Omemee finds that it needs only 500 h.p. and it has 500 to spare. Could it offer that quantity free to some industry?"

Mr. Ireland: "In the first place, it would be foolish on the part of any municipality to contract for any more power than it needs. Besides, the Commission has full authority to set the rates, and it is prescribed that there shall be no discrimination."

Mr. Hicks: "All our industries are paying the same rate."

Mr. Ireland: "The amount of power any municipality takes makes the contract."

Mr. Southworth: "If all the municipalities didn't come in it might be harder on the others."

Take Risk; Get Equity.

Mr. Ireland: "The solution of that would likely be that the computation of the cost of power would be made as though all the municipalities had come in, but with the understanding that only those that came in would obtain the equity in the property upon the maturity of the debentures, and that they should secure the entire equity. Going back to the supposed 15 again, if three municipalities stayed out, they declare themselves as unwilling to assume any risk. Therefore, it would be unfair that they should benefit in the same extent as the other municipalities."

Mayor O'Reilly: "The three would get any favours that could be given unless some exception was made?"

Mr. Ireland: "The intention should be, I think, that those municipalities that shoulder the risk and burden should get any advantages that accrue."

Rates Pay For Property.

Mr. Stinson: "The rates charged to the respective municipalities would pay for the property at the end of forty years?"

Mr. Ireland: "Yes; and those that come in will be the owners of the property, and those that stay out, would be renters from the other municipalities."

Mayor O'Reilly: "Would the others get the same rates in the end?"

Mr. Ireland: "I can't say as to that. This is a question that ought to be covered by the legislation. I shall take up this point with the Commission, and if you send a deputation to wait on the Government, I would recommend that you make some representations covering this point."

Mr. Hicks observed that more than ten millions were invested in the Central Ontario power system, and that this sum might freighten some of the smaller municipalities.

Mr. Ireland: "Each municipality assumes only the cost of the power it contracts for and takes."

Crux Of The Scheme.

This phase of the proposed legislation was emphased by Mr. Ireland and some of the delegates throughout the discussion. It was contended that under the existing arrangement, the municipalities contract for power and pay a rental based on the entire operating costs, including interest, transmission, generation, and so on. Any revenue obtained goes to the Government at present, and Mr. Ireland's statement in that regard, was that this system is standing soundly on its feet. The inference was that it was paying its way with a profit, and Reeve Vickery pointed out that in spite of the high costs in recent years the Commission found it possible to reduce Oshawa's lighting charges.

In brief, the municipalities are now paying the same proportions of the cost of the system as though they had arranged to buy it outright from the Government.

Ald. Turner: "When the Commission built its unit at Healey Falls, they planned for a larger development than they now have? That is more machines can be installed in the present building?"

Mr. Ireland: "Yes."

Mayor O'Reilly: "Does it mean that for forty years the people of this district needn't look for lower rates?"

Apace With West.

Ald. Turner: "Our debentures would expire about the same time as Western Ontario's. They have got a little start on us, and ours would run a little beyond the expiration of theirs."

Mr. Ireland explained that a sinking fund charge would not be made during the first ten years if the proposed legislation is passed and approved by the individual municipalities. No action shall be taken by any municipality without the consent of its ratepayers.

The resolution urging the Government to enact the enabling legislation was moved by Mr. Hicks and seconded by Mr. Vickery.

The thanks of the meetings were extended to Mr. Ireland for his lucid explanation of the drafted legislation.

It is the intention of the municipalities that are promoting this project to apply at once for an appointment with the Government. In the meantime, the rest of this district will be invited to send delegates to Toronto when the petition is presented.

AUSTRIA WANTS TO BE SPOON FED.

But Germany is Pulling Herself Together.

LONDON, March 21.—(Associated Press).—Sir Harry Brittain, member of the British Parliament, who has just returned from a tour in Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia, was much impressed by the contrast between the two former countries.

"The Austrian," he said to an interviewer, "is waiting to be spoonfed at every angle. The German is pulling and in many cases has pulled himself together and the great machine is getting into full swing right across the country.

"I was in villages and small towns in Eastern Prussia and Bavaria, as well as in Berlin and everywhere one could not put down the feeling that this once great and powerful nation would be great and powerful again."

From the Saloon to the Cellar

You don't want the curse of the open bar transferred to the private home.

YOU voted against the saloon. You voted against the bar. You did away with them. You voted against the sale of booze.

But—

Immense quantities of liquor are now being brought into the province for consumption in the home! Express shipments alone have run as high as eight carloads per day during the past year.

You Want Prohibition

What you meant when you voted "No" at the last Referendum was prohibition of the use of intoxicating liquor for beverage purposes.

Do you want Ontario's boys and girls familiarized with "booze" and subjected to its daily temptations in their own homes? That is the way it is working out today.

Home-drinking is a poor training for young people, and a poor moral foundation for boys and girls when away from home.

Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the province be prohibited?

Vote and vote "Yes!"

Cheaper than buying new clothes

Do you know why your clothes get old so soon—why new underthings, new household linens quickly wear thin and sleazy when they should still be new?

Don't blame it on poor material—those thin spots and broken threads which quickly dissolve into holes are not due to faulty fabric. Instead, charge them up to injurious laundry soap.

Use pure soap, free from corrosive ingredients, and your clothes and linens will give the wear they should. Such pure soap, in the ideal form, is yours in Princess Soap Flakes.

Pure, curly white chip flakes

While Princess Flakes were perfected for fancy washing—for cleansing delicate crepes and silks and laces without harming color or material, they have proved the ideal soap for general laundry use.

This is because each curly flake is pure, whole soap, with no fillers and little moisture to rob them of cleansing power.

This makes Princess Flakes highly efficient soap—soap which makes play of the family washing.

It makes them the practical, efficient washing machine soap. And it makes them a real economy because they go so much farther.

For washing woolens

Whether you are squeezing out a sweater or a pair of leggings and mittens or having a grand blanket washing use Princess Soap Flakes.

No shrinking—no danger of drying harsh and stiff. Instead, everything soft, warm and wooly, just like new.

Convenience and economy

Both are served by the method of packing. Princess Flakes come in convenient packages or economical bulk, as you prefer.

Once you learn the value of Princess Flakes you will order by the 25-pound carton, which allows a big saving. You will use them for every laundry purpose and for general household needs.

HASTINGS PERSONALS

NEWS OF INTEREST—BUSINESS CHANGES.

HASTINGS, March 22.—Mr. Chin Jhing has taken over the laundry business formerly conducted by Mr Lim Hee.

Sunday, March 20th., was generally observed as Palm Sunday, special mention being made of the occasion in the local churches. The Easter Service next Sunday in the Methodist Church will be in the morning in the interest of the Mission Band, and in the evening under the auspices of the W.M.S.

Mrs. (Rev.) Cafley of South Dummer, has consented to address the evening congregation a special Easter Thankoffering will be taken at this service.

At the recent Commencement Exercises held in Campbellford High School, Miss Mary Spooner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Spooner, and Mr. Earl Hinton, son of Rev. and Mrs. L. M. Hinton were among the prize winners.

Mrs. W. Graham is visiting in Marmora the guest of her son Mr. E. C. Graham.

Miss Agnes Hermiston has returned from an extended visit with Toronto friends.

Inpector Boyes, paid the school an official visit recently.

Sugar Making.

The sugar making season has begun and already some of the product is offered for sale on the local market.

A very severe electrical storm visited this district on Saturday. It was of some hours' duration and rendered the country roads almost impassable.

Miss Helen Chapman took a trip to Peterboro on Saturday.

Mr. David Scriver has accepted the position of night watch for the Hastings Tanning Co., and has commenced his duties.

Mrs. E. Tate spent Monday in Campbellford.

Mrs. J. M. Thomson is visiting in Norwood, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Robb.

Mrs. H. Chapman took a trip to Campbellford on Monday.

Mrs. Roy Skinkle spent Monday in Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Laing are moving their household effects into Mr. Convey's house, near his residence. Mrs. Robt. Dainerd has returned from a visit in Norwood.

The assessor is making a tour of the town in his official capacity.

BOOTLEGGERS TO BE CLEANED OUT OF COMMUNITY

PETERBORO POLICE DEPARTMENT OPEN AN INTENSIVE CAMPAIGN.

Chief of Police S. Newhall is determined to stamp out the ring of bootleggers operating in Peterborough . The bootleggers, he alleges, are, many of them, crap-shooters, and when they are not disposing of liquor, they are "fleecing" some amateur of his week's earnings. The bootleggers have many hangers-on, who make fair earnings by tipping off the booze-peddlers on the activities of the police ,and by getting prospective patrons and by arranging crap games. The men in the whole nefarious circle are well known, he states, but it is difficult to "get the goods" on them.

The officers well know when they see them at night, when the city is asleep, rushing about in cars that it is a busy night for the bootleggers; but unless there is some rivalry, one will not swear against his contemporary, and all will perjure themselves without hesitation.

Big Returns.

The men make big returns. The Examiner has been informed. A bottle of whisky or brandy sells for $6.00 to $8.00, and the bootleggers pay less than half this in Montreal. Much of the liquor now being illicitly sold in this city is in small "pop" and six-ounce bottles, for these can be easily and unoffensively carried in the pocket.

Chief Newhall has at last hit upon a plan of stopping the gin-selling. He will charge suspicious characters with vagrancy, having no visible means of support . They have all practically no means which they care to disclose, so the maximum fine or jail term will be administered. The The only loophole for the pursued law-breakers will be to get to work and run the liquor agency as a side-line.

AIRSHIPS FREE TO OPERATORS

BRITISH GOVERNMENT OFFERS TEN DIRIGIBLES WORTH FIFTEEN MILLIONS.

GLASGOW, March 22.—Great Britain's first passenger airship, the R-36, will make her maiden trip next week from the works of William Beardmore & Co., at Inchinnan, near Glasgow, to the Pulham airship station. There she will join one of a group of airships which the British Government is offering to any firm that will assume responsibility for them.

This is perhaps the most remarkable gift ever proposed by any Government. The Air Ministry, driven by the absolute need of economy, in spite of the fact that the Admiralty regards the abolition of the naval airship service with much misgiving, has announced its intention of handing over to any syndicate that will undertake to operate and make experiments with them the R-33, R-36 and R-37, its latest airships; L-64 and L-71, two taken from the Germans, and the R-32 and R-80, two smaller vessels, with all their equipment. The value of the gift is about £3,000,000, and all the Government asks in return is the use of the knowledge gained in their operation.

The R-36 may be considered a sister ship to the R-34, which visited New York last year. She is, it is true, thirty feet longer and has five instead of four power gonodolas hanging beneath the gas bag, but her variations from the design of the R-34 are merely the result of adapting her for passenger service.

Her engine power has been increased from five units of 250 horsepower each to three of 350 and two of 260. This has necessitated a modification of their distribution. One of the R-34's engines was in the same gondola with her operator's station. The R-36 has an additional power gondola in her bow, while her navigating officers have all their instruments in the fore part of the long gallery in which she accommodates her passengers. This lies underneath the central portion of the big gas bag, and with its sloping sides and row of rectangular windows has a curious resemblance to an inverted Noah's Ark, beloved of children.

COTTON INDUSTRY HAS QUADRUPLED.

Business Grows in Importance in Argentina.

BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 21 (by mail, Canadian Press).—The cotton industry in Northern Argentina has quadrupled in importance in three years as a result of aid given to the farmers by the state railways. In 1918-19 approximately 12,000 acres were planted, while the 1920-21 crop embraces an area of about 50,000 acres.

The crop yield is from 1,200 to 1,600 pounds per acre, according to statistics published by the railroads, one-third of which is fibre and the rest seed. A gin and cotton seed mill have been constructed to take care of the crop.

The great problem of the Argentine cotton farmer is lack of labour for picking the crop. Attempts have been made to use machinery for this, but these have been reported as being only partially successful.

An ounce of help is better than a ton of hot air on the subject.

DENIES HIS WIFE HAS DISAPPEARED.

CHICAGO, March 22.—Indignant denial was made by Clifford Victor Herbert, son of the noted composer, that his wife had mysteriously disappeared and that kidnapping by Roberts was feared.

'Mrs. Herbert left Saturday to visit her mother in San Diego, Cal.," he explained. "There is no mystery about it whatever, and I am at a loss to understand how the contrary reports gained circulation."

Word was received here later that Mrs. Herbert had been found in Dubuque, Iowa, where, it was said, she was visiting an actress.

The man who tries to do his neighbors imagines that they are always trying to do him.

NATION-WIDE DRIVE FOR RELIEF FAMINE.

PEKIN, Feb. 21 (by mail, by Associated Press). — A nation-wide drive for famine relief funds has been started in China by Dr. Yen Hui-ching (W. W. Yen), Minister of Foreign Affairs.

In an address to the most influential Chinese in Pekin the Minister told them that, compress the figures as one might, between 20,000,000 and 30,000,000 people faced starvation. The famine calamity was becoming daily more serious, he said, and the time of greatest suffering was rapidly approaching.

He referred to the many committees and societies already engaged in relief work, of the funds being raised in America and Canada and in Britain and Japan, and expressed the opinion that these nations which had given generously should be shown that China, too, is working industriously to relieve the suffering populace.

He proposed that the drive continue for a week, and while no financial goal was indicated, Dr. Yen believed that Pekin alone could be made to produce from $300,000 to $500,000. It was agreed that the drive be directed by the United International Relief Societies.

LEGISLATURE DOWN DOWN TO WORK

RANEY'S BILL REGARDING POWERS OF MAGISTRAEES GETS SECOND READING, FINALLY.

TORONTO, March 22.— (Canadian Press.)—With sharply contentious matters left to one side the legislature yesterday put in a useful afternoon advancing the assertment of the Public, Private and Government Bills. The only measure that aroused strong opposition was Hon. W. E. Raney's proposal to extend the jurisdiction of magistrates by appointing magistrates with powers over a number of municipalities.

The terms of the bill were outlined when the measure was submitted to the House and at first glance there appeared to be little objection to it. When it came up for a second reading, however, both Hon. G. H. Ferguson and H. H. Dewart found room for criticism. The Conservative leader was inclined to think that it gave the Attorney-General too much grip on magistrates whose independence should be preserved. He also joined Mr. Dewart in objecting to the power given the Attorney-General to appoint magistrates with exclusive jurisdiction in any part of the province. The objection to this was that it would allow the Attorney-General to send a magistrate into another's area and take control without dismissing or suspending the first one.

The Attorney-General took most of the force out of the objections by finding a clause passed several years ago which gave him powers similar to those conferred by the present Bill. Finally his measure was given a second reading.

LOCAL HEBREWS TO OBSERVE THE FAST

HAVE SECURED NEW QUARTERS ON WATER STREET.

On Wednesday of this week the Hebrews of this city celebrate the Fast of Esther in commemoration of the fast of the Jewish Queen of the Persians, approximately 2,350 years ago.

This fast occurrs on the 13th day of the month, "Adur." The 14th day is called "Porim," and commencing on Wednesday evening, rejoicing by the Zionists begins. This day all Jews rejoice in the delivery of their race from Haman, Persian Prime Minister, who had appointed that day for the destruction of all the Jewish race in the Kingdom of Persia.

Contrary to the Fast of Esther, when fasting and prayers prevail on Porim, these give way to great rejoicing, and the Jews are supposed to exchange gifts and give alms to the poor.

Both holidays will be observed in Peterborough. Local Hebrews have acquired during the Winter the upper storey of the building on Water Street across from the Market Square and intend and have already done some work towards making these commodious quarters into a synagogue hall and study rooms. When renovated and furnished, the quarters will be very satisfactory, so Rev. L. Rosenfield, local Jewish minister, states.

The Jewish Feast of the Passover will be observed, commencing the evening of April 22.

HEALTH RESORT OF CRUSOE'S ISLAND.

Is Thirteen Miles Long and Four Wide.

VALPARAISO, March 21.—(Associated Press).—Juan Fernandez island, 450 miles west of Valparaiso widely regarded as the spot around which the story of Robinson Crusoe was written, is to be turned into a health resort according to present plans of the Chilean government.

The island is 13 miles long and four miles wide. Vegetation is abundant. Many kinds of fruits thrive there and the sea in the vicinity swarms with a species of codfish and quantities of seals, according to a recent visitor.

The actual original of Defoe's story of Crusoe was said to have been Alexander Selkirk, one of a crew of bucaneers, who quarreled with his skipper and was marooned at his own request on Juan Fernandez where he spent four lonely years. The grotto where Selkirk is supposed to have lived with his man Friday still is to be seen. A British warship visited the island in 1868 and members of the crew erected a tablet in memory of Selkirk.

Some years ago the Chilean Government attempted to colonize the island and gave free passage to emigrants, but the scheme was a failure and the island now has only 200 inhabitants.

PROTEST AGAINST AMENDMENT WHICH ROLLO PROPOSES

RAILWAYS AND BELL TELEPHONE OBJECT TO COMPENSATION AMENDMENT.

TORONTO, March 22.— (Canadian Press.)—A deputation consisting of Glyn Osler, representing the Bell Telephone Company, Angus MacMurchy of the C.P.R., Macgregor Young of the Canadian National Railways and W. Kingsmill, of the Michigan Central, called upon the Prime Minister at the Legislature this morning to formally protest against the proposed amendment to the Workmen's Compensation Act. This amendment calls for the establishment of a pension fund and also provides that companies must take into their employ those who have been injured when they have sufficiently recovered, paying them the difference between the compensation from the Board and their former wages. As a result of the discussion the protesting parties to-morrow will meet Hon. W. W. Rollo (who introduced the amendment to the Act) and the chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Act at the office of the Board to discuss that question.

Boils So Bad

HAD TO GIVE UP WORK

Frou the days of Job, up to the present time, boils have been one of the afflictions of the human race.

All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not prevent them from breaking out again.

Boils are simply caused by the bad blood bursting out; and the bad blood must be made pure before the boils will disappear.

Burdock Blood Bitters, which has been on the market for over forty years, is well known as the greatest blood medicine procurable.

It purifies the blood by removing every particle of foul matter from the system, and when this is done the boils vanish, and you should never be troubled again.

Mr. James Fahey, Newport Island, Que., writes:—"I was troubled with boils on my back and neck, so bad that I was obliged to give up work. I tried several remedies, but got no relief. Finally, I went to a doctor, and he treated me for several weeks, and all without benefit. At last a friend told me of Burdock Blood Bitters, so I decided to give it a trial. I got three bottles, but before I had taken two the boils were all gone. It is eight months now, and I have had no return of the old trouble, and have never felt so well."

CHASE IN LINDSAY AFTER AUTO THIEVES

BETHUNE BLACK RECOVERED CAR STOLEN SUNDAY NIGHT.

LINDSAY, March 22.— On returning to Cambridge Sunday night, where he had parked his car, Mr. Bethune Black found that the machine had been appropriated by some person or persons unknown, during his absence. Securing the aid of Mr. Isaacs and his car the pair began a tour of the town in search of two men who had been acting in a suspicious manner and are thought to have stolen Black's car. On Adelaide street, Black recognized his lost car coming up behind at a terrific clip. Jumping out on to the road he attempted to hold up the oncoming car by flourishing a revolver, but its ocupants dashed ahead, finally stoping on Albert street, and after shutting off the car's engine, making a clean getaway on foot across private property. Mr. Black is glad to have recovered his auto, but would have been better satisfied had he succeeded in rounding up the thieves, whose description, it is said, tallies with the two men who are suspected of having stolen Carl Parke's car Saturday night, and who were seen recently at Downeyville.

COAL LOWER IN TORONTO

The prevailing price of both nut and stove coal in the city is $17 a ton. Toronto papers quote prices as low as $15.50 a ton but no drop in the price here is anticipated for some time yet, local dealers say.

On dealer stated to-day it would probably be May 1, before the reduction to the summer level was made.

WAGE REDUCTION FOR THE C.N.R.

NO LIKELIHOOD OF IMMEDIATE CUT BUT IT IS CONTEMPLATED.

TORONTO, March 22.— (Canadian Press.)— There is little likelihood of any wage reduction on the Canadian National Railways until after United States' wage rates are readjusted, according to General Manager Hills. Downward revision of wages on the C.N.R. is contemplated, however, possibly to the extent of twenty per cent. This reduction would not wipe out entirely the increase granted under the second award of the McAdoo sechedule. If, following the decrease in the United States the cut is made in Canada it would in all probability be made simultaneous by all Canadian roads after a decision by the Railway Association of Canada.

THE MAN GIVES THE REASON WHY

HE RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS FOR KIDNEY ILLS.

John T. Major Suffered from Sore Back. Rheumatism, and Kidney Troubles, and Got No Relief Till He Used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Island, Cap la Ronde, Richmond Co., N.S., March 2, 1921.—(Special.)—Mr. John T. Major, a well-known resident here, is advising all his friends who suffer from kidney trouble to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. And Mr. Major gives his reason:

"I suffered from kidney trouble for years," he states. "I also had rheumatism in my back and down one leg, and sometimes I could not walk.

"I tried different medicines, but did not get any lasting benefit till I used Dodd's Kidney Pills. It is now two years since I first took them, and I am in the best of health today. I still keep Dodd's Kidney Pills on hand, and take one occasionally."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy. They are taken for backache, rheumatism, diabetes, dropsy, and urinary troubles, because each of these diseases comes from sick kidneys. Ask your neighbours if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the remedy disordered or weak kidneys are calling for.

A HOME-MADE GRAY HAIR REMEDY

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water and 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Orlex Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not colour the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

LINDSAY BOOTLEGGER WAS FINED $2,000

DID NOT APPEAR IN COURT, WARRANT FOR ARREST ISSUED.

LINDSAY, March 22.—In the police court here yesterday, Magistrate Bradford imposed the maximum fine of $2,000 and three months' imprisonment with hard labor on Henry J. Gassien, an alleged bootlegger. Accused did not put in an appearance, and a warrant has been issued for his arrest. In passing sentence his worship said accused had not stood his ground in defence of the charges preferred, and the evidence left no room for doubt of his guilt.

In closing his case Crown Attorney Stinson pointed out that Gassien had not worked for five or six years evidently living in the liquor traffic

FARMER'S HEAVY LOSS.

LINDSAY, March 22.—Struck by lightning in the recent severe storm which passed over Ontario, the barns, stables and all outbuildings belonging to Mr. Fred Warner, a farmer in Verulam, were destroyed by fire. The loss includes a couple of head of cattle.

New Drug Is Only Drug Known That Acts on Liver

Will be a Revelation to Suffering Humanity. Cleans Liver in a few minutes. Symptoms of Liver Trouble are Sallow Complexion, Bad Taste in Mouth on Rising, Tired, Out of Sorts, etc.

This new drug is called Tanated Calomel. It acts only on the Liver, which immediately relieves many troubles, as Rheumatism, Constipation, Boils, Kidney Pains, etc. No Salts and Seidlitz are necessary after taking, because it is self-eliminating. It does not have a nauseating, sickening feeling the next day, like so many similar drugs. You no doubt have been taking all sorts of laxatives, salts, castor oil, etc., with only temporary results. The reason is that none of these drugs act upon the Liver; they merely draw liquid from the blood and tissues, causing a great flush. What you need is something like Tanated Calomel, which causes the bile to be excreted from the Liver into the Bowel, causing a natural elimination of the waste. Now, you know waste allowed to remain in the system causes a multitude of troubles. I can venture to say that 90 per cent. of all sickness is due directly to this very thing. What is generally the first thing your doctor does when you are sick? He gets your Bowels operating so as to eliminate wastes in your Bowels, which is poisoning your system. Now, in order to be happy, healthy, vigorous, vivacious, bright, alert, keen to observe and understand, you must first keep your Liver clean, or you are coaxing all sorts of trouble upon yourself. Doctors recommend that you take a tablet before eating and one at bedtime. Just get some of these, and I feel assured that you will feel as if you had a new lease of life.

These Tanated Calomel Tablets are for sale by F. C. Weber, Druggist.

Be Suspicious of Tender Gums

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenameled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system.

Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

And in preventing Pyorrhea—it guards against other ills.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment. 35c and 60c tubes in Canada and U. S. If your druggist cannot supply you, send price to us direct and we will mail tube postpaid.

THE LETTERS OF TESSIE AND JOE

DEAR JOE:

Well Joe I was so excited this morning I didn't hardly know whether I was standing on my hands or my elbows. I thought the baby had handed us a tooth at last! All of a sudden he started to laugh as merry as the ace of spades, sort of a surprised laugh, just the way you'd imagine a baby would laugh if it suddenly felt a tooth in its mouth where all had been pure vacancy before.

But when I ran into the room Joe it was only another false alarm. The baby was only laughing at your picture! That's much better than getting mad at it and throwing it on the floor the way he did last week, isn't it Joe? At least it shows he has a sense of humor and realizes that when a thing can't be avoided it's wise to make the best of it and just laugh it off.

The little angel gained a whole half a pound net weight this week. I took him around to weigh him at Stutz's store (my blue enamel scales are permanently out of order. I'll never buy such expensive scales again—if you drop them twice they're practically useless)—and I weighed him on Mr. Stutz's small scales. I wasn't used to those scales and it took me quite a little time, and Mr. Stutz was waiting to weigh some frankfurters and there were several customers waiting, but just the same Mr. Stutz had no right to make the remarks he made, even when he found out I didn't actually want to buy anything. My baby is more important than a string of frankfurters and I don't care who hears me say so.

I've got a new nursegirl Joe. She's Finnish and hardly speaks a word of English any more than the day she was born, but I took her anyway because she's so thin and I'm tired of seeing hearty looking nursegirls eat themselves black in the face at my expense while I personally merely nibble like a broken-hearted canary trying to reduce.

Lovingly, TESSIE.

CHURCH SERVICES IN MARK STREET

GOOD CONGREGATIONS IN SPITE OF INCLEMENT WEATHER.

Neither rain nor mud kept the people from service on Sabbath and the music was very helpful.

"Judgment After Death" was the subject of the morning sermon by Rev. G. E. Ross, and was developed from the text found in II Cor. V.:10: "We must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ." The following is a synopsis of the sermon, which was preached by request;

Harbingers of the Coming Judgment.

Tradition tells us that a star, in the shape of a sword, was seen twinkling in solemn grandeur above the temple, in the city of Jerusalem, on the night previous to its destruction of Titus; and voices were heard in the house of God, saying, "Let us go hence." This may be nothing more than tradition, but many voices are sounding in our ears in these days, which seem to be harbingers of the coming judgment. The church never in her history made such love to the world as she is doing to-day, and yet the church is facing a crisis such as was never known before in the world. The indifference to spiritual things, coupled with alarming neglect of the Bible, and a desire to cater to the pleasures of sin and folly, call for some great change. A change must come. What will this change be, and how and when will it come? Give us music and entertainment, is the cry of the multitude, when by some glaring announcement, we get them to the house of God. The pulpit starved the people by inefficiency in the past few years, and now the crowd has no confidence in the menu offered. And yet we say, "well we're getting the crowd." But what is the crowd getting?

Remember It Is the Judgment Seat of Christ,

Not the judgment seat of the Father. He will never be on the judgment seat. Nor is it the judgment seat of the Holy Spirit; he will never occupy that place. Not the judgment seat of angels nor of men. There is but one Being, and he was appointed before the world began, to occupy that place; and if you should make out the case that Christ was just a mere good man, then you and I must appear before a mere good man. Whoever he is and whatever he is, we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ. "God hath committed all judgment unto the Son."

When Shall We Appear For Judgment.

There is an impression on your mind that the judgment takes place as soon as a man dies, but this is not the case. Of all the millions that have ever passed from this earth, not one of them has yet been judged, not one person has yet appeared before the judgment seat of Christ, and we will give three reasons why this is true. The first reason is, there is no judgment throne yet set up, for there is no judge. Christ is otherwise engaged, and will be until His mediatorial work is done. The once pierced hand of Jesus is holding back the sword of divine justice today, lest it cut the sinner down. "Wait Justice," says Jesus, "let that poor, wretched sinner run into my arms; I would have him before I ascend the judgment seat." Yes, now is the day of mercy. Neither men nor fallen angels will be judged until Christ ascends the judgment throne. Listen, let God speak. And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day."

The Body and Soul Must Stand Together in the Judgment.

The second reason why the judgment does not take place when a man dies is because Christ will judge the body and soul together. Your body carried you in the path of life or in the path of death. Your body was the medium through which you served God or the devil. Your hands scattered blessings or curses. Your feet bore you to the House of God or to the den of vice. Your hand held the dagger or dried the tear. In all of life's activities, the body was the instrument. Therefore, the body must accompany the soul before the judgment seat of Christ. There will be no judgment until the end of time.

We Cannot Tell How Much Good Or Ill We Have Done.

Will a man be responsible for his influence after he is dead? Yes, right down to the end of the world. Drop a pebble into Little Lake, and the ring will dilate until it touches every shore. What is true of that pebble is true of every word I have ever spoken and very deed I have ever done in this world. Tom Pane wrote the "Age of Reason," but the writer, though dead and gone, is not yet judged. That infidel book must finish its deadly work before the author will be judged. It must go down through the ages destroying the faith of miflions, until its damning work is done. Then the author and his work shall stand before the jugment seat of Christ. John Bunyan wrote the "Pilgrim's Progress," that greatest of all allegories, but he has not yet been rewarded. Wait until the great book has made its final contribution to the stock of the world's good and then this glorious writer shall appear before Christ. You led a little boy to Sunday school. He becomes a missionary, but you have died. You shall receive your reward for leading that boy to Christ, when he comes before the judgment seat with his harvest of souls. Oh child of God, teacher, student, father, mother, preacher, or whoever you may be, what an incentive to work. By your influence you led a child astray. That child enters on a course of sin; your responsibility dates from the burning hour when your influence first began to tell for evil on that innocent member of God's human family.

Every Soul Shall Acknowledge the Justice of Christ.

We may question the justice of an earthly judge, but never the justice of Christ. Two thieves crucified on either side of Jesus, one comes to the judgment with joy, the other with everlasting shame; what makes the difference? This. One accepted God's only remedy for sin, even Christ; the other rejected the only hope of salvation.

Where Are the Dead, Pending the Final Judgment?

The righteous dead are in a state of conscious joy. The wicked dead are in a state of conscious torment. Death makes no change in the character. If the love of God does not win you, nothing else can.

WAR ON REAL ESTATE PRICES NOW IN PARIS.

Government Takes Measures to Curb Exactions of Landlords.

PARIS, March 21.—(Canadian Press).—The boom seems to have departed from Paris real estate values. It was enormous while the rise in the prices of rents was on, but now there is general stagnation in that business.

During the boom, fantastic prices were paid for sites for moving picture houses and dance halls, 10 times the prices of 1914 were paid for apartment house and suburban property was up seven times its former values.

The stagnation is attributed to measures taken by the government to curb the exactions of the landlords to the widespread expectation in the decline in the cost of living and to opposition of capitalists to invest in real estate.

NEW YORK PHYSICIAN CLAIMS PHOSPHATE DISCOVERED BY FRENCH SCIENTIST IS GODSEND TO WEAK, NERVOUS FOLKS.

"Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anaemic or run-down, take a natural, unadulterated substance such as Bitro-Phosphate and you will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve energy, strength of body and mind and power of endurance," says Dr. Joseph Harrigan.

McDermid & Jury or any good druggists will supply the genuine Bitro-Phosphate at reasonable cost.

IRISH QUESTION IMPERIAL ONE.

Such is Pronouncement of Mr. Churchill.

Canadian Press.

LONDON.—Sir Richard Jebb, who has travelled extensively in the Dominions, writes to the Morning Post criticising Mr. Churchill's recent utterance that the Dominions "would share with the Mother Country the responsibility for dealing with great and dominant questions, the decision of which affected the common fortunes of the whole body."

Sir Richard says it appears that Mr. Churchill has fastened to adopt the old suggestion that the Irish question should be submitted to the Imperial Conference. In former days it found little favor overseas, because the Irish question was regarded a a domestic question of the United Kingdom. Excepting as regards foreign policy, the sphere of the Imperial Conference was restricted, by the instinct of its component Governments, to such matters as could only be effectively dealt with by concerted action of the several States, excluding matters which, like the Irish question, fell entirely within the administrative area of a single Government. That distinction marks the dividing line between the conception of the Imperial Conference as a congress of sovereign States in consultation and the conception of it as a body of statesmen acting as the advisory council of an "Imperial" Government, which logically would have the same responsibility for Canada or Australia as for Britain. The former was the autonomist conception, always favored in the Dominions and now consolidated as a result of their action in the war; the latter was the centralist idea, formerly popular in this country among Englishmen, but now discredited.

It is true that the Irish question has been occasionally debated in Dominion Parliaments, under pressure of the local Irish vote, adds Sir Richard, but for any Dominion Government it is a far cry from tolerating a discussion in the local assembly to assuming a share of responsibility for the Government of Ireland. If Canada would not ask or allow Britain to share the responsibility of governing her provinces, Britain can only create further misunderstanding, and invite a rebuff by asking Canada to share the responsibility of governing Ireland.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am 18 years old and am in love with a Greek fellow, although I know my parents would never allow a marriage with him. I don't even think he knows I love him. Please give me your advice.

DEAR "MYSTERY":

I don't think you are quite old enough yet to have made up your mind about such an important matter. Don't forget that your parents know more about such things than you can possibly know, at your age, and they always have your best interests at heart. Better consult your parents in any case. If you do anything rash you will have a long time to regret it.

THE HOME CIRCLE

To be rich in friends is to be poor in nothing.

Nobody's sweetheart is ugly. Wives should always be sweethearts.

Marriage is never a failure, but every wedding does not make a marriage.

It is not the best policy in the world to be always telling somebody else what you intend to do. The story soon gets to be very tiresome. When you want to do anything and are placed in the positio to do it, jump right in; do business from a business basis and talk all you want to later on in the battle of life.

Infidelity never raised a man or a woman from sin. It never took a drunkard from the gutter, a gambler from his cards, or the fallen from a life of shame. It never found a man coarse or brutal in life and character, and made of him a kind husband and father. It never went into heathen lands among the morally deparved and lifted them out of their degredation to a high state of civilization. It has never written down languages, translated literature or prepared textbooks, or planted schools, or established seminaries and colleges. It has never founded hospitals for the sick or homes for the helpless. What discoveries has it made? Has it added anything to human happiness? Does it bring one ray of comfort to the chamber of death? The religion of Jesus has done this, and more, too. "The tree is known by its fruits."

Don't fret and fume at the petty ills of life; remember that the wheels which go round without creaking last longest.

It is not until the storm comes that we find out the real timber of the ship.

Kind words, kind looks, kind deeds, these are what win. Try and see.

The lover demands love for love, joy for joy and life for life. He gives that he may receive, and all his rights and privileges are most jealously guarded. If he offers himself unreservedly, he demands all in recompense. Not so the father and the mother. They give from the pure joy of giving, and demand nothing in return. They know they are educating their child for a life apart from their own, yet they spare no pains, and yield him freely to his destiny, satisfied if he shall have made the most of what is in him. Only one who has been blessed with children can realize the sublime unselfishness, the infinite patience, the exquisite tenderness, the unfailing courage and devotion of true fatherhood and motherhood.

Don't claim an ignorance of evil, but rise up and over it to purer realms of thought, and help yourself and humanity by thinking and talking of the good things all about us. Beautiful love, fine friendship, noble charities. Look for them and you will find them.

"CASCARETS" FOR CONSTIPATION

Just think! A pleasant harmless Cascaret works while you sleep and has your liver active, head clear, stomach sweet and bowels moving as regular as a clock by morning. No gripping or inconvenience, 10, 25 or 50 cent boxes. Children love this candy cathartic too.

When Liars Meet.

"You love my daughter?" said the old man.

"Love her," he exclaimed passionately, "why I would die for her. For one soft glance from those sweet eyes I would hurl myself from yonder cliff and perish—a bruised mass upon the rocks 200 feet below."

The old man shook his head. "I'm somewhat of a liar myself," he said, "and one is enough for a small family like mine."

THE WORLD'S BREAD-BASKET

It costs more to fill it now than it did a few years ago. All the more reason it should be filled with real food—the kind that supplies the greatest amount of body-building material at smallest cost. Shredded Wheat Biscuit is all food. It is 100 per cent whole wheat, contains more real nutriment than meat or eggs or potatoes and costs much less.

Two Biscuits served with hot milk make a warm, nourishing dish for the cold days. Delicious with sliced bananas or other fruits.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE OF ST. ANDREW'S IN A STRENUOUS DEBATE.

The Negative Side Won—Address By Mr. G. A. Gillespie.

"Resolved, that more good than evil has come out of the Great War" was the live subject of a debate held by the St. Andrew's Young People's Society in St. Andrew's Lecture Hall last night. The president of the society, Norman Brand, presided. After a strenuous debate, the negative won. The affirmative side was upheld by Miss Marjorie Evans and Mr. J. Petrie, and the negative by Miss Shearer and Miss Grace Allen. The judges were Mr. Adrian McDonald, M.A., of the Normal School staff, Mr. J. John, and Mr. J. I. Allin. While the judges were making their decision Miss Shearer played the "Marseillaise" in splendid style.

Mr. George A. Gillespie, lately returned from an overseas trip, gave a short talk to the society on his experiences and described the scenes in war-torn France. His address was very interesting.

MIGRATION IN OUR EMPIRE.

Work of Overseas Settlement Committee.

Canadian Press.

LONDON.—The magnitude of the work which the Overseas Settlement Committee is carrying on in connection with what Lord Milner recently described as "Migration within the Empire," is exemplified by some figures and facts given in the last annual report.

During the year ended December 31 last, 191,986 letters were received and 44,000 personal interviews granted.

Applications for free passages under the Government scheme for the emigration of ex-service men and women and their dependents numbered 64,043, covering about 130,000 persons, including dependents.

The number of free passages authorised was 20,155, covering about 37,000.

The expenditure for free passages was £457,000, which will probably reach between £650,000 and £700,000 by the end of March.

The Overseas Settlement Committee, which is a branch of the colonial office and is under the direction of the Secretary of State for the Colonies, was brought into existence only two years ago for the purpose, principally, of assisting ex-service men and women who wished to settle overseas, by providing them and their dependents with free passages to any port in any part of the Empire. The chief countries selected by applicants were Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa, in that order of preference, but passages were also supplied for in small numbers for British East Africa, Rhodesia, etc.

After more than a year's experience of the working of this scheme the Committee report: "Generally speaking, it appears to have worked well." A certain number of letters have been received from overseas "indicating that the writers had failed to find employment or were otherwise in difficulties," but (says the Committee's report) "such letters are few in comparison with the numbers who have proceeded overseas under the scheme, and fewer than those which are satisfactory."

The Committee sound a note of warning as to the industrial conditions overseas.

CHANGE.

The secret of happiness is constant change within the limitations of reason and common sense. A rut in the human soul is like a rut in the road, dangerous and upsetting. If we must remain at the same tasks year after year for nearly the whole of a lifetime, then it should be our constant effort to get all the variety we can into our lives in other ways. The fact that farmers' wives go insane more than any other class of persons is attributed to the terrible monotony of their lives, which are one unceasing round of hard work. A machine bearing on a point of metal, wears out that point speedily. It is precisely the same with our lives. One dull round of thought, doing the same tasks at the same hour year after year, will break down the finest, strongest brain.

So get out and have a vacation. At least give yourselves a vacation of thought. Read new things; walk along fresh roads; look at new pictures and new buildings. Invite fresh new thought always to your soul; so shall you keep always young. Be not so sure that your Sondest theory is exactly the right one. ttanding still is decay and death. Hold she same plow handle, bend over the fame desk forty years, with your thought chained down to them, and you become a hump shouldered old hunks—blind; deaf and weak and disagreable.

Keep up with the wagon. Change your old views and habits for new and better ones when you find them, and be always on the lookout for them.

We have great respect for the woman who knows how to spare herself, for the one who knows when she has enough. We have respect for the one who has the courage to say, "I am not strong enough to sew for the heathen and do my home duties also, and my home is first," and who dares sit in her house and see others conduct sewing societies. This is no plea for idleness, or for selfishness that is like a canker to the soul, only a plea for a knowledge of one's own powers and limitations, for a courage according to the convictions, for a judgment that is enlightened and generous, not only towards others but towards herself.

"But, John, if anything happens to the business your health will be more necessary to you than ever, and you cannot afford to take chances of putting such a strain on your nerves. You are looking so worried and nervous, and you do not half sleep."

"What am I to do? You know I have got to keep plugging along and try to see things through."

"One thing you can do is to begin a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. You know how well that brought me around when my nerves gave out and I was so miserable."

Mr. Charles E. How, R. R. No. 5, Aylmer, Ont., writes: "My system became generally run down, and I suffered from dull, heavy headaches. I was nervous, could not sleep at night, and my muscles used to twitch. My appetite became poor. I had indigestion and weak spells. I consulted a doctor, who gave me a tonic, but it did no good. I used other remedies, too, before finally trying Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I found that this did me more good than anything I had ever taken."

A PHONAGRAPH FOR EASTER

A DISPLAY OF INSTRUMENTS OF RARE MERIT AT HEINTZMAN HALL, HUNTER STREET.

It is claimed that phonographs, such as the Brunswick and Victrola, are the highest attainment in the arts of sound.

The mission of these instruments is purely one of transmission. The recorder and reproducer should tell the simple truth, no more, no less.

The phonograph is not an instrument in which the interpretation and expression depend on the player like the organ, piano, etc.

No instrument can be made to improve on Melba, Caruso, and other great artists. The true function of the Brunswick and Victrola is to reproduce faithfully the work of these artists.

The following beautiful lines tell the story:

"The moving finger writes; and, having writ,
Moves on; nor all your piety nor wit
Shall lure it back to cancel half a line,
Nor all your tears wash out a word of it."

In their handsome sound-proof rooms on Hunter Street, the Heintzman Hall sales staff will gladly play your favorite music for you and demonstrate the various styles of any one of these instruments. Prices to suit any one contemplating a purchase. A call puts you under no obligation to buy. See advertisement elsewhere.

These pianos may be seen in the firm's warerooms, George and Hunter streets, Peterborough.

GOOD HUMOR A PRICELESS BOON.

There is but little doubt that good humor is a priceless boon. It is the oil that smooths many a rough place in life which otherwise would be very hard sledding. A man who can smile at misfortune and the mistakes he has made in life, and has the courage to correct them and work manfully to make amends, has that in him which deserves success in the end. Ill humor sulks in its tent. The sun never shines bright enough to drive away the clouds of gloom which continually surround it. It has a snap and a snarl for any who may attempt to point out better ways or offer a crumb of comfort in case of real need. Good humor rises to the occasion and meets misfortune with a smile, however much the heart may be pained, for getting its own heart pains by lending a helping hand to those less fortunate. Good humor is a fortress, a strong tower, where the possessor may flee to gather strength for a renewed battle with difficulty and danger. Good humor is simply invincible. A man who laughs at misfortune and sets his face gravely to do the right as God has given him to see it is worth more to the world by far than the snarler who sets down amid a broken fortune to bemoan his fate and make life a wilderness of woe for everyone within hailing distance.

RUPERT HUGHES WROTE THE STORY

"Hold your Horses" has Unique Role for Tom Moore.

A unique theme is the basis of the latest Goldwyn picture featuring Tom Moore, entitled "Hold your Horses," by Rupert Hughes. It comes to the Allen Theatre for two days, commencing Wednesday. Here is the story—

From the old country Daniel Canavan (Tom Moore) came to New York and followed the calling of street cleaning. One day while on duty he was run down by a cariage occupied by Beatrice Newness, (Naomi Childers) a wealthy society girl, and Rodman Cadbury, her swell suitor, so what nerve Canavan did have was lost and he took a job with a blasting gang. A red flag was thrust in Canavan's hand and he was told to keep the traffic back—his first taste of authority, and he "grew drunk" on it. He even went home and gave his quarrelsome wife a dose of her own fistic medicine.

His growing aggressiveness attracted the attention of Jim James, a political boss, and as a pupil Canavan rose rapidly. It was in his new authority of political boss that he next met the beautiful girl who had run over him. The subsequent happenings have been woven into one of the most delightfully stirring stories ever screened.

The newest wedding rings are carved, some even show filigree and they're narrower than ever.

SINN FEIN ATTACK TRAIN.

DUBLIN, March 22. — (Canadian Press.) — Seven members of the Crown forces, including an officer, were killed, and 12 were wounded when a train was ambushed yesterday, according to an official announcement.

The attack occurred near Headford Junction, County Kerry.

A civilian passenger was killed and two others were wounded. The casualties among the ambushing party, with the exception of one man who was found dead, are not known.

In addition to the officer who was killed, the train carried 29 men of other ranks in the Royal Fusiliers, and a number of civilians. It was heavily fired on from both sides as it neared the Junction and the troops detrained and engaged the party. The survivors among the soldiers held off their assailants for fifty minutes until reinforced by a party of Fusiliers which arrived on another train. The combined forces then drove off the rebels.

To Make Hairs Vanish From Face, Neck or Arms

(Beauty Culture)

Keep a little powdered delatone handy, and when hairy growths appear make a paste with some of the powder and a little water, then spread over hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin, and it will be entirely free from hair or blemish. This simple treatment is unfailing, but care should be exercised to be sure and get genuine delatone, otherwise you may be disappointed.

Timeliness.

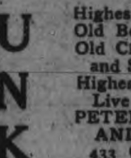
Pat—Ye may well say that, sorr. An hour of ut now will do more good in five minutes than a month of ut would do in a week at anny other time.

ECZEMA IN RASH CUTICURA HEALS

Very Itchy and Burned. Troubled Six Weeks.

"Our daughter's face came out in a rash that we were told was eczema. Her cheeks got sore and she rubbed causing loss of sleep. The breaking out was very itchy and burned so that I had to tie gloves on her hands to keep her from scratching.



"This trouble lasted about six weeks before I used Cuticura. I used one large box of Cuticura Ointment with two cakes of Cuticura Soap when she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. H. Stares, Blenheim Rd., Galt, Ont.

BOLSHEVIKS TAKE BATUM FROM TURKS

REDS WELCOMED BY POPULATION OF CITY, SAY ADVICES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 22.—(Canadian Press.)—Russian Bolshevik forces have entered the city of Batum. After entering Batum the Bolsheviki, according to dispatches received here, looted the town for several hours. Order was finally re-established. The entrance of the Bolsheviki forced the evacuation of the Turks. Reports state that the Russians were greeted with enthusiasm by the population.

The Natives are Making Fur Fly

FIGHTERS ARMED WITH PAPER CUTTERS AND TOOTHPICKS!

Now is the time for all good men to determine whether they are pro-Panamanian or pro-Costa Rican. Both countries are at swords' points (or would be if they had any swords), and, following the precedent established in the last war, it is up to all citizens who have reached the age of argument to take sides at once.

* * *

Intense feeling was reported in the Panamanian colonies in all American cities at press time, and the Costa Rican sections were also reported het up. In New York the entire Panamanian colony rose up and mobbed the Costa Rican settlement, neither man being badly hurt, however.

* * *

In the Panama war zone the situation is very critical, and will remain so until somebody calls a cop. Returns from the war are very contradictory. It is known however, that Panama entered the ring first and was loudly cheered. He wore pink tights and the usual knuckle bandages. Costa Rica entered a few minutes later in a pair of white running pants. He nodded to his seconds.

At the bell they sparred for an opening, but the gong found nobody upset except Washington and the League of Nations. The war was then called off and rain checks issued to those who paid in.

* * *

The trouble, it appears, arose over the Coto region. Coto is a narrow strip of territory two miles south of Hato and about a yard and a half east of Vesto. There is room on the plot for a fine portable house, and both countries want it.

* * *

Panama and Costa Rica are both members of the League of Nations and are evidently laboring under the impression that they constitute the league's entertainment committee.

* * *

Immediately upon hearing of the recent trouble the league took up the matter with a view to dragging as many more nations into the fight as possible and thereby make its first showing as impressive as possible.

* * *

Prospects of a finish fight are darkened by the shortage of arms. The official comparison follows:

Arms	Costa Rica	Panama
Paper cutters	1	1
Hatpins	5	7
Nail files	3	0
Canes	4	3
Umbrellas	1	2

NOTES.

The slight advantage which Panama would seem to hold in umbrella equipment is offset by the fact that both are owned by the same man.

Costa Rica is superior in nail files, but this requires very close fighting, and neither party seems disposed to come close to the other in battle.

* * *

In the matter of navies both have navies that are second to none, if not third to none.

* * *

Costa Rica is credited with one small launch in the naval records, but it was built for picnic purposes and it total armament consists of four bottle openers and one round of raisins.

Panama has quite a collection of oars and a complete history of rowing.

* * *

Costa Rica is accused of being the aggressor, as aggressiveness goes in that part of the world. The Costa Rican force started things by crossing the boundary last week and in a bitter battle against heavy odds breaking nine panes of glass and an emeny watch crystal.

* * *

Panama at once issued a proclamation calling all Panamanians to the colors. Six had shown up at press time, but the other four were still to be heard from.

Costa Rica has agreed courteously not to renew fighting until the missing men show up, but has challenged the Panama force as it now stands to a game of chess.

Meanwhile Washington is greatly concerned. If Panama is allowed to spend the summer in a war who will make America its supply of Panama hats?

A POLITICAL MESSAGE FROM DR. J. L. HUGHES

Dr. Jas L. Hughes, well known educationalist recently celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday and received some seven or eight hundred letters and telegrams extending congratulations. To acknowledge each of these with an individual letter would have been an enormous task so Dr. Hughes had a copy of a poem written by himself printed and sent and among the recipients being J. J. Turner of Peterboro. The verse which are inscribed "To My Dear Friends, who made my 75th birthday the happiest of my long list of birthdays" are as follows:

In youth I saw in Autumn time
One lovely leaf adorn a tree,
And wrote 'I hope to find a friend
To cling in Autumn time to me.'

And standing now near life's high crest
I trace my pathway far below,
And know the light that made it clear,
Wes kindled by true friendship's glow

No mountain 'ever seemed too high
No river seemed too wide to be,
To climb, or bridge; when trusted friends
Climbed hand in hand along with me

The faith light of their friendship true,
Gave me new power to climb each day:
The love light of their hopeful hearts
Shone through the clouds to light my way.

Life still is kind: In Autumn time
A thousand lovely leaves I see,
Each leaf the picture of a friend
In colours bright upon life's tree.

These friendship pictures in my heart
Through all the years while Life endures,
Will give me happiness and hope,
One of the pictures will be yours.

Before my heart's hearth-fire I'll sit
And feel each day the vital glow
Of your true friendship kindling me
With purest joy that life can know.

GOSPEL HALL MEETINGS.

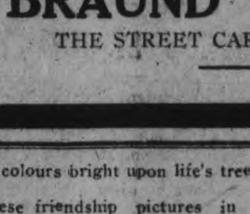
(Contributed.)

Sunday night another very impressive Gospel service was held at which there was a full attendance. This was the last of the special Gospel meetings that have been held for the last three weeks. Mr. Bentley spokes on "Excuses," taking Luke 14, 18, as the basis of his address. He said that like the "certain man" in the narrative God had provided a great supper—a supper of grace for needy and sinful men and women. His provisions include pardon for the guilty, peace for the troubled, power for the weak, but as then so now, men are making all kinds of excuses for not partaking of it. Never forget that they are excuses merely—not one valid reason can be given why any lost ruined sinner should not accept such a salvation. Some say, "I'm not so bad," when all the time Romans 3,10-23, gives us God's estimate of ourselves. Instead of excusing ourselves on that ground, we would be much wiser to own ourselves wrecked and ruined by sin, and claim the lost sinners' Saviour. Others say "I'm too bad." The devil is very clever at suggesting excuses. If he cant persuade a man that he is good he is willing to persuade him that he is too bad. Nowhere under God's blue sky is there a man too bad. Such mighty efficacy is in the blood of Christ that it cleanseth from ALL sin. Still another class urge, "There are so many hypocrites," which is perfectly true, but no reason why a soul should remain away from that gracious provision. I have met many hypocrites. Only a good thing is counterfeited. You are not fool enough to tear up and throw away every five dollar bill because somebody might counterfeit one.

When you next meet a hypocrite say, "This man is a proof that the REAL Christian exists somewhere." It is only a good thing that is worth counterfeiting. Even if everybody was a fraud it wouldd be no excuse for we have to answer the question at last "What did we do with Christ—the offered Saviour?"

Lastly, some say, "I can't believe." If it was some of the present day theories you could not believe I am one with you. The damnable Higher Criticism, salvation by joining the church, etc., are things that you should not believe, for they are lies, fathered by the devil, but when you let God speak to you out of the Holy Scriptures and tell you that salvation, full, present, free and eternal is offered you, and you then say, "I can't believe," it means you are not believing God; in other words you are making God a liar. I John 5:10.

You cannot please everybody and nobody knows it better than a preacher in a small town.



There is some vital need that Crown Brand Syrup satisfies better than anything else. That is why it does children so much good, on bread, porridge, griddle cakes, etc.

THE "AMATEUR" IN HOCKEY

At a session of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association in Winnipeg, Dr. Donald Bruce Macdonald, Principal of St. Andrew's College, and President of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, repeated a statement made by him recently in Montreal, to the effect that he was convinced that some of the players in amateur hockey are not amateurs. He advocates a nation-wide investigation in an effort to wipe out veiled professionalism.

There is ample ground for Dr. Macdonald's belief. There is good reason to believe that amateur hockey is not without professional blemish in the West, in the East and here in Ontario, and in Toronto. The cause of amateurism was making satisfactory headway until the A. A. U. of C. was stampeded into permitting the reinstatement of professionals. That was a backward step, ill-advised from every standpoint, and an abandonment of the principle "once a professional always a professional." In fact, until this unfortunate concession was made under pressure from Western Canada, and from certain quarters in the East, the A. A. U. of C. always informed petitioners for reinstatement as amateurs that it was beyond the authority and power of the governing body to reinstate professionals.

There have been some tremendous "gates" at the Arena here this season. Night after night the big building was packed to standing room. At the annual meeting of the O.H.A. last autumn it was decided that a complete, detailed statement of receipts and expenditures for the season must be filed with the secretary before April 15, by each club in the association. Failure to comply with this clause automatically suspends the offending club from membership. Careful scrutiny of these statements, with rigid investigation of items of expenditure that may arouse suspicion, will be of assistance in clearing up the situation to some extent in Ontario at least. Doubtless most of the clubs are purely amateur, and most of them finished the season with a deficit.—Toronto Globe.

POPULAR LACROSSE BOOSTER NOMINATED

For the Chief O.L.A. Office.

Leonard Smith, of Toronto, who has probably done more to boost lacrosse in Ontario than any other individual, has allowed his name to stand for the presidency of the O. A. L.A. and there is no doubt but he will be elected. He is deserving of the honor. Following is a complete list of the O.A.L.A. nominations:

President—Dr. Lou Campbell and Len. Smith.

First Vice-President—E. A. Doyle (Newmarket) and Dr. Lou Campbell (Bradford).

Second Vice-President—J. E. Dundas and James Wallace, both of Toronto.

Secretary—James Labbett.

Treasurer—William R. Harcourt.

Council (10 to be elected)—Arnold Smith (Weston), Dave Murray (Auroro, Robert McKay (Wingham Ernest Harrison (Mimico), Frank Coombes (Richmond Hill), L. J. Harding (Durham), Percy Parliament, (Toronto), Harry Halpin (Toronto), Dr. Lou Campbell (Bradford), Raspin Scott (Orangeville), W. A. Coad (Oshawa), W. H. Roe (Havelock), W. D. Ingram (Brampton), J. D. Wighe (St. Catharines), W. B. Rutledge (Hespeler), S. Dankert (Hanover).

T. E. CURVIN ROLLED 825.

Last week's prize at the Water Street Alleys was won by T. E. Curvin, who rolled 825 in three games.

To-night, Wm. Hamilton and Nashua Paper will battle for second and third place in the Business Men's Five-Pin League. A big crowd from both factories will be on hand to cheer their teams.

AN INDOOR BASEBALL LEAGUE BEING FORMED.

An Indoor Baseball League is under way, with the following teams [illegible]: 57th Regiment, Machine Gunners, De Laval, Collegiate, [illegible] Young Men's Class of the Y.M.C.A. Games will be played at the Armouries.

A. does not allow any team to carry more than twenty-five players on their list of players playing the game.

Players Transferred.

Mr. Stewart McMillan was transferred from the Caledonians to the Canadian Woollens and Mr. Arthur Edwards from G.W.V.A. to Canadian Woollens.

Registered Players.

VARSITY IS THE VICTOR

PLAYING BACK TO FORM SHOWN BEFORE COLLEGIANS WIN THE ALLAN CUP BY 8 TO 3.

WINNIPEG, March 22.—(Canadian Press).—'Varsity, playing back to the form Toronto expected of them, the form they showed against the Granites, the Soo and McGill, completely outclassed the "Wheat Stalks" of Brandon, overcame the two goal deficit with which they emerged from the first game, added six more goals to the total, and came out the victor of the second game of the Allan Cup finals by the score of 8 to 1, thereby winning the round by a total score 8 to 3, and bringing the Allan Cup to the East again.

It was no easy victory. The score does not indicate the play. 'Varsity were up against a stern proposition, and for thirty minutes they were forced to give the best they had to play hockey, which for drill brilliancy in every department, from stick-handling to dazzling speed, surpassed all and everything they have ever shown this season.

WILL THE SCOTTISH FOOTBALL TEAM VISIT PETERBORO?

SECRETARY WAS INSTRUCTED TO ARRANGE A GAME FOR JULY 21ST WITH D.F.A.—SHIELD AND MEDALS HELD OVER.

The regular monthly meeting of the Peterborough Football Association was held last evening in the Great War Veterans' rooms, when Mr. Sid Whatley, vice-president occupied the chair in the absence of the president, Mr. Cooke. Representatives present were: Mr. J. Cairns, C.G.E.; Mr. Geo. Coleman, G.W.V.A.; Mr. Coombs, De Laval; Mr. Worth, Canadian Woollens; Mr. J. Haw, Comrades; Mr. J. Cumming, C.G.E., and Mr. Fred Sutcliffe, secretary.

Scottish Football Team.

The official list of games of the Scottish football team were published yesterday by the Dominion Football Association, with the City of Peterborough excluded from the list, but on the 20th of July the Scotsmen are playing in Toronto and travel through Peterborough for Montreal to play there on the 23rd. On the recommendation of the whole executive the secretary was instructed to write the secretary of D.F.A. for necessary information and if possible to arrange a game on the 21st of July because they travel through the Lift-Lock city in transit for Montreal on that date.

Football Shield and Medals.

The notice of motion made by Mr. Cooke, the president, relative to the awarding of football shield and badges was held over to the next meeting that reads as follows: "That the rule governing cup and medals for the local league winners and runners-up be rescinded and the following placed on the books instead: "That the winners of the league be presented with the F. R. Clark shield and hold same until called upon by the executive, under a guarantee to keep it in good condition, and that one set of medals accompany the shield, to be purchased by the exec utive.

Free Transfers.

Moved by J. W. Worth and seconded by Mr. J. Cummings, "that the rerestentatives of the different clubs on the executive notify their secretaries to give free transfers to such players as may possibly still remain active participants in the game," was carried against the motion made by Mr. J. Cairns, who did not receive a seconder.

O F. A. Representatives.

"That the winners of Peterborough City Cup be the Peterborough representatives for the O.F.A. Cup Ties for this season," was moved by J. Coombs and seconded by Fred Sutcliffe, after a very interesting discussion whether it should be the league winners or not.

New Vice-President.

It was unanimously agreed that Mr. Howarth be appointed second-vice-president in place of Mr. Bates who has automatically dropped out. The executive extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the football public.

Players Struck Off.

The G.W.V.A. representative notified the secretary by handing over the registered list of eleven players who are out of the game; also the Canadian Woollens handed in a list of players who have retired. The reason for such action is that the O.F.

CURLERS ELECT JOHN A. CAMERON PRESIDENT AT ANNUAL MEETING

SUCCEEDS DR. H. WIGHTMAN—ALEX. KAY IS VICE-PRESIDENT AND JAMES SKINNER NEW MEMBER OF EXECUTIVE—CLUB IN SYMPATHY WITH ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION BUT CANNOT AFFILIATE.

DISTRICT CUP RECEIVED

With the District Cup, the season's boast, occupying a conspicuous position on the president's table, the Peterborough curlers held their annual meeting in their assembly room at the Charlotte street rink last night, with a large attendance of members. Unusually mild weather had interrupted the regular games at several periods of the winter, and finally wound them up two weeks earlier than the average closing date. As a result some of the annual inter-club games such as those with Lindsay, Orillia and the Toronto Victorias had to be abandoned. These unavoidable cancellations caused some disappointment to the curlers, but the distinction of having won the District Cup contributed an element of success that more than outweighed the minor discouragements which the half-hearted winter visited upon all the rinks in the province. The club's elation at having carried off one of the major honours of the Ontario Curling Association was expressed anew at last night's meeting, the winning rinks were again congratulated, and they in turn through J. W. McDermid presented the District Cup to the club for safe-keeping until next season.

The New Officers.

Hon. President—Dr. Wightman.
President—John A. Cameron.
Vice-President—A. C. Kay.
Secretary-Treasurer — Felix Brownscombe.
Committee of Management—Walter Oke, James Metheral, George Boucher and James Skinner.
Representative to the annual meeting of the O.C.A.— Robert Hicks, with W. G. Morrow alternate.
Official Umpire — Angus McIntosh.
Auditor—G. A. Campbell.

The election of Mr. Cameron and Mr. Kay was by acclamation. Ten of the members were nominated for the Executive committee. In regard to Mr. McIntosh's appointment it was stated that this is is the thirty-second consecutive year that he has been chosen as the rink umpire.

Financial Statement.

Mr. Brownscombe's financial report showed a present balance of $359.73. Some accounts have not yet been rendered and when these are received the balance will be about $100. The total receipts were $2,460.78, including $2,016 in membership fees. The expenditures amounted to $2,101.05.

Mr. McDermid read the report of the Bonspiel committee, showing receipts of $781.48, expenses of $680.22, and a balance of $101.26.

Presentation of Prizes.

The presentation of prizes provided the usual reminiscences of the season's games and friendly jests at those who won as well as those who lost. H. F. Downey presented the prizes to the winning rink and runners-up in the vice-skips' bonspiel.

The first prizes, silver salt and pepper shakers, went to the following rink: H. R. McIlmoyle, Rev. Robert Pogue, R. P. Best and F. C. Webebr, skip; and the second prizes, silver butter dishes, to J. E. Lillico, Manson Comstock, Tom Brightman and J. H. Brightman, skip.

Rev. Mr. Pogue remarked that his sons' names have been appearing on the sporting page in the baskeball reports, and it seemed strange that he, too, should be mentioned in the same columns under the curling section. One of the members turned it the other way, saying. "The boys are keeping up with father."

Silver pyrex casseroles were the first prize in the scheduled games. They were presented by J. Metheral to—T. Barette, R. V. Dawson, George Hill and R. G. Sturgeon, skip.

The second prize, cut glass sherbert cups, were presented by George Boucher to M. E. Cookson, A. W. Blade, F. C. Webber and W. M. Lang, skip.

And the third prizes, silver pie plates, were presented by Harry Foote to A. Brown, F. Bartlett, R. F. Downey and A. W. Archibald, skip.

The Waddell trophy in the points game was won by J. E. A. Fitzgerald and received for him by Harry Foote from Mr. Hicks, who made the presentation.

The District Cup Winners.

Just to recall the District Cup rinks who were honored again last night they were as follows: F. C. Weber, J. W. Fraser, T. O. Donaldson and J. W. McDermid, skip; and W. M. Cruthers, A. W. Archibald, W. D. Campbell and R. P. Best. The congratulations of the Club were conveyed to these members by G. H. Giroux, who declared that the team play that had characterized these rinks accounted largely in their victories. By working together a rink was bound to succeed. The next trophy Peterborough curlers wanted was the Tankard. They had been trying for it year after year, but somehow had failed to bring it home. "And we have the stuff," said Mr. Giroux. "We have plenty of it in the club and we have it in these two rinks. Next winter we should go right after it."

Andy Webb suggested that a group photograph of the two District Cup rinks should be procured by the Club, but Dr. Wightman informed him that this recognition had already been arranged for.

As evidence of the Club's appreciation of Harry Foote's successful attention to the details of the open bonspiel, he was presented by Mr. Hicks with a pair of thermos bottles.

An unexpected incident during this stage of the proceedings was the presentation of a fountain pen to the Examiner's representative by Mr. Brownscombe.

Open Honorary List.

A resolution by Mr. Kay authorizing the appointment of honorary members for life who shall be recommended to the Club by the Committee of Management was unanimously approved. This honor carries all the privileges of the club without fee.

Want Grouping Changed.

Although set aside on a technicality at the last annual meeting of the O.A.C., Peterborough's proposal to amend the constitution so that the Tankard and District Cup games shall be carried down to the fours before the semi-finals are staged in Toronto will be renewed this year. Mr. Giroux, who introduced this amendment at the O. C. A. annual meeting last October moved, seconded by Mr. Kay, last night, that it be adopted again by the Peterborough Club and offered for consideration by the Provincial Association at their next annual meeting. There is some likelihood that an attempt will be made to wrest the finals too, from Toronto.

The principal reason for urging the above resolution, Mr. Giroux said, was that the fours could be played off in one day. Four clubs instead of sixteen would be summoned to Toronto, where, under the present regulations, the curlers have to remain two or three days, especially the rinks that survive to the fours. The ice is undependable, usually soft and unsatisfactory, and beyond that the districts have the right to demand that the Tankard and District Cup games should be more widely distributed than is done at present.

In Sympathy With P.A.A.A.

A communication from the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association seeking the support and affiliation of the Curling Club evoked warm expressions of sympathy in a thoughtful discussion of the appeal.

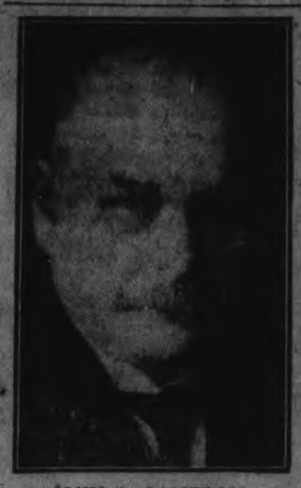
Mr. Webb pointed out that the curlers could not affiliate mith the Athletic Association because the curling ice admitted recognized professionals in other sports. "No man can become a professional at curling, even Mr. McDermid," he remarked.

Miles Hamilton said that professional golfers in Toronto were members of curling clubs. Elsewhere in Canada the same condition prevailed.

Mr. Webb moved, seconded by Mr. Hamilton, that the communication be received and reported on by the committee at the next annual meeting. This disposition was recognized as tantamount to complete shelving.

Mr. Giroux explained that the purpose of the Athletic Association was to foster amateursm in local sports. This object appealed to the meeting and Mr. George Boucher's amendment, seconded by Mr. J. W. Fraser, that the club approve of the aims of the P.A.A.A. and contribute reasonable financial support was adopted. The contribution which the Management committee was authorized to donate was left to their discretion as was also the time when such a donation may be made.

The meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks, "He's a Jolly Good Fellow" and cheers for Dr. Wightman, the retiring president, whose term of office was declared an unqualified success, marked by a fatherly interest in the Club members.



JOHN A. CAMERON.

Who was elected President of the Peterboro Curling Club at the annual meeting last night. Mr. Cameron anticipated the curlers' custom of advancing the vice-president to the chair by sending a letter requesting that an exception be made this year. He stated that his business affairs would frequently require his absence from the city and might prevent him from giving the club's affairs the attention they required. The members, however, insisted that the honour pass to Mr. Cameron, and he was accordingly elected president by acclamation.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

AT THE GRAND.

Another Big Super-Special Picture Coming Easter Monday.

Following their new policy adopted at the Grand Opera House, to produce only the very big super-specials in the line of picture programmes, the management beg to announce the special engagement for 4 days, of the biggest melodramatic picture production of the past 3 years, "Lone Wolf's Daughter," featuring Louise Glaum, and an all-star cast, including Edwin Stevens (the Original "Devil"), Thomas Holding, Bertram Grassby, etc.

This wonderful photo-drama is in 8 reels, and is an adaptation from the world famous detective stories of the same name, by Louis Joseph Vance, and produced by J. Parker Reed, Jr., who produced "Sahara" and other stupendous productions.

This picture has just completed a 4 weeks' showing at the Capitol Theatre in New York City, and Peterborough is to have absolutely the initial showing of the picture in Canada. Mr. Phillips, manager of the Grand, is going to Toronto on Wednesday morning to witness the special showing before the new Board of Censors at Loew's Theatre on Wednesday night, after the regular show, when, it is claimed, the largest crowd of producers and exhibitors will witness this special screening.

The New York critics all proclaim the picture to be the greatest and most wonderful melodramatic production of the year.

The management of the Grand wishes to remind its patrons of the fact that when pictures are announced at the Grand, they can rely on witnessing the very biggest and best productions of the day, and also wishes to announce the following picture productions that are booked to show here at the Grand in the very near future: "Way Down East," "The Country Fair," "Down Home," "Outside the Law," and others.

WHEN FOOD DOESN'T DIGEST

Give the Stomach a Rational Rest by Proper Aid, Not by Harsh Starvation Methods. Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A sour stomach may indicate an acid condition that calls for an alkaline effect

This you will get from one or two

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after a meal. Sour risings, gassiness, a heavy bloated feeling and such distress due to indigestion or dyspepsia are usually only temporary. And yet they may lead to serious disorder. The regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals reflects to a high degree the intelligent selection of preventative measures.

One cannot always select or inspect the quality of food to be eaten nor its method or manner of preparation. But it is possible to avoid the acidity that is so often the result. And it is a far better plan to eat without worr over what may happen, than to starve for fear it will happen. Many physicians recommend these tablets for stomach distress due to indigestion or dyspepsia.

They are sold by all druggists everywhere at 60 cents a box.

BURGLARS WERE BUSY AT PORT HOPE TOWN

PORT HOPE, March 22.—Burglars effected an entrance to Mr. E. Broadbent's home, Bloomsgrove avenue, Saturday night and ransacked the entire house from top to bottom. Mrs. Broadebnt was relieved of a purse containing $7, while Mr. Broadbent is minus his purse containing a sum unknown exactly. The thieves made their search for booty by the aid of matches, of which about a hundred burnt ones were found distributed over the premises.

Mr. P. Wickett's store on Ontario street, was also entered Sunday night, but alarmed at the appearance of a young man homeward bound, the intruders jumped through the cellar window and effected their escape.

CANADA CEMENT CO. PLANT CLOSES.

HULL, aMrch 22.—The Canada Cement Co., plant here which has only partly operated the greater part of the winter, has now closed down indefinitely. About 50 men have been employed in the plant looking after the machinery and making repairs preparatory to reopening on April 1. Word was received from Montreal ordering the complete closing of the plant. No further explanation has been received, and it is not known when the company will commence operating. It is stated that the uncertainty of the cement market has brought about the cessation of work.

S. A. MAKES ATTACK ON LONDON NIGHT LIFE.

Women in Furs, Silk Stockings and Picadilly Complexions Brought Up Rear of Column.

LONDON, March 22.—Two hundred "picked troops" of the Salvation Army, headed by a brass band, made an attack on London night life recently. The forces gathered in Regent Street, shortly before midnight, and appeared suddenly in Piccadilly Circus, surprising the crowd in the cafes and other places of amusement.

Without warning the strains of "Shall We Gather at the River?" burst upon the ears of the revelers and the cafe devotees. Pedestrian traffic practically stopped while the marchers passed up Shaftsbury Ave. into Leicester Square, thence to Charing Cross.

When the battalion reached Leicester Square, four young women in furs, silk stockings and Piccadilly complexions brought up the rear of the column.

"Things have been in a very bad way here for some time past," said Commissioner Cox, who led the attack. "An outcry has gone up that nobody is doing anything in behalf of the young women and girls who are found on the streets nightly in greater numbers.

"Why there should be so many mere children on the streets, it is difficult to say, but probably the war has had a great deal to do with it. It gave them a taste, not for wickedness, but for 'life,' as they understand it. They want too much dancing and pleasure, and that very often leads to sorrow."

BUY A SLAVE GIRL FOR $20.

Girls Still Sold on Turkish Market.

BALTIMORE, Md., March 9.—"You can go into the City of Constantinople any day of the week and buy a slave girl for $10, $15 or $20," said Captain George B. Hyde, who is a national speaker for the Near East Relief.

"I was perfectly astounded to read in the newspapers that there's only one harem left in Constantinople, which is maintained by a Frenchman. I've just come from Turkey. I was stationed in the town of Aintab, for a year, engaged in the administration work connected with the feeding of thousands of starving Armenians, maintenance of hospitals and orphan asylums, and I know whereof I speak.

"This story is a bit of propaganda fostered by the Turks to make the world believe there's a sweeping reform taking place in Turkey. There is a slave market right outside of constantinople where girls are sold. It used to be private, but no measures are taken now to insure privacy."

PAYS 4C TAX IN FOUR AMOUNTS.

Bought 1c Money Order For First Payment.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 22. — A tax payer whose total tax is four cents, who insisted on his right to pay in four instalments, and who bought a one cent money order for which he paid three cents, was revealed here to-day.

The taxpayer, a tall lank farmer, who said that he lived in Lincoln County, but whose name was not divulged, personally submitted his return to the Deputy Collector of Internal Revenue ,using the one cent money order to pay the first instalment.

FRANCE HAS MUCH MORE WINE NOW.

Last Year's Supply 177,000,000 Gals. More Than 1919.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—French wines last year exceeded by more than 177,000,000 gallons that country's supply in 1919, according to a report to the Department of Commerce to-day from Commercial Attache F. G. Singer at Paris.

Production of wines in France in 1920, he said, amounted to about 1,400,853,000 gallons, against 1286-547000 gallons the previous year, while the stock of wines in the country last year totalled approximately 88,600,000 gallons, compared with 25,800,000 gallons in 1919

Voice Of The People

To the Editor, Examiner:

Dr. Reid's announcement of a deficit of over $68,000,000 on the 1920 operations of the National Railways, and the unsatisfactory financial condition of the Grand Trunk, which the public now also own, suggest a new view of the prospect of building Hydro radials in Ontario with Provincial money.

One is almost persuaded that Hydro radials could earn a big freight revenue by carrying the Canadian National's deficit; and that this haulage would automatically transform a loss into a profit, after the manner of an entry on page 58 of the Clarkson report on the Hydro for the year ending October 31st, 1919. On the "assets" side of the "condensed statement of assets and liabilities" is this: "Farm equipment, produce, etc., including deficit on farm operations, $113,097.81."

On page 11 of the same report, Mr. Clarkson says, inter alia, of the Hydro farming operations at Chippawa: "The Commission met a loss in the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1918, which was written off against profits arising out of operation of the service building. For the fiscal year ending October 31st, 1919, and with the failure of crops, a further loss of $53,408.63 was met with." In his preceding report Mr. Clarkson shows that the Hydro's farming loss in the year ending October 31st, 1918, was $18,995.93.

Perhaps Dr. Reid, with his old-fashioned notions about profit and loss, is missing the opportunity to follow a great example. When you lose $18,995.93 by farming on the Chippewa, you write it off the profits in the service building on Strachan Avenue. But when the loss is nearly trebled you write it into the assets of the Province.—Yours truly,

Arthur Hawkes.

A SPRING TONIC

One That Will Quickly Improve Your Health.

With the passing of winter many people feel weak, depressed and easily tired. No particular disease, but your system lacks tone. Your works drags. Ordinary tasks become hard. You find yourself tired, low-spirited, unable to get sound sleep at night. Debility is robbing you of your power. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood. The blood goes to every part of the body and improvement in its condition quickly improves the general health. The digestion is toned up, the nerves strengthened, the aching muscles made strong and your sleep is refreshing. The value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills when the system is run down is shown by the experience of Miss Ruth E. Francis, Kinkora, P.E.I., who says: "About a year ago I was in a badly run down condition. I was weak and languid and the least exertion would tire me out. I slept poorly and this loss of sleep seemed to bring on nervous headaches from which I suffered terribly. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended and after using a few boxes I felt like a different person, and have since enjoyed the best of health. I am writing in the hope that my experience may be of benefit to some one else."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills should be kept in every home as a precaution against troubles due to watery blood and weak nerves. You can get the pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

VANCOUVER WINS THE FIRST GAME

DEFEATS OTTAWA 3 TO 1 IN OPENING STANTEY CUP SERIES.

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 22.—(Canadian Press). — Vancouver's stick-handlers defeated the Ottawa N. H. L. team last night 3 to 1 in the initial game of the series which is to decide the possession of the Stanley Cup. The game was replete with thrills, and the crowd, roughly estimated at ten thousand, was brought to its feet frequently to voice its appreciation of the great work of players of both sides.

SAGE AND SULPHER DARKEN SGRAY HAR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Colour, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural colour and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and attractive.

PETERBOROUGH MALE VOICE CHOIR.

The practices on Tuesday and Friday evenings of last week were very well attended, and much good work was accomplished by conductor and members of the Peterborough Male Voice Choir.

The tickets for the concert on 5th April in the Grand Opera House—at which Boris Hambourg, 'cellist, and Miss Pearl Newton, elocutionist, will be the assisting artistes—are now on sale, and may be had from the members of the choir. It is expected these will be purchased immediately, to allow of exchanging for seats at the box office on 1st April, the advance sale day.

To-night the choir meets at the J. M. Greene Music Room at eight o'clock sharp, with a hoped-for attendance of every member of the chorus. The time for practice is short, and every minute will count for the success of the concert.

There will be no practice on Friday evening next, and future practices will be announced.

You cannot always judge how much sense there is in a mans' conversation by the size of his audience.

WANT RANEY TAKEN FROM GOVERNMENT

WARM MEETING AT MERRITON DEMANDS THAT DRURY RID HIS CABINET OF HON. W. E. RANEY.

ACCOMPANIED BY THREAT

ST. CATHARINES, March 23. — (Canadian Press.)— There was a warm time at Merriton last night at the meeting called by the Independent Labor Party and the U.F.O. M. M. McBride, M.L.A., Brantford, and Frank Greenlaw, member for St. Catharines, were among those present.

President John McCannich of the Lincoln County Independent Labor Party left the chair and moved a resolution calling on Frank Greenlaw to request Premier Drury to rid his Cabinet of Hon. W. E. Raney or he would take a seat on the Opposition benches. The Attorney-General was incompetent in his administration generally, McCannich claimed.

Mr. Greenlaw, Labor member of the House, opposed the motion, claiming Mr. Raney was doing his best with the laws passed by former governments.

F. H. Avery, St. Catharines, defended Mr. Raney and moved an amendment that the question be sent to the Provincial convention at Welland on Friday.

Considerable discussion took place but the amendment finally carried.

BOLSHEVIK DELEGATES POSSESS CONTRABAND WORTH THOUSANDS

ROME, March 23. — (Canadian Press.) — Feeling against the Russian commercial delegation at present in this city is running high at the hotel where the delegates are staying. Thousands of dollars worth of contraband goods, including precious jewels, were discovered in numerous trunks which the Russians brought with them into Italy.

At dinner last night, a French engineer, a former resident of Russia, asked M. Vorovsky, the head of the delegation, how they obtained the treasures. M. Vorovsky did not reply, and the Frenchman then stated that the Bolsheviki had demanded that his sister surrender her gold watch. On refusing, she was beaten unconscious, and the watch then taken.

"This is only a mild example," he said in a loud voice.

As a parting shot, the Frenchman said, "The Russian delegate still imagines himself in Russia."

Virtually all the guests at the hotel have signed a demand that the Russians must leave.

It was announced in the Chamber yesterday that the Russians had been fined twenty thousand lire for importing contraband.

Progressive Ideas Were Advocated at the U.F.O. Banquet

PROFESSOR REYNOLDS, OF AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, CHIEF SPEAKER IN ABSENCE OF REV. WATSON, M.P.P.

CLASS CONSCIOUSNESS

The annual banquet of the Peterboro U.F.O. club was held in the Empress Hotel last night. Professor J. B. Reynolds, president of the Ontario Agriculture College was the principal speaker, Rev Edgar Watson, M.P.P., of North Victoria being unable to attend.

President W. R. Shields was chairman and spoke briefly of the three fold interests of the U.F.O. movement, social, political and financial and referred to the success of the cooperative company borne out by the $20,000,000 business in the past year. The United Farm Women's organization was progressing favourably, he said.

The Programme

The toast list comprised toasts to Agriculture, the Government and Sister clubs. During the evening enjoyable solos were given by Clayton Telford of Bridgenorth and recitation by Miss Mildred Archer and James Jopling of Bridgenorth.

Professor Reynolds

A greater pride in their calling of farmers was urged upon every one of the large number of farmers present by Professor Reynolds and the ladies were also urged to take pride in their position of housekeepers and home-makers. The leaders of the U.F.O. in advising group consciousness were doing a necessary work, he said, and in the last five years the farmers of Ontario have gained a class consciousness needed for agricultural progress.

Business-Like Farming.

He dwelt on the present day need for business-like farming. Each farmer he said should take into consideration his overhead expenses and determine his prices accordingly

The speaker stressed the requirements for detailed and more widespreading education due to the greater of substitution of force by intellect, each year. The multiplicity of conveniences to-day makes education a greater burden than heretofore and the growing generation should not lack for educational facilities.

Labour Saving

Professor Reynolds said that a farmer's own estimation of his own dignity and importance was seen in his dress and he emphasized the importanec the old saying "that clothes make the man."

In conclusion he appealed to the farmers to not only lighten their own labours by utlizing up-to-date farm machinery but also instal labour--saving devices in the farm home to save the housewives time and health.

Other Speakers

F. C. McCrae, agricultural representative at Norwood pointed out the splendid value of education in scientific agriculture and said the farmers were awakening to their own importance as producers individually and that collectively they formed the backbone of the country.

Mr. T. Tooms

In replying to the toast to the government T. Tooms M.P.P. commended the U.F.O.-Labour government. Premier E. C. Drury was referred to as likely to be the best premier Ontario has ever had and the cabinet were all practical; accessible men. He described the Rural Credits Bill and the Dairy Standard Act as good pieces of legislation about to become law.

Farmers have a justifiable right to be proud of their calling said Mr J. C. Campbell, defeated U.F.O. candidate in th erecent bye-election replying to the toast to Sister Clubs He appreciated the efforts of all who assisted him recently but the urban section had not shown him proper respect, he declared. This antagonism he alleged was largely promoted by political rivals.

INDIANS TAKE CASE TO KING

COUNCIL OF SIX NATIONS INDIANS PROTEST TO KING GEORGE AGAINST ENFRANCHISEMENT.

MIGHT EMIGRATE YET

BUFFALO, N.Y., March 23.—The Council of the Six Nations Indians, which has been in session here for two days, decided to-day to appeal to King George against the proposed enfranchisement of the Indians in Canada.

The Indians desire to retain their tribal form of government and are said to be considering a general exodus to the United States.

The message sent to the King reads: "The Canadian Indian Six Nations respectfully appeal to your Majesty to veto or withhold the operation of the Indian Enfranchisement Act against them on the grounds of the sacred agreement between King George III and Jos. Brant. Unsuccessful attempts to receive fair consideration of our case from Dominion officials prompts this request to your Majesty direct."

TEACHER BRINGS HONOUR TO CITY

Honour has come to the Peterborough Public Schools owing to the fact that this year, one of their number, Miss Ross of the Queen Alexandra teaching staff, is President of the Public School section of the Ontario Educational Association to be held in Toronto during Easter week. Miss Ross' address on the opening day will be "The Schools of Tomorrow."—

DISTANT ECHO 1917 TRAGEDY.

Name of Boat That Caused Explosion Changed.

(Canadian Press.)

HALIFAX, N. S., March 23.—A distant echo of the thunderous explosion that resulted in the deaths of hundreds of people and laid a part of Halifax in ruins in December, 1917, is the announcement that the name of the Belgian Relief Boat that collided with the French munition ship, Mont Blanc, and thus immediately contributed to the disaster, has been changed from Imo to Guvernoren. She has several aliases. She was the Runic while she sailed for twenty-four years under the White Star flag. Later she was the Tampican.

THE SISTER OF DOUGHTY IN THE BOX

DESCRIBES HOW HE LEFT PARCEL OF "VALUABLE PAPERS" IN HER POSSESSION WHEN HE WENT TO MONTREAL.

CONTENTS UNKNOWN

TORONTO, March 23.— (Canadian Press.) —Miss Jean Doughty, sister of the defendant, was the witness in the Sessions Court this morning in the trial of John Doughty, charged with the theft of $105,000 in bonds from Ambrose Small, missing theatrical magnate.

Miss Doughty described how on December 2nd, she accompanied Doughty to the station when he left for Montreal. On their way down they called at the Grand Opera House. She remained in the automobile while Doughty went into the theatre for some letters. To the prosecuting attorney, R. H. Greer, witness said that she did not see the letters in his possession and did not see him post any.

At the station, Miss Doughty said, her brother handed her a brown paper parcel which he said, belonged to Mr. Small, and told her that if she did not hear from him in a few days she was to put it into the safety deposit vault. Witness said that her brother told her not to open the parcel because it belonged to Mr. Small. She took it home and put it in a cheffonier and later went to the Bank of Montreal and rented a safety deposit box, but found the box too small to hold the bonds. Consequently she decided not to put the parcel in the box. "Why?" asked Mr. Greer.

"Well, because Jack told me at the station that it would only be for two or three days," replied the witness.

Mr. Greer cross-examined her particularly on this statement, but she declared that her brother had told her "it would only be a few days." It was on December 21st that she next saw her brother, and although he was at home nearly all day she did not speak to him about the parcel. She declared she did not know that they were bonds. Witness said that she had discussed with her brother Mr. Small's disappearance. Finally Mr. Greer drew from the witness a reference to the parcel as "valuable papers."

The Crown counsel then stepped briskly to the witness box and pointing his finger dramatically at the prisoner's sister, said, "He told you they were valuable papers." Witness declared that Doughty did not see, designate or describe it. She did not discuss the matter before the family because he had told her not to mention it to anyone.

Says Doughty Proposed Killing Small.

At the trial yesterday afternoon the most remarkable evidence was that of Fred T. Daville, printer of programmes at the Grand Opera House, A. J. Small's theatre. Daville testified that two years ago Doughty had suggested to him that Small be killed and that he propounded a plan by which they weer to obtain $450,000 of Small's wealth and go "fifty-fifty" on the transaction.

Mr. Hellmuth handled this witness without gloves and read shorthand notes taken at the preliminary police court hearing at which Daville had made no mention of either of these things, but had stated that the amount was not even as much approximated in the scheme which he alleges Doughty proposed.

Mr. Hellmuth strenuously objected to the introduction of evidence by the Crown, which he claimed bore only on the conspiracy charge at the theft trial and alleged that an attempt was being made to prejudice the jury.

Miss Doughty stated that the family had contemplated handing over the bonds to Attorney-General Raney about Christmas time, but the arrest of her brother in Oregon forestalled this move. She blamed Mrs. Ambrose Small for refusing to receive her sister, Mrs. Lovett, when the latter went to see Mrs. Small about the bonds.

There was a lively clash between the Crown and defence counsel when R. H. Greer, Crown Prosecutor, drew from the witness a statement that her brother had told her she could not return the bonds to Small.

"Then let me tell you something, Miss Doughty," retorted Mr. Greer, "if John Doughty told you that, he is the only man in the world who could tell you so."

On Sunday, 28th December, said Miss Doughty, Doughty told her he could not return the bonds to Small. He had not had an opportunity to return them, as she had not seen him.

Germans Refuse to Pay the Allied Demand of a Billion Marks Which is Due To-day

ALSO DISPUTE ALLIED FIGURES OF 12,000,000,000 MARKS DUE ON MAY 1 AND DECLARE THE 20,000,000,000 MARKS PROVIDED BY THE PEACE TREATY ARE MORE THAN PAID.

ALLIES MEET TO DISCUSS STEPS TO TAKE

PARIS, March 23. — (Canadian Press.) — Germany in her reply to-day to the recent ultimatum of the allied reparations commission, refuses to pay the one billion gold marks due on this date, and disputes the commission's figures showing a balance of twelve billion marks due May 1. It is maintained in the German note that the twenty billion marks which the peace treaty provided should be handed over by May 1, has been more than paid. The note asks that a joint commission of experts fix the value of German deliveries on the reparation account, but it declares that in any event it would be impossible for Germany to pay twelve billion marks by the first of May. The note concludes:

"If after the experts have conferred, it is established that there is a deficit in payments by Germany, she is ready to begin negotiations with the Reparations Commission regarding the flotation of a new loan abroad."

The Reparations Commission met this morning to consider the German reply. The German failure to pay is deemed a violation of the Versailles Treaty, which the commission will report to the allied governments. The allies will then determine what measures are to be taken.

FINANCIAL AND MARKETS

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, March 13.— Oils and motors contributed largely to the firmer tone of the stock market at the active opening of to-day's session. Atlantic Gulf, Chandler and Kelly Springfield Tire soon rose a point or more, similar advances being made by Republic Iron and Retail Stores. Pacific Oil, one of yesterday's prominent features, also moved upward, as well as General Asphalt, Mexican Petroleum, Endicott Johnson, Westinghouse Electric and May Department Stores. The only important issues to register early recessions were New York Central, Royal Dutch and Sears-Roebuck.

Materially higher prices were made by oils, motors, allied specialties and many miscellaneous issues during the lively forenoon Studebaker, Pierce Arrow preferred, Ajax Lee and United States Rubber, Stromberg carburetor and Bosch magnueto scored extreme gains of 2 to almost 5 points. General Asphalt Mexican Petroleum, Royal Dutch and Associated and Invincible Oils gained one to 3 1-2.

Shippings rose one to two points and steel and equipment shared to a like extent. Rails failed to show any animation, however, and the only conspiciously weak stock was Sears Roebuck which lost four points. Call money again opened at 6 1-2 per cent.

The shorts were completely routed later when call money declined to 6 per cent; final prices were one to three points under their best, however, on profit taking, closing was easy.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 23.—(Canadian Press.)—Strength developed in the wheat market to-day after a hesitating start. Talk of export business with Greece tended somewhat to encourage bulls .It was also said that exporters had purchased a good part of the available supply of Durum wheat at the head of the lakes .Opening prices, which ranged from a 1-4 decline to a 1-2 c advance, were followed by a moderate sag and then by upturns all around to well above yesterday's finish.

Later sentiment turned bearish, owing largely to absence of export call and to the assertions that British government holdings would be sufficient for all the British requirements to the end of the season.

Prices closed heavy with March 150 5-8 and May 141 1-4 to 141 1-2.

Corn swayed with wheat. After the opening 1-8 to 5-8 higher, the market declined temporarily and then scored gains anew.

Subsequently the market flattened out when wheat became depressed; the close was weak with May 63 7-8 to 64.

Oats which were governed by the action of other cereals started 1-8 to 3-8 higher and then weakened somewhat but soon rallied.

Provisions were dull and irregular owing to uncertainty over labor troubles.

MONTREAL

MONTREAL, March 23.—(Canadian Press).—The stock market closed at noon in a weak condition and nearly all the leaders declined from one to two points. Abitibi dropped two points and closed at 41 Atlantic sugar remained fairly steady around its closing level of 32 1-4. Brazilian was quiet at 3. Brompton continued its early decline and closed at 34 1-4. National breweries was the only strong issue, rising another quarter point to 38 at which figure it closed. Spanish River and Riordon remained unchanged throughout the morning session.

LIVESTOCK MARKET

TORONTO, March 23.—(Canadian Press)—Cattle receipts medium trade weaker. Heavy beef steers $10 to $11.50; butcher steers, choice, $9 to $10; butcher cows, medium, $5 to $7.50; calves $15 to $17; lambs $13 to $15; hogs fed and watered, selects, $14.75.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, March 23.—(Canadian Press) — Sterling exchange steady; demand 3.90. Canadian dollars 12 3-18 per cent. discount.

TORONTO, March 23.—(Canadian Press) C. P. R. moved up 1 3-4 points to 131 3-8 in the dull session of the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, again reflecting the improved sentiment of New York traders regarding railroads. On the other hand Abitibi, representing the paper issues, was weaker, selling down to 41, a loss of two points. Brompton declined to 34. Gains and losses in other stocks were confined to fractions with Dominion Steel Corporation 3-4 higher at 43, Atlantic Sugar up 1-2 at 32 and Brazilian down 3-8 at 32 7-8.

THE STORES WILL REMAIN OPEN ON THURSDAY NIGHT

The downtown stores will be open Thursday night. This was decided at a representative meeting of the stores held yesterday. The grocery stores of the city are also remaining open to-morrow night.

TO-NIGHT AT GEORGE STREET

The Passion Week services will be continued to-night at the George St. Church, beginning at 8 o'clock. This evening the special feature will be the showing of Tissot's beautiful pictures of the Life of Christ, by lantern slides. Mr. W. E. Dyer will give a descriptive talk, and a helpful and interesting hour is assured to all who can attend. The public is invited.

But Surrogate Says Aged Bachelor Can't Adopt Her.

NEW YORK, March 23. — Surrogate Cohalan denied an application by Herbert N. Curtis, a bachelor, 67 years old, who lives at 47 East Seventy-fourth Street, for permission to adopt Mary Lois Fox, a professional entertainer, 29 years old. Mr. Curtis told the Surrogate that he met Miss Fox six years ago through his sister and that she taught him modern dancing steps for two years. He has assisted in placing negro songs before the public, he said. He wants to make her his foster daughter, he says, that she may be a comfort to him in his old age.

"If that is your reason for wanting to adopt this young woman you won't do it with the aid of this court," said the Shrrogate. "It is a parody on all laws of society, and if I were to be a party to such an adoption we would have a lot of old roues coming in here wanting to adopt young girls."

Miss Fox's attorney had her go on the witness stand to tell the Surrogate her reason for consenting to the adoption. She said the elderly man's interest in her was purely platonic and that his attitude had always been that of a father. She said she expected to be married soon and wanted to be in a position to treat Mr. Curtis as her father and to have him live with her and her husband. She met him in a church choir, she said.

The Surrogate decided that Miss Fox should wait until after her marriage, and then she could either become the foster daughter of Mr. Curtis or she could adopt him as her son.

WOMEN SEEK HIGH OFFICES.

Serve as Diplomats in Foreign Countries.

LONDON, March 28.—British women are beginning to demand the appointment of members of their sex as diplomats in foreign services. They do not ask to be made ambassadors or ministers but there is no knowing how soon they may. At present they seem to be contented with suggesting that wom en be appointed as councillors, one to each British embassy.

The idea has been put forward by Professor Winifred Cullis of Cambridge University, who stated in an address before the English Speaking Union, that women could aid the British ambassadors and ministers in interpreting the points of view of people of other nations, now that women have a voice in the government. She also proposed that women should be sent on special diplomatic missions.

Unfortunately, she added, many ambassadors now are strongly opposed to such ideas.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

BRIGADIER-GENERAL KING INSPECTS CAMPBELLFORD REGIMENT YESTERDAY

COMPLIMENTS MEN ON THEIR APPEARANCE—ODDFELLOWS HELD A MEETING—MRS. JAMES DALY DEAD—CAMPBELLFORD NEWS.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 23. — The inspection of the local company of the 40th Northumberland Regt., was held yesterday afternoon at 5 p.m., by Brig-General W. B. King, C.M.G., D.S.O., G.O.C., M.D., No. 3, who was accompanied by Lieut.-Col. J. F. Foulks, Senior Officer of Pay Services, Lieut. Colonel Boggs, O.C., of the 40th Regt., Major W. Neilson, I.t. W. G. Bailey, Orderly Officer. Major J. M. Bygott was in command, assisted by Lieutenants Boyd and Davidson.

The parade was led by the 22-piece military band and there were 12 N.C.O.'s and 41 privates on parade.

Brig.-General King made a short address, and he complimented the company on its excellent appearance He regretted that Campbellford had no armouries and other facilities for the training of the soldiers, but said that they were worthy of praise because of the general condition of the company. He explained why it was necessary for Canada to maintain a standing trained militia to preserve law and order.

It is always better to be prepared. Every person earnestly hopes that there will be no more war but in order to maintain proper respect a trained army is necessary. On account of the seething condition of Central Europe no one can tell what may happen.

He advised that many returned men as possible join the unit and that the new recruits try and learn their drill from them.

After complimenting the men once more he closed his address. The company was then marched back to barracks and dismissed.

Oddfellows Met.

The Oddfellows of Compbellford held their regular meeting last evening and had a very large attendance. The second degree was conferred on two candidates. After the lodge closed a supper was served. During the programme Past Noble Grand E. T. Morton was presented with a beautiful locket and chain which was accompanied by an address relative to the excellent services which he had rendered to the order here.

Excellent addresses were given by Rev. H. B. Kenny, G. A. Kingston, B. A., and ex-Mayor J. A. Irwin.

There was also an excellent musical programme rendered by Mr. Cowell, George Salter, John Maynard, Walter Lowe and others.

Referendum Notes.

The temperance workers of Campbellford have already begun their work. At a meeting held recently, Mr. J. A. Irwin was elected chairman of the Local Rerefendum Committee, and the following captains, one for each ward, weer apointed:

Ward I, W. I. Stillman; Ward II, Mr. Weston; Ward III, Mr. A. Winters; Ward IV, Mr. J. A. Anderson.

The committee have secured Dr. Grant of Toronto, president of the Provincial Referendum Committeee, who will speak in the Opera House, on Tuesday evening, March 29th. Musical numbers will be rendered, and as Dr. Grant is a forceful and able speaker no one should miss the oportunitly of hearing him.

Musical Revue.

The local chapter of the I.O.D.E. have arranged for a musical revue and operetta entitled the "Gypsy Maid" in the Opera House, March 31. This will no doubt be a treat to all music lovers and the plan is now open at Mrs. Wood's store.

A Box Social.

The Loyal True Blues Lodge, No. 35, will hold a box social in the Opera House on the evening of April 1st. After the boxes are sold the floors will be cleared for dancing and the C.S.E.T. Band will furnish the music.

Annual Rally.

As is usual the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church will hold their annual Easter rally on the evening of Easter Sunday and Rev. H. B. Kenny will preach an appropriate sermon and choice musical numbers will be furnished by the choir.

Young People Entertained.

The young people of the Methodist church to the number of 55, despite the condition of the roads motored to Burnbrae on Monday evening and were the guests of the young people of St. Andrew's church. After an address of welcome by the President, Mr. Thomas Chaplin, the visitors proceeded to furnish the programme which consisted of a duet and trio by Mrs. Turner, Miss Taylor and Mr. Lowes, a reading by Miss McConnell entitled "Dominic," duet by Misses Hoover and Redden, and a synopsis of "Jean Val Jean," by Mrs. Kingston, euphonium and cornet duet by Messrs. Lowe and Salter, and a humorous reading by Mr. Maguire. The male quartette, "Steal Away," a musical farce, was heartily aplauded. Folowing this was a duet by Misses Taylor, recitation by Leeta Chaplin, euphonium solo by Mr. Salter, solo by Mrs. Turner, reading by Gerald Wilson, duet by Misses Heath and Ford.

Next came an important part of the programme when the visitors did ample justice to the dainty refreshments.

Social Evening.

Last evening a most successful social evening was held in St. Andrew's church, under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Mission Circle. Miss Lillian Hay, the president, occupied the chair and in her opening remarks outlined the work of the Circle. Then followed a solo, beautifully renrdered by little Miss Helen MacDonald. Miss McConnell favored the audience with a reading, following which Miss Lila McNaughton and Miss Marion Burleigh rendered solos which were highly encored. Little Miss Moffat followed with a reading, after which Rev. Mr. McIntosh, the pastor, in a few remarks, showed the good the Circle has done and is doing and to show the Mission Circle can do more than study missions, they rendered a chorus, "One Man and His Dog Mowed a Field," which produced outbursts of laughter.

A unique contest followed, after which very dainty refreshments were served and the meeting closed with the national anthem.

Missionary Night.

Monday evening being missionary night at St. Andrew's Young People's meeting the topic was "South America." Three very excellent papers were given by Mr. Campbell, Miss Beatrice Borland and Miss Walters. The first speaker dealt with the extent, physical features, resources and people of S. America. The second paper showed the exploration and conquest of S.A., while the last speaker dealt with missions, emphasizing the great need of workers. A very interesting feature of the Young People's meeting is a contest, west side of river versus east side, which promotes healthful rivalry and concentrated effort, points being allowed for programme and for attendance.

The Young People of St. Andrew's are live wires and stand ready to assist their pastor, Rev. Mr.

ADJOURNS WESTWOOD ARGUMENT

CONCLUDING CHAPTER WILL BE HEARD SATURDAY MORNING NEXT.

CLOSING EVIDENCE

At 4.40 yesterday afternoon the appeal case of Matthew and David Breckenbridge of Westwood was concluded after proceeding for four full days before Judge E. C. S. Huycke. Mr. F. D. Kerr concluded his evidence in reply, and His Honour adjourned counsel's argument till Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

Matthew and David Breckenbridge grist mill owners of Westwood, are appealing to have an award made by William Wilkins, engineer of Asphodel Township, for draining alleged drowned lands, caused by overflow from the mill pond, set aside on the grounds that the plans as proposed would drain or partially drain the pond. The township, not caring to fight the appeal, William Morris, of Westwood, alleged to have suffered severe flooding, is defending the award.

F. D. Kerr is counsel for the Breckenbridges. B. D. Hall for William Morris.

J. W. Fitzgerald.

Mr. J. W. Fitzgerald, surveyor, who was involved in the Cardwell case of 1912, in which Thomas Cardwell, who farms on adjoining land to the mill pond, sued for damages from flooding, gave evidence yesterday morning for respondents.

Mr. Fitzgerald was in the witness-box for several hours. He put in as evidence a plan made by him on 17th December, 1912, before the Cardwell case started showing levels along the top of the embankment of the pond which plays a prominent part in the whole case. Mr. Fitzgerald defined the top as the lowest point, that is the part over which water would first overflow. This definition was the reverse to that of George C. Wright, and Major L. Burwash, engineer giving evidence for the appellants.

Upheld Wilkins' Plans.

Frederick Wilkins' plans were the only feasible ones, Mr. Fitzgerald stated, and the only possible way to drain the lands within the $1,500 allowed by the Act. Mr. Wilkins' award was the only possible solution of the difficulties. The carrying out of the plans would entail no extraordinary work. The dyke built by Mr. Wilkins was manifestly, he said, to keep the water in the pond and the water, if it flowed over, would be controlled by the ditch.

Old Road Not as Alleged.

The old road previously stated by other witnesses to have run along the top of the embankment, he said, from a detailed investigation did not run along the top and was not a part or a continuation of the embankment.

In his evidence in reply, Mr. Kerr called George Wright, Charles Breckenbridge, formerly accountant in the Union Bank Peterborough, now in charge of the mill, Matthew and David Breckenbridge.

Adjourned Hearing Argument.

Judge Huycke, in adjourning counsel's argument till Saturday, expressed the hope that before then the various parties involved could reach a mutual understanding, making judgment unnecessary. As he saw it, he said, there was considerable prejudice on both sides, which, if smoothed away, would pave the way for a peaceable settlement.

No understanding was reached by the parties, however, and His Honour, from present indications, will have to give judgment.

Mayor of Campbellford and member of the Water and Light Commision; graduate in civil engineering of McGill University; manager of the Campbellford mill of the Peterboro Cereal Company Limited, of which his father, J. W. Meyers, is President and Managing Director. Mayor Meyers became a resident of Campbellford in 1919. In the following January he was elected to the town Council. His desire to serve and his interest in municipal affairs were so much appreciated by the ratepayers that they elected him Mayor by acclamation this year.

Fruit Is Plentiful

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES FOR EASTER HOLIDAYS IN PROFUSION, ACCORDING TO DEALERS.

SOME ALREADY HERE

The finest fruits and vegtables that can be cultivated under the sunny skies of California, Florida and Louisiana will, according to local fruit men, be in the shops for Easter. The united efforts of the American hot-houses will be presented to the public for Easter. Everything from strawberries to artichokes is now on order by the dealers and will be here by Saturday; in fact, many choice fruits and vegtables are now here.

Last Saturday a local dealer had a crate of luscious Louisana strawberries and he sold the twenty-four boxes without resorting to any persuasive measures at 65c per box. This week-end he has ordered a couple of crates and said to-day he could sell them at 35c or 40c a pint box. Then he has pineapples coming, too. These are high, 60c and 65c each, but alleged to be prime quality and worth the rate.

The stores are all getting extra supplies of oranges and bananas for the holiday. Oranges that sold for $1 a dozen at Christmas are now down to 80c and the 70c ones are marked at 40c. Oranges will certainly not cost as much as at Christmas, but bananas have maintained a steady level. Grapefruit is available in every size and colour, and have held firm in price as lemons have. Apples are now at a premium and most of those in the stores are from the Pacific Coast. The finest dates, figs and nuts are in the stores, and when it comes to vegetables, they are literally crammed with the choicest varieties.

Excluding the storage vegetables that fill the less promiscuous under sections of the vegetable counters, there are on top specialties from sunnier climes than this. On one shelf is head lettuce and cucumbers. The lettuce sells from 10c to 25c, but this price is completely outdone by the other, for the product of the cucumber vine selling at 65c each. Radishes are 10c a bunch, spinach 20c a pound, egg plants 40c to 50c each, tomatoes 50c, imported cabbage from 25c to 50c. Tomatoes are selling freely, one dealer said. Endive was displayed in one shop to-day at just 50c per pound. It is said, however, that a pound goes a long way. Artichokes are retailing at 25c each, and one man said he sold six to one person in spite of the steep price.

All in all, the Peterborough housewife should encounter little trouble in selecting the Easter menus, as far as fruit and vegetables go, for the fruit stores have everything in stock now, or will have before Saturday, that a perfectly reputable store in a city of twenty-five thousand people should have.

PADREWSKI DOUBTS THE VOTE COUNT

THINKS SILESIAN PLEBISCITE OUTCOME MORE GERMAN PROPAGANDA — "ABSURD AND RIDICULOUS."

CHICAGO, March 23. — Ignace Jan Paderewiski, former Premier of Poland, scanned the 'official figures' of the plebiscite in Upper Silesia, giving that valuable territory to Germany by more than two to one vote over his own land.

"You have heard of German propaganda?" he saked, smiling a tired smile.

"This is some more of it," he said. "This is pure German propaganda. The ballot-boxes, I will venture, have not even been opened yet The people only voted Sunday. How could they know the result of this vote in detail It is absurd and ridiculous. The voting boxes are being taken to central places now.

"Here I see that the official vote with two districts missing is 873,000 to 389,000, and that in Kreuzburg the Germans polled 43,000, and we polled 2,300. I never heard of the Kreuzburg district, and I am fairly familiar with Silesia. To give the Germans 48,700 in Kattiber and the Poles 20,700 is equally ridiculous. None of the big Polish districts, like Pless, are included in this total.

"As I say, this information came from Berlin. It is German propaganda. I cannot say what the final outcome of the plebiscite will be, but I know that these figures are German figures and impossible.

"Besides, even if Poland has lost in the voting, that does not give Upper Silesia to Germany. This vote is for the information of the Allied Commission at Paris, who are to draw the line dividing the territory. They may be guided by it, or they may ignore it. We shall see when the Allied Commission announces the real vote and takes action. Until the fate of the territory is actually settled, you will hear much of these German arguments as to why they should be allowed to hold Silesia. First, that without the coal and the great industrial plants that the economic rebuilding of Germany is impossible. Second, that, without Silesia, Germany will be unable to pay her indemnity to the Allied Governments, but that with it she will make almost immediate payment. Third, that the Germans are the only God-given country to administer this territory and that if Poland is awarded Upper Silesia the world's coal supply will be greatly curtailed because of our inability to function in the mines.

"We have not drifted so far from the decision at Versailles calling for self-determination of peoples that we should make a plebiscite self-determination for coal mines and iron mines and steel mills," he said slowly. "Eighty per cent of the workers in the Silesian mines are Poles, and twenty per cent are German overlords. I cannot believe peace can come through a decision which ignores these conditions

National Railway Battle Begins in House of Commons

Former Premier of Poland, and world famous pianist, who is skeptical regarding Upper Silesia voting to become German.

M'KENZIE KING DEMANDS FULL INFORMATION ON ADMINISTRATION WHEN ATTEMPT IS MADE TO PUT ESTIMATES THROUGH.

DIVISION FOR GOVT.

OTTAWA, March 23.—(Canadian Press.) — The House yesterday fought the first phase of the battle over the National Railways. Motion had been made to go into supply. Immediately Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, leader of the Opposition, moved an amendment, which the government challenged as a motion of non-confidence.

It laid down the general principle that it was the "undoubted right of Parliament" to have full information "except when of a confidential character" in relation to the management of every department of public service, including the Canadian National Railways, "whether operating directly under the control of the Department or under a Corporate form." The amendment was aimed primarily, of course, at the Canadian National Railways. Supporters of the amendment claimed that since the National Railways had been placed under the control of an independent corporation it had been impossible for the House to secure complete information.

The Prime Minister and the leader of the National Progressives were at one in opposition to the amendment. Both emphasized that the National lines should not be required to disclose information which might prove of value to their great competitor, the Canadan Pacific Railway. "If," said Mr. Meighen, "the directors of the C.N.R. are compelled to answer innumerable questions they will be placed under a severe handicap." For the details of management to be disclosed to the system's competitor, said Mr. Crerar, "would be a violation of the elementary principles of business." But Mr. Crerar added that were the amendment merely a motion of non-confidence he would not vote aaginst it.

The House and galleries were crowded when the division came after five hours' debate and as the government majority of eighty-eight was announced, there was loud cheering from the Ministerial side.

LITTLE NAVAL BUILDING NOW

LESS CONSTRUCTION IN BRITAIN THAN WHEN GERMANY CHALLENGED FOR SEA SUPREMACY.

NO SHIPS ON THE DOCKS

LONDON, March 23. — (Canadian Press.) — There is less naval construction going on in Britain than at any time since when in 1890 Germany threw down her reckless challenge to Britannia for the trident of the seas. Not a single capital ship is on the stocks—not a battleship nor an armoured cruiser. All private yards, which for many years have been fostered by the Admiralty in order that all the ship-building resources of the nation might be mobilized in time of need—as indeed was done during the great war—are now engaged solely on mercantile construction with but a single exception. Great as may have been post-war extravagance in other directions, the Admiralty certainly has exercised absolute economy in new construction.

See Danger.

Many supporters of a strong navy see danger in this, especially in view of ambitious American construction programmes. But there are two reasons. Chief is that no money is available, and that the new fleet created by the war is capable for some years at least of taking

KEENE BASEBALL CLUB ORGANIZED FOR THE SEASON

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE YEAR GOOD SEASON IN PROSPECT.

KEENE, March 23.—The Keene Baseball Club of East Peterborough Baseball League held a spirited and enthusiastic meeting recently, when they elected the officers for the coming season.

Dr. Walsh was elected president, and T. S. Pollard was chosen to pilot the team for the second consecutive season. The club finished the season with a credit balance to start this season, due to the good support given them by the fans from Keene and surrounding district, and it is hoped they will give the same good support this season.

The officers for the season are:
Hon. President—Dr. Harrison.
President—T. L. Walsh.
Sey.-Treas.—E. H. Barnes.
Executive Com.—V. McCarthey, Mr. Barraclough, J. Comrie, S. Comrie, and G. T. Gall.
Manager—F. S. Pollard.
Captain—Charlie Nelson.

SPREADING GOSSIP.

It is a strange feature about human nature that most people seem delighted to keep in circulation a story that discredits somebody else, and the more outrageous the story and the more prominent the person involved, the quicker it spreads. The rumours referred to by The Examiner last night, which reflected upon the honesty of a number of Peterborough's business houses, is an example of this tendency to circulate gossip. The report was ridiculous on its face, but many people seem to have "swallowed" it without hesitation and to have passed it on to their neighbours until half the stores on George Street have been named as having been fined by Government inspectors for profiteering. A piece of useful information, intended for the good of the community, would take weeks to reach everybody's ears, but it would appear that slander and gossip have conquered time and space, judging by the widespread circulation of this foolish story. Where do such yarns originate? The Examiner will have to leave that question to the public to answer, contenting itself with the remark that an overworked imagination is a dangerous thing. Spreading gossip is altogether too popular a pastime in Peterborough, and "They Say" is an enemy to the peace of any community.

IMMIGRATION THE SOLUTION.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, Leader of the National Progressive Party, agrees with President Beatty of the C. P. R. that an aggressive immigration policy is essential if the Canadian National Railways are to be placed on a successful basis. With that opinion there is not likely to be much dissension. As the Agrarian Leader points out, it was lively immigration propaganda that built up the Canadian Pacific Railway, and without such a policy, the chances for the success of the National systems are not, to put it mildly, encouraging. Much of its mileage in the West runs through sparsely settled country; unless the necessary population is secured for that part of Canada, it is difficult to see how the Federal railways can be made self-sustaining, let alone profitable. There is room for thousands of settlers in the districts served by the National systems, and the Government must awaken to the necessity of securing the people who are required. At the same time immigration must not be encouraged only the standpoint of numbers. The right kind of new citizens should be sought, with the peopling of the rural sections of Canada in mind rather than the filling up of the cities. Men who are anxious to go on the land in the West and who are of the type likely to succeed there, may prove the salvation of the Canadian National Railways if enough of them can be convinced of the prospects for advancement that Canada offers. To place those advantages before prospective immigrants should be regarded by the Dominion Government as a duty that must be assumed immediately.

A BUSINESSLIKE PROPOSAL.

The decision of the municipalities in the Central Ontario district, who are served by the Hydro-electric Commission to ask the Ontario Government to bring down legislation that will enable the municipalities to take over the Central Ontario power system, to be operated for them by the Hydro-electric Commission as is done in Western Ontario, is so thoroughly in the interests of the cities, towns and villages involved that it will undoubtedly receive the support of every centre in the district. Mayor O'Reilly, of Lindsay, put the proposal in language that will be easily understood, when he declared that the situation was exactly the same as a man owning a house or renting one. The municipalities of Central Ontario under the present arrangement are paying for the power system in this dintrict, and at the end of forty years, the Government will still own the system. The municipalities represented here on Monday are unanimous in the opinion that it would be a much more satisfactory and businesslike arrangement to assume liability for the debentures issued by the Hydro-electric Commission and to have the ownership of the properties transferred from the Provincial Government to the municipalities. In other words, the municipalities propose to become owners rather than tenants. There would be no additional costs and the Hydro-electric Commission would continue to operate the system. Western Ontario municipalities have been operating under such a plan for some years and are the virtual owners of the power system in their section of the Province. The municipalities, of course, guarantee the bonds covering the cost of the transmission lines and generating stations, and as the debentures are retired, the system will come under municipal ownership and the municipalities will be in a much more advantageous position. There is no apparent reason why the centres in this district should not enter upon a similiar enterprise, and it is hoped that the proposal will be vigorously pressed when it is laid before the Ontario Government.

THE C. G. E. MEETING.

To Peterborough people the annual meeting of the Canadian General Electric Company was of more than usual interest this year, not only because the financial reports showed that 1920 was a profitable year for the company, but because it marked the retirement of Senator Frederic Nicholls from the position of President and General Manager to the more nominal duties of Chairman of the Board of Directors. Senator Nicholls, who has been associated with the Canadian General since its inception, has been in control of the activities from the days when it had only $10,000 capital to its present position with assets over $31,000,000. With the citizens of Peterborough with whom he has come in contact, Senator Nicholls is most popular, and they will be glad to learn that his services to the company have been recognized by the granting to him of a bonus of 2,400 shares of unalloted common stock.

Of great interest to Peterborough, too, was President Nicholl's prophecy as to the future of the company, which occupies such a big part in the development of this city.

"The outlook for the electrical industry is most promising," President Nicholls said, "as the demand for Hydro-electric power is greatly in excess of the supply. The reason for this condition, favorable to the electrical industry, is because the use of electric power leads to more economical operation of industries and public utilities, and the convenient use of numerous household appliances for heating, cooking, lighting, etc. A survey of Canada's available water power shows nearly 20,000,000 horse-power available, of which only about 2,000,000 horse-power has been utilized, but other powers will be developed as the need arises, and will afford a growing and maintaining market for electrical machinery and appliances."

THE COST OF NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.

There are times when a newspaper hears many complaints regarding the cost of newspaper advertising. We hasten to add, of course, that these complaints generally come from those who are not sufficiently versed in the value of this aid to business, for the man who advertises consistently has proven to his own satisfaction that, in comparison with the results produced, newspaper advertising is one of the cheapest commodities that can be purchased to-day. As an investment it pays bigger dividends and brings greater results and returns than any other investment.

There are other ways, however, in which it can be proved that newspaper advertising does not cost an excessive figure. Every man in business, if he is a successful business man, will agree that advertising is essential. The question which sometimes arise is, "Which is the best and cheapest method of advertising?" Here is the answer, as given by Wm. A. Thomson, of New York, an advertising man who has studied the question from all angles:

"Newspaper advertising is much the cheapest of the printed mediums per thousand of circulation. Newspaper rates, like all other commodities, have advanced somewhat in the past couple of years, but they have not advanced in anything like the same degree that the materials and producing costs of newspaper making have increased."

A striking illustration can be given of the relative cheapness of newspaper advertising. Mr. Thomson, after careful and thorough investigation, has discovered that for the money necessary to buy enough postcards at one cent each to send just once to the 28,000,000 purchasers of the English language daily newspapers in the United States, an advertiser could buy at least a page and a half of advertising in every one of the 2,042 publications printed in that country.

These figures provide food for thought, and prove conclusively that the daily newspaper is not only the most effective advertising medium that is known, but, so far as actual csots in dollars and cents are concerned, it is also the cheapest. The same test when applied to Whig circulation gives a concrete illustration of the point involved. To send a single postcard to each of the 6,477 homes and offices in which The Whig is read would cost $64.77 in postage alone, without considering the cost of the postcards and the necessary printing on them. For this same amount of money the advertiser can send an appealing, forceful message to the same people, not once, but six or more times in a generously sized advertisement.

Nothing more need be said. The conclusion is too obvious to need further explanation. The one fact that stands out, however, is that when advertising is to be done, the cheapest way to do it is through the daily newspaper.—Kingston Whig.

COFFEE PRICES TAKE A DROP.

Wholesale Market Lowest Than in 13 Years.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Under continued pressure of liquidation, due to poor spot demands, continued large receipts from Brazil and the lowest Brazil exchange rate in over twenty years, the coffee market broke the lowest level since 1908.

May contracts sold as low as 5.13 and July as low as $5.50, representing declines of 27 to 28 points from the previous day's close. Spot coffee was quoted on the wholesale market at 5 3-8 cents, as against 5 3-4 cents on Tuesday and a low price of 6 1-8 cents in 1920, of 14 1-4 cents in 1910 and of 7 3-4 cents in 1918. It sold at 17 1-4 cents in January of last year.

This afternoon after our day's labors were over we stopped on a street corners was prohibited under sub-section 1 30 of Statute 23, as it is a form of leisure is conducive to pleasure.

Leaving the street corner to the policeman we proceeded to a tobacco store and presented our permit for our one cigar per day, the allowance since the outlawing of the outlawing of the cigarette and the curtailment of all smoking. This we proceeded to smoke in the restaurant over the cup of chemical concoction which has been served since the ban was placed on coffee Another blue-coat accosted us and conducted us into the presence of Chief Newhall, charging that we were smoking a cigar without a hand on it. The chief reprimanded us for appearing in a public place with a nude cigar but released us after he had sent over to the corner store for a band for the cigar.

Then we proceeded home dejectedly but resignedly. We stopped at a new stand to buy an evening paper but found the place closed. Then we remembered that its license had ben cancelled for selling humorous magazines to minors.

care of the naval defence of the British Empire; but hardly less important is that the expert advisers of the Admiralty are not yet decided as to whether the great suriace capital ship, in view of air and underwater perils, has a practical future.

The arrival at Portsmouth from the works of Messrs. Thornycroft of the flotilla leader Rooke levets outstanding in the private yards only one surface vessel of war out of the large number which was under construction at the Armistice. After as many contracts as possible had been cancelled and certain of the vessels had been completed, there still remained on hand, at the time the navy estimates were issued last March, seven light cruisers, two flotilla leaders, two aircraft carriers, and eight destroyers. With the exception of one destroyer, the Whitehall, all these vessels have either been completed for service or have been removed to the public dockyards so as to set free the private yards for merchant construction.

Under Construction.

In view of the forthcoming navy estimates it may be mentioned that when the Whitehall is transferred to a Government yard for completion there will be a total of eighteen vessels, apart from submarines and auxiliaries in various stages of construction or fitting out. Devonport has six of them, the cruisers Raleigh, Frobisher, Enterprise and Durban; the aircrait carrier, Hermes and the destoyer Witch. The Raleigh has already reached the trial stage and is under orders to become the flagship in North American waters. The Frobisher was launched on March 20 last, and is completing slowly. The Enterprise, Durban and Hermes have been transferred respectively from the yards of Messrs. John Brown and Co., Messrs. Scotts of Greenock, and Messrs Armstrong, Whitworth and Co., and the destroyer Witch has been similarly transferred from Thornycrofts.

Portsmouth comes next with five vessels. The Effingham is building on the slips, and may be launched this year; the Diomede is transferred from the Vickers yard at Barrow; the flotilla leaders, Keppel and Rooke, have likewise come from Messrs. Thornycroft at Southampton, and the destroyer Worcester from Messrs. White of Cowes.

LOVE!

By KATHERINE MOORE

I Meet Alvah Fairchild.

Chapter 9.

Note quite a week after our unexpected meeting at the theatre with Mrs. Darwood, I was in the city on a little shopping tour. I had no thought of telephoning her—no chance of that!—but she claimed more of my thoughts these days than I cared to give her.

As if almost in answer to my mental suggestion, I suddenly ran face to face with Alvah Fairchild. I was on the Avenue and the noonday crowds pressing all around gave me no chance to evade him. He saw me and made his way quickly to my side.

"Mrs. Allen, this is luck!" he said cordially, lifting his light brown Fedora hat and smiling at me in his suave manner. "And I was just thinking of you, too."

My cheeks reddened. I felt the intimacy of his remark was uncalled for. Yet I did not blame him. He had been educated in the society of small talk and feminine vanity. I had the conviction that his motives were sound. He wanted to please. I had the feeling that he very much desired to do the right thing, and the thing that I would think was right.

He enquired after Mr. Allen, and we stood talking for some minutes. Neither of us mentioned Mrs. Darwood. It was more than a coincidence I felt.

"Can't we have lunch together? It would be such an unexpected treat for me," Mr. Fairchild said, half coaxingly.

"Leonard—Mr. Allen, is expecting me at 12.30," I hurried to explain. "Otherwise—than you," I answered unskillfully.

As I hurried on down the Avenue the thought came to me suddenly that I had been a bit of a chump. Leonard was not expecting me. He might be unable to go out to lunch with me. Why had I refused to join Mr. Fairchild? An excuse had been the first thing to pop into my head. Why had I declined?

Then I thought of Leonard and Mrs. Darwood. I could picture her pleading, pouting, then cajoling with every subterfuge known to a designing woman.

If Alvah Fairchild had persisted—but a man, no matter how willing he is to follow, will respect the woman's lead.

No, I was glad I had declined. I could see the man and woman's case from a broader viewpoint now. But I hated Mrs. Darwood, hated her more and more every minute.

I hurried on, only hoping Leonard would be there. I wanted so to see him.

And he was there, alone in his private office. There was no mistaking the pleasure in his surprised greeting.

I was glad, glad. And to think I had been cross with myself for one little minute for refusing that other invitation.

I decided not to speak to Leonard about meeting Mr. Fairchild. I dreaded any angles that might reflect the conversation in Mrs. Darwood's direction. Yet silence between two people is such a dangerous thing, and far, far worse when they are married. It grows larger and larger, and becomes more distant and impossible of solution. Tiny little fears and intimations grow into great doubts and barriers.

As we reached the elevators the office boy called Leonard back to the telephone "Someone on the wire for you, Mr. Allen," he said running after us.

"Tell them I've gone to lunch—no, wait—I'll come," he turned and went back in the office.

I walked towards the elevators. I did not want to hear who it was that had called Leonard or what he would say to them. Of course it might be anyone—why should I always think of one person? Perhaps it was because Leonard, too, had thought it was that same person. I knew his thoughts as well as if he had told me. Our feelings and thoughts were so sympathetically tuned to the other's slightest intonations. Was that why Leonard now found interest in another woman? After all, the unexpected holds its fascinations.

It did not concern me greatly whether it was Mrs. Darwood on the 'phone or not. The fact which seemed most pertinent was that Leonard, thinking it was she, had decided to go back and speak to her.

Health

Comes to you and the children if you have Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the house. For "little-ones" and "grown-ups" this old fashioned vegetable tonic and blood-maker is still used by the million bottles every year. It was first used by everybody 50 years ago and is still safe and sane because it contains no alcohol or narcotic. It is made up of Blood root, Oregon Grape root, Queen's root, Stone root, Cherry Bark, without alcohol. Make your blood redder and your health better by going to your nearest druggist and obtaining Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in tablet or liquid form.

CENTRAL BUTTE, SASK.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for a number of years, and am pleased to recommend it as a blood purifier. I know it has no equal, as I used it for my boy. My neighbors and friends were surprised with the results; in fact, I do not think he would be alive to-day had it not been for the 'Medical Discovery.' I also keep it on hand for coughs, as it differs so from other cough medicines; instead of upsetting the stomach, as most cough syrups do, it is good for the stomach. I only wish I had known about Dr. Pierce's medicines sooner."—MRS. PERCY WOOD.

STURDY PHYSIQUE OF APSLEY YOUTHS

SUBJECT OF COMMENT AT SOCIAL GATHERING—APSLEY NEWS.

APSLEY, March 23. — A very enjoyable concert was given in the Eden Methodist church, Mount Julian, on Friday evening last, under the management of Miss Ella Brown. In spite of the bad roads there was a capacity audience who listened appreciatively to a lengthy programme. The Rev. W. Hall acted as chairman and was supported by Mr. Strickland who gave a short address, in the course of which he referred to the sturdy physique of the younger generation present, and said that Canada would look to the rural districts for a physical standard for the nation.

The evening's proceeds amounted to $32.30.

The following took part in the long and varied programme of songs, dialogues, recitations and instrumental selections. The pupils, Mrs. Lauder Mrs. Bruce Reid, Miss Brown, Mrs. Jos .Northey, Roy Matthews, Russell and Otis Northey, Jim Reid, Herbert Lean, Reg. Matthews, Willie Hall, Theo Wilson, Braden Northey, Adeline Spence, Art and Martha Matthews, Vera Young, Jean Reid, Miss Carr, Luella Bronson Pearl Lean and Mrs. I. Church.

Easter Festival

St. George's church is undergoing a complete cleaning in readiness for the Easter festival. The metal ceiling which had become almost black with the accumulation of years of smoke and dust, has been washed and restored to its original whiteness. This was quite a task involving the erection of scaffolding, but the result was well worth the trouble. All the labor was voluntary and the thanks of the Rector and churchwardens are extended to Messrs. Harry and George Tanner, Roy Brown, John McKay, E. L. Spence and Rev. C. A. G. Spence for their valuable assistance, and to Messrs. Windsor and Brown for the loan of ladders and scaffolding. It is intended to line the whole of the interior of the Church with panel board and make the necessary improvements.

NEW LIGHT ON STILLMAN CASE

MAN WITH INTIMATE KNOWLEDGE OF ALL PHASES OF SUIT RAISES NEW POINTS.

WAS IN RETALIATION

NEW YORK, March 22.—James A. Stillman, President of the National City Bank of New York, brought his charges against his wife, Mrs. Anne Urquhart Potter Stillman and her 28 montths old son, Guy Stillman, after he had learned that she was endeavouring to have it arranged that he should go abroad. This was the statement yesterday to a man with intimate knowledge of all details of the divorce suit.

The final break between the banker and the former "Fifi" Potter, this man said, came in March, 1920. Two reasons, according to this informant, prompted Mrs. Stillman's desire to have her husband accompany her overseas. First, she wished him to take a prominent part in the reconstruction of war-torn Europe. The second was seemingly the impelling motive was to halt whispers in society concerning "another woman" — to eliminate an alleged "charmer."

"Stillman heard of the efforts his wife was making," the informant said, "and bitterly resented them. He took the ground that his wife had no right to interfere in his business plans, and as he had always had his own way, he was vigorous in his refusal to go. He was obdurate and when Mrs. Stillman persisted he broke with her. Mr. Stillman took the first step to end their relations."

"Propaganda" to Influence Banker.

The disclosure concerning this phase of the suit had it that Mrs. Stillman was informed of the existence of "Mrs. Florence H. Leeds" and, after she had investigated, began a campaign to end the alleged affair. She enlisted prominent social friends of her husband, and sought the aid of her own. She conducted what was termed "propaganda" to influence the banker to go to London and Paris as the representative of his bank in overseas finance.

Even directors and other officials of the National City Bank, it was asserted, were approached "adroitly" by Mrs. Stillman. Apparently the pressure from all sides to cause him to leave New York City for an extensive trip to the other side aroused the suspicions of the bank president, for he was reported as facing his wife one afternoon in their big country home Maldanne, Pleasantville, N.Y., near the Rockefeller estate, and charging her point blank with being back of the move.

EASTER SERVICE KEENE CHURCHES

SPECIAL MUSIC IS BEING ARRANGED—KEENE NEWS OF INTEREST.

KEENE, March 23.—Preparations are being made for a "Go-to-Church Sunday" on May 1st. Every family will receive a special invitation to be present on that date.

Special Music.

Miss Bryce has a choir of twenty-one members for the special musical service next Sunday.

Charge of Service.

The Sisters of Service will have charge of the church worship next Sunday evening. The S.O.S. have been very successful in giving pleasant Sabbath evenings for the young people.

All the workers in the congregation are busy planning a good time for Wednesday evening, March 30. All roads lead to Keene for that evening.

Financial Reports.

The annual financial reports of the Presbyterian church have been received and indicate a healthy condition. A steady growth in liberality is revealed by the yearly increase since 1917 $4,635, 1918 $5,224, 1919 $6,400 1920 $9,019.

The congreagtion is to be congratulated on these signs of vitality.

Methodist Church.

The Women's Missionary Society will hold their annual Easter Thank offering next Sabbath evening. The President of the society Mrs. Kindred, will present a report of the year's work of the society. Rev. Mr. Honey will conduct the services following. His subject will be, "The Proofs of Christ's Resurrection."

The young people will hold their usual week night service on Friday evening. The programme is being arranged by the convenor of the Citizenship Department, Mr. A. E. Fletcher. Mr. Honey will take the topic. Thes services are being well attended and show a very earnest and enthusiastic feeling on the part of the young people.

Died Suddenly.

Mr. Alex. Knox was taken suddenly ill while working about his barn on Tuesday afternon and died a few moments later. The late Mr. Knox was a resident of this community for over 70 years and was very highly respected.

School Report.

February report of fourth grade of Keene Public school: Fern McCarthey, Olive McNevan, Ronald McEachern, Eugene McCarthey, Minnie Edwards, Colin Comrie, Edmund Foley, Mabel McCarthey, Victor Dinsdale, Cecil Burley, Jack Neish, Rena Dickson.

MILLBROOK NEWS ITEMS

MILLBROOK, March 23. — An entertainment was given in Grace Church, Millbrook, on Thursday evening. The attendance was small, due, no doubt, to the bad condition of the roads. An address was given by Rev. Dr. Lee on the life of St. Patrick, and was illustrated by lantern slides. This, together with music by the following, provided a pleasant evening:

Solo—Miss Florence Deyell.
Recitation—Miss Kathleen Freelowe.
Solo—Miss Anna Russell.
Solo—Mrs. H. W. Johnston.
Recitation—Miss Hawthorne.
C.G.I.T. Girls—Chorus.

At Home.

The Rebekahs of Millbrook Lodge No. 176 entertained the Oddfellows on Thursday night, last in the I.O.O.F. Hall, a pleasant time was spent playing cards, dancing, etc.

136th Attend Church.

The local company of the Durham Battalion No. 136th attended divine service in the Presbyterian church here on Sunday night. The Rev. W. D. Lee delivered a very inspiring sermon and special music was provided by the choir and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Johnston.

BRIGADIER-GENERAL KING INSPECTS, ETC

Mr. Cecil Sloggett, formerly of the firm of Barrie & Sloggett, has removed to his farm near Warkworth.

Mr. Matt. Galvin is confined to his home through illness and his friends wish him a speedy recovery.

Miss Mary E. Heffernan of Seymour West, who was operated on for appendicitis on Monday at Mrs. O'Sullivan's hospital, is progressing favorably.

Mrs. James Daly.

Mr. J. L. Daly and family have the sincere sympathy of the town in the loss of their devoted wife and mother, who after nearly two weeks of illness, passed away last night, this making the fifth bereavement in the home in less than three years. The funeral will take place Thursday morning to St. Mary's church, where requiem mass will be held. She is survived by her husband, two sons, Frank and Bernard of town, and one daughter, Emeritta, at home. Also her mother of town, three sisters, Sister Emeritta of St. Joseph's Convent, Coma, B.C., Miss Margaret Roach of Toronto, and Mrs. K. McKay of Toronto, and two brothers, Mr. P. J. Roach of Belleville and Mr. John Roach of town.

PREMIER DEFENDS TRADE AGREEMENT

LONDON, March 23.—(Canadian Press).— Defending the government's trade agreement with Russia, Premier Lloyd George declared in the House last night that a complete change was evident in the attitude of the Bolsheviki government toward what is called Capitalism.

"Indeed", he said, "Some of Lenine's speeches might very well have been delivered by Mr. Churchill himself.

The Russian Soviet Premier was beginning to realize that trade was essential, Lloyd George continued. The agreement was purely trade agreement recognizing the de facto government of Russia, not a treaty of peace.

A GOOD BABY SOOTHER

The trouble with most baby comforts is that they break or collapse too easily. Why not pay a few cents more and get a real good soother. The PERFECTO SANITARY SOOTHER is packed each one in a box or envelope and is absolutely sanitary. The nipple cannot collapse or break away from the shield.

The PERFECTO SOOTHER is the best for the baby. m w f

THE HOME CIRCLE

Are you a trailer, or are you a trolley?
Are you tagged to a leader through wisdom or folly?
Are you somebody else or you?

Do you vote by the symbol and follow it straight?
Do you pray by the book, do you pay by the rate?
Do you tie your cravat by the calendar's date?
Do you follow a cue?

Are you a writer, or that which is worded?
Are you a shepherd, or one of the herded?
Which are you? A what or a who?

It sounds well to call yourself one of the flock,
But a sheep is a sheep after all, at the block.
You are nothing but "mutton," or possibly stock.
Would you flavor a stew?
Are you somebody else or you?

When you finally pass to the Heavenly wicket,
Where Peter, the scrutinous, stands at the picket,
Will you give him a blank for a ticket?
Do you think it will do?

Charles Vance Cook.

Debts from the most disagreeable, disgraceful, detrimental drawback that you can put upon yourself. They place you under heavy obligations to the rich man, and beneath the contempt of the poor man whose credit represents an honest hardwon struggle for existence. The only way to keep your self-respect in this world is to pay your way like a gentleman.

* * *

Burglars and vampires are not the only home wreckers. There are lots of hard-working, well-intentioned women who never know how near they come to destroying the very home they slave for. They religiously pursue the following ten commandments that habit has taught them:

I. Nagging.
II. Complaining.
III. Wasting.
IV. Living beyond their incomes, known as keeping up with Mrs. Jones.
V. Trying out new fads until home looks like a museum and feels like an excursion.
VI. Telling Willie that he is the worst behaved child in the neighborhood until he feels natural in the role.
VII. Comparing Mary with her father every time she has a tantrum.
VIII. Openly siding with the children against father's parental discipline.
IX. Forgetting everything of importance while talking incessantly of nothing.
X. Making Virtue an overworked necessity.

The funny part of it is that even as you read this paragraph, you have Mrs. So and So in mind as that very one. Such women, often very sweet appearing, are as common as the doctor or lawyer to every neighborhood.

* * *

Human nature is naturally perverse. Many people recognize the fact and don't care. Others consider that characteristic the besetting sin. They work to exterminate it until they resemble so much unmoulded putty. Though too wilful a perseverance should be curbed, that same quality is the backbone of determination and a forceful character.

* * *

TROUBLE.

Trouble was a trick of coming
Butt end first;
Viewed approaching then you've seen it
At its worst.
Once surmounted, straight it waxes
Ever small,
And it tapers till there's nothing
So, whene'er a difficulty
May impend,
Just remember you are facing
The butt end;
And that looking back upon it,
Like as not,
You will marvel at beholding
Just a dot!

Selected.

* * *

There is a potent old formula "facing the facts squarely," supposed to cure all ailments, which has become a harmless and fashionable modern art. A large number of its practitioners are backsliders who have never taken their eyes off the facts, and are standing in the same spot still. They entertain a sneaking sensation that facing the disagreeable facts, immobile, is much easier than taking the next step beyond. These misguided individuals do not realize that one false step backward will turn the tables, and leave them fleeing before the pursuing facts. If the chase is a very hot one, they may accidentally step off this earth without any justifying credentials—in which case the force of gravity will do the rest.

* * *

Ambition is the greatest driving force in shaping a human life. You become what you want, if you want it bad enough. There are some colorless individuals who want to be and do just what anyone else may want, regular blotting pads of absorption. They are the tools of those who know what they desire and how to accomplish it. The first step toward independence is to stand on your own convictions as justified until they are proven false. To be assured that you are right, you must train your desires to a worthy aspiration and center your efforts upon a fair and practicable method of attainment. In other words you must direct your ambition correctly, before you can follow it profitably.

HAD BAD COUGH FOR THREE YEARS

The constant hacking, racking, persistent cough that sticks to you in spite of everything you have done to get rid of it, is the kind that is dangerous.

The longer the cough sticks, the more serious menace it becomes to your health.

There is no remedy that will relieve coughs—coughs that won't let go—like Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

It has a healing and soothing action on the air passages, and at the same time acts as a disinfectant of the respiratory organs, destroying the germs that produce serious lung complications.

Mrs. John Miller, Minburn, Alta., writes:—"I had a very bad cough for three years. I went to several doctors and tried different cough medicines, but nothing seemed to help me. One day a friend told me about Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and after using several bottles I became completely relieved. I always keep a bottle in the house, and also recommend it to others.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup has been universally used for over 30 years, and so great has been its success, it is only natural that a great many imitations have been placed on the market. The genuine is put up in yellow wrapper; 3 pine trees the trade mark; price 35c. and 60c. a bottle; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

LONG OR SHORT TERM DEBENTURES FOR HUNTER STREET BRIDGE DEBT. WHICH?

CORRESPONDENT WRITES THAT PAYMENT OF $230,000 BORROWED SPREAD OVER TWENTY YEARS ONLY WOULD EFFECT BIG SAVING TO RATEPAYERS.

Editor, The Examiner:

Sir,—I find in the latest issue of the Financial Post an enquiry from a correspondent, the terms of which lead to the impression (thought not stated) that the question concerns the floating of the last two issues of debentures authorized to cover the expenditures on the Hunter street bridge. The pith of the query is this: Will it pay the city to issue these debentures, (230,000.00) for a twenty year term or for a forty year term. And which.

It is a depressing thing thing to the average ratepayer to find that by the time the $230,000.00 amount of money borrowed is paid back in forty years that the interest and the sinking fund amount, alone, to more than the original loan. That is the effect of interest and deferred payments. And that is just what we wish the ratepayer to appreciate. Of course he may reflect that he may be out of the city, possibly, perhaps dead and gone or otherwise not here to participate, leaving it to someone else to foot the bill.

Interest Same.

The rate of interest stands the same for either term, six and one-half per cent. The table following shows the computation for the 20 year and 40 year periods. And shows payments of $236,340.20 more for the 40 years than for the 20 years. Isn't that paying pretty dear for the whistle?

I is true that if we face the matter and pay up in 20 years we have to find $22,423.81 yearly. To hold it off for 40 years we have to raise each year $17,120.41. A difference of $5,303.40. Now to raise $22,423.81 each year requires a rate on the dollar of 1 1-2 (one and one-half) mills. To get the $17,120.41 calls for a rate of 1 1-10 (one and one-tenth) mills. There is a difference of only 2-5 mill. Do we really understand what that means? Just this. It is about one-half of the present cost of the garbage collection over the whole city as collected. So if we agree to tax ourselves half as much as the garbage costs, we can close out the debentures in 20 years and save the city $236,340.00. Isn't it worth while? Sure thing. Then why trifle with the other proposition?

Hunter Street Bridge Debentures.

	Interest.	Sinking Fund.	Total.
$100,000 6 1-4 p.c. for 20 years	$ 6,250.00	$ 3,358.18	$ 9,608.18
$130,000, 6 1-2 p.c. for 20 years	8,450.00	4,365.63	12,815.63
Pay in one year	$ 14,700.00	$ 7,723.81	$ 22,423.81
Total to pay in 20 years	$294,000.00	$154,476.20	$448,476.20
$100,000 6 1-4 p.c. for 40 years	$ 6,250.00	$ 1,052.35	$ 7,302.35
$130,000 6 1-2 p.c. for 40 years	8,450.00	1,368.06	9,818.06
Pay in one year	$ 14,700.00	$ 2,420.41	$ 17,120.41
Total to pay in 40 years	$588,000.00	$ 96,816.40	$684,816.40
Total cost of 40 year Debentures..			$684,816.40
Total cost of 20 year Debentures..			448,476.20
Total Extra Cost of issuing Debentures for 40 years instead of for 20 years			$236,340.20

Or $11,817.20 per year for 20 years.

There is another thing to consider. In a few years many properties along the streets will be relieved from the payment for sidewalks and sewers because the term of the debentures issued to pay for those improvements will have expired. They will be paid for and will disappear from the tax bills so affected. Then the extra two-fifths of a mill will not even replace the tax that is being taken off.

And, this is the concrete way of looking at it. On an assessment of $3,000, which would cover the average dwelling, the yearly increase of taxes would amount to $1.20, and pay off in 20 years. Surely it will pay to make the exertion.

Following is the question and answer from the Financial Post:

Debenture Issue Lower.

Enquirer, Ontario.—We are issuing debentures here for $250,000 to raise money to pay for a cement bridge structure costing $5[illegible]0,000, a permanent work. Now I contend that we spread it over for forty years, other says it would be too costly to do so now and want to issue them for 10 years with the option of renewing for 20 or 30 years. By so doing they say that the interest would eventually be lower in ten years than it is now. Which would you prefer, and which would be the most beneficial to the city financially?

It would be inadvisable for you city to issue forty year debentures to pay for a bridge, even though the life of the bridge might extend beyond that period. The tendencies in good civic finance have been to shorten the term of debentures rather than to lengthen the maturity, in order to reduce interest charges to the minimum. This would be especially true in the case of a growing community that expects to require considerable financing to care for its expansion in the future. The city would benefit from as extended an application of the "pay as you go" policy as possible with the additional policy of keeping the maturity of loans well within the life of the works they cover.

If you wish to avoid paying present interest rates for the full length of the loan you could issue three or preferably five year notes for the amount of the work and then refund the notes with an issue of twenty year bonds. The saving would be very litle though even with a substantial improvement in bond prices, and it is doubtful if it would be worth the additional effort. To issue twenty year instalment type debentures now would probably prove in the end the cheapest and best plan.

In any event to issue forty year debentures would require a special act of the provincial legislature, and it is possible that even thirty year debentures would require special legislation, unless they could be classed as good roads debentures.

CONTROVERSIAL BILLS AVOIDED

LEGISLATURE CONTINUES TO ADVANCE GENERAL PROGRAMME.

TORONTO, March 23.—(Canadian Press)—The Ontario Legislature in compliance with the understanding reached Monday put in a day advancing the general legislature programme and leaving contentious matters to one side to be taken up after the Easter adjournment. Only one bill aroused anything like sharp criticism, the exception being Hon. Walter Rollos Trades and Labor Branch bill.

The measure which provides for the creation of advisory councils, provincial and local to co-operate in relieving unemployment was objected to by H. H. Dewart, J. A. Pinard Charles McCrae, and others as one intended to entirely wipe out private employment agencies. Mr. Dewart attacked it also as placing too much power in the hands of the Government. Premier Drury thought that excellent results would flow from its operation and assisting to place workers where they were needed He declared that, it was not its purpose to wipe out private employment agencies. The bill was given a second reading.

The destruction of the power works dam at Parry Sound was brought to the attention of the house by R. R. Hall, Parry Sound, who spoke of the serious damage caused by the flood and of heavy burden it would place on the town for repairs. He made a strong plea for government assistance and the premier promised sympathetic consideration.

Hon. Thomas Crawford acted as speaker in the absence of Hon. N. Parliament, who is ill with a high fever.

DEMONSTRATION OF UNEMPLOYED QUIET

MASS MEETING IN TORONTO CONSIDERS UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION.

TORONTO, March 23.— (Canadian Press.)—Organized labor proved last night that it was possible to hold a mass meeting on unemployment at Massey Hall without disorder or violence being the result. Although the hall was filled to the doors and several thousand had to be turned away, the meeting turned out to be a big contrast to the "public loyalty" meeting a few weeks ago when an audience of about fifteen hundred caused the meeting to end almost in a riot. The audience was, for the most part, made up of employed, and "red" sentiment was quite strong, but the speakers dwelt so strongly on the acuteness of the present situation as to strike a responsive chord.

WOMEN WHO CANNOT WORK

Read Mrs. Corley's Letter and Benefit by Her Experience

Edmund, S. C.—"I was run down with nervousness and female trouble and suffered every month. I was not able to do any work and tried a lot of medicines but got no relief. I saw your medicine advertised in a little book, and I had not taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I could see it was helping me. I am keeping house now and am able to do all of my work. I cannot say enough for your medicine. It has done more for me than any doctor. You may print this letter if you wish."—ELIZABETH C. CORLEY, care of A. P. Corley, Edmund, S. C.

Ability to stand the strain of work is the privilege of the strong and healthy, but how our hearts ache for the weak and sickly women struggling with their daily rounds of household duties, with backaches, headaches, nervousness and almost every movement brings a new pain. Why will not the mass of letters from women all over this country, which we have been publishing, convince such women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help them just as surely as it did Mrs. Corley?

ATTITUDE FRANCE VS. THAT OF HUNS.

How French Wiped Off War Indemnity.

PARIS, March 22 (Associated Press).—The French press has been comparing the attitude of France regarding payment of the 10,000,000,000 indemnity asked by Germany after Franco-Prussian war in 1870 with that of the German nation now facing its bills for the world's war.

The Journal des Debats re-publishes a letter written to that paper in February, 1872, by Hippolyte Taine, in which the famous French historian suggested that "every Frenchman surrender one-thirtieth of his revenue" in order that Germany might be paid sooner

Taine proposed that every Frenchman, whether rich or poor, workingman or bourgeois, could make this sacrifice to his country. He declared that a workingman, by devoting one day's pay each month, a manufacturer by surrendering the one-thirtieth part of his net income, the farmer by giving up the thirtieth bushel of oats corn, or wheat, as the case might be, would permit France to pay its then fabulous indemnity two years sooner than required, and end the occupation.

The historian had figured that the amount realised from his scheme would reach 500,000,000 francs per year.

The Journal des Debats commenting says: "Germany has the example of a people which on the morrow of the defeat seeks to liberate itself of its debt, although that people had committed no depredations, caused no damage to the territory of its enemy."

HOTEL RE-OPENS IN LAKEFIELD

MANY IMPROVEMENTS — PETERBORO SOLOIST IS APPRECIATED —SOCIAL DOINGS.

LAKEFIELD, March 23. — The Lakefield House has re-opened its doors and already it has once more become a centre of activity. The hotel with its new electric sign is one of the most attractive looking places in the village and has made the north end of Queen street busier.

Good Music.

Sunday at the morning service in the Presbyterian church, Dr. J. C. Smith rendered "The Palms" as a solo. It was very much appreciated.

Mr. F. Walter of Peterborough, sang at the Methodist church on Sunday at all the services, and his singing was much enjoyed by the large congregations.

This Week's Services.

In St. John the Baptist's church there will be a half hour service at 4.30 p.m. on Thursday; on Good Friday a three-hour service from 1.20 to 3 p.m., and on Saturday a short service at 7.30 p.m.

Last Sunday evening the choir sang "The Story of the Cross," the first and third parts being sung as solos by Mr. A. G. Fawcett.

Personal Mention.

Mr. R. C. Strickland of Eel's Creek ranch, is in the village at present.

Mr. J. M. Simpson spent the week end in Peterborough.

Miss Doris Burgess was the guest of friends in Peterborough for the week end.

Mr. F. H. Adams is in the village this week on business.

Miss Hazel Windsor of Burleigh, was in the village on Monday.

Miss Edna Braden was in Peterborough on Wednesday.

Mr. W. E. Parsons, of Peterborough, is in the village on business this week.

PETERBORO FAIR TRANSPORTATION

COMMITTEE WAS APPOINTED BY THE FAIR BOARD.

The appointment of a transportation committee, with wide powers, was the most interesting development at a meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition held in the Board of Trade Rooms last night.

R. M. Glover brought up the matter, pointing out the need for an active transportation committee among the Fair Board committees. The success or failure of the Fair practically depended on the transportation facilities to and from Peterborough, he said. During the war it was impossible to secure cheap rates, special excursions, and other concessions by the railroads, but now he said the companies were in a better position to make special concessions and only with a well-organised committee could they "go after" these things.

Other directors spoke of the desirability of such a committee, and itasclwatfth vak mopVO etaoihm it was felt they should be given a free hand to deal with all transportation matters in regard to the Exhibition.

R. M. Glover was appointed chairman of the committee, and the other members appointed were G. O. Cameron, Fred Holmes, W. F. Turner, and J. W. Fraser.

WILL WORK FOR IDEAL EMPIRE.

But Be Maintained on Independent Basis.

LONDON.—After some twenty months' work and a large number of meetings, the Joint Committee appointed to consider whether a working arrangement for amalgamation between the Royal Colonial Institute and the Over-Seas Club and Patriotic League could be devised have with great difficulty been forced to the conclusion that amalgamation is impracticable. Difficulties in which the aggregate are now found to be insuperable, have arisen in the course of the negotiations. It is satisfactory to be able to state that the negotiations have been harmonious throughout, and that the final decision was unanimously arrived at. The Councils of both Societies feel assured that though amalgamation has not been attained, the Royal Colonial Institute and the Over-Seas Club and Patriotic League will continue to work independently in a spirit of friendly co-operation for the ideal of United Empire which they both have at heart.

THE SISTER OF DOUGHTY IN BOX

On 29th December, after her brother Jack had gone, she consulted her brother Will about the bonds, and had them taken to the attic and had them hid under the floor.

"What explanation did your brother ever give you about the bonds?" asked Mr. Greer.

"He said he had the bonds out cutting coupons, and he thought it an opportune time to speak to Mr. Small about the promise, though Small disappeared, and he could not do so," replied the witness.

Mr. Greer here suggested that the bonds might have been turned over to the police.

Witness then stated that on 24th May, when Detective Mitchell had been in the house looking around, she got excited and changed the hiding-place of the package.

Ernest Reid, who had charge of the chocolate machine in the Grand Opera House, said he had a conversation with Doughty about a business proposition in Small's office in 1910. He said that Doughty then told him that he (Reid) would not profit by the projected deal, in which he and Small were interested, and suggested that a plan be devised by which Reid and Doughty should profit. Doughty told Reid, according to Reid's statement to-day, that he was going to collect coupons for Small, and hinted at a plan whereby Reid and himself should profit.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hellmuth, counsel for the defence, witness said he told this story twenty days ago to Detective Mitchell, who had sent for him. He maintained that this conversation took place long after the sale of the Peterborough theatre. He said that he had not expected anything from Small from the Peterborough deal, but later admitted that he might have expected something.

TOWN MANAGER SYSTEM GROWS IN POPULARITY.

Cheaper and More Efficient Municipal Government.

(Canadian Press.)

ST. JOHN, N. B., March 23.—The "town manager" system of municipal government, an innovation in Canada some years ago, is steadily growing in popular favor in New Brunswick, the latest community to consider the matter being the capital City of Fredericton. At the final meeting of the present City Council there the "town manager" was the subject of a lengthy discussion, and it is probable that the question of the adoption of the system will be one of the major problems for the incoming councillors.

Woodstock has had a "town manager" now for a year, and the result is said to have been very satisfactory. The Board of Trade of Chatham at a recent meeting appointed a committee to interview the town council with a view to laying the advantages of the modern system before that body. The Board pronounced itself as strongly in favor of the managerial form of government.

New Brunswick advocates of the "town manager" assert that under his direction cheaper and more efficient regulation of the municipality is possible than under the aldermanic mayoralty system. It is argued that the appointment of a manager gives the government a certain permanency making practicable a plan of civic development covering a period of years.

FAMOUS ACTOR'S 80TH BIRTHDAY.

Recalls Reading Christmas Carol in Montreal.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, (By Mail).—Sir Squire Bancroft, the famoua actor, who celebrates his 80th birthday this year, has been giving some reminiscences to The Times. He recalls how he read "A Christmas Carol" to a Montreal audience in 1898, for the benefit of the funds of a hospital. A Scotsman said to him the next day, "Do you know you made my cry last night?"

"Well, that will do you no harm," replied Sir Squire.

"No, and it won't do the hospital any harm," said the Scotsman, taking the actor's hand and pressing it warmly.

Years afterward Sir Squire learned that the Scotsman had left a million dollars to the hospital.

EXPLAINS USE OF RESERVOIRS.

Interesting Address to Civil Club, Toronto.

(Canadian Press.)

TORONTO.—The history, construction and uses of reservoirs were described in an interesting address delivered recently before the Civil Club of the University of Toronto by William Gore, a prominent consulting engineer. After pointing out that irrigation reservoirs had been constructed three and four thousand years ago in Beluchistan, he said that similar work was undertaken in ancient Egypt Peru, India and Ceylon, the materials used by these almost prehistoric engineers being much the same as those used today, with the exception of iron and Portland cement. The old constructors would take advantage of some natural declivity, generally up on a catchment area, and dam the low parts with stone, clay and compact earth.

Owing to the difficulties of providing proper outlets and overflows, however, these works were almost fordoomed to ultimate disintregration. There are only one or two instances of ancient reservoirs remaining in use today. The Spaniards, however, were more successful with their massive masonry dams.

TEILIRIAN BOASTS OF HIS MURDER.

Says He Revenged Death of Parents.

BERLIN, March 19.—The assassination of Talaat Pasha was really the last act of tragedy whose earlier scenes were enacted in the blood-stained deserts of Asia Minor. "It is not I who am the murderer. It is he," said the young Armenian, Salomon Teilirian to the police a moment after firing the fatal shot.

In the course of a later examination Teilerian told how one night his aged parents were dragged from their village home near the Persian frontier by one of the Commissioners of Talaat, who was then Grand Vizier, and were driven into the desert, where they perished.

"Ever since," he said, "I have lived only to revenge the deaths not only of my own mother and father, but also the persecution and massacres of the Armenian people, of whom Talaat Pasha was the wholesale murderer."

To fulfill that oath of revenge, sworn long ago, is the task to which Teilerian devoted three years. He was baffled again and again, but he persisted, driven by undying hatred and Oriental cunning. Even so it is still a mystery how at last he tracked down his victim.

It wasm nearly three years ago when Talaat disappeared from Constantinople, and only a few intimate friends knew tht he was identical with "Ali Sali Bey," diving in complete retirement in Berlin. Teilerian admits that he spent months wandering over Turkey searching for his prey, and says it was an accident which put him on the right trail and brought him here. Without means, according to his own story, he worked his devious way to Germany, spurning all hardships, in the certainty that he would find his enemy here. At the end of his examination he said to the police that he regarded the crime with a light heart, adding: "It fills me with happiness to know that when my compatriots hear of his death they will be proud of the deed of their fellow-countryman."

BIBLE CLASS HELD PLEASANT MEETING

The Interdenominational Bible Class spent a most profitable hour last evening in the study of the 17th and 18th chapters of the Book of Revelation.

At the close of the lesson, the members of the class showed their appreciation of the Bible instruction received from their teacher, the Rev. Mr. Donner, in a unique way. A large basket filled with every good thing for Easter was carried in, and set before him, also a large envelope containing money and Easter greetings. Several members spoke in the class of the help and inspiration received from the lessons studied.

All who earnestly desire to become better acquainted with God's word are cordially invited to attend this class. It meets in the Public Library, downstairs, every Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

PETERBORO WILL HAVE MOTOR SHOW

There is going to be a MOTOR SHOW this year, and the dates have been set for April 14th., 15th., and 16th. This is posible through the loyal support of the Peterboro Automotive Association, who are endeavouring as far as their interests are concerned to make it the best show in the history of Peterboro.

The work of the Peterboro Health Association to whom the proceeds of the Motor Show are handed is only possible through the success of this show. Every dollar spent at te Motor Show goes directly to support this magnificent cause. Watch the papers for further particulars and boost for the show.

DUMMER ROAD MUDDY HIGHWAY

TRAFFIC IS BLOCKED—IMPASSABLE TO CARS—DANCING AT WARSAW WANES IN PATRONAGE

WARSAW, March 23. — There was no service in the Baptist Church Sunday as Mr. Vose was unable to get here.

There was no mid-week service in the Presbyterian Church last week.

In the absence of Mr. Graham, Mr. Alec Watts took the Presbyterian services on Sunday. His morning subject was "Faith" Service in Anglican Church was conducted by Mr. Hughes. There will be service on Good Friday at 10.30 a.m.

Basket Social

The Anglicans of Young's Point are giving a basket social on April 1st to get funds for the Church.

Choral Class

The choral class met on Tuesday evening. Their closing concert will be held Monday, April 11th. More particulars will be given later.

The Dummer road is in a very bad condition. The stage-driver, took a wheled vehicle. Mr. Clifford Selkirk went to Peterboro and on return was stuck near Mr. Leason's. Mr. H. G. E. Choate started out with his car and was stuck in the mud near Mr. L. Sullivan's. Mr. Verne Selkirk had to go after the load, but both other cars, were stranded over Saturday night and Sunday.

The dance in the Town Hall on Thursday evening, given by the Scott orchestra of Westwood had but 17 ladies. This is the second public dance recently and neither have been much of a success.

Personal News.

Mr. John Kidd was in the village last Wednesday.

Mrs. John Selkirk, Regina, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs E. Hawthorne.

Rev. Girard Graham left last Tuesday to visit his brother.

Mr John A. Crowe, president of the Dummer S. S. Association, attended the meeting of S. S. workers in Peterboro on Thursday.

ADDRESSED THE BABIES CLINIC

Dr. R. Scott addressed the Well Babies' Clinic at its regular open meeting yesterday afternoon on the subject, "Indigestion in Infants," and his address was of a highly instructive nature.

Mrs. R. Harstone, the president, occupied the chair. There was a good attendance—in fact, each month the meetings apparently grow in popularity, and mothers and their babes were out in large numbers yesterday.

Dr. Scott declared that indigestion was the most prevalent infant disease. It was largely traceable to the feeding of the infant. He condemned manufactured artificial foods and said that these should be used under no circumstances. Careful laboratory tests had shown that these foods were injurious to infants. Modified cows milk was the only food that could be fed to infants with a degree of safety, and the vitamines in the milk was necessary for the childs well-being. Regular feeding was also highly important. A large majority of cases were caused by over-feeding, and he warned the mothers strenuously against this.

Miss Madeline Morrison demonstrated to the Clinic "Methods of Irrigation" and on the proper care of rubber goods. Her talk was interesting, and was appreciated by the Clinic.

W. E. Dyer, before the meeting closed, took photographs of the mothers and babes, and the King's Daughters served tea, concluding one of the most successful meetings held by the organisation.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Gently massage Musterole in with the finger-tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Use Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

POSSESS GOOD HEALTH BY LOOKING AFTER THE BOWELS

A free motion of the bowels, once or twice a day, should be the rule of every one, as half the ills of life are caused by allowing the bowels to get into a constipated condition.

When the bowels are allowed to become constipated, the stomach gets out of order, and the liver does not do its work properly on account of holding back the bile so that it does not pass through the bowels, but is allowed to get into the blood, thus causing a poisoning of the whole system.

If you would escape constipation, sick and bilious headaches, heartburn, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, foul breath, the nasty irritating, bleeding, itching and protruding piles, you should keep your liver stirred up by the use of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills.

These pills, being purely vegetable, keep your liver working actively, helping it to resume its proper functions, and thereby removing the bile that is circulating in the blood and poisoning the whole system.

Mrs. H. Barrows, Enfield, N. S., writes:—"I was troubled with sick headaches and constipation. One day a friend told me of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills. I got two vials, and found they did me a world of good. I therefore have great faith in them."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limied, Toronto, Ont.

RURAL ESSAY COMPETITION

MR. F. M. DELA FOSSE WILL BE THE JUDGE—THE SUBJECT.

This competition is exciting much interest amongst the rural school children of West Peterborough. The Examiner has succeeded in getting Mr. F. M. Dela Fosse, chief librarian of the Public Library to examine, judge the essays and award the prizes. The recent message of President Harding to the United States Congress re the Fordney Bill will add new interest to the subject of the essays, which is the effect of the U. S. tariff against Canadian farm products upon those products and upon U. S. farm products themselves. It is most important to Canada that we should understand the new U. S. farm legislation. The essays must be all handed in to the Examiner Office not later than May 1st. The winning essays and perhaps others will be published.

In haste he tore the cover off,
Then saw his child lie there;
He wrung his hands, confessed his sins,
And did both weep and pray.
From that same hour the cooper's face
He never would behold,
Nor would he to the ale house go,
Had it been paved with gold.

DOUGHTY TRIAL IS CONTINUED

OBJECTIONS BY HELLMUTH FEATURE TAKING OF EVIDENCE.

TORONTO, March 23.—(Canadian Press.)—Objection after objection to the evidence being submitted by the Crown was made by I. F. Hellmuth, K.C Counsel, for the accused yesterday afternoon during the trial of John Doughty on the charge of stealing Victory Bonds valued at $105,000 from Ambrose J. Small, his former employer. In addition to the charge of theft Doughty has been committed for trial and indicted by the Grand Jury at the sessions on a charge of conspiring to kidnap Mr. Small.

The objections made by Mr. Hellmuth yesterday were in the main on the ground that the evidence to which he took exception was concerned with the kidnapping charge and not with the one on which Doughty is being tried at present. Seven witnesses were examined. It was chiefly the evidence of F. T. Baville, printer, that was objected to by Doughty's counsel and at times Mr. Hellmuth waxed exceedingly wrathy at what he termed an attempt to prejudice the jury against Doughty by introducing evidence that concerned only the conspiracy charge and which was for that reason impossible to answer in the present trial.

RENTS ARE COMING DOWN IN CHICAGO.

Wages Will Be Cut as House Building Materials and Supplies.

CHICAGO, March 19. — The housing problem is going to be mitigated, if not solved, and rents are due to drop because Chicago's building trade is tackling the situation in the right way, and that is to get all costs of production down, the biggest item of which is inflated labor. Supplies and materials have suffered a reduction of 20 per cent., and wages will be cut the same percentage.

When the $10,000 house of pre-war days now takes $15,000 of labor charges alone to build, it is foolish and futile to try to get back to normal production costs and normal rents by chopping something off the price of shingles and nails and letting it go at that Cutting lumber alone will not do it. Cutting other materials, but letting labor costs stand, will not do it.

When the ordinary house which cost to build $10,000 before the war recently has been costing $25,000 the couple of thousand dollars of lumber don't make much of a mark as against the $15,000 of labor charges The few hundred dollars of brick and mortar and plaster don't offer much chance of saving, as against the $15,000 of labor charges. The several hundred dollars of plumbing of heating plant, of glazing, don't count materially, as against the $15,000 of direct labor.

A cut of 20 per cent. in the price of every single material thing going into that $25,000 house would take off only $2,000, leaving the cost of the former $10,000 house still $23,000. A cut of a clean one-third in the whole item of $10,000 for materials would take off only $3,300, leaving the cost of the former $10,000 house still $21,700. A wage cut of 20 per cent. in the cost would slice off $3,000.

But the necessary cost savings demands something more than mere ly price cuts and wage cuts. They demand a square day's work from every man on the job. Bricklayers are getting twice the wage they were getting before the war, but because they lay only half the bricks they laid before the war it costs now to lay bricks four times as much as before the war. The same thing is true of the carpenter, the painter, the plasterer and the others.

A 20 per cent. reduction in abnormal wages can take $3,000 off the cost of building the former $10,000 house, which is now up to $25,000. An increased efficiency of 20 per cent., by the laborer can take off another $3,000. This would make it $6,000. A 20 per cent. cut in prices of all materials used would add another saving of $3,000, making it $9,000 in all. A thirty per cent. cut in materials will make it $10,500. A forty per cent. cut will make it $12,000

Under all those cost reductions materials and supplies would be virtually back to normal. Wages still would be very much above normal. But building would start up again with a rush.

On the other hand, no matter how the prices of materials are slashed, there will be and can be no building boom and no worth while building revival so long as the big costs, the labor costs, block the way.

Did Not Know Value of Statuette.

ROTTERDAM, March 23.—(Canadian Press).—A Benvenuto Cellini statuette, valued at approximately $20,000, which was shipped from Switzerland to an art dealer in Holland, and stolen en route, turned up recently here, having been sold. in the first instance, for the equivalent of about $2. Its purchaser, recognizing its value, tried to dispose of it for a large sum but was detected.

"BEST INVESTMENT I HAVE EVER MADE"

"Tanlac Certainly Came Up to Its Reputation in My Case," Says Mrs. Plyn—Feels Better Than in Years.

"Tanlac certainly came up to its reputation in my case, as it did for me just what they said it would do," declared Mrs. J. Plyn, of 10 Hamilton Street, Toronto, Ont.

"For a year I was in a run-down condition, with no appetite to speak of, and losing weight every day. I got very little rest at night, and in the morning was so tired and worn out it was all I could do to drag myself around and do my little housework. I wasn't dangerously sick, but was as miserable as it was possible to be and felt I was on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

"Everybody I knew was talking about Tanlac, so I decided to try it and it proved the best investment I ever made. It suited my case exactly and built me up wonderfully. My appetite couldn't be improved upon and I have gained back every pound I lost. I sleep like a child all night long and get up in the morning feeling bright and cheerful. In fact, it has been many a year since I felt as good as I do now and the credit is all due to Tanlac. It's the grandest of medicines."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by The Warne Drug Co.

A JUDGE 16 YEARS.

Landis Expects to Serve Sixteen More.

CHICAGO, March 23.—Judge Landis became a Federal Judge sixteen years ago recently.

"They have been stormy years," he said, "but I expect to put in sixteen more years just as stormy."

There have been reports that he might leave the bench to give all his time to service as baseball commissioner.

So many letters and telegrams arrived that the Judge did not have time to read all before opening court.

"They are all alike," he said, "and all of them are just full of all kinds of good wishes and congratulations."

PETERBOROUGH HAS SKILLED ELECTRICIANS

It is cause for satisfaction to know that Peterborough possesses skilled eelctricians, whose services have been sought after for important electrical construction work from outside the city.

In this connection it is a pleasure to be able to mention that the local firm of J. A. Ash & Sons, 282 George street, have quite recently completed several contracts for large manufacturing companies at a distance. Among these are the installation of electric power and lighting system for the following:

The Hastings Tanning Co., Ltd.

The Canadian Paperboard Cos. Ltd. Pulpmills at Frankford.

The Canadian Paperboard Cos. Ltd. Papermills at Campbellford.

And they have recently secured the contract for the installation of the electrical power and lighting of the Omemee Tanning Co., Ltd., of Omemee, Ont.

For each of these large contracts expert plans were prepared, expert supervision given and construction work done by J. A. Ash & Sons, with creditable efficiency to the satisfaction of all parties concerned.

SOCIAL EVENING AT THE HOME OF MR. AND MS. J. E. C. HANNAH

Mr. and Mrs. Hannah entertained the Degree Staff of Golden Link Rebekah Lodge and friends at their home, Hunter street, east. Each guest was expected to contribute some item to the evenings, enjoyment and some very interesting contributions were offered

Special mention should be made of solos by Mrs. Kelcher, which were very much enjoyed, also a duet by Mrs. Kelcher and Mrs. Hannah. Comic songs by Mr. Hotston, who had to respond to several encores. A step dance as well as a violin solo by Mr. Walter Fitzgerald in his usual artistic style. A mandolin solo by Miss Cranfield added very materially to the enjoyment of the evening. Mr. Hooper gave two interesting and much appreciated readings The prizes for Mrs. Watts nursery rhymes contest were won by Mr. and Mrs. Kelcher.

Readings were also given by Mesdames Wylie, Miller and Sisson, Hotston, Wilson, Turner, Fuller and Martin.

A most enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the guests voting mine host and hostess a hearty vote of thanks and singing "For they are jolly good fellows".

THE BASKETBALL SEMI-FINALS TO BE PLAYED EAST

MONTREAL, March 23. — The finals of the Dominion basketball struggle for the season are approaching, and Montreal will be the scene of the semi-finals, which will be held in the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association gymnasium.

Saturday next Ottawa will play Grand Mere there in the evening, and the winners of that match will have to play the M.A.A.A. Reds.

The winners of the last-named contest will then go to Toronto to play the Ontario winners for the Dominion championship.

WOLVERHAMPTON WIN BY 3 TO 1

DEFEAT CARDIFF IN RE-PLAYED SEMI-FINAL FOR ENGLISH CUP.

LONDON, March 23.—(Canadian Press.)—In the replayed semi-final for the English Cup to-day, Wolverhampton Wanderers defeated Cardiff by three to one. Wolverhampton now meet Tottenham Hotspurs in the Cup finals.

F. C. WEBBER CLEANED UP CURLING PRIZES

CARRIED HOME BUNDLES OF THEM AND HELPED WIN DISTRICT CUP.

An after thought of the annual meeting of the Curling Club fixes upon the clean up of prizes made by F. C. Webber. This was his first year as a vice-skip playing for W. M. Lang, and in the Vice-Skips' bonspiel Webber landed on the top of the heap taking the silver salt and pepper shakers given as first prizes Lang's rink won their group in the scheduled games and finished second in the play-off. This brought Webber a set of cut glass sherbet cups. In the open he was playing lead for J. W. McDermid's District Cup rink. They won the Waddell trophy and were runners-up in the Morrow Cup competition. For the first of these Webber received his share of the Jaeger motor rugs, and the second prize in the Morrow cup round was an electric grill for each member of the rink. And by way of rounding off his record Webber helped bring the District Cup to Peterboro this year playing in the local section of the group, then in the district play off in Lindsay and finally in the concluding draw in Toronto. Before the season was half over it was noticed that Webber was clocking in on winning rinks, and a common expression at the club was "If you want to win get Webber on your rink."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

AT THE GRAND

First Showing in Canada of Melodramatic Sensation.

The management of the Grand Opera House in keeping with its new policy to show only the very biggest and best in the picture programme, beg to announce the wonderful Super-Special Feature which will have its first Canadian showing at the Grand Opera House on Easter Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The "Lone Wolf's Daughter," the sequel to "The Lone Wolf" and "False Faces," the great detective stories by Louis Joseph Vance, and produced on the screen by J. Parker Read, Jr., is hailed in New York as the year's greatest melodrama. The all star cast includes such famous names as Louise Glaum, Edwin Stevens, ("Devil' fame), Thos. Holding, Bertram Grassby, etc.

In securing this wonderful picture for Peterboro the management has even beaten Toronto to the initial showing as it does not get its Toronto showing until the end of April at Massey Hall where it will be produced for four weeks at $1.00 prices.

The feature is in 8 reels and proclaimed by the New York critics as the greatest melodramatic photoplay of the year, and in presenting this picture to its Peterboro patrons, the Trans-Canada Theatres Limited, guarantee the production in every detail. The famous Scotland Yard detective stories of "Lone Wolf" and "False Faces" have been read the world over, and the adaptation into pictures has developed into the most thrilling and stupendous photo-drama of all times.

The special screening before the new board of censors takes place in Toronto at Loew's Theatre on Wednesday night, when the biggest crowd of exhibitors and producers is expected to witness this masterpiece. Mr. Phillips, the manager of the Grand left for Toronto this morning to witness this screening.

AT THE ALLEN.

"HOLD YOUR HORSES."

A unique theme is the basis of the latest Goldwyn picture featuring Tom Moore, entitled "Hold Your Horses," by Rupert Hughes. It comes to the Allen Theatre, commencing to-day. Here is the story:

From the old country, Daniel Canavan (Tom Moore) came to New York and followed the calling of street cleaning. One day while on duty he was run down by a carriage occupied by Beatrice Newness, (Naomi Childers) a wealthy society girl, and Rodman Cadbury, her swell suitor, so what nerve Canavan did have was lost and he took a job with a blasting gang. A red flag was thrust in Canavan's hand and he was told to keep the traffic back—his first taste of authority and he "grew drunk" on it. He even went home and gave his quarrelsome wife a dose of her own fistic medicine.

His growing aggressiveness attracted the attention of Jim James, political boss, and as a pupil, Canavan rose rapidly. It was in his new authority of political boss that he next met the beautiful girl who had run over him. The subsequent happenings have been woven into one of the most delightfully stirring stories ever screened.

AT THE REGENT.

TOM MIX IS COMING IN "THE UNTAMED"

Tom Mix, the daredevil Fox star, has been announced as the attraction at the Regent Theatre for Thursday in what is declared to be the most fitting picture of the Mix type of prowess seen in many months. The picture, entitled "The Untamed," is an adaptation of Max Brand's novel of the same name. It was produced by Willam Fox and directed by Emmett J. Flynn. It boasts of a very fine cast of players, all favorites of motion picture devotees.

Pauline Starke, a popular leading woman, plays opposite the star, George Seigmann, as well known as any heavy man in the industry — and remembered especially for his work in such plays as "The Birth of a Nation" and "Hearts of the World"—enacts the role of Jim Silent, the outlaw leader. Others in the cast are P. M. McCullough, Charles K. French, James O. Barrows, Pat Chrisman, J. A. McGuire.

"The Untamed" is a story of the West in which Max Brand has introduced three strange comrades. The trio consists of a sort of superman, wild and primitive, a real child of the Outdoors, who recognizes no man-made laws; a big, fiery stallion known as Satan, and a gigantic dog, Black Bart. These three beings, unlike any others of their kind, find their companionship only in each other. With this idea the author and director have created a most unusual picture.

AT THE EMPIRE

AUTO RACING ROLE IN "EXCUSE MY DUST" SUITS WALLIE REID

Film Favorite Likes to Pilot Fast Racing Car in Real as in "Reel" Life.

Success depends a lot upon liking your job. That holds for motion pictures as well as business. It is one of the reasons why the new picture starring Wallace Reid, "Excuse My Dust," which is coming to the Empire Theatre on Thursday, is one of the best vehicles in which the handsome star has yet appeared.

Wallace Reid's chief delight is to act before the camera. But, next to that, he likes a fast racing car and a journey at break-neck speed over the smooth highways of California. That's just what he did in "Excuse My Dust." The story, which is a sequel to the former Reid success, "The Roaring Road," presents him as "Toodles" Walden, manager of the Western branch of the "Darco" automobile company. In a wild race from Los Angeles to San Francisco with his firm's deadly rivals, "Toodles" is run off the road into a ditch, but gamely stays in the race and sees his competitors beaten.

Ann Little, Theodore Roberts, and Tully Marshall are included in the excellent supporting cast. The story was adapted by Will M. Ritchey from an original by Byron Morgan. Sam Wood directed the picture, which is a Paramount Artcraft.

TRAP SHOOTING.

The members of the Peterboro Gun Club and all other gunners interested in trap shooting are reminded of the opening of the Peterboro Gun Club on Good Friday afternoon, at 2:30. There will be three events and among those who have donated prizes is Eddie Wright, the tobacconist, who is giving a box of cigars for the high gun in the 25-bird shoot. The grounds will be reached by taking a C. G. E. car and walking west from the end of the car line. 1d70

TRY THEM NOW AND BE CONVINCED

DR. NORVALL'S STOMACH AND TONIC PILLS are recommended by Doctors and Druggists to relieve Constipation, Biliousness, and Sick Headache. As a mild laxative and general tonic, Norvall's Stomach and Tonic Pills are in a class by themselves. This statement the manufacturers feel confident, is correct, but the reader may doubt it. And in order to convince you, if you will go to any Druggist in the City of Peterborough and procure a Bottle of these Tablets, and they fail to do what we claim for them, return the Bottle, and your Dealer will Refund the Money. 4d-23-26-30-2

CORNS

Lift Right Off without Pain

Magic! Drop a little "Freezone" on the aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with your fingers. Does not hurt a bit.

Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, and calluses.

WOODSTOCK TO PLAY PETERBORO IN THE FINALS

WOODSTOCK, March 23.— The local Y.M.C.A. will meet Peterborough in the finals of the intermediate Ontario Basketball Association championsip. They earned the right last night when they overcame a 25-point lead secured by St. Kitts at home, and in the extra period won out by three points. The final score was 45 to 17. It would be hard to choose the stars as the five red and whites, with the substitute, Talbot, played championship basketball all the way. For the visitors Barber and Steele were best. The line-up:

Woodstock—Forwards, Coles and Hastings; centre, Hosack; defence, Thornton and Sedge; spare, Talbot.

St. Catharines— Forwards, Steele and Bauman; centre, Barber; defence, Myers and Disher; spares, Broderick and Nicholson.

Referee, E. E. Birks, Toronto; assistant, Major Wilcox, Woodstock College.

BUN FEEDS FOR THE ALLAN CUP VICTORS

VARSITY TEAM ALL SET FOR THE SOFT STUFF.

WINNIPEG, March 23.—University of Toronto, new holders of the Allan Cup, along with the vanquished Brandon players, were entertained at a banquet by the trustees of the famous trophy, at the Fort Garry Hotel after the game last night. Congratulations were heaped upon the victorious students by the many speakers, while words of praise for their splendid showing and of sympathy for their ultimate defeat were bestowed upon the Brandon players. The students were the guests at a luncheon at the Fort Garry at noon to-day, given in their honor by local graduates of the eastern institution of learning. After being feted and congratulated on all sides for their remarkable comeback and decisive victory, the Varsity team will leave to-morrow afternoon, travelling via the United States, for Toronto, where a big reception is assured. No exhibition games will be played by the champions on the home journey.

Hundreds of congratulatory messages were reecived by Dr. Wm. Dafoe, the coach, Bruce West, the manager, and Beattie Ramsay, the captain, both last night and to-day. The first message to reach them was from Queen's University and the second from the Kingston Frontenacs. Mayor T. L. Church also wired promising the boys "a hot time in the old town" when they arrive.

A civic reception will be held on Thursday for the victorious Varsity hockey team on their return from Winnipeg Mayor Church said yesterday. The team will arrive in Toronto late Saturday afternoon.

SIR THOMAS IS AFTER CUP AGAIN.

Likely to Have Entry For Yacht Race.

There is no question about the fact that Sir Thomas Lipton has his designers busy at work preparing models of yachts with which he hopes to again challenge and carry back to Great Britain America's cup. And while the Britishers are busy thus planning American yachtsmen are not found wanting. While it was not known, two models representing the different theories of construction and rig were matched against each other under all kinds of wind nad weather in the isolated waters of Cape Cod off Provincetown in a series of races that extended through several months of the fall and winter. The results are not divulged nor is the source of the large sums that were spent on the construction and operation of the miniature yachts made known, but the models are on exhibition at the New York Club and the data is held by W. Sterling Burgess, the naval architect and builder who designed the boats and supervised their sailings.

NASHUA PAPER WON FROM THE WM. HAMILTON CO.

Last night at the Water street alleys in the play-off, the Nashua Paper won from the Hamilton bunch and took second place, putting Wm. Hamilton in third place. Nashua Paper rolled 2,647 and Hamilton 2,297. For the Nashua Paper Travers was high man with 589, Pinette 585, King 523. For Hamilton Frost was high with 485.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

WOMEN TEACHERS' SALARIES

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir,—At the March meeting of the Board of Education, a communication was received from the women teachers of the Public Schools asking for a reconsideration of their request for an increase in salary. As no public statement has been made regarding this matter, it will be of interest to many of your readers to know that at that meeting no action was taken.

The women teachers of the Public Schools are the only teachers employed by the Board, who are now receiving the same rate of salary as that of 1920. The request was that they be given an increase dating from Jan. 1, 1921, and that this was a very moderate one is evident from the fact that the additional expenditure required during 1921, would be less than $5,000.

This surely is a small amount when one remembers that it is all that stands between satisfaction and dissatisfaction to a large body of faithful teachers

The Women Teachers of the Public Schools.

A record in theatre building will be established on March 14, when "Mary, Queen of Scots," is produced at the Ritz Theatre, New York, for when the theatre is opened on that day 66 days will have elapsed since construction was begun on Dec 27, thus breaking the record in the case of the Ambassador, which took 82 days. The builders of the two theatres were the same.

BUILD YOUR HEALTH ON A FIRM FOUNDATION

People are often lulled into a false sense of security by possessing fair health. Letting well enough alone seems to them a sane and reasonable thing. They let well enough alone for years and suddenly they find ill. By neglecting to "check up" their health they find that letting well enough alone for years and suddenly they become ill. By neglecting to

OBITUARY

WILLIAM WATERMAN.

Ex-Reeve William Waterman, of South Monaghan, died on Monday night at the family residence, after an illness of some weeks.

Deceased represented South Monaghan for many years in the Northumberland County Council and was well-known in Peterborough.

Burial took place this afternoon.

MARY ANN ROBINSON.

The death occurred yesterday afternoon at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. Carr, 421 London Street, of Mary Ann Robinson, wife of J. H. Robinson, in her 73rd year. Deceased was born and lived in Mariposa, till seven years ago when she and her husband came to Peterboro. Since making her home with their daughter, Mrs. Robinson has made a wide circle of friends in the city who will deeply regret to hear of her death. She is survived by her husband and seven daughters, Mrs. J. Carr, Mrs. C. Wright, Mrs. A. Murray, Mrs. H. James, all of Peterboro; Mrs. A. James of Woodville, Mrs. G. Roberts, of Lorneville. One son, Peter Robinson, resides in Toronto.

The funeral will take place on Good Friday afternoon, from her late residence to the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. T. E. Malott, of Trinity Methodist Church, will conduct the funeral service at the house at 2 o'clock.

Communist Revolt in Germany; Reign of Anarchy Grows

DISORDERS INCREASE IN CENTRAL GERMANY AND IN SAXONY BUILDINGS DYNAMITED AND BANKS RAIDED.

SPREADS TO HAMBURG

LONDON, March 24.—(Canadian Press.) — Communist disorders in Central Germany are increasing and large sections of the industrial regions are actually in the hands of the insurgents, says an Amsterdam despatch which quotes telephonic advices from Berlin during the night.

Saxony reports state that more buildings have been damaged by dynamite in various towns and the prisons opened and the prisoners liberated. Complete anarchy is declared to reign in Heterstedt, where all banks have been raided and the population is fleeing in panic.

COPENHAGEN, March 24. — (Canadian Press.) — A despatch quotes Hamburg advices to the effect that fourteen hundred Communists yesterday occupied the Blohm and Vers shipyards there.

It is said that reports from Hamburg at midnight stated that the Communists everywhere were calling upon the workers to fight behind the barricades and the people were fortifying their homes.

One account of the Hamburg troubles says that more than fifty Communists and police are reported to have been killed in the fighting last night in the Allentona section of Hamburg. The message said the fighting is continuing in the seaport city.

MISSING 3 MONTHS BODY FOUND IN RIVER

SAM M'MILLAN DROWNED IN ST. LAWRENCE.

CORNWALL, March 24.—Missing since the night of December 23 the body of Lorn McMillan, son of John A. McMillan, bridge tender at Mille Roches, has been found by his father in the river between the Canadian side and Barnhardt's Island. Coroner Hamilton did not consider a formal inquest necessary.

The circumstances surrounding the disappearance of McMillan were that he was in the employ of Clarence Cowell, of Barnhardt's Island, and during the day of December 23rd Norman Henry of Raymondville, N.Y., asked McMillan to row him across the river and back to the island.

They reached the Cornwall side in safety but not returning to the island it was feared both had been drowned. No trace of missing Norman Henry, Lorn's companion, has yet been found.

LEFT SPONGE IN AFTER OPERATION

TORONTO, March 24 (Canadian Press).—Justice Sutherland has dismissed the suit for damages brought by Mr. and Mrs: Isaac Walton, of Port Perry, against Dr. Robert Archer with the statement that "It is clear that the defendant is possessed of more than the average surgical skill, and performed the operation in an expeditious and skillful manner."

Justice Sutherland decided that Dr. Archer's failure to remove the sponge could not be regarded as actionable negligence.

The case was dismissed, with the plaintiff facing the costs.

The suit was on the grounds that the doctor had left a sponge in the woman following an operation.

GREEKS START BIG OFFENSIVE

120,000 TROOPS SAID TO BE PARTICIPATING AND SUCCESS IS EXPECTED.

ALLIES TO STAY NEUTRAL

ATHENS, March 24 (Canadian Press).—Greek troops, numbering 120,000 are participating in the Greek offensive against the Turkish Nationalist forces in Asia Minor, it is reported here.

The Turks are believed to have about 90,000 effectives in the field, but have smaller supplies on which to draw.

Most careful preparations were made by the Greeks for the offensive, which commenced yesterday, and it is anticipated here that the Greeks will win important positions with their first drive.

It is affirmed that the British, French and Italain armies in the Near East will not participate in the campaign.

THE INSIDE ACCOUNT OF VERSAILLES

CRISIS THREATENED

BOSTON, March 24 (Canadian Press).—Robert Lansing, former Secretary of State, and member of the American Peace Commission, will reveal in his forthcoming book on "The Peace Negotiations," which will be published by Houghton, Mifflin Company, on 25th March, how close he came to resigning from the Commission because of differences with President Wilson over the Shantung decision and his belief that many of the terms of peace imposed on Germany were harsh, humiliating and seemingly impossible of performance.

The publishers of this book, which has been eagerly awaited by historians and the public, have carefully guarded the text of the manuscript, but they have permitted the general trend of Mr. Lansing's argument to become known. It is expected that when the text is printed many of the opinions expressed by Mr. Lansing will be controverted by other writers.

President Wilson, according to Mr. Lansing's belief, at one time during the Peace Conference, purposed to negotiate a preliminary treaty which would start the League of Nations functioning without laying the document before the United States Senate, and evidently was much perturbed when his Secretary of State told him that the only way to change the status from war to peace was by a ratified treaty or a joint resolution of Congress.

A profound conviction that immediate peace was the primary need of the world, Mr. Lansing implies, was all that kept him from resigning from the Peace Commission because of fundamental disagreements with the President on principles. The former Secretary discloses that in 1916, shortly before a meeting in Washington of the League to Enforce Peace, at which the President was to speak, Mr. Lansing wrote to Mr. Wilson objecting to the use of force to settle international disputes. In this letter he pointed to the menace to the Monroe Doctrine contained in such a plan.

Alarmed at the complications of war and foreign entanglements in the guarantee of territorial integrity and political independence of members of the League, a guarantee that finally was embodied in Article X of the Covenant, Mr. Lansing says that at Paris he tried to have substitutel a negative pledge that the members would not infringe upon each other's territorial integrity of political independence. He became convinced the Colonel Edward M. House, then President Wilson's closest adviser, was completely converted with regard to this question.

It is in relation to Shantung Mr. Lansing discloses the sharpest differences between himself and President Wilson. Mr. Lansing gives as his opinion that blackmail and bluff by Japan impelled the President to agree to surrender to that country such rights in Shantung as before the war were held by Germany and automatically annulled when China declared hostilities. In his opinion only secret diplomacy made it possible for Japan to threaten to leave the Peace Conference unless its demands were granted, a threat Mr. Lansing believed would not have ben executed because of the appreciation by Japan that the benefits of a new and powerful world position could be retained only by membership in the League of Nations.

That other members of the American Commission shared his view that the Shantung decision as rendered by the Council of Four was a flagrant wrong and were preventsd from resigning only by the critical conditions in the world situation is clearly implied by Mr. Lansing. He describes the indignation felt by himself and by Henry White and General Tasker H. Bliss and in this connect on publishes letter written by General Bliss to the President, in which Mr. Lansing and Mr. White concurred, stating that to support the Japanese claim would be to abandon Chinese democracy to domination of Japan's Prussianized militarism.

It was impossible, in Mr. Lansings opinion, to make the League of Nations' Covenant the greatest international compact over written, as wes intended, in the 11 days given to the drafting. This is established by the document itself, he says, which provides for an oligarchy of the Great Powers and a continuance of the policy of the balance of power against which the President spoke in England but which he in effect subscribed to in approving the Covenant.

NEW OBSTACLE FOR BURGLARS

BERLIN, March 24. — (Canadian Press.) — The German burglar faces a new obstacle in a strong box which a Berlin inventor has just placed on the market. The portable steel box is equipped with an alarm which can be set before the lid is closed. When the box is lifted or moved ever so slightly the alarm sounds and can be stoped only by unlocking the box and adjusting the mechanism which controls the buzzer.

Hotel guests are buying the strongbox and placing it against their doors at night, or setting it on luggage which they wish to protect. The boxes are produced in various sizes and with alarms varying in strength from an ordinary buzzer to a fire alarm gong.

CAN'T REVISE LIST BY PROXY

VOTER WHOSE NAME OMITTED MUST APPEAR IN PERSON, RULES COL. O. M. BIGGER.

WHOLESALING BARRED

OTTAWA, March 24.—(Canadian Press). — Any elector whose name does not appear on the voters' list as a voter in the coming Ontario prohibition referendum on April 18 must make a personal appearance to the visiting officer in order to have the name placed on the list. In the circular issued to revising and returning officers, Col. O. M. Biggar, electorate officer, states: "No application can be made by proxy, whether or not the proxy is a relative or employer." Interviewed regarding objections made to this interpretation of the Act by Judge Coatsworth, Col. Biggar said his opinion of yesterday had been expressed upon the provisions of the statute as they stood, and he had nothing to add.

The window is attracting constant crowds and as one of the clerks remarked is as attractive as the prices of their goods to the consumer.

PRIMATE OF R.C. CHURCH IN U.S. DEAD

JAMES CARDINAL GIBBONS, ARCHBISHOP OF BALTIMORE, DIES, AGED 87 YEARS.

A NOTABLE CAREER

BALTIMORE, Md., March 24. — (Canadain Press.) —James Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop of Baltimore, and Primate of the United States Catholic church, died at the Arch Episcopal residence here to-day after a prolonged illness, which mainly affected his heart. He was in his 87th year. The end came peacefully at eleven-thirty o'clock.

Cardinal Gibbons, as senior Bishop of the church, wielded a strong influence outside as well as within the United States. The confidant of three popes, he made several important tours of Rome, the last in August, 1914 ,a few days after the opening of the war, to elect the successor to Pius X. He arrived too late ,however, to particpate in the ceremony that elevated Benedict to the Pontificate.

Upon returning to the United States, he visited President Wilson, informed the later of affairs in Europe and discussed means to bring about peace. The Cardinal was strongly interested in the affairs of the church in Mexico during the troublous times in that country and declared that he feared fighting would never cease under the Carranza regime. It was largely as a result of his efforts that the condition of the clergy and nuns of Mexico was ameliorated.

Cardinal Gibbons was active in his work for the Allies in the war and in a letter written to the Catholics of the archdiocese of New York in 1917 when the United States entered the conflict, urged the fullest support of the government. A few months previously he sent $10,000 to the American committee in London for the relief of the Belgians, one of the many notable instances of his benevolence. In a sermon at Baltimore, in 1918, he praised the speech of Lloyd George and said that Germany's war aims would fail. About the same time he explained Benedict's war policy ,an article which so pleased the Pope that he ordered it translated and published broadcast. In it he asserted sympathy with the Allied aim of winning the war "for permanent peace." To achieve this result he also expressed opposition to a cessation of hostilities when Austria made fresh overtures.

Celebrating his 50th anniversary as Bishop in Baltimore on October 21, 1918, an event attended by ecclesiastics from all over the world, he received among many other gifts the decoration of Grand Officer of the Legion of Honor from France. Italy also decorated him. A month later he joined with former President Roosevelt, both of whom had been friends for years, in a message of cheer to the American Expeditionary Forces. On June 30, 1919, he observed his 33rd anniversary as Cardial Archbishop and the 50th year of his priesthood. Cardinal Mercier, the heroic primate of Belgium, visited him on this occasion.

The Cardinal's views on political, economic and sociological questions were frequently sought by newspapers. In interviews he endorsed the plan for the establishment of the Jewish Homeland in Palestine, he opposed the government ownership of public utilities, maintained that prohibition meant "the invasion of home and sacramental practice," condemned divorce, praised the work of the Salvation Army in France, favored American military training, importuned the clergy to fight Bolshevism, demanded that the Turk should be driven from Europe and appealed to the public to support America's entrance into the League of Nations. At a convention of Irish Nationalists in Philadelphia he expressed the hope that the Paris Peace Conference would make it possible "to free Ireland." He was one of the advocates of Neighbor Day, for stimulating fraternity and community spirit among Americans. In a proclamation he designated June 12 for this observance.

Born in Baltimore, Md., of Irish parents, July 23, 1834.

SWISS STRIKE AT DECOLLETE DRESS

GENEVA, March 24.—(Canadian Press)—Swiss women who wear short skirts and low-necked gowns will have to pay higher rates of life insurance than those who do not. The Swiss insurance companies have announced that fixing the premiums on policies of women's lives, they will take into consideration the women's wearing apparel. The shorter the skirt or lower the decolletee, the higher the insurance rate will be.

The Swiss companies justify this action on the ground of a great increase of illness and disease among their women clients, which they claim is due to the wearing of short skirts and low-necked dresses.

STUDENTS TRY TO ARBITRATE

PLACED UNDER ARREST

ROSARIO, Argentina, March 24.—(Canadian Press).—A band of university students have taken possession of the Municipal Building and dictates a decree taking over the city government with a view, they say, to settling the strike of municipal employees and other workers from which the city has been suffering for several weeks. At that stage they were arrested.

The students overpowered the janitor and the night watchman, the only persons in the building at the time, and locked them in a room. Then, after hoisting the watchman's red coat and cap on the flag-pole, they broke into the Mayor's office and proceeded to dictate their decree. In it they "removed" the Mayor as "useless," and named one of their own number to fill the "vacancy." They also "dissolved" the City Council and replaced it with a "Council of Students and Workmen." They were on the point of removing also the Chief of Police, but this part of their decree was never finished.

The janitor had escaped and notified the Chief of Police, who sent a detachment of mounted police to the building, and the student government suddenly found itself faced with revolvers. It submitted to arrest without resistance and was locked up.

While the authorities professed to view the incident as a students' prank, nevertheless, a strong guard has now been placed about the Municipal Building.

FARMER HOLDS UP VICTIM OF LATE FLOOD

The Port Hope Guide reports that a farmer betwen Port Hope and Cobourg found a barrel of fuse oil on the beach and rolled the barrel to his barn. The barrel had been carried away by Sunday's flood and was the property of Mr. Schweickert, to whom, however, the farmer refused to deliver it unless paid ten dollars. The owner, is quite willing to pay the farmer a reasonable sum for his trouble, but feels that the latter's demand is nothing but a hold-up, which he would be justified in taking to the Division Court for adjustment.

GERMANS TO BE FORCED

MUST PAY BY MAY 1ST OR SUFFER ADDITIONAL PENALTIES.

ERNEST REID GIVES EVIDENCE OF ALLEGED PROPOSITION FOLLOWING PETERBOROUGH THEATRE DEAL.

TELLS OF SUGGESTIONS

TORONTO, March 24.— (Canadian Press.)—"Couldn't two smart men figure out some plan to get some of these bonds?" was the question that Ernest Reid, 83 Wineva avenue, testified in his signed statement given to Sergeant of Detectives Mitchell, was put to him by John Doughty late in 1919.

The staement of Reid was put in the evidence yesterday at the Doughty trial, and though Reid said that when it was read to him it did not sound just like what he said. He would not deny its contents. The statement, made to Mitchell on Jan. 10th, reads as follows:

"During the latter part of 1919, while I was in Peterborough, I was in the Grand Opera House, and it was there I saw a theatre man who was about to buy the Grand Opera House in Peterborough, which was rented and controlled by A. J. Small. While in conversation with the janitor, I learned that a company was about to buy the theatre, so I knew it was without A. J. Small's knowledge.

"After learning what was going on, and I was a good friend of A. J. Small's, I immediately went to the telephone and got Small on the 'phone. Doughty at first answered the telephone, then A. J. Small came to the 'phone, and I told him what was going on, that a company was about to buy the Grand Opera House in Peterborough, so A. J. Small immediately got busy and closed the deal and bought the theatre for 4$0,000.

"Weeks after I arrived back in Toronto, Doughty sent for me. I went over, and he said, "Do you know you are not going to get a thing out of this?" I replied, "Oh, I would not say that, John." He said "I am sure you are not." I replied, "It will be the last time I shall do anything for him." Doughty replied, "It is a shame." At this point he mentioned he was going to clip coupons from victory bonds in a safety deposit box and couldn't two smart men figure out some plan to get some of these, and to go home and think it over for a few days. At this time an advance man of a road show came into Doughty's office and I took this opportunity and left and have never seen Doughty since.

TORONTO, March 24.— (C.P., 2.30 p.m.)—The case of John Doughty, accused of the theft of $105,000 in bonds from his former employer, the missing theatre owner, Ambrose Small, was given to the jury this afternoon, after Judge Denton had instructed the jury as to the law in the case.

R. H. Greer, Crown Prosecutor, and I. F. Hellmuth, counsel for the prisoner, had previously addressed the jury to some length, the former holding that the conduct of the prisoner in the matter was not that of an honest man. The prisoner's lawyer maintained that Doughty may have been foolish in his dealings with the bonds, but that there had been no evidence of criminal intent. Judge Denton pointed out that Doughty undoubtedly had a right to enter the vault in his employer's business. He was also justified in thinking that Mr. Small might reward him for the service. There was no evidence, said, His Honor, to indicate that Doughty had attempted to realize on the bonds for that service.

As expected, no defence witnesses were called when trial was resumed, and R. H. Greer, Crown prosecutor, addressed the jury. He argued regarding the point of the power of attorney given to Doughty "within the limits and premises of the bank." There was nothing to suggest that Doughty was entitled to withdraw the bonds and hold them in his possession against the interests of his employer. Reference was made to the story of the witness, Reid, that after the sale of the Peterborough theatre Doughty had suggested that they might formulate a plan to get some of the money which Doughty had access to.

"Was this the service of an honest man?' asked the Crown counsel. "Do you believe under the circumstances that the bonds were taken honestly out of the vault."

Mr. Helmuth, defense counsel, in his address declared: "Unless the prisoner is guilty of theft his moral actions otherwise are not before you.' He pointed out that nothing had been converted for Doughty's use. The prisoner's actions may have been foolish but he has done nothing criminal.

The police are out for a head," declared Mr .Hellmuth, "and they feel they will get the contempt of the community unless they get Douhgty's head."

GOVERNMENT ROADS WORK HAS CEASED

DUE TO DIFFICULTY OF DRAWING HEAVY LOADS OVER ROADS IN PRESENT CONDITION.

TO CHARGE TO COUNTY

The government has stopped work on the provincial highways because it does not consider that it would be economical to draw heavy loads of material over the roads in their present condition, T. Tooms, M.L.A., Peterborough West, informed The Examiner. Mr. Tooms also stated that it is understood that in the future the policy of the government will be to charge the 20 per cent. of the road cost, chargeable to the locality, to the county as a whole.

Following is Mr. Tooms' statement:

"The government has stopped the road work on provincial roads throughout the province as it is not considered economical to be drawing heavy loads of stone and material over the roads while they are in such a soft condition as at present. The work will be recommenced at the earliest possible moment; also the government has in the past used its judgment as to whether the twenty per cent. chargeable to the locality in which the road is situated be borne by the municipality or the county as a whole, but it is understood that in future the policy of the government will be to charge this account to the county as a whole."

TRENT RIVER HAPPENINGS

TRENT RIVER, March 24.—The river has been rising rapidly and the various boat houses are nearly surrounded by water.

Two men of the Hydro survey visited this locality Tuesday.

The syrup maker report an excellent run of sap the past few days, and everyone is busy boiling down.

Mr. E. M. McCann of Toronto, called on friends last week.

Easter examinations are on the school and the pupils are eagerly looking forward to the holidays.

Mr. J. Melville, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. A. Wright, left Tuesday to visit relatives at Round Lake before returning to his home in Midland.

Mr. H. Pollock and son, Ross, have gone back north for the trapping.

CHAMBERLAIN ALSO LORD PRIVY SEAL

WILL STAND FOR RE-ELECTION IN BIRMINGHAM—IS CONSIDERED SAFE.

LONDON, March 24.—(Canadian Press).—Austen Chamberlain recently elected leader of the House of Commons has been appointed Lord Privy Seal, both positions having been previously held by Bonar Law. This will necessitate Mr. Chamberlain's seeking re-election in Birmingham. It is believed that the labor party will fight the election but Birmingham is considered quite safe seat for Mr. Chamberlain. The Speaker of the House of Commons, James William Lowther, is retiring and it is reported that the Prime Minister has offered the position to John Henry Whitley, Deputy Speaker.

JAPS AND U.S. DENY THEY ARE PREPARING FOR A WAR

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Denial that Japan is "mobilising for war" in the Pacific by fortifying her mandate islands, was made to-day by Baron Shidehara, the Japanese Ambassador.

His statement follows: "In reply to an inquiry, the Japanese Ambassador denies most categorically all reports that Japan has been fortifying or intends in any way to fortify any of the Pacific Islands to the north of the Equator."

Secretary of War Weeks to-day denied reports that army forces in Hawaii were being doubled, because of agitation in Japan over the California anti-alien land law question. He also denied the Panama Canal zone was being greatly increased.

BODY OF JOHN HENRY M'CANN RECOVERED FROM TRENT RIVER

DECEASED DISAPPEARED IN DECEMBER LAST—CAMPBELLFORD NEWS HAPPENINGS—PROPERTY CHANGES HANDS.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 24. — The body of John Henry McCann, Healey Falls, who disappeared from his home in December last, was recovered yesterday afternoon by Mr. Chas. Keller in the Trent River near the Colville summer cottage, nor very far from his own home. Mr. McCann had not been in the best of health for some time and had just arrived home from Rockwood Hospital, Kingston, where he was undergoing treatment, a few days before his disappearance. Friends and neighbors have spent much time in trying to locate the body, but their efforts were fruitless until yesterday. The deceased was a man of genial manner and was beloved by all who knew him. He leaves a widow, formerly Miss O'Brien, and one son, Martin, at home.

The funeral will take place to St. Mary's R.C. church and interment in St. Mary's cemetery on Friday.

Innis—Smith.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at St. Andrew's manse yesterday afternoon, when Miss Ina Smith, daughter of Mrs. Robt. Smith, Rear street, was united in marriage to Mr. Hugh Innis, Seymour East. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, Rev. C. F. McIntosh and following the ceremony the young couple left amid showers of good wishes and confetti on the afternoon train for a short honeymoon. Upon their return the young couple will residet on the groom's farm, Seymour East.

The bride, who was smartly attired in a brown suit wtih hat to match and fox furs, was employed in Linton Bros. store where, by her genial manner she won a host of friends. She was also an active worker in the social and religious activities of the church. The groom, too, is well known in musical circles and the best wishes of their many friends follow them to their new home.

Real Estate Deal.

Mr. Wesley Brady, Rannie street, has purchased the farm property of Mrs. A. Dinwoodie on Cockburn street. This is a valuable property as it embraces the advantages of a close market and also the conveniences of the town.

To Continue Drill.

The local company of the 40th Regiment are quite pleased that drill is to continue all next month and another inspection by General King will take place in June.

Social and Personal.

Councillor R. S. Southworth spent a few days this week in Toronto.

Mr. W. H. Milligan, who has been living on Second street, removed to Raglan street and occupying the house recently occupied by Cecil Sloggett.

Mrs. J. R. Wilkinson and daughter, Miss Fern Young, left this morning for a visit in Toronto.

Miss C. Muffitt has returned from Lindsay, where she was visiting her sister

Mr. William Keir is confined this week to his home through illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Thring are at present visiting friends in Ingersoll, their former home.

Mr. C. A. Wilson, division court clerk, is spending a couple of days in Peterborough.

Miss Ella Hall, who has been employed as a saleslady in Mr. E. W. Gordon's store for some time, has accepted a similar position in Linton Bros.' store.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Shaw left yesterday for Peterborough, where they intend to reside.

The High school inspector is paying his official visit to the High school this week.

Mrs. C. H. Turner spent Tuesday in Belleville.

Mr. G. A. Payne, police magistrate, was in Peterborough yesterday.

Mr. J. R. Battisby, the busy auctioneer will conduct the sale of Mr. Ross McComb (on T. J. Horkins' farm) on Tuesday next.

PROBES COST OF FURNITURE FOR MINISTER

MAHOGANY BED ROOM SUITE FOR HON. MANNING DOHERTY AND OTHER ITEMS.

PUBLIC WORKS ALSO

TORONTO, March 24. — (Canadian Press.) — Inquiries regarding furniture purchased for the Cabinet Ministers' rooms and for various Government Departments, occupied the greater part of yesterday's session of the Public Acounts Committee. R. P. Fairbairn, Deputy Minister of Public Works, was on the stand, and the questoining was conducted chiefly by H. P. Hill, Conservative member for West Ottawa.

Some of the former ministers had taken furniture from their offices followin gthe election, Mr. Fairbairn stated. In all such cases they paid the full price for the articles taken.

Mr. Hill inquired regarding accounts totalling $904.75 for a ahogany bedroom suite, Mr. Fairbairn stated the room was for Hon. Manning Doherty.

"Mr. Doherty does not live in the building does he?"

"He does at times. He used it last year when he was in poor health."

"I suppose all that mahogany makes him feel better," commented Mr. Hill.

Other inquiries were made regarding two oak wardrobes for the Minister of abour. It was explained that he had two offices; wardrobes for the Minister of Public Works, and for the Inspector of Motion Picture Theatres; and two pairs of blankets, $25 each for the speakers apartments.

Lt.-Colonel W. H. Price moved for an investigation of accounts for 14 motor trucks purchased from L. C. Parkin, totalling $117,899, and also of acounts for $85,461 for films purchased from the Canadian Aero Film Company.

PROBABILITIES.

SLAIN MAN'S SON MEDIUM FOR GRAFT

FARMER DRAWS $30 A MONTH FOR KEEP AND HIRES HIM OUT FOR $60.

COMMITTEE SHOCKED

OTTAWA, March 24.—Graft on the part of an Ontario farmer was exposed at the special committee on soldiers' civil re-establishment yesterday. It was staed by Colonel John Thompson, of the pensions board, that the grafter was receiving $30 a month from the government for keeping the son of a soldier slain in action, and that he hired the boy out to a neighbor for $60 a month.

"Did yop put that farmer in jail?" asked E. W. Nesbitt, M.P. for North Oxford. "I tried to," said the colonel.

The committee was shocked.

The G.W.V.A. recommendation on equality of pensions was left to the committee as a matter of policy. Pensioners under the rank of captain at present received annually $17,715,931.16, and those of the rank of captain and over $498,575 annually. All pensions under captain's rank are equal.

Col. Thompson said that if pensions were increased to widows without children to $75 a month, it would mean an increase of $325,980 in this branch. The increase involved in granting a pension of $100 a month to widows with children, plus the recognized allowance to children, would be $3,952,350, while increases to widows with dependent mothers would aggregate $2,982,000.

The resolution asking for a pension basis at the monthly rate of $100 per one per cent. disability meant an increase of $5,456,286, Col. Thompson said.

The G.W.V.A. clause asking pension for guardians of soldiers' orphans meant an additional outlay of $522,900, while if it was intended to pay pension to a guardian for each child it would mean an extra expenditure of $1,800,000.

Amendments to the Pensions Act suggested by the G.W.V.A. would add $18,389,772 to the annual pension bill, on the main items alone, stated Col. Thompson.

COAL SUPPLY CONSIDERED

HOUSE DISCUSSES FUEL SITUATION AND MOVED THAT A COMMITTEE INVESTIGATE.

OTTAWA, March 24.—(Canadian Press).—Discussion of ways and means whereby, Canada may insure an adequate supply of coal for the future featured yeterday's sitting of the House. It was private members day and after the preliminaries were disposed of, the decks were clear for a discussion of some of the proposals emanating form other than Government sources.

Dr. Michael Steel of South Perth, was responsible for the discussion on Canada's fuel supply when he moved that a special committee of the House be appointed to investigate the situation. He emphasized the gravity of the Situation, the tremendous increase in coal prices and the difficulty in getting a supply for the winter The future prospects were that Canada would require more rather than less coal. Every effort there fore should be made to conserve the present supply and develop new fuel sources. The electrifying of steam railways and the establishment of central heating plants were suggested by Dr. Steele as a means for conserving coal. He also advised the adoption of some system for testing coal, in order to see that the consumer got the grade for which he paid.

Major Redman (Calgary), seconding the resolution emphasized the importance of improving transportation facilities in order to get Alberta coal to the east. It would compete with the Pennsylvania product if brought to Ontario. From the Maritime provinces D. D. McKenzie, (North Cape Breton), declared that the supply of coal in Nova Scotia was extremely large and that some means should be found for bringing it up to Ontario. The debate on the resolution was eventually adjourned, the Prime Minister supporting the appointment of the Parliamentary Committee proposed

Through the extensive sale of Canadian securities in the United States, the exchange rate will be lowered, Mr. Gillman said yesterday, greatly increasing exports from the southern side of the boundary into the Dominion.

LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS FOR OVER HOLIDAY

FLOW OF ORATORY STEMMED AND A LITTLE BUSINESS TRANSCATED AT LAST.

TORONTO, March 24 (Canadian Press).—With the sudden damming of the flood of oratory that has surged in the Chamber for the past eight weeks, the Provincial Legislature yesterday concluded its labours for the ante-Easter sederunt.

Members, with their minds on the recess, had little inclination to involve the House in a prolonged debate, and "business in the strict routine-order sense of the word had the right of way.

In the continued absence, through illness, of the Hon. Nelson Parliament, the Hon. Thomas Crawford officialed as Speaker.

Hon. Peter Smith's Bill to amend the Corporations Tax Act, as presented in the Budget address, was reported without amendment, as was the Attorney-General's Bill respecting the adoption of children.

NORTHERN FRANCE CHEERED BY RAIN.

Alarming Drought Is At Last Broken.

PARIS, March 24.—From one-half inch to one inch of a gentle, welcome rain has fallen in the northerniii rain has fallen in the last forty-eight haurs in the northern half of France, with a somewhat lighter fall in the southern half, definitely breaking the drought, which was beginning to cause alarm over the crop prospects.

The rain fell slowly and was well absorbed by the tilled fields, the cool weather which prevailed preventing evaporation.

Doughty Case to Be Concluded at Some Time To-day

CARDINAL GIBBONS,

Of Baltimore, for whom all hope of recovery from his present illness is said to have been given up.

EVIDENCE ALL PUT IN AND COUNSEL ADDRESS THE JURY THIS MORNING AT 10.30 O'CLOCK.

INTEREST INCREASED

TORNTO, March 24. — (Canadian Press.) — All evidence in connection with the trial of John Doughty, the former secretary of Ambrose J. Small, in connection with the charge of stealing Victory bonds to the value of $105,000, was put in yesterday, and all that remains to be taken up to-day is the argument of counsel for the crown and the defence, and the address of Judge Denton to the Jury.

Yesterday afternoon after the case for the crown had been completed, Mr. J. F. Hellmuth, K. C., chief counsel for the accused, moved that the case be taken from the jury. He contended that the crown had not proved that the prisoner had taken the bonds with the intent as charged in the indictment when Judge Denton ruled that the guilt or innocence of Doughty would be decided by the jury.

Mr. Hellmuth stated that no defence would be offered as he did not consider there was any evidence of the crown to be met.

"What Can You Do?"

One of the first questions asked the man seeking a new position is, "What can you do?". If you say "I can save money", and produce a Merchants Bank Pass Book that shows regular weekly or monthly deposits, you need no other recommendation. The man who saves systematically—knows the value of money—is providing for the future—is ambitious—is using his head as well as his hands—and the Savings Account proves it.

MR. CAMPBELL'S COMPLAINT.

Mr. J. C. Campbell, the United Farmer candidate in the recent by-election, declared at the Farmers' banquet the other evening that the urban section of West Peterborough had not shown him proper respect or given him the support to which he felt he was entitled. It is true that Mr. Campbell did not receive a large share of the city vote, but that fact should not be regarded as detrimental to Mr. Campbell's personality or qualities, but rather as a condemnation of the system by which he was nominated. The U. F. O. candidate was placed in the field at the convention composed entirely of farmers; no city people, however impressed they might have been with the platform of the National Progressive Party, were allowed to take part in the proceedings or to have any voice in the selection of a candidate. How then could Mr. Campbell, or any other candidate chosen in the same way, expect to receive the support of a section of the riding which had nothing whatever to say about his nomination, which was entirely unrepresented at the nominating convention, and which was really called upon to register its votes in favour of a standard-bearer selected by one particular class in the community? Under such circumstances, the wonder is not that this Farmer candidate received so few votes in Peterborough, but rather that he received so many from an electorate that had been entirely ignored up to the time when it become necessary to seek votes.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF.

A mass meeting of unemployed in Toronto the other night approved of a lengthy programme designed to meet the present situation. Some of the suggestions, including the establishment of federal unemployment insurance and old age pensions and discouraging of immigration of industrial workers until the depression period has been passed, are worthy of consideration, although the first two would require earnest study and preparation before they can be placed in operation. A half-baked, ill-considered, carelessly planned unemployment insurance scheme would be worse than useless, but the principle of the suggestion is sound, and sooner or later some such plan will doubtless be seriously investigated and perhaps made operative.

But the proposal that minimum allowances of $12 a week for single men and $20 for married men unable to obtain employment is one that cannot be entertained. Anything more demoralizing than the payment of such allowances would prove cannot be imagined. It is all very well to say that men would prefer work rather than an unemployment fund. In every centre there are many individuals who would not think of looking for work if they could count on an allowance of the kind suggested. And how many people would endeavour to practice economy even when they were working if they knew that a paternal Government would supply them with a nice little weekly sum as soon as they were out of a position? The present unemployment relief work is only justifiable on the ground of sheer necessity—it is not a logical manner of dealing with the situation and is open to many objections. To permanize such a system would be folly of the worst kind.

A RE-ESTABLISHMENT PROBLEM.

An interesting problem which the Special Parliamentary Committee on Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment have been asked to solve is that of deciding what and shall be given to the dependents of soldiers who have been declared deserters since the armistice. It is evident that many of these men who are missing can not correctly be described as deserters; in fact, the Minister of Militia has written a letter to the committee declaring that at least fifteen hundred missing soldiers had either been killed in action or had disappeared in the war zone, and he has asked the committee to make recommendations as to pensions for the families of these men. There should be little hesitation on the part of the committee to place such dependents on the same status in regard to pensions as the families of soldiers officially reported killed in action. There may be an element of doubt in the situation and the dependents of genuine deserters might get the benefit of such a ruling, but the people of Canada would prefer to have a few undeserving cases benefited rather than to know that families of men who lost their lives for Canada were not being deprived of pensions but had to suffer the ignominy of feeling that the missing one was officially branded as a deserter.

THE MOTOR SHOW.

The announcement that the annual Motor Show on behalf of the Peterborough Health Association is to be held this year will be received with satisfaction by that steadily growing section of the population which understands and appreciates the splendid work of the association, and realizes that much of its success depends upon the finances deprived from the Motor Show. For a while it looked as if there would be no show this year, but thanks to the enthusiastic efforts of the Red Cross Society and the loyal support of the Peterborough Automobile Dealers' Association, the enterprise has been undertaken with a spirit that augurs for a record-breaking success. It is hoped that every one who may be called upon to assist in this year's show will respond readily and that by the co-operative endeavour of the citizens generally the financial returns will be such as to permit of the Health Association, not only continuing the activities which have been of so much benefit to the community, but to embark upon other enterprises along the line of health work which the officers have had in mind for some time. No institution in Peterborough deserves more of the citizens than the Health Association.

TRADING WITH RUSSIA.

The British Government made a strong and long continued effort to avoid having any transactions with the Bolshevist Government of Russia. What the new regime at Moscow was understood to represent was so abhorent to all citizens of the British Empire that anything like recognition of Lenine, Trotsky associates was not to be thought of.

In France there was a similar unwillingness to give the Russian Government any consideration. Indeed, France went much further than Britain. The French Govermnent not only refused recognition to the Bolshevists, but gave formal recognition to one of the Anti-Bolshevist parties. France had all the moral reasons that England had for refusing recognition, and very large financial reasons as well. The Bolshevists repudiated all the obligations of the Czar's Government. While Russian bonds were held in many parts of Europe, it was in France that Russian credit was most widely and most heavily pledged. For a long period Russia, under the Czar, and France, under a Republican system, had warmly fraternized. The thrifty French people poured out their money to take up every Russian loan. The Russians were not slow to take advantage of the favor in which they stood on the bourses of the French cities. Repudiation of Russian Government bonds was consequently a very severe blow to France. If here was to be any friendly relation between France and the new Russia a first condition must be that Russian bonds held in France would be protected and the interest paid. This was a condition that the Bolshevists would not meet. Consequently France turned her back on the Soviet Government and gave recognition to one of the other factions that at least promised to honor Russia's obligations.

There were holders of Russian bonds in England, but they were not so numerous as in France. However, a country which repudiated its obligations and proclaimed the principles of government that prevailed at Petrograd and Moscow had no attraction for Englishmen. So the refusal of the British Government to give any recognition to the Russian Government was in harmony with the wishes of the British people, who, perhaps at the time, comforted themselves with the thought that the Bolshivist Government would soon break up and give place to another of a more honorable character. England did not follow the example of France in recognizing an anti-Bolshivist Government, but she resolutely set her face against having any transactions with the Soviet Government. Other nations too refused to recognize that Government.

This was the situation for quite a long time. But Great Britain is a trading nation. Russia, under whatever system of government it may be, is a great country, possessing a wealth of resources and offering many attractions to those who wish to carry on trading operations. Lenine's Government sent an agent to London to offer the British people an opportunity to trade if they desired to avail themselves of it. At first, the suggestions were indignantly rejected. England could have no truck or trade with such people. Then the desire to do business wherever it was available began to assert itself. The Soviet Government proved more stable than most people thought it would be. Negotiations, confined strictly to the questions of trade, were opened in London between the British authorities and Lenine's agent. A draft of a trade treaty was prepared. Britain proposed to insert stipulations which the Russians refused to accept, and thus there was delay of action. Now it is announced that the obligations on both sides have been overcome and a treaty signed which amounts to practical recognition of the Russian Government. Formal diplomatic recognition is still refused, but the treaty seems to provide as fully for an interchange of trade privileges as it would if the document had received the stamp of the Foreign Office.—Journal of Commerce.

BERLIN, March 24.—(Canadian Press.)—There are 3,000,000 war orphans in Germany according to official figures. They are being given state and local care, but it is said they form a large percentage of more than 1,000,000 children in Germany being aided by foreign relief workers.

WINDSOR FIREMEN ARE THREATENING A STRIKE

WINDSOR, Ont., March 23.—Although they are paid on a scale of from $120 to $150 a month and have a platoon system in force, by which they work only every alternate day, members of Windsor's fire department are threatening to strike on April 5, if their pay is not increased on an average of 15 per cent.

The firemen met the civic fire committee and declared they had tried "again and again" to have their salaries increased but had failed every time. Citizens resent the manner in which firemen are trying to win their argument and are inclined to let them go on strike if they want to.

Some aldermen point out that there are plenty of men who would be thankful to get work at the rate of pay now given the firemen and they saw a new force could be trained within a short time.

LOVE!

By KATHERINE MOORE

Jealousy—And Suspicions.

Chapter 10.

Two weeks had passed and the incident of my chance meeting with Alvah Fairchild had entirely faded from my thoughts. It was of so little importance in my mind that it had naturally fallen to a place of forgetfulness.

"You saw Fairchild the last time you were in the city?" Leonard interrogated suddenly one evening. His inquiry exploded with the vehemence of forced suppression. It upset my equilibrium. The foolish fact that I had not spoken of our meeting to Leonard justified his feelings and made my silence difficult.

"Yes, I met him by chance on the Avenue," I explained. I wished now that I had not kept the knowledge of our meeting from him, but I could not help smiling at myself at his masculine sense of decorum. Big men are so apt to be a bit narrow-minded where their wives are concerned. After all, the equality of the sexes is not alone a question of the right to vote, I thought.

"Fairchild came in the office today," he went on tenaciously. "I don't like the man at all. He is all manners and no manhood. What you women can see in a social parasite like that, gets me."

I knew Leonard's dislike for Alvah Fairchild was coupled with jealousy. For one minute a little pang of womanish joy shot through me.

But then—was that jealousy because of me, I thought? Did not another woman claim some of its causes, perhaps most of them? Yet Leonard had been upset at my meeting with Alvah Fairchild—he had shown that decidedly. Was it a man's overwrought sense of a wife's duty? Had he not said, "You women"? I felt the blind, consuming scourge of jealousy take its stifling grip of my feelings.

"Don't you like him?" I asked meaningly, and with an inflection of surprise in my voice in response to Leonard's condemnation of Fairchild. I found myself giving way to motives instigated by jealousy.

Leonard looked at me narrowly and got up suddenly and left the room. I could not tell whether his expression was one of surprise and disappointment or of suspicion.

I hated Alvah Fairchild! I hated Mrs. Darwood—and I hated myself. I had been dragged into false situations and feelings and my nerves were in a fine state of up heaval. It was all because of this woman—this adventuress. Why, why, had she brought her legal difficulties to my husband to be settled She had made successful claims on Leonard's time, interests, and perhaps on his affections. Now, indirectly, she had actually caused my husband to question my sincerity and loyalty to him. It was preposterous.

What could I do? I had never before felt jealousy as strong as this. I recognized its strength and force, but was powerless to cast it from me, to control it. I was even tempted to use Alvah Fairchild as a force to bring Leonard to his senses and as a wedge against Mrs. Darwood. I recognized the danger of this move but ignored it. I thought only of my love for my husband and I intended to keep that love if it were a possible thing.

To see Alvah Fairchild one had only to pick a nice fine day, go into town and walk on the Avenue. His sportive cloths, yellow cane, and leisurely stride were seldom missing at sometime or other in that gay throng.

The thought of some sort of action stimulated me and brought relief from the terrible depression of jealousy. I threw myself into the scheme with actual enthusiasm.

Still I kept wondering what reason Alvah Fairchild had had for going into Leonard's office. What had been his motive? I wondered if he had spoken of seeing me quite casually—or had he a purpose in telling? If he was Mrs. Darwood's friend, was it not very possible that he had ulterior motives? My state of mind was not a happy one.
